Hays 'hid' junket costs, then took to skies

LONDON-In 1973, Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, used his power in Congress to clamp a lid of secrecy over how much congressmen spend on over-seas junkets. Then he took to the air.

In the next three years, Hays used full VIP privileges, visiting London nine times, Belgium three times, and single trips to Germany, Italy, Denmark and Egypt - all at taxpavers' expense.

In 36 months, Hays personally signed for and spent at least $6,000 in foreign curren-cy kept on hand at American embassies abroad for VIP use, and he led congressional delegations that spent more than $200,000 while traveling. Now Hays' immersion in Washington's sex scandal has prompted investigation into these overseas junkets, and federal investigators say they are seeking to learn whether Hays misused any of the travel funds to buy art, jewelry and antiques abroad. The new probing could drag other prominent names into the morass afflicting Hays. Ou one junket, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, while traveling with Hays, used the Air Force to ship several pieces of furniture to his daughter on the Isle of Wight, off Britain's coast.

A delegation of 29 senators and congressmen capped off the same junket by using the government aircraft to bring back 90 to 100 cases of whiskey they bought in London.

One Justice Department source said that the Hays invessource said that the Hays inves-tigation began with an effort to determine if the congressman improperly used so-called "counterpart" funds to buy costly items abroad. Counter-part money is foreign currency kept by American embassies abroac for official use in the

By RICHARD SALTUS

PASADENA (AP) — With a long blast from its rocket motor, the Viking spacecraft slowed and steered into orbit around Mars Saturday, bringing its robot explor-er within striking distance of the red planet.

The orbit insertion maneuver marked the end of a 440-million-mile cruise from Earth and the beginning of preparation for a July 4 landing of Viking's automated laboratory to search for life.

Viking's arrival in Mars' orbit came after a computer aboard the ship gave a series of preprogrammed commands. The orders had been updated by a transmis-sion from Earth late Friday night.

GATWICK, England (AP) — A bus carrying 17 Americans, 2 Britons and a Frenchman on a Bicentennial tour of historic sites skidded off a rain-slicked road and overturned in a ditch Saturday. Police said three American women were killed.

Two American women and an American man were admitted to Redhill General Hospital while the others were treated and taken to a nearby hotel for the night.

Police Inspector Richard Du-plock named the dead as Elizabeth Moss of Newton, Mass.; Mary Martin of Cincinnati, Ohio, and Mary Hinkle of Chestnut Hill, Mass. Their ages were not given. He said Mrs. Martin was traveling with her husband, Lewis Henry Martin, who was not hurt.

U.S. begins sea rescue in Beirut

WASHINGTON (AP) - A landing craft from a U.S. Navy ship reach-ed the beach at Beirut early today to pick up Americans trying to flee the Lebanese civil war, Pentagon officials said.

The craft reached the beach at 12:30 a.m. PDT (9:30 a.m. Beirut time) for the start of an operation which Pentagon spokesmen esti-mated would take 40 minutes to an hour. It was to ferry up to 500 people to the Navy LSD ship, Spiegel Grove, anchored several miles off Beirut:

THE EVACUEES were to be taken to Athens in a sea trip esti-mated to take about 40 hours.

President Ford ordered the naval evacuation following another night of shelling along the route that was to have been followed by an car-bus convoy of Americans and Europeans to Damascus for airline flights home. Pentagon officials said there were 150 marines on the Spiegel Grove, but that none was to go ashore on the landing craft, which normally has a crew of 12 to 14 Ford spent the night in the Oval

Star reporter

Malcolm Johnson, the star reporter of the old New York Sun who won a Pulitzer Prize in 1949 for his articles exposing terrorism and racketeering on New York's waterfront, died of cancer Friday at Middlesex Memorial Hospital in Middletown, Conn. He was 71 years old and lived in Killingworth, Conn.

Johnson's crusading stories on how organized crime ruled the city's docks with guns and goon squads became a near legend in New York journalism. They generated investigations, prosecutions and reforms that included the formation of the Waterfront Commission of New York Harbor in 1953. The 24-part series, and hundreds of follow-up articles by Johnson, formed the basis for a number of novels, radio and television shows and the movie "On the Waterfront," which starred Marion Brando and won eight Academy Awards in 1955.

In a 30-year newspaper career, Johnson was a reporter, columnist, critic, war correspondent, editor and special writer. He worked for the Sun for more than 20 years until the paper folded in 1950.

Millions witness wedding of playboy king to commoner

STOCKHOLM (AP) -After a secret jet-set courtship of four years, King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden married his commoner sweetheart Satur-day in a regal ceremony attended by kings, presidents and princes and witnessed by millions of television viewers across Europe: Sweden's 24th queen is Silvia Renate Sommerlath, a 32-year-old German who took out Swedish citizenship only a day before the wedding. To the de-light of her new subjects, she delivered her vows in near-flawless Swedish after a crash course in the language.

After the 40-minute ceremony at Stockholm's medieval Storkyrkan, or Great Church, the couple mounted a horse-drawn open landau for a procession through the streets of Stockholm, under a heart traced in the clear blue sky by Swedish air force

The route was lined by a jubilant throng of 150,000 Swedes waving flags and holding balloons with the royal couple's portraits. Many had waited since

At Skeppsholmen Island opposite the Royal Palace the king and queen boarded the royal barge Vasaorden to review Swedish and foreign naval ships and receive a 21-gun salute.

The couple then withdrew into the castle for a wedding luncheon with about 300 invited guests, serenaded by 150 fiddlers and pipers. They planned to leave later for a two-week honeymoon safari in Kenya.

The lavish pageant cost Sweden $1.1 million, but was expected to bring in at least four times that much from tourists and television. The new queen was chief hostess at the 1972 Olympics when the romance began. As the king put it, they "first clicked at the Munich summer Olympics and kept clicking ever since."

The playboy monarch courted Silvia at resorts in Switzerland, France and Italy where they skied, rode speedboats and drove sports cars with Europe's rich and famous. By marrying King Carl, Silvia - the daughter of a West German businessman and a Spanish noblewoman traded a studio apartment in Munich for six palaces.

Bank takeover probe

WASHINGTON (AP) -A congressional subcom-mittee plans to ask federal agents to investigate reports that the Rev. Sun Myung Moon secretly gained control of a newly chartered national bank in Washington, House investigators said.

Among the bank's founders and current directors is investigative columnist Jack Anderson.

The investigators said a letter requesting the probe by the Internal Revenue Service and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency is being drafted for Rep. Donald Fraser. Fraser, D-Minn., is chairman of a House foreign affairs subcommittee.

The letter reportedly will ask for a joint investigation to determine whether money from foreign sources was used to establish the six-month-old Diplomat National Bank, whether any such funds came into the United States illegally and whether any stock in the bank is secretly held on behalf of Moon or anyone else.

The subcommittee is in possession of information of Moon secretly brought millions of dollars into the U.S. from South Korea through diplomatic chan-nels and failed to declare it, the sources said. They said the money may still be traceable and want the agents to pursue it.

Federal law requires any person who transports more than $5,000 in or out of the U.S. to report it to the Treasury Department.

Records on file in the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency, which oversees the nation's banks, show that Moon and 18 of his associates and followers of his Unificiation Church can vote at least 42,820 of the 97,000 outstanding shares of Diplomat National. The bank is capitalized at $2.4 million, of which Moon and his followers have invested $1.07 million, investigators said. Although that technically is not a majority, there is little question that those shares, voted as a block, would be sufficient to seize control of the bank's operations at a stockholders' meeting.

U.S. used felon to spy onVesco's movements

TAMPA, Fla. (AP) Federal officials engaged a convicted felon to spy on fugitive financier Robert Vesco and promised him they would pay him and help to have his criminal record expunged if he cooperated, a Tampa tele-vision station said Saturday. WFLA-TV said prosecutors in the U.S. attorney's office in New York paid for James "Skip" Wilkins Jr., 27, of Tampa to fly to Costa Rica. His assignment was to learn Vesco's actions and movements.

But WFLA quoted Wilkins as saying Vesco knew of Wilkins' assignment, got him to send false information to federal officials and then had him imprisoned for three weeks in a Costa Rican jail.

U.S. Atty. Robert Fisk of New York confirmed that prosecutors in his of-fice sponsored Wilkins' mission, the station said.

House investigators say there are indications that some of the 19 "Moonies" may own stock in name only, having received the funds to buy the stock from some other source. They would not name those suspected of involvement in such a deal.

Robert Serino, head of compliance in the comp-troller's office, said: "We troller's office, said: are evaluating the situation to determine whether. at the time of chartering concealed from our attention. We have no evidence at this time that there was any misrepresentation. It would be of concern to us if one entity was buying stock not for itself but for someone else.'

Moon himself, who has made a fortune from industrial enterprises in his native South Korea, is said to own more than $75,000 worth of Diplomat stock, as does his wife's translator, Won Pok Choi. Moon's closest associate, Lt. Col. Bo Hi Pak, also is listed among the stockholders. Pak's involvement in the bank came to the attention of subcommittee investigators after they found evidence linking him to the Korean Central Intelligence Agency.

L.B. rally calls for public review of police actions

By BRAD ALTMAN Staff Writer

Citing alleged instances of senseless killings and citizen harassment by Long Beach policemen, a speaker at a MacArthur Park rally Saturday demanded that city officials set up a public review board to monitor police actions.

Bob Duren, co-chairman of the Coalition Against Police Abuse (CAPA), spoke to about 75 persons after a 40-minute march billed as a community rally against police abuse."

"Currently the police department investigates complaints inter-nally," Duren said. "We want the people to determine whether a policeman involved in wrongdoing should be kept on the force or

Earlier, supporters assembled at Martin Luther King Park, where they formed a halfblock-long line. The demonstrators marched along city streets to MacArthur Park, chanting and holding hand-lettered signs with such slogans as "Stop Racism," "End Police Terrorism" and "Honk If You Believe in Justice."

Duren told the rally crowd that one month ago a petition with 400 signatures gathered by CAPA was presented to the City Council. The petition asked the council to set up a community agency to investigate alleged cases of police wrongdoing.

Their request was referred by the city manager to the civil service committee, he said.

"The committee hasn't met," said Duren. "Meanwhile, we're documenting cases of beatings and killings that show a pattern of force by policemen. Victims of police crimes are poor, usually black or brown and not members of an organized group.

CAPA was formed in March to serve as an umbrella organization throughout the county to coordinate smaller groups trying to document police abuse, Duren said.

"A lot of people in Long Beach are still asleep," said Duren, 33, director of the Intercommunal Youth Institute, a community center in Long Beach. "We want to wake up those people who are afraid to walk in the streets at night because they know the police will stop them.

Top priority for CAPA members are public probes of the deaths of four Long Beach residents, all killed by policemen. They are:

—Cartier Quemoy Reedus, 21, shot Feb. 29 by police in MacArthur Back

Anthony B. Wilkins, shot by —Anthony B. Wilkins, shot by police while chaperoning a group of young persons at a concert in Hollywood Bowl Aug. 2, 1974.

—Kevin Michael Lary, 18, killed by a blast from a police shotgun at the Carmelitos housing project April 18 after police said he refused to put down a rifle he was carrying. The CAPA members also want a thorough investigaton of incidents surrounding the death of Betty Ann Scott, 30, killed by a California Highway Patrolman last Sept. 20 near Pleasanton. A companion with her at the time, George Smith Jr., 23, of Long Beach, was arrested on a variety of felony and misdemeansaid CAPA is working in conjunction with the Long Beach-based Scott-Smith Committee for Justice. They are trying to obtain a grand jury transcript that ruled Mrs. Scott's death was justifiable homicide. They believe the transcript contains contradictions in the officer's testimony.

Duren, Mrs. Scott's brother,

In a prerecorded message, the mother of Reedus told the audience Saturday that her son's death "is a classic example of why Long Beach needs an independent investigative agency to monitor our police.

She said police described the incident "as a shootout, but there was no time for a shootout...a police helicopter put a spotlight on him standing there. They surrounded the park, sneaked through it like thieves in the night, and shot my son down. The only movement was my son's body as it was pumped with bullets."

Reedus, a 1973 Poly High graduate and athlete, had packed his suitcase and was to leave that evening for Oregon State University, where he had received a scholarship, she said.

Although absent, Miss Hearst is likely to domi-nate the trial of William and Emily Harris.

"Patty Hearst will be mentioned constantly from the first day of testi-mony," said the Harrises' lawyer, Leonard Weinglass.

The Harrises, still avowed SLA members, are charged with kidnaping, robbery and assault in connection with a May 1974 day and night of vio-lence, starting with a wild shooting incident at a sporting goods store.

The 22-year-old Miss Hearst, now awaiting sentencing on a San Francisco bank-robbery conviction, admitted at that trial that is he wielded a gun when she was with the Unrison of the sporting Harrises at the sporting goods store.

For nine months, since their arrest Sept. 18, 1975, the Harrises have fought to keep Miss Hearst beside them as a codefendant.

"It benefits us in a direct way," Weinglass said during his extended battle to delay the case. "Under the charges of this case only Patricia Hearst is the one who fired a weapon, only Patricia Hearst is the one who put people in danger and only Patricia Hearst is the one whose story under oath has not been believed.

"We think in comparison to that set of circumstances the Harrises will only benefit and come off better:

But Weinglass lost an 11th hour try for another delay Friday, and, barring further roadblocks, jury selection was expected to begin as scheduled.

Superior Court Judge Mark Brandler ruled that Miss Hearst's unavailability for trial made it imperative to proceed with the Harris case separately. He said Miss Hearst can be tried later, and set a tentative date of July 26. But the heiress' lawyers predicted she may never go to trial in Los Angeles. They claim they can prove such massive prejudice against her that it would be impossible to find an impartial jury. The dis-trict attorney's office, however, has voiced its intention to prosecute.

The evidence aganst all three is likely to be aired at the Harris trial.

Harris, 31, and his wife, 29, will confront again in the courtroom witnesses to the events of May 16 and 17, 1974 — a series of episodes that precipitated the fiery deaths of six SLA comrades. The events of the two days are basically uncontested. The main issues to be decided by jurors are whether crimes were committed, and, if so, who is responsible? That shooting incident began with a shopping trip. The Harrises entered Mel's Sporting Goods Store in Inglewood at 4:10 p.m. on May 16. Waiting in a van parked across the street was their fellow fugitive and onetime SLA kidnap vietim, Miss She had earlier declared her conversion to

The Harrises paid $31.50 for heavy outdoor clothing and were about to leave when a young clerk noticied Harris stuffing some-thing up his sleeve.

A scuffle ensued after the shoplifting incident, and the clerk, Anthony Shepherd, clamped a handcuff on Harris. Mrs. Harris pummelled the clerk. As the three grappled into the street, bullets hegan flying across the four-lane highway. Miss Hearst, wielding a subma-chine gun, was firing from the van.

"I picked up this gun and started firing," she recalled at her trial. "I was trying to fire like up at the top of the building."
She emptied one clip of ammunition, then picked up another semi-automatic weapon and fired three more shots, she recalled.

Shepherd told at the Hearst trial how he followed the three for some blocks, then was scared off by someone pointing a gun in his direction. Other witnesses have told of the ensuing flight of

and the kidnapings of two of the drivers, the frantic travels through Los Angeles seeking to contact friends and finally their disappearance as word came on May 17 that the SLA had been cornered in Watts. A parking ticket found in the abandoned Harris wan led police to the house where six SLA members were holed up. All six died that day in a blazing shootout.

The Harris defense team — which includes William Harris serving as his own lawyer -- is expected to contend that the couple is guilty of minor offenses such as shoplift-ing, but not of the major felonies with which they are charged.

Weinglass has said that the two men who rode with the Harrises — teen-ager Tom Matthews and middle-aged Frank Sutter did not consider them-selves kidnap victims.
 Matthews has described his involvement as an exciting escapade and said Hearst treated him kindly.

Judge rules for wives denied jobless benefits

Women who leave their jobs to care for their children, or follow their husbands to another city, are being wrongfully denied unemployment benefits, a state appeals court has

Officials said more than 15,000 California women a year, in recent years, have lost benefits under a 1953 law struck down Thursday by the 3rd Dis-trict Court of Appeal.

A four-year-old case before the court involved Betty Boren, mother of four, who had been earn-ing $110 every two weeks at a drive-in restaurant to supplement her husband's $400-a-month income as a ranch worker.

WHEN HER employer changed her hours, Mrs. Boren couldn't find a baby sitter to take care of her children during her new work period, so she quit.

The State Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board ruled that she wasn't entitled to benefits because she left the job for domestic reasons and her income wasn't the family's primary source of support.

Superior Court Judge B. Abbott Goldberg rejected her lawsuit; but his ruling was reversed by the ap-peals court. It said Mrs. Boren, now 40, had been denied equal protection of

Jail inmate's death probed

Associated Press

The Los Angeles County Coroner's office Saturday said it will have to study an autopsy report before determining the cause of the death of an inmate in the county jail.

Gerald Roy, 24, of West Hollywood, was serving a 45-day sentence on a drunk driving charge when he apparently died of a seizure, according to a sheriff's information officer.

"An employed woman's decision to marry, to follow her husband to another locality, or to leave work for childbirth or child care falls within the ambit of 14th Amendment liberties," wrote Justice Leonard Friedman.

"The statute thus discriminates against women who leave their jobs for domestic reasons, as com-pared with those who leave their jobs for other kinds of good cause. The statute entrenches upon personal choices concerning marriage and family life."

In investigating its government files under the Freedom of Information Act, the Scientologists said they found files on other church groups.

They are the American Friends Service Committee (AFSC), affiliated with the Quakers; the United Church of Christ, and the Unitarian Universalist Association.
The antiwar AFSC, like the Scientologists, was a known target of investigations under former President Nixon. The Quaker group recently won a lawsuit seeking its FBI files.

The Scientologists have filed 18 lawsuits alleging illegal withholding of files, including four new suits last Monday in Washington, D.C. They are offering help to other churches who want to take similar action.

Church spokesman Glen Wahlquist said its study "showed the government is collecting information on religious organizations at an unprecedented

Another Scientology spokesman, Dan Acosta, said government agencies that keep files on the church include the CIA, FBI, Internal Revenue Service, Army, Air Force and Department of Labor. He said the church is seeking under the Freedom of Information Act to correct errors in the files.

Those errors, the church spokesmen said, include allegations that Scientologists shoot their enemies and that they study a Russian textbook on brainwashing.

The church has been involved in numerous con-troversies over its allega-tions of mental-health atrocities, its opposition to the income tax and attempts to revoke its laxexempt status.

Bailey to ask for new trial

SAN DIEGO (AP) — Attorney F. Lee Bailey says he will ask for a new trial for Patricia Hearst, based on new evidence he says has been discovered and evidence he says was withheld from the defense by the prosecution.

The young newspaper heiress was convicted in April of robbing a San hank Symbionese Liberation Army.

Bailey disclosed his plans Friday to the San Diego Union after meeting for nearly two hours with Miss Hearst at San Diego's Metropolitan Correctional Center, where she is undergoing a 90-day diagnostic study prior to sentencing.

IN A RECENT interview with the Associated Press, he said the govern-ment withheld the fact that two witnesses owners of a car allegedly stolen by Miss Hearst and fellow SLA members William and Emily Harris — identified Harris as the man who threatened a clerk with a shotgun.

Anthony Shepard, a clerk at Mel's Sporting Goods store in Inglewood testified during Miss Hearst's trial that he wasn't sure if it was the heiress who stalked him down a street with a gun.

Bailey contended that Shepard's grand jury testi-mony and that of the car's owners was withheld by the government.

HARRIS allegedly told the two in the car, "I'll get that son of a bitch," refer-ring to Shepard. The clerk was involved in a scuffle with the SLA members on May 16, 1974, when the three were trying to escape identification.

Bailey said, "We had 11 attorneys and numerous investigators on the case, but we didn't get the kind of evidence we have now."

He did not elaborate further on his claims of new evidence. Bailey also said he met for an hour with a San Diego resident concerning his client, but would not identify the person he talk-ed to, nor would he say what they discussed.

Bailey said he was not seeking a retrial of Miss Hearst because of the death this week of U.S. District Court Judge Oliver Carter.

Carter, who presided over the first trial, died Monday in San Francisco. He had given Miss Hearst a preliminary sentence of 35 years pending the out-come of the diagnostic

One fire controlled, Nipomo blaze spreads

Fire fighters Saturday brought under control a brush fire that swept through 70 acres and threatened several homes 13 miles southeast of Lakeport, a State Forestry Division official said.

The fire started at a dump on Jago Bay Road in mid-morning. Some 178 fire fighters brought the blaze under control early Saturday night. Six air tankers, a helicopter, two bulldozers and 11 fire engines were used to fight the blaze.

Meanwhile more than 100 fire fighters battled a brush fire fanned by gusty winds near Nipomo and officials said the fire threatened to spread rapidly in this remote and isolated area of San Luis Obispo County.

A California Division of Forestry spokesman said 13 ground units and 10 aircraft were fighting the blaze, which began at 1 p.m. near Willow Road on the Nipomo Mesa. Some 60 acres had been destroyed, officials said, and a few mobile homes and cabins in isolated areas were in some danger. No injuries

The spokesman said the fire already has jumped containment lines once and added there is no estimate of when it will be brought under control.

Reagan gaining on Ford

Ford won 19 delegates convention at Iowa's na-tional convention Saturday. Reagan won the other DELAWARERepublicans elected a slate of 17 national delegates. They are technically uncommit-ted, but a AP survey indi-cated that 12 preferred Ford and 5 were undecided. None expressed preference for Reagan.

And, as expected, Rea-gan picked up all three national delegates chosen in a convention of Colorado's 2nd District Republicans. Reagan now holds all six of the delegates elected so far in Colorado. The state will send a total of 31 delegates to the GOP national convention.

North Carolina also named GOP delegates, but they are based on that state's primary, and the results of the weekend's work will not affect the candidates' delegate strength.

Reagan spent the week-end traveling, lobbying for support in Iowa and Wash-ington.

FORD STAYED in the nation's capital to deal with the crisis in Lebanon and sent his wife, Betty, to address Iowa Republicans and sent Agriculture Secretary Earl Butz to Washington State.

Ford telephoned Delaware's state nominating convention Saturday at the start of its session in a personal appeal for sup-

"I strongly ask you to give me the help and as-sistance of the 17 dele-gates from Delaware," Ford said. He said be was confident that his record had helped restore confi-dence in government. And he said he was certain he could be helpful to the party in elections "from the courthouse to the Congress" as head of the national GOP ticket.

On the Democratic side, Texas Democrats met in Houston to name 32 atlarge national convention delegates, including 20 who will be pledged to frontrunner Jimmy Cart-

CARTER, meanwhile, ended a five-day vacation Saturday with speeches in Lafayette, Ind., and Atlan-

Texas party officials initially said the results of a preferential straw vote had earmarked 21 of the delegates for Carter and 1 for Brown. But Saturday they said that rounding off of percentages had changed the tally to 20 for Carter and 2 for Brown. In addition, there were nine uncommitted delegates and one for Alabama Gov. George C. Wallace.

South Dakota Democrats also chose delegates but, like North Carolina, the candidates' standings were determined by an earlier primary.

CONFERRING at Democratic Rules Committee meeting in Washington Saturday are former Rep. Martha Griffiths of Michigan and Hugh Cannon of Raleigh, N.C., who will be parliamentarian at national convention.

Reagan says he's on target to beat Ford

By DOUG WILLIS AP Political Writer

Ronald Reagan said Saturday that he is still on target to defeat President Ford for the Republican nomination for president and that he is ready to take on Democrat Jimmy Carter in November. Reagan conceded he fell short of his goal of break-ing even with Ford in Iowa, but said he still had "a very good week."

The former California governor criticized Carter, the probable Democratic Party nominee for president, and said he has a better chance of defeating the former Georgia gover-nor than Ford does.

Reagan said there is an anti-big government mood that Carter is riding. He paign would focus on attacks against Ford deficits and on the Washington establishment that Ford has been a member of for most of his life.

But he said a Carter-Reagan campaign would force comparisons of the Carter and Reagan records as governors, and Reagan said he would pre-

"I'm prepared for Jimmy Carter," Reagan told supporters in Spokane. "He isn't against big government. He's just against who is in big government."

Reagan also said he supports "our furthering of good relations with the mainland Chinese" because "this is a deterrent to some of the aggressive-ness of the Soviet Union."

Although Reagan slightly narrowed Ford's 90-delegate lead in the race for the Republican nomination, Reagan lost in Iowa the momentum he gained the previous week with an upset 18-to-1 win over Ford in Missouri.

Reagan said Iowa, where Ford won 19 delegates to 17 for Reagan, really wasn't a loss.

"We were hopeful of an 18-18 split. It came about 18-18 spit. it came about as close as you can to splitting it, so that, with Washington, I think is a very good week," Reagan told news reporters in Los Angeles after a 30-hour tour of the two states.

Asked if he still expects to have the 1,130 delegates needed for a first-ballot nomination in August, Reagan replied, "Yes. With the exception of this 17 instead of 18, our projections are still ahead of where we thought we would be at this time. But Reagan campaign director John Sears had predicted at least 20 delegates in Iowa, and Reagan made a major effort there, giving eight speeches at the Iowa convention. In other conventions

Friday and Saturday, Ford won Delaware 12-to-0, with 5 uncommitted, and Reagan won 3-to-0 in a Colorado congressional district. Reagan was expected to win majorities among Washington's 38 delegates, and 4 delegates in Texas.

In Iowa and Washing-ton, Reagan repeated his fiscally conservative anti-Washington views, but he put new emphasis on issues that would appeal to moderate Republicans.

He listed accomplishments in California that he said would counter "the image-making that goes on in politics, to suggest his (Reagan's) only consqueezing and trimming." Reagan said he doubled

Fewer minorities in Democratic delegate groups

By MIKE SHANAHAN

WASHINGTON (AP) - Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss reported preliminary figures Saturday showing a drop in minority representation among delegates to the party's 1976 convention compared with

The figures were released as the party's Rules Committee opened two days of hearings in preparation for the national convention, which opens July 12 in New York.

Nearly 150 committee members are to consider proposed reforms on minority representation, the method of choosing vice presidential candi-dates and whether to hold a mini-convention before the 1980 meeting of the majority party.

IN 1972, the convention that nominated Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota operated under rules requiring quotas for black delegates, women, young people and Spanish-speaking persons.

The rules created deep divisions within the party and were later abandoned, although Democratic officials remained pledged to increased minority representation in the nominating process.

Now party reformers are seeking to restore a formal mechanism to force increased minority representation, first in resolutions before the Rules Committee, then on the convention floor in Madison Square Garden. With the nomination of

Jimmy Carter as the presidential nominee a virtual certainty, the issue is likely to provide the only spirited fight of the convention. STRAUSS SAID that among 25 state delegations surveyed so far there are 34 per cent women, 10 per cent blacks, 3 per cent Latins and nearly 15 per cent young people.

That compares with 38 per cent women in 1972, 15 per cent blacks, 4 per cent Latins and 21 per cent

U.S. leads Russ in new nuclear attack sub-

By LESLIE H. GELB

WASHINGTON — The United States has built more nuclear-powered attack submarines than the Soviet Union in the past 10 years, although Defense Department testimony earlier this year left a contrary implication on the public record.

Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis., using data he obtained from the Pentagon, released figures Saturday showing that the United States has outproduced the Russlans 48 to 42 since 1966 and 20 to 17 from 1971 to 1975.

The Soviet Union, however, still retains an overall lead in nuclear attack submarines at sea because of its production surge early in the past decade.

In testimony before congressional committees, Pentagon witnesses have portrayed growing Soviet superiority in the production of the nuclear-powered attack submarines by answering questions in terms of all Soviet nuclear-powered submarines.

Thus, they tended to lump figures of Soviet nuclear-attack submarines — which fire torpedoes and surface missiles at other submarines and ships — with Soviet nuclear-powered strategic submarines that launch ballistic missiles against land targets.

Thus, when Rear Adm.
T.L. Malone told a House committee this year that the Russians outbuilt the United States in "nuclear submarines" in 1974 by 10 to 3, and in 1975 by 9 to 2, he failed to distinguish between the two kinds of submarine. However, only 3 of the 10 and only two of the 9 were nuclear-powered attack submarines.

Aspin also released information from the Pentagon showing that intelligence estimates of Soviet attack-submarine building in the past few years have exaggerated Soviet production by about 300 per cent each year.

Drugging of soldiers disclosed

WASHINGTON (AP) — Army Secretary Martin Hoffmann said in a letter released Saturday that two dozen U.S. soldiers on duty at an Army communications center were drugged with LSD by a fellow soldier in an incident last year in West Germany.

Eighteen of the 24 soldiers affected were hospitalized for up to six days for "disturbances of the central and autonomic nervous system," Hoffmann said.

HOWEVER, the soldier Army investigators suspect was responsible for putting the hallucinogenic drugs into the communications center's coffee urn probably will never be prosecuted, according to Rep. Les Aspin, D-Wis.

Hoffmann, in a June 4 letter released by Aspin, said the suspected culprit was not identified by the investigators until after his discharge from the Army in July 1975, almost five months after the incident at Massweiler, West Germany.

The incident occurred Feb. 26, 1975, during a North Atlantic Treaty Organization training exercise termed WINTEX. "The maneuver was not affected by the absence of the hospitalized soldiers,"

Hoffmann said.
Hoffmann said that LSD lysergic acid diethylamide — was discovered in urine of the soldiers affected.

information released by Sen. Patrick J. Leahy, D-Vt., which showed that in the past 15 years the United States has built twice as many large surface combat ships as the Soviet Union.

The Leahy information also ran counter to the picture being provided by top Pentagon officials of "adverse trends" in naval ship construction.

Defense Secretary Donald H. Rumsfeld presented in congressional testimony charts showing that from 1985 and 1975 the Soviet Union produced 205 "major combatant" surface ships, compared with 165 by the United States.

He kept classified, how-

He kept classified, however, the fact that most of these ships were under 3,000 tons, a size ship the U.S. Navy has shunned for itself. Only later did Leahy manage to have this information declassified.

Comparable information distinguishing between nuclear-powered attack submarines and ballistic-missile submarines was also not given by the Pentagon to Congress. Only after the hearings conducted by congressional committees were completed did the Navy pro-shows that, while the Russians built 34 nuclearpowered attack submarines from 1961 to 1965 and 25 from 1966 to 1970, they produced only 17 in the past five years.

The bulk of the Soviet facilities that produce nuclear-powered submarines have been devoted in recent years to the building of ballistic-missile submarines. Under the existing strategic arms agreement between the United States and the Soviet Union, Moscow is permitted to build up to 62 modern ballistic missilefiring submarines, and it has not reached that level

Haldeman tells errors

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The greatest mistake that former President Nixon's administration made in dealing with Watergate "was in not getting ahead of the game at the outset, finding out who were culpable and bringing them to justice," H.R. Haldeman says in a copyrighted series distributed by Universal Press Syndi-

The series, "Inside the Nixon White House," is by Haldeman as told to Joseph Scott. Haldeman, asked to confirm his authorship, noted the copyright and said "it's my series." The fivepart series started Sunday.

'The President and I, together with John Ehrlichman, never quite made enough tough moves. We were all afraid to find out. Afraid that what we suspected might be the case would, in fact, turn out to be the case — that it went very high up, to Jeb Magruder and even to John Mitchell, as the April 14, 1973, tape indicates Ehrlichman told the President," Haldeman wrote.

Ehrlichman did directly confront Mitchell that day on the subject. And Mitchell denied categorically any involvement in authorizing the break-in at Watergate. But the overwhelm-ing logic of the situation made me wonder pretty strongly about how the break-in could have occurred without at least a wink on Mitchell's part. It is significant, however, that despite all the investigations and revelations, Mitchell has never been indicted in connection with the break-in."

The article distributed by the Kansas City-based press syndicate concluded with Haldeman's observations of what might have happened if Nixon had not been swamped with Watergate at the start of his second term:

-"South Vietnam would not have fallen. The final outcome in Vietnam would have taken a far different turn. . .had Nixon not been weakened and instead had been able to deal with it firmly -"America's position in world diplomacy would be one of towering strength and leadership.

"Henry Kissinger would not be secretary of state. There was never any thought of this appointment as a possibility — although there were going to be substantial changes at the State Department, from the top down."

"The 1976 Republican presidential candidate would not have been either Jerry Ford or Ronald Reagan — but John Connally."

-"And the White House taping system would still be running, and no one would know it."

THE DATA were compiled by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare at the request of Sens. Jacob K. Javits, R. N.Y. and Edward W. Brooke, R-Mass.

In releasing an independent analysis of the data done by a Brookings Institution researcher, the two senators said the information demonstrates how few children have been affected by desegre-gation plans outside the South.

Although the Supreme Court declared school segregation unconstitutional in 1954, in the 1974-75 school year roughly six of every 10 black pupils in the Northeast, Midwest and border states were at-tending "intensely segre-gated" schools, the study

In the West, nearly half the black students continacd to attend intensely segregated schools. Figures for individual states were not listed.

BY CONTRAST, it said, in the South during the same school year slightly over two of every 10 black pupils were attending such schools.

In 1964, when Congress passed the Civil Rights. Act, about 98 per cent of the black pupils in the South were attending allblack or mostly black schools.

Lack of data clouds effects of busing on desegregation

By GENE I. MAEROFF New York Times Service

NEW YORK - The future of busing as an instrument of school desegregation has come under political challenge at a time when experts agree that there still is a glaring lack of information against which to assess the educational impact of busing.

More than 20 years after the U.S. Supreme Court outlawed "separate but equal" schools, setting the stage for massive desegregation, social scientists and educators are unable to arrive at a consensus on the effects of busing on the children involved.

Nonetheless, there is growing pressure from politi-cians, including President Ford, to limit busing. Critics say it is the long-distance relation of pupils, not desegregation, that they oppose. But it seems clear by now that, in most locales, housing patterns have made it difficult to pursue integration without wide-scale

Firm 'cleans up' diabetic medicine

WASHINGTON (AP) A drug company is quietly replacing stocks of a widely used oral diabetes treatment because the drug contains minute amounts of a cancer-causing chemical, federal officials ac-knowledged Saturday

A Food and Drug Administration spokesman said the amount of chemical-contaminant was so small that it posed no im-mediate health hazard and a formal recall was considered unnecessary. The Upjohn Co. for several months has been replacing older stocks of Tolinase with supplies made with a revised manufacturing process that eliminates the confaminant, the FDA said.

TERRY KELLEY, Upjohn's public relations director, Saturday said from the firm's headquarters in Kalamazoo, Mich., that there was "no secret agreement" to hush up replacement stocks.

."The replacement program was done ouietly without public announcement because we felt there was no need to alarm the public," he Tolinase is used by thousands of persons with adult-onset diabetes to lower the amount of blood sugar. The disease is characterized by a body's inability to burn up sugars normally.

The FDA acknowledged the Tolinase action after a group associated with consumer advocate Ralph Nader released a letter it sent the agency - charging a secret agreement be tween FDA and Upjohn to withhold from the public news of a potential health

Dr. Sidney M. Wolfe, of the Health Research Group, said the contaminant chemical, a nitrosamine, was proved in studies to cause cancer in rats and hampsters.

The chemical is suspected of causing human cancers and the FDA previously took steps to eliminate it in other products.

Dr. J. Richard Crout, director of the FDA's Bu-reau of Drugs, said in a statement that Wolfe's charge of a secret agree-ment between FDA and Upjohn "is without foun-dation and irresponsible. Court refused to review a federal district court order that has led to the busing of 26,000 of Boston's 85,000

Busing emerged as a major desegregation tool by the end of the 1960s, the major breakthrough for its supporters coming in 1971 with the Supreme Court's approval of busing in Charlotte, N.C.

Many pupils have traditionally ridden buses to school because of the distances they must travel. Today more than 40 per cent of the country's 48 million elementary and secondary school youngsters are transported to school, according to the United States Department of Transportation ment of Transportation.

It was not until busing was used for desegregation that pupil transportation became an issue and politi-cians began expressing their concern about its effects.

What has complicated the controversy is the limited and conflicting information on the results.

Definitive findings on what happens to pupil achievement when black and white youngsters come together are scanty. The whole gamut of educational effectiveness dur-ing desegregation remains an essentially unresolved area. It is not even certain what the variables are that affect education under usual circumstances, let alone under desegregation. "Although desegregation is not to date a demonstrated success, it is not yet a demonstrated failure," Dr. Nancy H. St. John of the University of Massa chusetts at Boston wrote last year in her book "Desegregation Outcomes for Children."

"In spite of the large number of studies, various limitations in design weaken the best of them," Dr. St.

John wrote after examining 120 studies of desegregation. Thus, in a sense, the evidence is not all in. Researchers do not know conclusively what the difference in the impact of desegregation is between large districts and small districts, between voluntary conditions and mandatory conditions, in classrooms that have varying percentages of integration and under teachers with disparate backgrounds and experience. Two California psychologists, Dr. Norman Miller and Dr. Harold B. Gerard, in a book to be published this year, say one reason busing can fail to raise achievement levels of pupils is the racial bigotry of some

Editor hits FBI inaction on fraud

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) The Justice Department is doing little to prosecute the kind of land-fraud schemes Arizona reporter Don Bolles was investigating when he was killed earlier this month, his city editor charged Saturday.

The Justice Department is turning its back on this important area of crime. They know all about it. What we have to find out is why they have n't done anything," said Robert J. Early of the Arizona Republic.

THE CASE drew national attention after Bolles was seriously injured when a bomb exploded in his car June 2. He died 11 days later.

There's no question about it," Early said.

Bolles had investigated land deals in the past, Early said, and at the time of the bombing was checking a tip about a deal allegedly involving Sen. Barry Goldwater, R-Ariz., Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., and former Arizo-na GOP Chairman Harry Rosenweig. Early said Bolles discounted the credibility of the story, but decided to investigate it anyway. The tip allegedly came from 32-year-old John H. Adamson, subsequently charged with murder in the case.

IMPEACHMENT TRIAL OF JOHNSON

Leaders in Crisis Johnson tries to heal Union

By SID MOODY Associates Press

Maybe the ordeal of Andrew Johnson was writ in the stars, an intermingling of character and events no human hand could have altered.

the is no answer, however intriguing, to ask "what if Lincoln had lived?" He didn't. So we are left with a much misunderstood man of considerable courage and character who became locked in a death struggle with less honorable men. The legacy of this still abides.

The illiterate tailor schooled by his wife who rose to the presidency is almost legend. But that is not all.

By the time the Civil War broke out, Johnson, a congressman, a governor of Tennessee and by then a U.S. senator, was far more politically experienced than Lincoln, who had served but one term in the House. Whereas Lincoln spoke with terrible agony of the conflict that tore at his soul and the Union's, Johnson, not above confronting threatening opponents with a pistol, was outspoken.

"WHEN THIS Union is interred," he roared on the floor of the Senate as war descended, "I want no more honorable winding sheet than that brave old flag, and no more glorious grave than to be interred in the tomb of the Union!"

A slaveholder, he said nonetheless: "If you persist in forcing the issue of slavery against the government, I say, in the face of heaven, give me my government and let the Negro go! If the (negro) can rise by his own energies, in the name of God, let

As military governor of Tennessee, perhaps the most fought-over state in the war with more than 100 pitched battles, Johnson cried vengeance against the renders of the Union. "Treason must be made odious and traitors impoverished," he said and threatened burn the homes of secessionists during the siege of Nashville.

He was put on Lincoln's ticket as a Southerner to balance it. At their inauguration Lincoln spoke of "charity to all" while Johnson, ailing and hung over, downed two thumblers of whisky to brace himself and was accused falsely as a drunkard after an incoherent speech. Only because he disliked drama did he not accept a friend's offer of tickets to Ford's Theater and witness the act that made him presi-

ACCEPTING the almost insuperable burden of mending the house divided, the zealot took on, too, its sobering responsibilities. He came to see, as Lincoln had and the radicals in Congress did not, that vengeance was not victory. A veteran stump speaker of the East Tennessee hills, he could not resist a torchlit debate with a celebrating crowd outside the White House on Washington's birthday in 1866. Reminded of his warting plading of patricks. 1866. Reminded of his wartime pledge of retribution, he scoffed: "Hang 8 million people? It is now peace.

Let us have peace!"

Johnson held that Congress had no right to pass any bill regarding the Confederate states while they were not represented in Congress. They had never legally left the Union, so were entitled to vote. The radicals, led by Thaddeus Stevens and Benjamin Wade, campaigned angrily against the president and won a veto-proof Congress that fall. Now they would confirm enfranchisement of the freed slaves at bayonet point. Johnson did not object to the black vote, net point. Johnson did not object to the black vote, although he noted few Northern states allowed it. But he wanted home rule returned to the secessionist states under the Constitution as quickly as practicable, although he agreed with Lincoln that at first "it would be done badly.

JOHNSON commenced a war of vetoes with the JOHNSON commenced a war of vetoes with the Republican-dominated Congress, suffering charges that he was a drunkard, embezzler and even imprederer. The culmination was the Military Reconstruction Bill, which created military districts throughout the South whose governors were not bound "by any opinion of any civil officer of the United States" — starting with the president. Johnson stubbornly clung to his argument that the bill was unconstitutional. was unconstitutional.

To further hamstring the president, Congress passed the Tenure of Office Act, by which the chief executive could not remove any appointee who had been approved by the Senate without the Senate's

Johnson bitterly charged that this was rewriting the Constitution by statute. Even Sen. John Sherman, no friend of Johnson's and brother of the Union general, asked how a president could be compelled to keep a man in his administration who was odious to him.

THE BATTLE came to focus on Edwin Stanton, secretary of war and a secret ally of the radicals.

Nonetheless a loyalty bred in wartime restrained Johnson from firing Stanton. Hoping to get the constitutional issues into the courts, Johnson enconstitutional issues into the courts, Johnson endured bitter insults, defamation, even perjured charges that he had plotted Lincoln's death. Stevens searched in vain for anything that could be a pretext, valid or not, for impeachment. It came when a prosecutor claimed that Johnson had signed convicted Lincoln plotter Mary Surratt's death warrant without disclosing a clemency petition had been ed Lincoln plotter Mary Surratt's death warrant without disclosing a clemency petition had been attached. Stung by obviously doctored evidence which led to Stanton, Johnson fired the secretary. Johnson well realized the consequences, but determined the law of the land and his own conscience left him no choice.

He avoided conviction, of course, by one vote and lived to return to the Senate. But the radicals had their way in the South and the United States was gaver to know if conciliation rather than bayonets would have bequeathed a different heritage.

Silver lining

We have a large amount of silver coins. Can you tell us how much the coins that aren't collector's items are worth, just for their silver content? G.S., Long Beach.

The precious-metal content of the now-discontinued U.S. silver coins makes them worth more than three times their face value at this time. The actual worth varies virtually daily with fluctuations in the price of silver. The day we checked with Bob Foster, owner of Liberty Coin Co., 1053 South St., silver dimes, quarters and half-dollars were worth 3.2 times their face value, and silver dollars, which have a slightly higher proportion of silver, were bringing 3.5 times their originai value. Any of these coins of special interest to collectors would, of course, be worth more. To check on the numismatic value of individ-ual coins, look them up in "A Guidebook of U.S. Coins." The 1976 edition sells for $3.95 and should be available in many libraries. The 1977 edition should be on the market next month.

Collision

Please give me some information on the ill-fated USS Benevolence, the hospital ship that collided with a merchant vessel in dense fog near San Francisco, probably 20 years ago. What was the date of the disaster, how many lives were lost, what was the name of the other ship and who were the two captains? W.H.S., Long Beach.

USS Benevolence collided with the SS Mary Luckenbach, a military freighter, four miles off San Francisco's Golden Gate at 5:55 p.m. Aug. 25, 1950. According to Navy figures, 23 of the 526 persons on board the Benevolence lost their lives; their ship went to the bottom of the Pacific. The Luckenbach, under the command of Capt. Leonard C. Smith, was not badly damaged and was back in service by Sept. 15. The Benevolence, commanded by Capt. Barton E. Bacon dr., had been brought back from the reserve fleet and was conducting sea trials at the time of the accident. She had been commissioned in the summer of 1945, too late to see World War II action, but had processed liberated prisoners of war in Japan and had brought the wounded back to the United States. In 1946 she participated in "Operation Crossroads," the atomic-bomb testing on Bikini Atoll. She had been placed in reserve Sept. 13, 1947.

It recognized the "legitimacy of the blacks' struggle for the elimination of racial discrimination and called upon the South African government to take urgent steps to South Airican Ambassador Roelf F. Botha quickly disassociated his government from the resolution and said South Africa will not be "held hostage to the council or accept externally imposed restrictions on its freedom of domestic administration.

He characterized the council debate as full of "far-fetched, emo-tional and unsubstantial allegations.

South African Development Minister M.C. Botha and black leaders from Soweto, where the rioting first broke out Wednesday, met Saturday in Pretoria, the capi-tal. They issued a joint statement saying the riots were caused by "misunderstanding and confusion." Botha said the continued use of the Afrikaans language in Soweto schools was not compulsory and was subject to negotiation with black leaders. Another meeting was scheduled this week.

The rioting broke out in protest against the use of Afrikaans, the language of the ruling white minority, in black schools.

Many blacks see the language as the symbol of white oppression. Black students want to be taught in English, which they see as more widespread and practical.

The three days of violence left Soweto and other black townships in the Johannesburg area devastated. The suburbs are used as segregated dormitory towns for blacks who work in white industrial and commercial zones.

After the rioting began as a protest against Afrikaans by highschool students, adults joined in, and there was widespread violence in protest against apartheid. It raced through 11 black townships around Johannesburg.

South Africa must abandon the anachronistic, outdated and shortsighted policy."

U.S. Ambassador Albert Sherer Jr. called on South Africa to aban-don apartheid, which he said is "clearly not acceptable under any standard of human rights."

The tragic events occurring in South Africa are a sharp reminder that when a system deprives a people of the basic elements of human dignity and expression, only the bitterest results can be expected, said Sherer, who sat in for Ambassador William W. Scranton, now on an African tour.

Fighting near Sidon reportedly subsided Saturday. Syrian tanks have dug in on hills overlooking the port city 25 miles south of Beirut. The Palestinian command had reported heavy shelling there overnight, contributing to the decision

Hays put secrecy clamp on junkets

During most of his foreign travel in the past three years. Hays himself was in charge of various traveling congressional delegation's budgets. Efforts by the Chicago Tribune to document largescale buying failed to produce specific instances. One London weler, Leonard Kurrels, said Hays frequently stopped at his shop near the American Embassy and bought sterling silver.

Despite rumors circulating at the embassy that Hays spent large amounts at Kurrel's shop, the jeweler said Hays made only six stops in three years. and spent at the most about $200 each time.

Sketchy government records available show few de-tails of congressional travel expenses, an area in which Hays made information difficult to obtain. After succeeding in 1973 with an effort to stop the annual nublication of travel reports, Hays told a reporter, "We de-cided we weren't going to spend $8,000 or $9,000 to let you guys do your stories on congressional congressmen to a 10-day London conference cost $36,000.

Some details are available, however. Data obtained from the clerk of the House's office shows that on a single outing in November 1974, a Hays-led delegation of 12 senators and 17

Hays personally spent $1,425 in counterpart funds on this trip, a U.S. delegation visit to the North Atlantic Assembly. NATO parliamentary group of which he was president.

A total of $51,000 under Hays' budgetary control was spent by House members of the delegation. The senators spent another $35,000.

Carol Clawson, Hays' press aide, said that only a limited breakdown of how the $51,000 was spent is available. The breakdown shows that the congressmen spent $18,225 on "per diem" expenses. But it lumps $33,500 under the heading of "office rental, telephone, transportation and official representation."
Clawson said that no further information is available.

By comparison, however, essentially the same House delegation in 1972 spent only $26,122 over a 15-day visit. The records for that conference show that only $13,000 went for "office rental, etc.," compared with the $33,500 Hays reported for 1974.

One reason the records of congressional travel expenses are skimpy and hard to obtain is Hays' legislative maneuver-

Until 1973, Congress printed detailed accounts of its overseas travel once a year in the Congressional Record. That year Hays quietly attached a rider to a State Department authorization bill, which eliminated this requirement. (The House voted Friday to reinstate the requirement and sent the measure to the Senate.)

Thus, in 1974, with the expense accounts no longer subject to public scrutiny, the delegation to the NAA meeting doubled its spending over 1972,

the last outing listed in the Congressional Record.

The plan backfired, however, when in 1975 Congress required that reports of all travel made in 1974 be filed with the Clerk of the House.

These reports to the clerk show that Hays and his House colleagues spent $51,000 in London in November 1974. The Senate's report lists expenses of $35,000.

Now records of overseas congressional travel are turned over to the House Administration Committee — Hays resigned the administration chairmanship this week under pressure. The 1975 files there show that spending for last year's NAA outing had dropped

The various records on file throughout Capitol offices and at the American Embassy in London show that between 1973 and 1975 Hays made nine separate trips to London with other stops in Belgium, Germany, Italy, Denmark and Egypt-During the last nine years he traveled abroad more than 20

Despite his undeniable clout, dislike for Hays abounds among the diplomatic com-munity. Some of that dislike has been responsible for supply-ing investigators with informa-tion about Hays' movements.

One particular source of rancor among people charged with serving VIPs abroad are the events surrounding the November 1974 junket to England.

On that November trip, Mansfield loaded several pieces of furniture aboard the plane en route to London. There was no customs inspection for the Air Force airplane, and London Embassy personnel loaded the goods for shipment to Mans-field's daughter, Ann, who was setting up housekeeping on the Isle of Wight.

MANSFIELD told the Tribune that he remembered taking only three pieces of furniture aboard the Air Force plane. The Democratic leader also acknowledged that he never declared the furniture either in the United States or before Britishs officials.

According to Customs Service spokesmen, Mansfield should have declared the items in the United States as exports, and a British Embassy official in Washington said that Mansfield probably would have paid a tax on the furniture to the English government if he had declared it.

"I didn't pay any duty," said Mansfield. "Nobody asked me and I didn't think to volunteer. It was a military plane."
On the return trip, according to several sources in the diplomatic community, mem-bers of the touring delegations shipped between 90 and 100 cases of whiskey, valued over at more than $5,000, back to the United States.

Customs officials said that the information about which items the NAA delegation declared upon arrival to the United States would not be made available to the press.

At 3:21 p.m., as the craft sped along at 6,300 miles per hour, the rocket began firing. Thirty-eight minutes later the rocket shut off, with Viking's speed reduced by nearly 4,000 miles per hour. Mars' gravity pulled the slowed space-craft into orbit as Viking approached to within about 930 miles of the planet's surface.

The first orbit was designed to take Viking in a large loop around the planet, carrying the craft about 31,440 miles out from the Martian surface at its farthest point. This orbit would take nearly two days to complete.

On Monday, the orbit is to be trimmed to a smaller circuit which the craft would complete in 24.6 hours — one Martian day.
Viking will orbit Mars for nearly two weeks, scanning and mapping the surface. Cameras will photograph the intended site near an ancient rift valley, while other instruments measure temperatures on the surface and search the atmosphere for signs of water.

On July 4, providing the landing site is deemed safe for a touchdown, Viking will detach its automated lander and send it to a soft landing on the surface to begin biological end other studies logical and other studies.

Viking is the second U.S. spacecraft to orbit the red planet in an attempt to clear up speculation and mystery about Mars.

Women in House joking

But also angry over burgeoning Capitol scandals

By REBECCA LEET Washington Star

WASHINGTON - Rep. Marjorie Holt, R-Md., is telling people these days that all the men in her office can type and answer

And her congressional neighbor, Rep. Gladys. Spellman, D-Md., jokes that the men in her office have said they are going to file a class-action suit because they fear their chances for career advancement are reduced because of their sex.

Despite all the joking, Reps. Holt and Spellman and the 17 other female members of the House feel just as chagrined, angry and sad as do their male colleagues about the broadening Capitol Hill sex scandal touched off three weeks ago when 33year-old Elizabeth Ray publicly charged that Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, kept her on his committee staff at $14,000 yearly to do nothing but be his mis-

"THE WHOLE thing is sad and deplorable," said freshman Rep. Virginia Smith, R-Neb.

"I don't even want to discuss it. We're ashamed. and we're taking care of it," said Rep. Leonor K. Sullivan, D-Mo., who, with 24 years' experience, is the senior congresswoman.

"I am thoroughly disgusted with the entire matter and hope that the House will quickly dispose of this situation so we can proceed about the business of legislation for which we are all responsible," said Rep. Patsy T. Mink, D-

"This comes from an arrogance of power," boomed Rep. Bella Abzug, D-N.Y., contending that abuse of power is one of the lessons of the Hays-Ray episode. As for whetha reverse situation could ever occur, she said, Women have not been corrupted by power here or anywhere else - we've had too little chance. . . and we do not desire that kind of power."

SEVERAL congresswomen agreed with Rep. Marilyn L. Lloyd, D-Tenn, who expressed doubt that the reverse situation could occur be-cause female members of Congress are under more scrutiny and pressure than Pipe-smoking Rep. Millicent Fenwick, R-N.J., pointed out that a reverse situation of sorts was aled to nave occurred in 1958 involving 45-year-old Rep. Coya Knutson, D-Minn., and her 29-year-old executive secretary, William Kueldahl.

Rep. Knutson's husband, who had made na-tional headlines with a public "Coya, come home" letter the spring before the November election, announced on elec tion day that he intended to file an alienation-ofaffections suit against Kueldahl.

THE CONGRESSWO-MAN lost her re-election bid, and after the election her husband admitted he had been "taken in" by rumors spread by her opponents.

Rep. Yvonne B. Burke, D-Calif., said congressmen are probably no worse than executives in private business in subjecting women employes to sexual pressure.

"Some women take advantage of it and some don't. Some go all the way up the corporate ladder that way," she said.

The irony of Elizabeth Ray, Mrs. Burke said, is that she purportedly did no work at all. "The situation so often is women have to work like dogs and still be subjected to that. just to maintain low-paying jobs," she said.

ROYAL LIPIZZAN STALLION IN "WORLD OF HORSES"

'World of Horses' show to play L.B. Arena in July

and 13 at 8 p.m.

The family attraction is a blend of the elegant and aristocratic Lipizzan horses together with other popular breeds such as Andalusians, Morgans and Saddiebreds, in a theatrically produced equine ex-travaganza. The program features virtually every facet of the equestrian art and demonstrates the amazing "airs above the ground" in which the flying hooves of the huge Lipizzan stallions fly out from great heights during their majestic leaps.

Waltzes, show tunes and brassy arena music fill the air as the horses exhibit glistening hides, jewel-studdled bridles and flank adornments, great waving manes and tails in the spotlighted demonstrations of the most intricate dressage and haute ecole maneuvers, with balletlike leaps and balancing steps. The enormous pol-ish of the horses and their riders' performances draws repeated applause.

Scenes range from the elegant courts of Europe to a Wild West jamboree and a Mexican fiesta.

A special added attraction to this year's show is Europe's popular and exciting Spanish Riding Show, one of the world's most beautiful presentations of Spanish horsemen and dancing Andalusian stallions. This horse of kings and royalty was the

The rock rage of the teen audience, a group called Kiss, boasts of its "unfettered evil and sex-uality." Its members strut and prance in monsterish makeup, feathers and leather.

A self-styled throwback to 1950s rock, Bruce Springsteen, is hailed by critics as the long-awaited messiah, but the resulting media stampede falls embarrassingly flat.

This is rock music as it begins its third decade. It is a profusion of trends styles; an industry full of flash, energy and hype, but lacking, many feel, the mesmerizing power of an Elvis Presley or the revolutionary creativeness of the Beatles.

Sensing a void in the current rock consciousness - a vacuum detected by the ever-more sophisticated techniques of music marketing — record companies in England and America have unleashed a flood of old Beatles hits.

The blitz's success is either a tribute to promotion or a measure of contemporary rock blahs. Nearly 25 cent of Britain's top 100 singles are Beatles rereleases. A double album of 26 Beatles oldies is pushed on the U.S. record-buying public by what a Capitol Records spokesman called "largest campaign in the history of the music business."

When it sprang into life in the more repressed 1950s, rock 'n' roll loomed as a subversive force of sexual liberation personified by Elvis' lusty allure. In the '60s the music drummed a political message of youth power, with psychedelia its aesthetic banner, and it changed the life/style of a generation.

In the '70s, directions are unclear. The common denominator seems to be sheer entertainment, or as

Time travel by plane and train

ABOARD PARIS-LYON EXPRESS - Going from one era of transportation to another is a compatible experience in France. The transition from the ultramodern Charles de Gaulle Airport to this posh Trans Europe Express train at the Gare de Lyon station in Paris is like a trip from the distant future to the near future.

The time-travel effect begins as you step off the Air France jumbo jet from Los Angeles into a Disney world of efortless movement through a maze of transparent tunnels. Conveyor belts whisk you from the plane to the central terminal and match you with your luggage in a matter of moments.

In the center of the stadium-like structure, incoming and outgoing throngs pass in their separate channels. The transit tubes criss-cross from level to level like a glass subway system to tomorrow. Charles de Gaulle Airport was designed as the supersonic terminal of the future, and it looks the part.

There is some of the transparency and a lot of the efficiency of the new airport in Le Lyonnais, one of the crack express trains of the French National Railroad. Wide windows reach from knee to head level, compartment doors in the corridor cars are frameless sliding glass and the train leaves precisely on schedule for Lyon, a metropolis of more than a million and the gastronomic capital of France.

ALTHOUGH the TEE train assigned to this relatively short run is not one of the latest super-speed turbo models, it is well in advance of American standards. It covers a route of approximatly two-thirds the distance between Los Angeles and San Francisco in less than four hours, including a brief midway stop at Dijon.

Second-class cars are the centralaisle type with upholstereed bench seats on either side. First class retains the side-corridor arrangement dear to the hearts of movie mystery fans, with six facing seats and armrest dividers in each compartment. The train is enirely air-conditioned, with doors which open automatially on approach between the cars and pushbutton Venetian blinds on the picture windows in the two dining

Lunch féatures a fixed-price menu in addition to a la carte items. On this trip, the $10 special offers a choice of lamb chops or ham for the entree, grapefruit as a starter, two kinds of potatoes and another vegetable, Dumpling Lyonnais wih shrimp sauce, a selection of cheeses, strawberries in Kirsch and coffee. Less elaborate meals are available.

The countryside en route to Lyon is a rolling panorama of wooded hills, green farmland, steepled villages, placid rivers and canals with occasional barge traffic. The train journey is worth taking for the scenery alone, especially on a Eurailpass allowing unlimited travel. A sample Eurail bargain is the seven-day pass priced at $90 when pur-chased in a package arrangement in the

AT LYON, another time-trip adventure awaits. Not the newest hotel in town, but the most convenient for train travelers, the PLM Hotel Terminus is only a few steps from the station. The designation PLM stands for Paris-Lyon-Mediterrance, the name of the railroad it was built to serve until France nationalized the system.

Now part of a chain extending throughout France and to the West Indies, Morocco and Greece, the Lyon hotel has been modernized without sac-crificing the essential elegance of the era in which it was built. The public rooms retain the splendor of an earlier and possibly more gracious period in vaulted ceilings, ornate cornices and magnificent carved panelings.

Its restaurant, Le Relais Perrache, is equal to Lyon's reputation for grand cuisine, and if M. Michel Blazy, the director general, has not yet been promoted to the chain's flagship hotel in Paris, the PLM St. Jacques, he will supply explicit, accurate and excellent instructions to the Terminus barman for making an American martini, a rarity in the provinces of France.

PEOPLE

F.C. ANDERSON

WHO IS this man we celebeate today, the American fa-ther? Well, if you are the new gwner of a pair of slippers, a necktie or a pipe from Thrifty Drug that draws, chances are you're the man of the hour.

If you've had a handclasp from a gawky, all-legs 19-year-old boy, or a peck on the cheek from a 16-year-old who looks like her mother at the same age, il's your day, Father.

f a lady you've known all your married life skips a dis-sussion of the bills at the breaktast table to tell you how won-derful you are, then, mister, you are the reason for Father's Day.

In other words, you are a pretty special guy—at least for 24 hours.

Fathers don't dwell on themselves. They're too busy making a living, too tired from waiting up nights for the kids to come home, too pooped from cutting the grass and mending the broken gate, too bushed from the session with the bank officer over the loan that will get Junior to college and give him a "bet-ter life than the one I've had."

TIME slips by as slick and fast as the shine a father wears on the seat of his trousers. The suit his son wore for high school graduation is the suit the father didn't buy for himself, though he sorely needed new clothes.

Father looks at the 20-year-old dinette set, chipped and un-sturdy on its feet. It should have been replaced long ago, but daughter Mary's teeth needed straightening, and little Bobby's tonsils and Brad's broken arm got in the way. Indeed, Father's budget has stretched as far as his imagination once did.

BUT NOW all the young dreams and plans are locked away with the mortgage papers, the life insurance policies, the 20-year pin for the rotten job for which he had to settle. The trips to Paris, Rome and Athens turned out to be fancies. Reality is the file cabinet full of furniture and appliance purchase receipts marked "paid in full."

But it doesn't matter. Father is rich. He has the gold of a child's laughter, the rubies of a son's Phi Beta Kappa key, the emeralds of his wife's green eyes, and a marriage that five years ago turned to silver.

The combined fortunes of Howard Hughes and J. Paul Getty couldn't buy what's in Father's heart this day. Billions couldn't make the down payment on his memories.

LOOKING back, he recalls the day he came home from work at 8 p.m., picked up the toddler playing on a floor without a rug and amid the wastes of a room almost bereft of furnishings. He kissed the boy on the cheek, hugged him close and

Son, some day all of this

But Father was diligent in giving the boy more, for all of practically nothing is nothing when you don't count in love.

If a father has invested enough love in a child and a marriage, he can probably live on the interest the rest of his life. Father's Day is merely an opportunity to examine the acance out: mine have this day.

NOW, LET'S talk about A C. Johnson of Lakewood, a chief commissaryman in the Navy before he retired with 30 years of Johnson is proud of his Navy hashmarks but even prouder of the chevrons he earned as a father. That pride glistened through the tears in his eyes when he brought me his Father's Day present, a letter from his daughter, Judy Karen Johnson, a Navy yeoman second class stationed at North Island Air Station, San Diego.

She wrote of trips as a Navy child, of riding a water buffalo and surf fishing on Guam, of a father who "told tales and wove webs that captured my mind. I was able to learn about nature by seeing and living with it, instead of horrowing this knowledge from books...

SHE continued:

I guess being young I never saw his hair was gray. . .I never saw him as an older man, because dads never grow old. He is now the patriarch of my life. It is a mystique that covers me with love.
"Without ever saying his teachings, he has given me what I am. And I am ever so glad I had him there to clear the path and then let me find my own

So, love can be a three-letter word-Dad. So says Judy and so

L.B. urged to develop formal energy plan

By DON BRACKENBURY Staff Writer

Long Beach has taken some steps that have cut energy use, but the city has no specific program covering the entire scope of energy conservation, according to a report filed with the City Council.

Thus, the report said, the city's Energy Conservation Committee should develop a formal conservation plan that would set forth specific goals and timetables for "more significant and lasting"

The report, prepared by the city's budget and research division and signed by its director, James E. Phelps, also recommended that the multi-department study team established by the Energy Conservation Committee be expanded to include representatives of the de-partments of Public Service, Gas and Transportation Management.

Phelps pointed out that the city's 1976-77 budget, adopted by the City Council Thursday, includes an additional position of mechani-cal engineer associate to conduct "an intensive study of energy reCenter complex and other city facilities, beginning in July."

The report warned that achieving meaningful progress in conserving energy "is not one which will be easily or quickly accomplished."

Phelps said that, while immediate savings must be made in selected critical areas, it is equally important to analyze the entire scope of the city's energy consumption and needs so that the program finally adopted will "most effectively fulfill our energy con-

Mike quit his job for the birds

Now he has chicks by the thousands

> By DICK EMERY Staff Writer

One day, Long Beach petrole-um engineer Mike Verner came home from his plastics plant and told his wife and their two sons he was closing it and the family should try something new.

"That was four years ago. The oil shortage looked sticky and my verner: "My wife, Maritza, and the boys — Eddie, he's 10 now, and Steven, he's 9 — and I talked it over, and for fun we bought seven quail from a ranch near Santa

THE QUAIL started nesting, and Verner and the boys built bird cages.

"I'm just a farmer at heart," Verner said. "We enjoyed watching the quail families and I built bigger cages because more and more quail were nesting, and quail grow fast."
"True," said Maritza Verner.

"We started with seven quail and six months later we had 7,000. I told Mike, "The hobby's over! Now it's got to be business!" They decided to invest in rare birds, mainly of endangered species, in hopes the birds would produce valuable chicks. As a starter they bought a pair of exotic pheasants. From that start, the Verner bird enterprise grew rapidly. Cages on their half-acre at 2918 Hullett St., near South Street and Paramount Boulevard in North Long Beach, became spacious, screened pens over a meandering cement creekbed in which water flows Nearby, a flock of finches swirled in their airy cage like leaves caught in a whirlwind.

The Mansell years

A chorus of political dissent and complaint has finally overme the satisfaction of years of the resignation of City Manager John Mansell.

Mansell, himself, put the situa-tion in perspective Thursday when he told the City Council: "I am resigning and retiring for one simple reason—I think the city is vitally in need of unity at this time if it is to move forward."

Noting that he had become a "focal point of criticism" in the city, Mansell said he was proud of his long record in government and hoped that he would not be judged because of one or two incidents.

ਾਂ We agree with that. Mansell does have a long and proud record here. And, if like other humans he has made mistakes, they should not be allowed to detract from his many positive accomplishments.

Looking back over his 30 years with the city—the last 15 of which were as city manager—it is easy to list many fine things he has helped happen in Long Beach.

ONE OF THE first successful fights Mansell got involved with dealt with stopping subsidence. Then came oil field redevelopment with safety and beauty, and battles to keep the state from taking control of our tidelands oil funds and the city of Los Angeles from taking over our port.

There were many broad projects which have benefited the community. Some were Mansell's proposals; some were made by others. In all he was a valuable and constructive leader.

Consider the development of our superb park system, Poly High redevelopment, completion of a shoreline plan and the West Beach redevelopment which cleaned out the old "jungle" and replaced it with such things as the Union Bank and Wells Fargo Bank buildings, the State University and Colleges Headquarters and the soon-to-be-developed Norris Industries headquarters build-

We're in the process of getting a major seaside park on the beach in front of the Pike, the new Pacific Terrace complex is nearing completion, and we'll soon have a new city hall and main library.

The community has long had a major beautification program pushed by Mansell, who also insti-tuted a series of "people" programs, such as neighborhood centers, senior citizen activities, recreation programs and buses for the handicapped.

We've had excellent harbor development, a number of fine new bridges, major street lighting programs, development of a new and effective bus system.

There's lots more, but you get the idea. Mansell was a vigorous and effective leader, and the community benefited.

We're sorry to see him leave his post under the prevailing circumstances.

We agree with him that our community now needs unity. And we agree that the current investigations by both federal and state grand juries should be pursued with all deliberate speed.

WE HAVE NO idea what the results of these probes will eventually be. We do know they have been going on for more than a year and a half; that they've raised a lot of questions. They also have cast a cloud over the community, and we feel it is the duty of the district attorneys involved to lift that cloud as quickly as possible, or, as Mansell said: "Lay it on the line and not keep dragging it out."

We hope Mansell's health improves, that he has a fine life in retirement.

Those who have complained loudest about John Mansell now have a special burden placed upon them to help put Long Beach back on a productive path. That's the least they can do considering what Mansell gave to this community through the years.

Silly season' opening early

WASHINGTON—The official "silly season" in this country runs roughly through the hot "dog days" from the Fourth of July to Labor Day. It is a time invented by and for reporters when minor characters fill in dull days in the news, and this year it is starting early.

For example: When the fighting Democrats unite, and the uniting Republicans fight; when Charlie O. Finley of the Oakland Athletics sells all his baseball stars to the opposition New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox; when Wayne Hays, the portly bully of Capitol Hill turns Washington, of all places, into the sex symbol of the Republic, then you know the season is on.

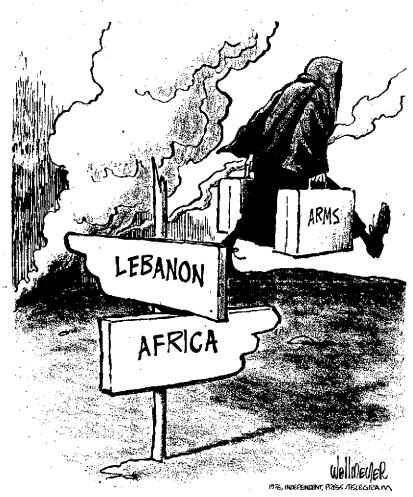

It is the distinctive mark of the "silly season" that nothing goes according to plan. Presidents lose their power and are challenged by actors. Minor former governors out of Georgia capture the Democratic party. Typists who cannot type and telephonists who cannot answer the phone dominate the Congress of the United States.

Even in the world of sports, all is confusion. Catfish Hunter, an aging pitcher, sells for almost as much as the Louisi-ana Purchase. The Yankees and the Red Sox buy Vida Blue, Joe Rudi, and Rollie Fingers for a cool million apiece—about as much as Washington paid the Russians for Alaska. And the heavyweight champion of the world, Muhammad Ali, having run out of boxers, begins fighting wrestlers and gets paid millions for the exhibition.

In the face of this collective goofiness,

NORMALLY, An incumbent president can shrug off challenges from within his party because of the enormous logistical and public attention-catching advantage the job gives a candidate seeking re-elec-tion. But Ronald Reagan has been building his presidential campaign organization since 1968, and has been able too devote his full time to it since January of 1975, when he left the California governorship.

And so even though he insisted on maintaining the fiction of noncandidacy for so long that many of his closest associates withdrew in dismay, since he came out of the closet and became an up-front, full-time candidate, he has neutralized President Ford's incumbency advantage.

Jimmy Carter's term as governor of Georgia ended when Reagan's did, and he, too, has had nothing else to do but campaign since then.

Richard Nixon had an even greater luxury. After getting clobbered by Pat Brown in the 1962 California gubernatorial campaign, he was able to lay low for awhile, watch from the sidelines while Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller ripped the Republican Party apart in 1964, and then spend four years mounting the campaign which was climaxed with his nomination and election in 1968.

IT MAY BE only a coincidence that Nixon, Carter and Reagan all were or are full-time candidates without the distractions of having to hold down other jobs, and that they were, or appear to be, suc-cessful, while less-than-full-time candi-dates seemed to stumble.

But it may not be a concidence, and in terms of what it might mean in future searches for presidents, the relationship should be examined.

Running for president is an over-whelming undertaking. It requires awesome amounts of money, and equally awesome amounts of time, and a surplus of one cannot compensate for a deficiency

A candidate can get help raising money, and can get help doing many of the other things candidates must do, but there's nevertheless no avoiding the commitment in time, personal time, which must be made

The candidate personally must travel, visit far places, talk to people, and persuade, cajole and entreat people to contribute their own time, talents, energies and, of course, money, to his campaign. The biggest selling job he must do is to convince others he is a "viable" candidate, with a chance to win, so the contribution is more like an investment.

The candidate who has no other obligations but to campaign, whose financial circumstances are such that a year or more without salary checks is not going to make the credit manager at Sears anxious, obviously has an advantage over the can-didate who has to devote some part of most days doing the things governors, senators and representatives do.

There are other advantages. A governor or a congressman must constantly take positions on controversial subjects, by signing or vetoing bills, supporting or not supporting bills, or by casting votes.

THE CANDIDATE who is not a public official can pick and choose the subjects on which to take positions, and usually can find ways to avoid taking positions on matters where someone is going to get mad no matter what.

Additionally, the candidate who is already in public office is certain of receiving criticism for the time he devotes to campaigning, no matter how hard he or she continues to work in that public office.

It all adds up to a decided advantage for the Jimmy Carters over the Jerry Browns, Frank Churches, Henry Jacksons, Morris Udalls, etc.

And before anyone asks "What about Sen. George McGovern in 1972?" remember that he started running some two years earlier, and that none of his major opposition had the luxury of being unemployed,

The subject is provocative. Is it logical or fair that a person holding public office starts off with substantial disadvantages in the quadrennial presidential footrace?

it is no wonder that nobody around this town is willing to bet on what will happen next, particularly in the presidential election. Even when people say it will be Carter versus Ford or Reagan, they hedge Carter versus rord or neugan, drey neuge their bets. Maybe, they say, other unex-pected events at home or abroad may alter the picture before the election in Novem-ber, or even the conventions in July or

THE DELEGATE hunt between President Ford and Ronald Reagan illustrates the unpredictability of the Republican struggle. It is a very complicated business, almost an underground war, and for the moment out of their control.

It is not just a case of Ford and Reagan appealing to uncommitted delegates, or flying to lows for support. It is also a raiding operation, in which both sides try to subvert the committed delegates in the

For example, many delegates who are committed to the President really favor Reagan, and many committed under party election rules to Reagan prefer Ford. This has apparently convinced some of Rea-gan's managers that they might deadlock the Republican convention for a couple of ballots if they could persuade some of Ford's committed delegates and their alternates to get lost on the first two roll

Unless you assume that the Ford managers cannot hear and cannot count, it is a ridiculous strategem, for the absentees would certainly be challenged and the game exposed. But it illustrates the crazy mood of the moment—the assumption that because so many wild things have happened in the past, anything might happen in the future.

This is what keeps Rockefeller and Connally hoping that maybe in the end, something they cannot even imagine might happen that would bring them back into the race. Even Jerry Brown of California is still dreaming in his mystical way that Jimmy Carter will falter, or disappear, and leave the field open to his "new generation of leadership.'

You might imagine that the government in Washington is paralyzed by all this summer madness, but not at all. Despite all the smarties and pushers, it camps happily enough amid the disorder. The hated bureaucracy, which Carter, Reagan; and occasionally Ford vow to tame: or dismantle keeps the machine rolling. dismantle, keeps the machine rolling.
It may meander through ill-marshalled acts, and never quite bring us to the living edge of our problems, but somehow it makes up for the diverted and inattentive minds of its masters in the Congress and

MEANWHILE, THE capital goes along, sweltering in the heat and preparing for the big Bicentennial blow-out on the Fourth. The kids keep pouring in to see the monuments. The streets are lined with buses. The long mall between the Lincoln Memorial and the Capitol Building is gay as a county fair. Even the British Embassy, which absentmindedly lost this colony, has returfed the space around Winston Churchill's statue and powdered its nose for the coming visit of the Queen. In fact, the old city; which somehow always manages to look new, never looked more lovely or serene.

It may seem even sillier this season than usual, but it's still worth capturing, which is what Ford, Reagan, and Wee Jimmy apparently have in mind.

Editorial on target

Thank you for your timely editorial concerning the gross receipts business license tax. It is obviously only the tip of the iceberg when a rate of .45 per $1,000 is suggested.

Consider the results in Los Angeles since this tax was initiated. From its origihally modest rate the tax has increased almost yearly to an impossible point-namely a rate of $5 per $1,000 for one of our branches. The safe assumption would be that this also would happen in time in Long Beach.

Our corporate office was located in Long Beach for the first time during the past year. Since the income from a number of operations accrues to the corporate office, it is safe to assume that our firm would, in effect, be taxed twice (both at the local level and again in Long Beach).

Be assured that we shall cancel expansion plans and, instead, plan to relocate outside the Long Beach city limits, if this unfair tax is approved. It should also be unnecessary to point out that there is no relationship between the gross receipts of a business and NET income. Operations with significant gross revenue can be suffering substantial losses, particularly during a start up or initial growth period.

U.S. forsakes Israel

As the rioting in the Arab-inhabited areas of Israel becomes more and more violent, our bureaucracy, from President Ford on down, keeps admonishing Israel not to colonize those areas, and even to return them to the Arabs, from whom the Israelis seized them in the bloody 1967 war.

Israel is surrounded by bloodthirsty, barbaric Arab countries that want to do to Israel what they have already have done to Lebanon. All day, every day of the year, in their schools and over Radio Cairo, they pour out a campaign of vilification and hatred against Jews and Israel even worse than that of Hitler. And they will not end their state of war against Israel, Egypt's President Sadat says, for another genera-

Do we resolutely admonish those Arab countries to stop their barbarism against Israel? That would be a foreign policy of fairness and humanity toward all countries, as we are required to do by the charter of the United Nations, of which we are a founding member.

To do that would be to incur the enmity of those Arab cuntries. They are powerful and might again cut off our oil. It would take courage to speak out against the Arabs. But it takes no courage at all to pressure tiny, weak Israel.

No enticement meant

This is in reply to Richard F. Burke's letter (June 14) denouncing "prideless women" who dare appear in public with bare legs and just "asking for trouble."

Don't flatter yourself, Burke. We are not out to "entice" you. If there are men with their minds on that track, they are the ones "asking for trouble."

Believe it or not, some of us women wear shorts to keep the leg of our pants from getting caught in a bicycle chain. And why should women have to sweat through the summer heat in long pants and stockings because there might be a rapist around?

Informed women do not face this problem lightly. We will continue to carry our whistles and be prepared to protect ourselves in other ways.

But the answer, if it can be that simple. lies in the courts. There must be strict penalties for all sex offenders.

KATHLEEN KAFKA Long Beach If nobody voted

This is in reply to a letter by Martha Morooka, who, as many other people, feels there is no incentive for voting

Please consider this, Martha Morooka: Suppose everyone felt as you do, and nobody voted. There would be no elected officials to run this our great state and country. With no elected officials, violence and crime would run rampant, and every-one would have to move out of what used to be a great land, a land that took 200 years to build and which still stands united.

Would Ms. Morooka like to move to Russia? I certainly would not. That's why I voted June 8. I am proud of the United States of America.

English spoken here

I think the time has come for the citizens of this great country to stand up and be counted.

Our leaders are spending millions of tax dollars to promote programs to end segregation (busing, forcing business to serve all people), yet they segregate us in performing one of our most sacred privileges and constitutional rights in the voting booth

I believe proficiency in the English language was formerly a requirement for gaining citizenship papers. Now the trend is toward American citizens learning the languages of foreigners who adopt this country, or else be segregated.

Can you imagine what added expense and confusion will result when our ballots and all other necessary communications of government are printed in Spanish, Italian, German, etc.?

Come on, America, let's get on the beam and remind our elected leaders that the country has a sound and straight track to run on, a track that has made it the greatest nation of all. We don't and won't condone any switches or sidetracks that would detour America from her destination-freedom and justice for all. All persons who wish to become members of this great country shall adopt America's standards, not theirs.

L.B. ball parks 'out'

Three cheers for all the concerned taxpayers who have taken time to write in praise of and agreement with Hank Hol-lingsworth's column on the condition of Long Beach ball parks.

I have visited numerous parks in several cities, and I feel shame for Long Beach. Neighboring cities have beautiful and well cared for park facilities, but not this city.

The city says it doesn't have the funds. Well, I have a solution. Why not let the taxpayers vote on the pay increases of each city official? We would base such increases on performance, competence and thriftiness during the preceding year.

Just think of the thousands of dollars we'd save and be able to divert to upgrade our ball parks. I note that the tennis courts and golf courses aren't in the same poor

Perhaps some of the city officials who handle recreation funds would like to issue a rebuttal to the articles written in favor of better ball parks. I am sure the "letters" column would be willing to offer equal

L.B. neglects campers

For the first time I feel personally concerned and angry because there are no overnight camping areas for recreational vehicles in Long Beach, particularly in the beach areas.

My husband and I recently bought a fully self-contained camper, and we find we have to drive many miles away from Long Beach to stay overnight.

Why is there nothing for the people of Long Beach to use and enjoy in overnight camping areas?

I think something might be done on this issue if the camper clubs of Long Beach all got together.

Jordan gets 'rah' deal

We, the alumni and teacher aides of Jordan High School, are happy to see that others have finally noticed the discrimination against Jordan athletics in the past

The recent coverage of the CIF 4-A baseball championship playoffs is only one example of the prejudice the Independent, Press-Telegram sports section has shown against Jordan.

To better emphasize our point, we remind you of the Jordan-Lakewood football game last fall. Jordan won the game, 17-7, recording its first victory over the Lancers in 12 years. But on the following morning, who gets a picture on the front page of the I,P-T sports action? A Lakewood player who is attempting to catch a pass.

There are many other examples we could cite if we had the time.

We hope, as we have in the past, that the I,P-T will recognize Jordan as the winner it is.

randum calculated to destroy the effectiveness of Demetracopoulos was quickly sent to Capitol Hill. The clear purpose: to have widely distributed under the imprimatur of the speaker.

Two copies of the memorandum were taken to the House, one for Albert, the other for the House International Relations Committee, which had not asked for it but where it was assumed there would be widespread distribution. A committee staffer, shocked by the anonymous document, gave it only to Rep. Benjamin Rosenthal of New York, chairman of the European subcommittee.

Similarly shocked, Rosenthal asked David Abshire, congressional assistant secretary of state, why the State Depastment would lend itself to anonymous charges against Demetracopoulos that were probably libelous, and circulate thme on Capitol Hill. Abshire, caught unawares, discussed the matter with William B. Ma-comber, deputy undersecretarz of state, and they immediately ordered the two copies of the memorandum retrieved.

ON JAN. 31, Abshire wrote Demetracopoulos what amounted to an unusual official apology. The man who ran congres-sional affairs for the State Department wrote that he had not "seen, approved or even heard of the paper prior to its very limited distribution" and that the department could not stand behind memorandum containing questionable material.

The last chapter in this plot against the man who had come to be regarded as a dangerous gadfly by Nixon's advisers was the most revealing: the report to John Dean, recipient of so many undercover reports in those days of the White House, plumbers, explaining why this particular

WASHINGTON—The Republican Party has been getting doomsday warnings off and on for nearly 50 years, ever since it lost its majority in the House in the elections of 1930. One more warning may seem as groundless as those that have been voiced before, but I venture the warning anyhow: Pull it together, you guys, or the old ship sinks.

Perhaps "warning" is the wrong word, for it carries a connotation of misfortune, even of disaster. Certainly in the view of many persons, the end of the Republican Party would rank as no catastrophe. The party has no particular claim on immortality. If it goes, it goes.

ALL THE SAME, our basic political organization, both in the states and in the federal government, rests upon a structure of two major parties. The Republican Party has served in this capacity since it rose in 1854, like the legendary phoenix, from the ashes of the Whigs. It has survived the lean years of the Thirties; at one point, the GOP had only 89 members in the House and only 16 in the Senate. It survived the Goldwater debacle of 1964 and elected its own president just four years later. It is a very durable outfit.

Yet a gloomy feeling cannot be dispelled that the Republican Party, as a political vehicle, this time is driving itself to the scrap yard. As a conservative, I admit the gloom; the GOP has been the principal political mechanism for conservative thought, and one perceives no other mechanism that might immediately take its

Our national parties, strictly speaking. are sometime things. They blossom every four years like some exotic plant, and then revert to state parties instead. In either flowering, the GOP has the puny look of a wilting philodendron.

The Republicans now hold only 13 of the 50 governorships. Six of these 13 seats are up for grabs this year; by January the Republican governors won't be able to get up three tables of bridge. The party holds only 38 seats in the Senate. Eleven of those 38 will be contested in November, and of the races will be exceedingly In only two states do the Republi cans hold a majority in both houses of the legislatures; even those slim pickings may not last for long. Verily is it written that from his that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath.

The national party, so called, is even punier than the various state parties. The pollsters can find only 18 per cent of the electorate who identify themselves as Republicans. Among voters 18 to 25, the proportion is even smaller. To describe such a party as a "major" party is to give the adjective a generous stretch.

In years past, when the doomsday warnings were sounded, the two-party sys-tem itself was in healthier shape. The system maintained its vitality in municipal, county and state elections. Now the system, as such, is in deep trouble. The parties no longer bring scuttles of coal or Thanksgiving turkeys to the faithful; publie welfare does that. The parties no longer give or withhold public jobs; the civil serves ice does that. The parties no longer stage rallies; television has taken their place. Only the fund-raising task remains, and that is not long for this world.

Given these circumstances, the bitterpresidential contest between Ronald Reasgan and Gerald Ford seems all the more: unfortunate. And it is a bitter contest. The candidates are like two doomed swimmers, bringing each other down. My pro-Reagan friends are furious at Ford; my pro-Ford friends regard Reagan as a monster. A New York Times-CBS poll indicates that in Ohio, California and New Jersey, more than one-third of the regular Republicans will be sore losers: They will defect to Carter if their favored candidate is denied the party nomination.

IN A MCGOVERN situation, such wholesale defections would not matter. No such situation is in prospect for November. The Democrats now give at least the appearance of unity Jimmy Carter has demonstrated enormous talent as a campaign organizer. Against a divided Republican Party, he will be a formidable candidate—and he might well carry a host of state legislators, county commisioners, representatives and senators on his denim coattails.

For regular Republicans and for independent conservatives also, loss of the White House would be a grievous blow. The prospect embraces loss of the veto power that now provides the only brake against the Democrats' liberal express. This is doubtless a sunny vision for the peanut farmer and his friends, but it is a cold drizzle-drazzle on the right.

In Webster, S.D., the Velare prothers were introduced to carniyal life. Capt. B. Collins' Million Dollar Midway was playing there. It consisted of a merry-go-round, a Ferris wheel (the first Elmer had teen), Bosco the Strange Girl from the Congo, who ate snakes, and Little Fatima, an Oriental hoochie-coochie dancer. The brothers were entranced and joined up to do their acts as ree attractions.

During the winter they traveled the Dakotas, Minnesota and Wisconsin, but the show closed the next summer, a victim of failing finances.

The Velares next hooked up with the C.W. Parker Amusement Co., which was playing the annual Fish Fry Celebration in Beards-town, Ill. They had sent a wire and been hired sight unseen.

In 1905, at the close of the carnival season. Elmer met Ruby Graham, a 17-year-old Kansas girl who had gone to school with a lad named Dwight Eisenhower. Elmer married her three years later.

The newlyweds, in partnership with Ruby's brother-in-law, opened a picture show in Abilene. Admis-sion: five cents.

Later they ran a penny arcade in Kansas City, but the lure of the road was too great to resist.

During World War I the Velares' nomadic life continued as they bought into a show and survived the flu epidemic that had made them both desperately ill.

This was not one of their better periods. The depression of the early 1920s hit them hard, and a fire destroyed the equipment they had slowly acquired.

But by 1925 they were back in business. They combined their show with another small one to form the Royal American Shows. building it up over the years into the largest show in the carnival business. While similar shows were killed by the big depression of the 1930s, their company, with its low overhead, flourished. At least it did until World War

II, when help became hard to get. In 1942 the Velare brothers sold out and attempted their first retire-

But the restless pair journeyed west, landing in Long Beach almost by accident. They placed one of their double Ferris wheels on the old Silver Spray Pier, moved into a hotel and stayed.

That was the beginning of a long involvement with the Long Beach Pike. At that time, Velare says, it was "just a ragbag with a sky wheel and another little hokum

They brought other rides and attractions to the area and bought into the Long Beach Amusement Co., which later purchased the rides as the Velares tried to retire a second time. Elmer is now the company's largest stockholder.

They also opened a factory in Signal Hill to manufacture amusement rides like Sky Wheels, Twin Sky Wheels, Giant Space Wheel, Fun Show, Rotor, Rocket and SurfThe Giant Space Wheel or Velare Wheel, a type of Ferris wheel with single spokes holding seats that revolve through a loop, and the Rotor ride appeared at the Seattle

World's Fair.
Meanwhile, Velare watched the Pike rise to its zenith and then

"Like downtown Long Beach, it's gone down, down, down," says Velare.

He still sees the Pike as an ideal spot for amusements, and the idea of future condominium or other development there makes him sad.

Nonetheless, the amusement company is looking for a buyer for that choice property, and the Pike's days as the carny center of Long Beach are numbered.

The amusement company fig-ured last winter in the trial of its former president, Dr. Frank Stanton. Stanton, found innocent, had been charged with two counts of lying to a federal grand jury about an alleged bribe to former City Councilman Wayne Sharp in return for Sharp's favorable vote on a parking lot lease for the company.

Velare was a key witness for the prosecution, and it was a painful experience he doesn't like to

In a tape recording, submitted as evidence during the proceedings, Stanton refers to Velare as "a vi-cious little man," and it is no secret they had their differences over how to run the company.

But Stanton stepped down, and Velare is pleased with the way things have gone since then.

Even after the company sells the Pike property, Velare plans to keep his hand in the amusement business. In addition to the dinosaurs, he is planning to purchase two rides at Old Towne in Torrance. He dabbles in some enterprise almost every day. Rising early, he putters around in his bathrobe until about 1 p.m., his niece says.

Then he dresses and attends to business. Evenings he takes a stroll, reads or watches television. He wears glasses only for reading and is, according to Mrs Geoffroy, "the best of drivers."

He and Mrs. Geoffroy, a widow, have each other for company. Velare's wife died in 1973, about three years after his brother. He admits there is a gap in his life. "I miss them a great deal," he says, tears welling up.

But then his mind leaps to other things — to the prospective Dinosaurland, to showing off the ornate home he shares with his niece and their well-tended grounds, well "peopled" with statuary.
"Staying busy—that's what does it," he repeats.

His slight figure moves off down the sidewalk.

A nursery proposed for courthouse

To the list of amenities Orange County provides for its citizens, a nursery soon may be added.

This one is proposed for the County Courthouse for parents who must take their children to the courts, county offices or other facilities.

Among its users will be the children of mothers going to the district attorney's office to seek support payments from errant fathers.

It is hoped the nursery will spare children the ex-perience of hearing parental recriminations and arguments that often echo through the office.

Supervisor Robert W. Battin proposed the nur-sery. It will be budgeted for $33,000, and Battin said he hopes it can be staffed primarily with elderly persons, who he said would enjoy the experience of working with children.

Simply stated, it is a "recycling" of immunizing agents naturally present in the patient's own urine.

The science of auto-immunization in treating disease is called "one of medicine's most exciting frontiers" by researchers at the University of California, an opinion shared by scientists at Baylor School of Medicine, Brigham Young University, Sloan-Kettering Institute and other medical centers.

business. They combined their show with another small one to form the Royal American Shows, building it up over the years into the largest show in the carnival business. While similar shows were killed by the big depression of the 1930s, their company, with its low overhead, flourished.

At least it did until World War II, when help became hard to get. In 1942 the Velare brothers sold out and attempted their first retire-

But the restless pair journeyed west, landing in Long Beach almost by accident. They placed one of their double Ferris wheels on the old Silver Spray Pier, moved into a hotel and stayed.

That was the beginning of a long involvement with the Long Beach Pike. At that time, Velare says, it was "just a ragbag with a sky wheel and another little hokum

They brought other rides and attractions to the area and bought into the Long Beach Amusement Co., which later purchased the rides as the Velares tried to retire a second time. Elmer is now the company's largest stockholder.

They also opened a factory in Signal Hill to manufacture amusement rides like Sky Wheels, Twin Sky Wheels, Giant Space Wheel, Fun Show, Rotor, Rocket and SurfThe Giant Space Wheel or Velare Wheel, a type of Ferris wheel with single spokes holding seats that revolve through a loop, and the Rotor ride appeared at the Seattle World's Fair World's Fair

Meanwhile, Velare watched the Pike rise to its zenith and then decline.

"Like downtown Long Beach, it's gone down, down, down," says Velare.

He still sees the Pike as an ideal spot for amusements, and the idea of future condominium or other development there makes him sad.

Nonetheless, the amusement company is looking for a buyer for that choice property, and the Pike's days as the carny center of Long Beach are numbered.

The amusement company figured last winter in the trial of its former president, Dr. Frank Stanton. Stanton, found innocent, had been charged with two counts of lying to a federal grand jury about an alleged bribe to former City Councilman Wayne Sharp in return for Sharp's favorable vote on a parking-lot lease for the company.

Velare was a key witness for the prosecution, and it was a painful experience he doesn't like to

In a tape recording, submitted as evidence during the proceedings, Stanton refers to Velare as "a vicious little man," and it is no secret they had their differences over how to run the company.

But Stanton stepped down, and Velare is pleased with the way things have gone since then.

Even after the company sells the Pike property, Velare plans to keep his hand in the amusement business. In addition to the dinosaurs, he is planning to purchase two rides at Old Towne in Torrance

He admits there is a gap in his life. "I miss them a great deal," he says, tears welling up. But then his mind leaps to other things — to the prospective Dinosaurland, to showing off the ornate home he shares with his niece and their well-tended grounds, well "peopled" with statuary.

board, up to 8

By ROBERT METZ New York Times Service

NEW YORK - The shares of Mattel, Inc., the belfaguered toy manufacturer and owner of the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus, made a strarp comeback Thursday, when they traded on the New York Stock Exchange for the first time since Sept. 6, 1974.

The shares, which last traded on the Big Board at closed Thursday at 7%. The shares added % Friday to close at 8. The remarkable gain was one of the few pieces of good news the toy company's shareholders have had in Mattel had requested the trading halt after questions had been raised in Wall Street over the authenticity of the sparkling earnings reports Mattel had been posting quarter after quarter.

MATTEL shares hadsoared in the speculative market of the 1960s, reaching a peak of 521/4 in early 1971. Thereafter Mattel's shares were on a roller coaster, sliding to the teens in late 1971, rising to the high 30s in early 1972, then falling to 2 at the time of the trading halt.

On Nov. 3, 1975, a spe-cial report was filed by Mattel's special counsel and special auditor — both appointed by the Securities and Exchange Commission as part of the set-tlement of a commission suit charging that Mattel had issued false and misleading statements overstating its earnings for fiscal 1972-3. The re-port concluded that former top Mattel officials issued false and misleading financial reports and news releases for that period, and the two prior years to "maintain the appearance of continued corporate growth" despite financial ;setbacks.

THE COMPANY has teemed it impractical to testate the previously issued financial statements, and thus the statements For fiscal 1972-3 and prior periods are regarded as unreliable, according to the Standard & Poor Cor-poration's Standard N.Y.S.E. Stock Reports.

text of the special report and continuing losses on operations that the shares resumed trading on Thursday. Just a day before the resumption, Mattel released its first-quarter results at the annual meeting, which was marked by acrimonious debate.

Arthur S. Spear, a member of the new management team selected after Mattel's troubles became apparent, said the company had a loss of $2.1 million in the first fiscal quarter ended May 1, compared with a loss of $4.8 million a year earlier.

BROKERS and analysts

Mattel's shares reflected more than one factor. For one thing, the suspension came during the depths of a five-year bear market in which the shares of hundreds of companies were seriously undervalued. More important, however, was the fact that Mattel's circumstances are improving — at least as some analysts see it.

An analyst for the Value Line Investment Survey said the first-quarter report was "actually better than the numbers suggest." The pretax loss was only $652,000, he said. The rest of the $2.1-million loss represented a tax debit.

The analyst said he thought the fact that Mattel had increased its sales for the quarter to $73.4 million from $56.2 million in the similar quarter a year earlier was indicative of much-improved conditions.

"THE SALES gain was a lot more than what peo-ple had expected," he said.

A stockbroker recalled that there was a substantial short position in Mattel when trading was sus-pended. He found an old report indicating that the sellers may have been "locked in" — unable to cover — short positions of over 59,000 Mattel shares during the suspension.

If the short-sellers bought shares in Thursday's market to cover their positions, a strong element of support would have been added to Mattel

William D. Schwartz, Mattel analyst for the brokerage firm of Pre-scott, Ball & Turben, said he believed the stock was strong' Thursday largely because Mattel is about to see some black ink.

"The earnings will be quite good this fiscal year and may even exceed $1 a share," he said.

Anchovy catch up in state

California's commercial anchovy-fishing feet landed an increased catch that totaled 141,036 tons during the 1975-76 season, according to the state's Department of Fish and Game.

Included were 135,752 tons in the southern permit area (off Southern California), compared with 100,752 for the previous year. Boats operating in the northern permit area (off Monterey) netted 5,284 tons, down from 6,669 tons for 1974-75.

At the end of the season. May 15, fishermen in the south were receiving $31 per ton of raw fish, down from $32.50 at the season opening Sept. 15. The fish teached Friday said the are used to make fish sharp upward move in meal for poultry feed.

Mattel stock on Missile ships to be built at San Pedro

By JACK O. BALDWIN Maritime Editor

Todd Shipyards Corp. has won a contract to build six guided-missile frigates for the Navy, three of them at the company's yard in San

A company spokesman said the contract is in ex-cess of $150 million and would enable the company to maintain its present work force at about 3,000. Production of the frigates is scheduled to start in early January.

The company also is expecting an increase in volume of foreign-flag ship repair work, because of rising costs of vessel repairing overseas.

J.T. Gilbride, chairman and chief executive officer, told a recent meeting of stockholders he expected the repair work, including that of U.S. flag ships, to be "substantial" as the year progressed.

The eost of repairs done in foreign yards is about the same now as in American shipyards, according to Gilbride. Until recently, repair costs in U.S. shipyards have been considerably higher than in foreign

Tunnel reminder of scandal

SACRAMENTO (AP) An empty 60-foot brick-lined tunnel beneath the west steps of the State Capitol is a reminder of a 110-year-old building scandal.
The tunnel was unearthed last week by construction workers on the Capitol's earthquake-proofing project.

Ray Girvigian, a consulting architect on the project who has studied Capitol's history, gave this version of its existence:

In 1866, five years after Capitol construction began, cracks were found in the basement wall. An investigation showed the foundation was sinking in the soil because of uneven loads.

The reason, Girvigian said, was that the western walls at the front of the building "were being carried up faster than the rest of the building to make a good show and the appearance of faster progress for the main view of the construction work."

Project officials say they expect to remove thetunnel and find other ways to reinforce the founda-

Gilbride added that, for the year ending March 31, the company sliced its losses to about $1.3 million, compared with a loss of $43.4 million the previ-ous year. While predicting somewhat gloomy outlook for paying cash dividends, he did predict the company would show a profit for the first quarter ending June 30 and for the 12 months thereafter.

The House of Representatives' Appropriations Committe has approved a request from Long Beach and Los Angeles harbor departments to provide $725,000 to enable the Corps of Engineers to con-tinue research into how the two ports can proceed with planned new developments.

The Corps has constructed a block-square, detailed model of the two ports. Wave-generating machines are used to determine the effect that might result from the construction of new piers, wharves and landfills.

Unless the Corps gets the requested appropria-tion, it will have to mark time until Congress approves another allocation next year. The Corps has the manpower and the time to proceed with the studies, but it takes money.

Congressman Glenn M. Anderson, D-Harbor City, spearheaded the appropriation bill through the House. Anderon pointed out to fellow congressmen that no new construction can begin in San Pedro Bay until permits are issued by the Corps (and by at least 16 other govern-mental agencies) and until after all the data the Vicksburg model can pro-vide is made available and

Historic building

The 35-year-old ferry building on San Pedro's waterfront has been de-clared a historic-cultural monument by the Los An-geles City Cultural Heritage Board.

Since the building was erected in the early days of World War II, thou-ands of liberty ship builders, cannery workers and sailors boarded the ferry, nicknamed the "Nickle Grabber," for the short trip across the main channel to the other ferry building on Terminal Is-

The ferry carried automobiles, too. But with the opening of the Vincent Thomas Bridge in 1963, the cross-channel passenger-auto ferry service went out of business.

In 1972, the ferry terminal building on Terminal Island was demolished to make way for a facility for handling containerized cargo — a project yet to be realized.

The building in San Pedro is to be transferred to the Los Angeles Board of Public Works for development as a maritime museum. Currently the building, shaped like an upsidedown U, houses the port's security forces and wharfingers, a small cafe and H-10 Water Taxi opera-tions. It serves also as a boat house for the harbor department's launch. the Angelena and two harbor police patrol boats. The boathouse facilities will continue to be used by the department.

The Cultural Heritage Board has not announced when the building is to open as a museum.

When friends and relatives gather today in honor of Margaret Braswell's birthday there will be more to celebrate than her success in making it through another year

The real excitement, in fact, is likely to focus on the publication of Mrs. Braswell's first novel — an event that comes as the author is about to turn 91.

"I'm thrilled to death. Except for some poetry

I've never had anything published before.
"When I finished I just sent it to the publisher, to vantage Publishing, written, now what am I going to do with it?

"They printed it pretty much as I wrote it. I was rather flattered... Mrs. Braswell, who has spent most of her adult life in Long Beach, chose for the setting of her book her home state of Minnesota "when it was no-man's land." The hero of the frontier-days saga, titled "Blazing a Trail," is a young Irishman who comes to the New World "in search of peace and contentment.

"Naturally, he runs into trouble right off," Mrs. Braswell chuckled, "but in the end everything turns out all right.'

Mrs. Braswell grew up in Redford County, where most of the action in the book takes place. Many of the characters, particularly those in the chapters dealing with Minnesota's early politics, were people she heard her parents talk about when she was a young girl. "I've always have a soft spot in my heart for that part of the country," Mrs. Braswell said. "That's why I decided to write about it."

The book, written in long hand "because I write faster than I type," took more that two years to complete. A niece proved to be an able critic and helped the budding author over the rough spots. "There's one section I wrote and rewrote I don't know how many times. My niece kept saying 'Margaret, this isn't clear.' She was right. So I just kept at it 'til it finally satisfied her.''

MRS. BRASWELL'S beginner's luck as a novelist is just one of a long line of endeavors that has broken right for the spunky nonagenarian. Twice widowed, she has enjoyed careers as a country school marm (in Redford County when she was 16), a big city teacher (at Fremont and Longfellow schools in Long Beach) and real estate sales person.

"I had a ball," she said, her eyes lighting up as she talked about her on again, off again career in real estate. "My niece, who had a real estate office, told me I ought to get my license. I said I didn't know anything about real estate and she said sure you do you've owned property almost all your life. So I did what she said. I went down and took the test and pretty soon I was selling real estate."

That was during World War II, during summer vacation from her regular job as an elementary school teacher. But despite the fact "that I could make a lot more money selling real estate than I could teaching," she went back to the classroom in the fall. "Teachers were scare then," she explained,

Q: Watching Lucie Arnaz on TV made me wonder. As the daughter of Lucy and Desi, did she always know she would be an actress? — Hattie & Burt Lambert, Ft. Lauderdale, Fla.

A: No. "I used to cry and say I'm the only one in my family who is never going to be anybody," she revealed to PBS interviewer Jeanne Wolf. "I'll just be a great mother," thought Lucie, "and raise beautiful children—and that's nice."

When asked whether Lucie knew Tatum, Ryan O'Neal's daughter (another young protegee), she answered: "I see Tatum a lot on the beach in Malibu, - she has a house right near a friend, and when she's alone she's a kid. Then she dresses up, has some person cut her hair and put on her makeup and looks like a 7-yearold trying to be 23 — it just gets to me. I don't understand why she's trying to do that. There was actually a headline in a movie magazine that she was making passes at Robert DeNiro. Thank goodness that never happened to me at her age!"

When the interviewer noted that brother Desi was once characterized as somewhat of a Don Juan, Lucie answered: "That image doesn't fit anymore. He's much more conservative now. He hardly dates at all. And he's producing a movie — a science fiction film. He's also very heavily into meditation, yoga."

Lucie also said that, while she is separated from Phil, her husband, they're not legally divorced. "We just didn't see any real reason for going through with it until one of us wants to get married again. For a long time we hoped we'd get back together — maybe there'd be a way." Lucie also denied that her fling with Jim Bailey, the clever female inpersonator, was a publicity stunt. "He was just a good friend and fun to be with.

Q: I heard that Elliott Gould had to undergo a mental test before he was signed for "The Long Goodbye."

If so, why? — Ms. Priscilla Denton, Pittsburgh.

A: Because, by walking out on the shooting of his previous film, he proved that all that glittered was not Gould. The picture — which was can-celled because of his behavior proved costly to Elliott. He was ordered by a court to pay the production expenses that went down the drain. The wary producers of "The Long Goodbye" had a psychiatrist give him a mental test which he passed before the contract was signed. "The psychiatrist asked me all kinds of questions," he candidly confessed, "even jabbed a flock of needles into my head to prove I was sane.'

A: CBS-TV charged sponsors around $225,000 per one-minute spot for Super Bowl '75. Spots will be higher for "Gone with the Wind" — some $234,000. The NBC network had to put $5 million on the line for the rights to a one-time telecast.

Q: I understand the genius of the violin, Yehudi Menuhin, recently attended his first Rolling Stones concert. What was his reaction? - T. Sloate, Youngstown, Ohio.

A: "If you took an electric drill or a piledriver, turned it so it sounded a note, amplified it a hundred times and then played it over a public square, it would sound to the people forced to live nearby much as this concert sounded to me. It isn't a concert of music," he caustically commented to a London reporter, "It's a spectacle and it's the spectacle nowadays which fills the need in people for emotion...Only the most committed Rolling Stone loyalist could have regarded this group's return to London as anything but a disappointment."

Menuhin's comments about Mick Jagger were equally blunt. "Jagger tonelessly bawled rather than sang. He looked like Little Lord Fauntleroy and was just about as sexy.'

Q: Is Sean Connery his real name? Is it-true he hates playing James Bond? — Gavin Schmitz, San Jose, Ca.

A: Yes. Explains still spry ex-007: "Bond has made life impossible for me. I wish they'd kill him. I have always hated him!" His hate was so great, Sean put himself under the care of a psychiatrist. When a Norwegian reporter asked why, Connery snapped: "To defend myself against people like you!"

He swore he'd never make another James Bond picture, but apparently his word wasn't as good as his Bond. Especially after making some independent but not-too-notable films. His return to the role of James Bond in "Diamonds Are Forever" reportedly enriched a favorite charity to the tune of his entire fee: Sean was born Thomas Connery, son of an Edinburgh, Scotland, truck driver.

A few years later, in Cannes, he held a press conference in a vacant lot. You never know where or how he'll turn up next, but when he does, it's always interesting.

This time he turned up a few weeks ago in New York to talk about the third film he's done as a director. It's a new suspense thriller called "The End of the Game" by the gory Swiss writer Friedrich Duerrenmatt. With all of Manhattan to choose from, he invited me to Rumpelmeyer's, a tea shop and ice oream parlor frequented by children and matrons againg shopping bags from Bloomingdale's.

"It's the Nazi roles," he said casually, wiping off smudge of butterscotch sauce left by a former bistomer. "After I did "Topkapi" I got hundreds of ffers to play jewel thieves. After 'Judgment at Juremberg, 'The Young Lions' and 'The Condemned Altona,' I got only offers to play Nazis. I'm the Jazi you love to hate." He sighed. "It's been my reatest cross to bear as an actor."

A bubbling, wisecracking waitress named Ingrid bok his order for poached eggs, gave him the family bossip, then disappeared into the cacophony of whisting tea kettles and chicken pot pies.

"I've been coming to Rumpelmeyer's for 10 pretty well. After all, my biggest successes have always been in American films.

"I'm not even German, you know. I'm Austrian, although I moved from there in 1938, when I was 7, and grew up in Switzerland. My sister Maria and I both had a success in America, but as long as our

But now Hollywood is becoming the center of movie activity again, and it's still America where I get so many offers. In Europe, people find it very

His first film as a director was Turgenev's "First Love," his second was "The Pedestrian," a shattering study of Nazi guilt exposed in contempoary Germany. Both were critical successes that flopped at the box office.

'That doesn't deter me. Ingmar Bergman's first success was 'The Seventh Seal.' It was his 27th film. Lina Wertmuller made seven films before America officially adopted her. I have only made three. Stanley Kubrick screened "The Pedestrian' three times for his cameraman on 'Barry Lyndon' to show him what I did with light. I was very proud of that.

"Some directors in Hollywood go home at the end of the day when the actors do, then the film is turned over to an editor. But I see my films all the way through to the end. Acting takes 10 weeks and the ich is over Directing takes two years out of your the job is over. Directing takes two years out of your life, especially when you write, scout locations, film, edit and help with the distribution and promotion, as

"It's more fulfilling than acting, but it's also more wounding to get bad reviews as a director than as an actor. My consolation is that with all three films, people like them more after seeing them a second time. They seem to grow on people."

The new one is a complex psychological chess game between two masterminds, filmed in an assort-ment of exotic European locations. It begins in Istanbul, 1946, when Robert Shaw bets a buddy, Martin Ritt, he (Shaw) can commit a purposeless crime without flinching, then proceeds to throw a pregnant girl off a bridge to her death. Thirty years later, in a peaceful, pastoral region of Switzerland, the two meet again.

Ritt is a dying police commissioner and Shaw has become an international menace who sells weapons, arms, ammunition and criminal warfare to Arab countries under the guise of an industrialist who is protected by the Swiss government.

It's more complicated than a Swiss clock, with more curves and plot twists than a scenic railway, more curves and plot twists than a scenic railway, but it won the Best Film prize at the San Sebastian Film Festival over "Jaws," "The Godfather Part II" and "The Story of Adele H," a fact little publicized but offered proudly by Max Schell like a beaming new papa of quintuplets.

"I wanted to make a thriller, but also to show what happens in a beautiful postcard landscape like Switzerland, where cruel things like corruption and murder can happen beneath the undercurrents. It's a mixture of Hitchcock and Chekhov."

MAX EVEN DOES a Hitchcock bit in the film. If you look close, you'll notice in the party in Robert Shaw's villa a concert pianist entertaining the guests. His back is to the camera, but it's none other than Maximilian Schell.

Jon Voight plays the ambitious young police deputy who turns out to be a sinister figure in a different kind of masquerade, Jacqueline Bisset is Shaw's mistress and Max's friend Donald Sutherland even makes a guest appearance as a corpse. It was a family affair.

In real life, Max is the godfather to Voight's baby daughter, Angelina. Jackie Bisset is the godmother. Marty Ritt directed Voight in "Conrack." Robert Shaw wrote "The Man in the Glass Booth," for which Schell won another Oscar nomination last or which Schell were arch enemies in "The Odessa File." It's all very incestuous.

"I always cast my friends in everything," grinned Max. "It's easier that way. I even have Friedrich Duerrenmatt playing a writer named Friedrich in the film. We shot one seene in his own house. It was all the Veicht who used his name to get the really Jon Voight who used his name to get the financing from 20th Century-Fox. We all worked like a family. That's the way you have to make films

He says his experience as an actor does not inhibit him in front of other actors. "Quite the contrary. You'd be amazed how much you can learn about the function of the camera from acting in front of one as long as I have. You also learn from experience how to help other actors by being a combination director, prop man, and technical advis-

"A good prop can change a whole performance. Old letters make better props than new ones. The right coat, the right eyeglasses — these are all things you learn from having been through it yourself.

"The trick is to find out what each person needs.

Jon Voight needs direction and asks for it. Marty Ritt is such a good director he needed nothing. It all came from within.

'Robert Shaw was the most difficult. You ask him to do it one way, he says, 'I see what you mean,' then he does it his own way again. It's a selfprotective habit he's picked up from years of mediocre directors. While we were shooting, I thought he was the weakest person in the cast, but in the film he's very good. EDITOR'S NOTE: Even though Frank Sinatra is 60, has retired once and is a grandfather, he hasn't slowed down. Earl Wilson offers insight into "Ol" Grandad's" adjustment to the 70s and his current projects in the final article of the seven-part excerpt from "Sinatra: An Unauthorized Biography."

Approaching the 1970s, Sinatra wasn't feeling well. He was showing symptoms of Republicanism.

His right hand was in pain, but he was afraid of an operation. His movies inspired critics to ask why he made such junk. He was worth $50 million; it seemed to everybody that it was just a case of "take the money and run.'

the money and run."
When he was on TV, the reviewers grieved that his once fine voice was gone. He detested being bald. The hair transplants that he got to replace the toupees were painful and embarrassing.
"Sinatra's going to give God a hard time for letting him be bald and make him wear all those toupees and hair transplants," Marlon Brando said. One night when his ego was down, he said, "I think I'm gonna retire."

The deaths of two close friends. Jack Entratter

The deaths of two close friends, Jack Entratter and producer Leland Hayward, influenced Sinatra to call it a career in March, 1971.

Sinatra retired for about five minutes. The sotto voce rumors that he was buddying up to Gov. Ronald Reagan to get back at the Democrats were confirmed when he issued a statement showing he was plunging into Republican politics.

Sinatra was with a winner again. That was nice. He hadn't had one for a while. Critics were beginning to say Sinatra was the "kiss of death" in politics.

THE RUMORS that Sinatra was coming out of retirement — that there would be a Second Coming of Sinatra — were heard two years later, coincidental with rumors that Spiro Agnew was going into forced

That seemingly undying friendship of Sinatra and Agnew is a remarkable story of Frank's loyalty to a friend in trouble. Frank often speaks of somebody as being "a stand-up guy" and to him that's a high compliment. Sinatra was a stand-up guy for without much coaxing.

Cherry bombs would begin exploding. One visitor asked, "How do you guys ever know when it's New Year's Eve? It seems like New Year's Eve here every night!"
"Oh, on New Year's Eve Frank puts on a funny hat," one hanger-on said.

After his comeback, there were rivers of booze to be drunk and a lot of loving to do, so Sinatra did not completely bog down in melancholia, even though things were worsening. His singing was widely criti-

His passion for rather violent pranks was well known in Palm Springs and Las Vegas. He liked to toss ice cubes in the face of a pal. Some say this was sadism; it's just one of the games at Jilly's. He allowed his sense of humor to go its own way. Sinatra admired the late actor Laurence Harvey.

Sinatra admired the late actor Laurence Harvey. A magazine writer doing an article on Harvey had assured him he could see it before publication.

"I'll shake him up," Sinatra promised. He conspired with the writer to give Harvey a different version with startling "revelations" about "his father being a Communist" and other damaging statements. The author claimed he could not make any changes. Harvey was on the verge of seeing lawyers before he suddenly got suspicious that Sinatra had framed this as a trick.

Through the Cerfs and Harry Kurnitz, Sinatra grew more interested in art. He was, after all, a painter himself of clown subjects.

NOW AS HE approaches 1976, 37 years after he got a job with Harry-James and 40 years since Rustic Cabin, Frankie Boy has become Grandpa Sinatra. The years have made him mellow, and he is a sweeter old granddad than he had been, but he still has that burning fire to achieve. He has made a big mark on the world, but he wants to leave a bigger

He had once talked at cocktail parties of broads; now he burbles with excitement about his little granddaughter Angela Jennifer Lambert. "She's so bright!" he marveled at one party.

"She calls me paw paw!" He loves that part of his new image that shows him to be a doting grandfather.

Despite his mellowing, there are still two Sina-

NEVERTHELESS Sinatra has become friendlier with photographers. "Frank's all right now," they say, "as long as you ask permission. He says, "Since you have the courtesy to ask, okay."

Sinatra's trick of enjoying life is to be blithe about every crisis. At an outdoor concert in Baltimore, there was a moment when the orchestra pit before him was empty. Smiling down at it, he said, Fill it up with water and I'll walk across it.

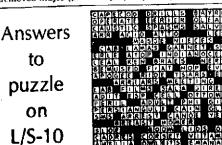

Bob Hope is probably show business's greatest plaque-collector. Sinatra could never amass as many as Hope; he never was anxious to get them. But nov that he is Grandpa Sinatra, people have begun thinking of giving him honors.

Some years before, the Hoboken City Council considered naming a street for Sinatra, but didn't. One reason was it wasn't much of a street.

One councilman said, "I wouldn't consider it an honor to have that street named after me!" A head-line writer asked in print, "If we can't have a Sinatra Street, why not a Frankie Lane?"

Sinatra now wonders what he can do now to top Frank Sinatra. What can he do for an encore, for a fitting finish to his career? A finish that he hopes will be several years distant.

Besides giving the $25,000, Sinatra paid 30 musicians for the three sessions from his own pocket. It was an expensive telethon for him. And two months later, at a State of Israel Bonds dinner in Las Vegas, Sinatra stunned the crowd by pledging the purchase of $250,000 worth of bonds in memory of Mrs. Goldberg "who was my parents' neighbor in Hoboken."

A quarter of a million dollars? But it was okay. He was in one of his elated periods. Please, God, don't let us be near when his mood changes, when plates and tables fly through the air, when strong men cower and cringe, and when everybody takes to cyclone cellars.

We like to have him around when he's warm, charitable and charming, which, it's only fair to say,

The life of every fur garment is totally dependne tre or every fur germent is rotally depend-ent upon the natural oils in the teather. Strength and pilability, as well as slikiness and lustre..., all reflect the absolute need to retain these vital oils as long as possible. Since heat is the prime destroyer of these oils, it is imperative your fur be protected from prolonged summer temperatures.

Seldom does a week go by that we don't turn down a repair or remodel simply because lack of storage and periodic cleaning has caused permanent damage resulting in complete loss of the fur.

If you have not as yet stored your fur, or have not done so inthe past, we earnestly urse you to not done so inthe past, we earnestly urse you to do so now before the coming summer heat, takes its toll on the most cherished item in your wardrobs. WHETHER OF WOOD, glass, ivory or abalone shell, miniature pianos hold a special fascination for Mrs. Florence Ament Watkins. She searches for them in coun tries she visits during world cruises. Staff photo by ROGER COAR ....

Miniature piano collection reminder of world travels.

By JEAN SANDERS Staff Writer

It's a woman's privilege to change her mind, so the saying goes. Once, Florence Ament Watkins said El Paso was "the only place on earth I would live." But the 40 years she and her family summered in Long Beach made a lasting impression, and now she is ensconced - permanently, she thinks - in an airy penthouse of the International Tower.

A step out onto her balcony reveals a guil's eye view of the Queen Mary. It's a meaningful scene for Mrs. Watkins, for the ship was among several great ocean liners on which she has cruised around the Next year will mark her ninth world trip, and there is no doubt in her mind what she will be doing in ports of call. She'll be shopping for miniature pianos.

"I decided not to fool with a camera anymore," says the transplanted Texan. "I said to myself, 'I think I will collect pianos.' I got the idea from Mana Zucca, a Florida pianist and close friend of mine, who has a collection of 200.

"I have about 100 now, each representing a place where I have been. I can look at these and remember Rio, Malta, Japan, Scandinavia — so many places."
When she first began her collection 20 years ago, she kept the miniatures on the lid of her own grand piano. It wasn't long before space ran out. Now her musical reminder of journeys past are housed behind glass on shelves of a white breakfront at the entrance of her penthouse. WHILE THE PIANOS are too small to have playable keys, many contain music boxes with Swiss movements that merrily tinkle out songs not necessarily indigenous of the country where they were purchased. A silver inlay plano she found in Delhi, for instance, jingles forth with "Anniversary Waltz" and "Tales from the Vienna Woods."

Most valuable in her collection is an ebony case with hand painted flowers about ten inches high. Doors of the case slowly open to reveal an Old World music room with a figure representing Mozart seated at an ivory piano. He is reflected in mirrors and his head turns slightly as the box plays one of his

A special favorite, because it was her first, is an olive wood piano from Gibralter. In a tiny shop on Malta she found a miniature 200 years old, carved of cypress. The one she discovered in a Rio antique shop is 84 years old.

On one of her cruises she special-ordered a piano of ivory in Hong Kong. She finally received it nine months later.

SEARCHES OFTEN LEAD Mrs. Watkins to the toy department of stores in the various countries she visits. The hunt and search and eventual discovery of a tiny Limoges piano with even tinier round stool is a thrill, as is discovering a tortoise shell piano from Sorrento and one from Kyoto embedded with microscopic shells.

She carefully removes from a shelf a delicate white wood piano embellished with gold scrolls and

It reminds her of her trip in 1960 when she attended the Passion Play, which she found "a soulsearching experience.'

The collection is a natural for Mrs. Watkins, herself a musician and patron of the arts. A social, civic and cultural leader in El Paso, she founded the Honolulu, El Paso and Austin, Texas, chapters of National Society of Arts and Letters. Her many accomplishments are listed in several "Who's Who' volumes. She taught at Chicago Music College and often her marriage to the late R. Sarnuel Watkins after her marriage to the late R. Samuel Watkins occasionally gave voice recitals.

The inveterate traveler, observant, curious and adventurous, has ridden camels and elephants, shopped for food from boats in Thailand canals, climbed towers and temples for views of cities but always in her thoughts is the question, "Where will I find my next miniature?"

A. Those who view Victorian furniture with admiration — and this list is growing daily — would willingly pay up to $475 for a medalilon-back sofa in fine condition. When hubby learns this, he'll move the sofa from the garage pronto, right into the living room. The medallion-back or mirrow-back sofa was a familiar sight in American parlors during the Rococo Revival period of the mid-19th century.

Absolutely no one could resist this piece with its serpentine front and top rail which curved downward in an unbroken line to enclose the arms. Of course, the upholstered medallion-back provided this sofa with its distinguishing feature.

I never seem to relax on vacation. Camping sounds like fun — when someone else goes. Where do I err?'

By REBA & BONNIE CHURCHILL

The move is on - and the move is outdoors. Most everyone is back-packing, biking, hiking, riding — getting out in the sun and getting out in the sun and enjoying it!

If you'd like to add more fun to your travel, maybe you should organize first — then you can enjoy! Safety statisticians remind, "Preparation before travel means extra fore travel means extra protection while on the road. If you're driving, check tire pressure (this can save gas), determine if battery needs charging, and see when the last lube and oil change were done.

"For those who love company always test camping, always test equipment BEFORE leaving. This is true of tents, stoves, bed rolls. If it's new, learn how to set up quickly by a practice run. If it's old equipment, see if everything is still functioning properly."

If on an extensive trip, buy perishable food en route. Keep it in a cooler chest. If in undeveloped areas, carry canned, dried or dehydrated foods. Many include snack packs of raisins in their pockets.

What to wear is important! The pros suggest loose-fitting clothes, and adding additional layers of light clothing to meet changing weather.

DIABETES CHIEF at Long Beach Veteran's Administration Hospital, Dr. Leona V. Miller, advocates more attention to chronic illnesses by health system. She also sees a role for lay instructors to help eliminate fragmented care for diabetics.

Upjohn Award for VA medic

by BEN ZINSER Medical-Science Editor

Education in diabetes. Done properly along with the right kind of medical care, such education holds the potential of $4 billion in savings, says Dr. Leona V. Miller, chief of the diabetes section at Long Beach Veterans Administration Hospital.

Not to mention all the lives that could be saved. One study, she says, has already shown that proper control of the diabetic condition results in a fourfold reduction in the death rate.

Although she's a physician concerned with the care of the diabetic patient, her big interest has been education in matters concerning diabetes and its complications. And this effort in education has won for her the second annual Upjohn Award of the American Diabetes Association.

The award was presented to her Saturday at the ADA's annual meeting in San Francisco.

It is a prestigious award. The first winner was Dr. Alexander Marble, a re-nowned authority on diabetes affiliated with Boston's Joslin Clinic.

EACH YEAR, Dr. Miller has been giving 50 to 100 lectures to doctors and nurses across the country. She was named to the National Commission on Diabetes, which submitted a report to Congress.

The diabetic patient has difficulty getting continuity of care," she says.
In most clinics now, the care is fragmented, she continues.

Her lectures emphasize the proper care of the diabetic and the importance of establishing programs for educating the patient about his disease.

DIABETES, she points out, is more than just an insulin problem. It affects all the organ systems of the body.

Few realize, for example, that diabetes is the second most common cause of renal (kidney) failure.

In addition, it is the No. 1 cause of new cases of blindness in the United States. Yet, she notes, many doctors fail to check the eyes for signs of the complication of diabetic retinopathy (eye involvement).

Medical researchers have established that good control of the diabetic condition

Many diabetics neglect their feet, she says, and thus may wind up with serious foot trouble

At the VA Hospital, Dr. Miller directs a 36-bed service plus a diabetic clinic. Nurses are also trained to give instructions

Dr. Miller says she decided long ago that diabetes is "the most exciting field in medicine in that it affects people of all ages and the entire body system in a wide variety of ways. It means you have to take care of the whole person — and that fits my personal-

She was nominated for the award by Dr. Robert E. Tranquada, regional director of Los Angeles County Central Health Services.

Dr. Miller thinks that there ought to be more attention paid to chronic disorders.

"Eighty per cent of the health care dollar goes to chronic illness," she says, yet the health system is geared to acute

To help eliminate fragmented care for the diabetic, she proposes that more in-structors be trained, including persons from the laity.

"There's no reason lay people can't give classes," she says. Dr. Miller was born and reared in New York City. She received her premedical training at Columbia University and was awarded a scholarship to Women's Medical College of Pennsylvania in Philadelphia. She received her M. D. degree from USC School of Medicine.

She and her family live in Pasadena. Her husband, Alexander Miller, Ph.D., is a research immunologist at UCLA.

Lung disease responds to transfer factor

factor, a controversial protective substance, is an effective treatment for valley fever, a fungus-caused lung disease.

Prospects are hopeful, according to Dr. J. Richard Graybill, an investigator at Audie Murphy Veterans Administration Hospital in San Antonio, Tex. He recently described results of administration of transfer factor to patients with severe valley fever

Medical science has known for a long time that transfer factor, a substance derived from white blood

cells, plays a role in establishing immunity to bacteria, fungi and other body invaders. This immunity can be transferred to another person by a single injection of transfer factor from a sensitized donor.

Valley fever is a candidate for transfer factor treatment because of the body's often poor immune

Beneficial in burns

An ointment form of the drug cerium nitrate has been shown to have a significant inhibiting effect on germs in major burn wounds, a doctor reports.

A concentration of the compound mixed into a silver sulfadiazine cream was particularly effective against hard-to-treat germs known as Pseudomonas aeruginosa.

Dr. William Monafo of St. John's Mercy Medical Center, St. Louis, Mo., says that results to date with cerium in 45 patients can "only be described as spectacular."

Dangerous bacteria were suppressed in these seriously ill burn patients.

Reduces breast cancer

A daily dose of the hormone estriol, given to women 18 to 20, should significantly reduce the incidence of breast cancer, a researcher says.

Dr. Henry Lemon of the University of Nebraska School of Medicine thinks there should be a largescale trial of the agent to see if it can prevent breast cancer

The doctor says observation of 2,000 laboratory rats for their lifetimes shows that estriol has the capability of preventing up to 90 per cent of breast

He says studies have also been conducted among postmenopausal women with breast cancer, and estriol has been found to be "an effective and quite feminizing bearance" feminizing hormone.' At a seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society he said estriol is "quite specific for breast." It does not appear to inhibit the development of other types of cancer. A report appears in the Medical Post, a newspaper for doctors.

dr. walt menninger

Last fall, I wrote of a visit with a group of former mental patients who were helping each other get it together, meeting weekly under the auspices of the Mental Health Association.

On that occasion, the group, known as "Breakthrough," was sharing ideas about overcoming the stigma of their condition and getting a job after a bout of mental illness.

Life is not easy for persons whose emotional problems get in the way of everyday life adjustment. A wide range of mental health professionals and clinics provide services to these troubled people. And there are also some significant self-help organizations in this field. Two of the better known such organizations trace their origins to Alcoholics Anonymous — Recover, Inc., and Emotional Health Anonymous.

In 1937, just two years after the founding of AA, Recover, Inc., was originated by the late Dr. Abraham Low, a Chicago psychiatrist and neu-rologist. In the 39 years since, Recovery has spread throughout the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico, with more than 1,000 active groups and roughly 15,000 members. Its headquarters remain in Chicago (118 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 60603).

THE RECOVERY Method, as it is called, is based on the original princi-ples outlined by Dr. Low in his book, "Mental Health Through Will Trainwhich is used as a text for panel

A retired free-lance writer in Cleveland shared with me a schedule of 29 Recovery groups meeting weekly in that metropolitan area, and he observed that the "organization is a haven of refuge and relief for hundreds of Clevelanders afflicted with the problems of nervous symptoms, including former mental patients and also those who are afflicted with the stress of daily living in one context or another." As succinctly stated by a woman who is a Recovery group leader in western Kansas, "Members are trained to accept responsibility for their own mental health and foster self-leadership.

A survey conducted for Recovery found that 70 per cent of the members have received some treatment for their problems, but only half (52 per cent) illness. The organization does expect "each member who needs professional care to follow the authority of and to cooperate with his personal physician and or other professionals at all times. Recovery does not offer advice, counseling, diagnosis or treatment; it provides self-help aftercare only."

A key to the self help is non-professional leadership. Indeed, while mental health professionals are welcome to at-tend Recovery meetings and participate as members, they are quite specifically denied leadership roles.

EMOTIONAL Health Anonymous is California-based organization of recent vintage. Its program for the men-tally ill is quite literally parallel to the program of Alcoholics Anonymous, with Twelve Steps, Twelve Traditions and "Just for Today." It is headquartered in the Los Angeles area (EHA, 2420 San Gabriel Blvd., Rosemead, Ca. 91770).

It identifies itself as a fellowship program "to help you recover from emotional or mental illness." The informational brochure about the program acknowledges its debt to AA for permission to adapt the AA recovery program to fit the emotionally ill instead of the EHA defines emotionally ill persons "individuals whose emotions interfere with their daily living in any way whatsoever, or to any degree, as recognized by themselves." And the first Step is "We admitted we were powerless over our emotions — that our lives had become unmanageable."

A member of an EHA group in Long Beach, Ca., wrote enthusiastically that 'I am a new creation since I worked these 12 steps for my emotional prob-lems." And as with Recovery, Inc., there is a commitment to "remain forever nonprofessional."

As a mental health professional, I heartily salute the efforts of these organizations. Dr. Low started Recovery because he was keenly aware that there were many more people in need of help than professionals to provide that help. These organizations have been and will certainly continue supplementing and complementing services available from mental health professionals.

By LYNN AND JOEL RAPP

DEAR MOTHER EARTH: Recently, I bought an Asparagus Fern and after I brought it home it started dying on me. Being new with plants, I decided to repot it. When I took out the plant it had a large root system and, not knowing any better and figuring I had nothing to lose, I cut the roots way back by cutting straight across and repotted it in fresh soil in a new pot.

That fern is now my pride and joy with long, green growth. I have had her over two years and she just keeps getting greener and lusher and healthier. I also keep my house at 68 degrees which is as good for my family as it is

Question receives variety of answers

DEAR MR. SMITH: My sister and I sold a piece of property on the installment plan. The deed of trust calls for a $15 late charge if the buyers are more than 10 days late on payments. The savings and loan handling the collection does not make this an additional charge, but takes the $15 off the amount credited on the principal. I've received ihree different answers on reporting the $15 late ed on your 1976 return; not your 1975 return. However, for state income tax purposes the interest is tax-free.

DEAR MR. SMITH: I have a retirement income policy which I took out in 1934. It pays $75 per month starting next year, or I can take the total of $10,-000 instead. In either case, is there any federal income tax due? — N.H.

My sister called IRS in Phoenix, and was told that we don't have to report it at all, as it is neither interest nor principal. - M.M.

Unfortunately, receiving different answers to oral questions is not at all unusual; sometimes it's just "lack of communica-tion." The basic rule to remember is that everything you receive is taxable in some way, unless you can find a provision that makes an exception for a specific item. There is no such exception when you collect a late charge.

Assuming that you received the full, regular, installment payment, and that no part of any late charge was kept by the bank, I believe you are bound by the bank's allocation of all payments to principal, interest, and late charges. The late charges would have to be added to interest. Sorry.

With friends like that you surely don't need enemies. Interest received on a Treasury bill must be reported on Form 1040, but not until you receive payment on maturity. For example, if you buy it in August, 1975, and it pays off in February, 1976, you report the interest receiv-

WILLIAM S. GILBERT was a crusty lawyer, former soldier and journalist, and Arthur Sullivan was one of England's leading composers at the time of their first collaboration with Richard D'Oyly Carte, an impressario. D'Oyly Carte functioned as friend, manager, financier and publicist as Gilbert and Sullivan worked together for more than a quarter of a century.

Their first work, "Trial by Jury," which opened March 25, 1875, was composed because D'Oyly Carte needed a curtain raiser to round out a bill he was presenting at the Royalty Theater. However, subsequent works were carefully planned, although D'Oyly Carte frequently had to act as arbitrator between the temperamental composer and author.

Together, the two wrote "The Sorcerer," "Pina-"Pirates of Penzance," "Patience," "Iolanthe," "Princess Ida," "The Mikado," "Ruddigore," "Yeoman of the Guard," "The Gondoliers," "Utopia (Limited)" and "The Grand Duke."

RICHARD, left, at 10 years of age is doing well in the third grade. He needs an active single father who can share his pride in his black heritage and can help him develop self-confidence.

GARY, right, is 12 and a healthy active outdoorsy boy. He likes horses, making models and other handicrafts and taking trips.

JIMMY, left, is 111/2 and needs a parent who can provide lots of attention and help with his special school work. A very active boy, he likes to go camping, ride his skateboard, visit the beach and snow.

KEN, right, is 9½, healthy, bright and outgoing. He needs the stability of a permanent home. His interests range from music and singing to baseball.

most turned out to be wrong. I bought dress shoes and pants when I should have bought tennies and blue jeans. I probably bought too much," he conceded with a grin.

-The two of them go bike riding together, bowling sometimes and visit his uncle's ranch near Morro Bay. Sean also is an avid fisherman and surfer. His pride and joy is the surfboard he got as an 11th birthday present.

They share household duties. "Sean minds pretty well. He's kind of spoiled, but not about doing chores. He just forgets sometimes."

Asked what he wants to be when he grows up, Sean blurted out a typical boy comment, "I'm going to be a professional surfer.'

He rattles off the places he's visited with his Dad and the presents he got for Christmas. "I have a lot of friends, too" he announced, glancing across at his father, who nods in agreement.

PATIENCE IS learned even before the child arrives as Howard Plzak can attest.

Plzak, 35, is on the waiting list for a son, "They told me last December when I was approved that it might take two months or two years." In anticipation, he recently bought a three-bedroom house in Torrance, moving from an apartment in Palos Verdes.

Dealing with children is not a new experience for him. He is a teacher of German at Rolling Hills High School, and his students range in age from 12 to ts, covering the 8th through 12th

He takes bike trips and field trips with his students and wants to share activities with a son, "I figure I'll get more feedback from a son than I do from my students sometimes."

He anticipates some change in life-style. "I probably won't be able to af-ford as much travel. I've visited Europe several times and been to Hawaii. I'll probably also have to buy a car. Right now I do all my commuting on a motorcycle or a bicycle

He said his friends were surprised and some expresssed concern about his decision to adopt. "Some people thought it would inhibit my lifestyle, but I think it will enhance it. I'm an avid skier and enjoy kid-oriented activities and watch-ing kids grow. I'm a very active person with a lot to give and share."

He's never married and his family, including an older sister, lives in Wisconsin and Michigan.

THE DEPARTMENT of Adoptions has many boys aged 9 and older — some of minority backgrounds — awaiting adoption by single men.

"Single fathers want the companion-ship of a son and the satisfaction of helping a boy to mature and feel good about himself," noted Mrs. Ellis, "There's a lot of love and attention in these families.

An attempt is made to match the father and son according to interests, abilities and personalities — and that takes time, she pointed out.

Adoption requirements are flexible. There is a trial period before the final adoption decree is signed by the court. During this time, usually six months, the adoption worker keeps a close eye on the adjustment process for both father and son, according to Mrs. Ellis.

Further information on the single parent adoption program or about the youngsters pictured above may be obtained from Gladys Leach at the Long Beach office of the County Adoptions Department.

Eczema is a skin problem that occurs in both humans and animals. It can effect large areas or be limited to a localized section. It evidences itself by a dry flaking of the skin, with itching and pain. So don't assume that when Fido or Tabby scratch, it must be a flea or tick.

Polyester and the knit explosion hit the market simultaneously some years ago. Merchandisers, in their anxiety to sell the concept of man-made fiber and knits at the same time, telescoped their verbiage into "polyester knits." This confused the issue as most consumers have little understanding of polyester nor of knit types. Store people can't help either, though efforts are being made by the American Home Sewing Council to educate down the line. At the forthcoming national conference of retailers, focus is on "Polyester and the Home Sewing Mar-

Right now, let's throw the spotlight on polyester. It's a man-made fiber. But like any other fiber, manmade or natural, it can be formed into 100 or more different kinds of yarn. Filaments may be finer than human hair and used in gossamer silk-like knits and wovens. Numerous coarse filaments can be twisted together to make a thick, heavy yarn for a chunky

ALL FABRIC of 100 per cent polyester shares certain characteristics. Polyester is second to nylon in strength; nylon being the strongest fiber of all. It has a softer feel than nylon, but not nearly as soft as cotton, wool or silk. Polyester fabric is moistureresistant, making it easy to wash and quick to dry, though oily stains are hard to eradicate. As it lacks the knack of breathability, it can be hot in summer and clammy in winter. That's where knits come in. Little open spaces in knits allow air to circulate, compensating somewhat for that non-

knit story. The way a knit is made dictates how it can be used, and the way it wears, what kind of care it requires. Here are clues to knit types. There are two basic ways that fabric can be knitted. It can be machine knit in the crosswise direction, familiar to handknitters, with a plain knit stitch or a purl stitch. This is called weft knitting because of the crosswise direction. Or, knits can be made in the lengthwise direction, called warp knitting.

Main weft knits are plain jersey and rib knit.

Plain jersey can be identified by lengthwise rows of the face and erasswise ways on the back.

stitches on the face and crosswise rows on the back of fabric. These single knits give a soft appearance to sport, day and evening wear in tank tops, skimmer dresses, men's shirts.

RIB KNIT is distinguished by alternating rows of knit and purl on front and back. It has more cross-wise stretch than jersey. Double knit is rib knit woven back to back and interlocking. It usually looks the same back and front, though the face side may have a decorative variation.

Skinny rib knits are used for the leanest T-shirt dresses and tops. Double knits, because of their stability and lesser stretch, are for tailored types such as pants, jackets, coats and undrapy dresses.

Warp knits, those made in the lengthwise direction, can only be devised on machines. An entire bank of needles whir and knit with fantastic speed. Tricot jersey is a famous warp knit. It has fine vertical wales face-side and a horizontal herringbone pattern on back. Tricot is run-proof, nonraveling, strong, drapable. It has more stretch crosswise than lengthwise; not as much as a rib knit; not as clingy as plain jersey.

Raschel is the other main kind of warp knit. It's lacy, but the open mesh is locked in place with an extra yarn. It has a unique appearance, limited stretch

All of these knits can be made with any manmade fiber or natural fiber or blends. Judge according to knit type plus your preference in fiber.

DESIGNER PATTERN

Scarf designed for many uses

Sewing? Easiest ever! Result? The newest, most exciting idea in fashion! Robert Courtney takes a simple 45 X 60 inch rectangle, and suggests you wear it three (or more) ways — as a sheltering stole, as the new fanny wrap or knotted and draped into a oneshoulder toga. In all the excitement of the scarf tricks, don't overlook the dress. Printed Pattern M359 is lean, quiet, with a subtle, extended shoulderline. Note the V inset under the armhole — much more flattering than bareness. Supple, drapeable fabrics are suggested — nylon or silk jersey.

Printed Pattern M359 is available in misses' sizes 8, 10, 12, 14, 16, 18. Size 12 (bust 34) dress requires 3 yards 45 inch fabric; scarf 1 14 yards.

Please send $1.25 for Printed Pattern M359 to Independent Press Telegram, Pattern Department, P.O. Box 59, Old Chelsea Station, New York, N.Y. 10011. (Add 35 cents for each pattern for first class mail and special handling.) Print plainly YOUR NAME, ADDRESS with ZIP, STYLE NUMBER and Willow Street just west of Atlantic Avenue, is open the rest of the week for luncheon, dinner and cocktails. Furthermore, it has dinner specials every night. Those specials are so remarkably delectable—and so reasonably priced—that the customers look wonderingly at one another and ask: "How can they

In most quality restaurants, inflation has pushed the price of prime rib, steak and lobster to dizzying heights. Tee Cee's, however, is a quality restaurant which has quality entrees every night for less than $5. Several are considerably less than $5. Those entrees are the result of careful planning by ownerhost Tommy (Tee Cee) Young and his ace No. 1 chef, Bobby Pagay, who are now in their fourth year of

Tee Cee's is a neatly designed combination dining room and cocktail lounge with a piano-bar featuring the original entertainment of Ernie Woodruff, who has a large following of fans. The dinner special Monday and Tuesday nights is tender, juicy, savory prime rib au jus, $3.95. Like all the dinners, it comes with a fine chilled salad, fresh baked potato, hot garlic toast and dessert of Tommy's custom-made Teaberry ice cream.

The special on Wednesday and Thursday nights is the lobster dinner, $3.95. That's the best Australian lobster tail, definitely a top value. The special ever Saturday night is the 16-ounce porterhouse steak dinner, $3.95. On special every night is another top-notch steak, the delmonico, $4.50, so good it would cost considerably more for a comparable dinner elsewhere. There's also an "early-bird" special every night from 5.30 to 7.30. It's chel Pagay's celebrated Polynesian pupu dinner, $3.95, including teriyaki steak tidbits, shrimp cocktail, fried shrimp, barbecue rib, egg roll, salad, ice cream and other items.

Tee Cee's co-owner and chief hostess is Tommy's wife, Jeane, a charmer from the South. She's from Granada County, Miss. She and Tommy were wed 31 years ago in Leesville, La. Jeane enjoys greeting the guests, making sure they're treated like friends.

The luncheons are unusually popular, because chef Pagay has the knack of creating different spe-cials each day which are interesting and imaginative. Most are $2.25, ranging from veal or chicken creations to beef chow mein and tempting seafoods. The Tuesday luncheon special is always prime rib au jus, $3. The Thursday special is always teriyaki steak, $3, with scrumptious Polynesian flavor.

That entree, called brochette of beef Picado, is one of the delights served nightly in Long Beach's Mayan Room restaurant, a handsome place decorated with hot pinks and hot orange colors that leap out at the eye. The Mayan Room is located off the beaten track, high in the sky atop the Long Beach Holiday Inn, Lakewood Boulevard near the San Diego Freeway slices of flank steak with an exotic, pungent sauce.

The innkeeper who directs all the activities at the Holiday Inn is John Dawson, who's from Mon-treal. Another of his top assistants is Margaret Reeves, in charge of banquets and catering. She arranges wedding receptions, breakfasts, luncheons, dinners and parties in the inn's Crown Room, also located at the top of the tall, circular building. It can accommodate groups from 15 to 125. Breakfast af-fairs are from $2.95. Among the luncheon entrees served to groups are the Trio Salad (chicken salad, tuna salad and fruit salad), $3.50, and Yankee pot roast, $4.75. Among the dinner entrees for banquets are beef brochette, $5.95, and top sirloin steak, $7.25. They come with salad, potatoes or rice, vegetable of the day, fresh rolls, beverage and dessert.

Margaret is well-known to many Long Beach area residents because she was formerly at the Virginia Country Club, the Pacific Coast Club and Rochelle's Restaurant. The No. 1 chef at the Holiday Inn is Verna Walsh, who has been on the staff five years. She's a cheerful woman with great cooking expertise. She and her kitchen staff prepare a big variety of breakfasts, luncheons and dinners for the Mayan Room patrons

🤄 DEÀR ABBY arries love of creatures to extremes

DEAR ABB 1: Our daughter is 14, and she loves animale. She is not just your ordinary animal lover; Abby, she is fanatic about it. She thinks it is wrong to kill an insect, a mouse or any kind of bug or rodent.

When she zees one of us kill a fly or a cockroach, she carries on like a crazy person.

If we try to set traps to catch mice, she goes into hysterics. How can I convince her that flies and mice carry germs, and it is better to get rid of them?

Please help me. Sometimes I wonder if this child is normal. — WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your daughter's concern for the "sanctity of life" is admirable. But you can explain to her that unless humans exterminate creatures that carry disease and destruction, there will be no life for HUMANS!

DEAR ABBY: My husband and I were married two months ago. It was the second marriage for both of us.

Yesterday one of my husband's so-called friends called Yesterday one of my husband's so-called friends called and told me things about my husband's past that upset me. She said that he had had psychiatric treatment for suicidal tendencies shortly before we met. (I had had psychiatric treatment for the same reason, but I told him about it before we were married. I wonder why he didn't tell me?)

What, if anything, should I do? My primary concern is that my husband should know that this woman is not worthy of his trust. Also, do you think that his secrecy about his past is a sign that our marriage is in trouble? We have gotten along so well, I can't believe it.

There is a possibility, of course, that this woman's

There is a possibility, of course, that this woman's stories are untrue. It's hard for me to understand why some people will go out of their way to cause others pain. - PUŻZLED

DEAR PUZZLED: Rather than live with doubts, you should tell your husband what this "friend" told you and give him a chance to respond. True or false, it will clear the air. And you'd do well to avoid this woman. She's bad news.

DEAR ABBY: I am an attractive, energetic, funloving divorcee who likes a good time, which sometimes gets me into trouble.

While my neighbor was in the hospital having a baby, I sort of lived it up with her husband. She found out about it, and my life hasn't been the same since. She has called me every name in the book and has even threatened to "get even" with me if it's the last thing she does. She insists that I talked her husband into it, which is not true. He was as willing as I was. Now her husband is blaming me because his wife is carrying on like a maniac.

I am twice divorced and know what it's like to have a woman steal her husband. I am no home-wrecker, but what's another slice off a loaf that's already been cut?

How can I get this woman to realize I don't want her husband, I was only having a little fun? — ALL IN FUN DEAR ALL: Living it up with another woman's husband is hard to live down. Don't try to explain your harmless intentions. And stay out of her way.

Kuhn applauded for a 'courageous decision'

NEW YORK — Let us suppose Tony the Bookle had bought Vida Blue to fix a game. Let us suppose that the commissioner of baseball got wind of it. He would immediately act to prevent the fix.

Quite similarly, the Yankees bought Vida Blue to fix a pennant. The commissioner stepped in and said bothing doing. He stopped the fix. He also stopped the Red Sox from their attempt to buy the pennant. He has served notice on rich clubs for the future, that they will not be permitted to buy a pennant.

That is the morality of the case. But what of the legality?

Who knows? Who can tell, in these judicially screwed-up days, how a judge will react? It has been said of and by Charley Finley that he has a right to sell his ballplayers. They are his property, and that is the American way, the capitalistic way.

Not quite. When you join a men's club, or a country club, you agree to abide by its rules. The major leagues are, in essence, a private club, two private clubs. They are governed by a set of common rules, and one of these rules is that the members shall abide by the decisions of the baseball commissioner.

If such a ruling goes against the interests or desires of an owner, he should not be permitted to go outside the men's club for redress. He should not go to court. He should be man enough to live by the

Tom Yawkey is such a man. He says he will not

sue. He will accept Kuhn's decision. "The public is fed up with court cases and so am I," says the Red Sox owner, a gentleman, a Lord of Baseball in the finest sense.

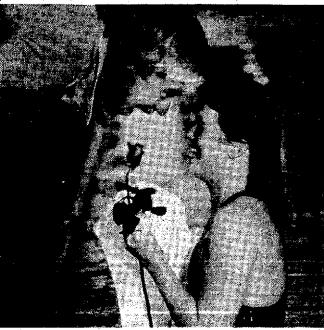

When you go to court, you attack the structure of your league, your organized sport. Pro basketball did it. The ABA and NBA owners began suing each other inter-league and intra-league. Basketball has suffered. The ABA has gone bankrupt and has folded. Owners lest millions. Darans of basketball players. Owners lost millions. Dozens of basketball players have lost jobs, and the deprivation is not yet done. When the NBA divvys up the players from the folded ABA teams, men now in the NBA will be released to make room. Ballplayers should remember this when they rejoice in the difficulties of club owners.

Bowie Kuhn no longer has control over the players. He has lost that in the courts and in the hearing rooms of arbitrators. Bowie Kuhn has control now only over the owners. Exercising that control, he stepped in to stop the rape of the Oakland franchise by its owner, Charley Finley. Charley O. had tried to sell Vida Blue to the Yankees for $1.5 million; Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers to the Red Sox for another

Had Finley not been greedy, had he sold say just one player for one million, he undoubtedly would have got away with it. But stripping the franchise in the midst of pennant races forced the commissioner into action Soon enough will the Oakland franchise be picked clean, as though by a piranha, when six or seven key players walk away at year's end.

Undoubtedly, the Yankee fan is disappointed that Blue must remain with Oakland. Similarly, the Red Sox fan is disappointed that Rudi and Fingers cannot join their team. But let's look at it another way:

Naber gets 1st sunbay world record

John Naber is having a difficult time convincing people that he is competing against himself and not the universe

'My goal is, and has been, to have my best time in every race I swim," Naber reiterated for the umpteenth time Saturday night.

The "issue," however, became academic after Naber shattered the world record while winning the 200meter backstroke during the fourth evening of the U.S. Olympic Swimming Trials at Belmont Plaza Olympic Pool.

Naber hit the high note of a record-breaking session before a capacity-plus crowd in excess of 2,900 when he won the backstroke in 2:00.64, bettering the old standard of 2:01.87 set by Roland Matthes, one of those dreaded East Germans in 1973.

Everyone joined the record party Saturday, including the irre-pressible Shirley Babashoff, who didn't even compete in the nighttime competition.

Babashoff, of Mission Viejo, set her third American record of the Trials during the afternoon when she qualified for Monday night's 800 freestyle final by swimming the qualifying heat in 8:46.00. That bettered Shannon Smith's 8:46.39 set during the AAU Championships in Long Beach in April.

Spectators who paid $1.50 to watch qualifying got their money's worth. Bill Forrester, of Birming-ham, Ala., became the first American and only the second person to ever break two minutes in the 200meter butterfly when he qualified in 1:59.70, second only to the 1:59.63 recorded by Roger Pytell of East Germany earlier this month. Forrester will be credited with breaking Mark Spitz' American mark of 2:00.70.

Forrester finished second to Mike Bruner of the De Anza Swim Club in the final Saturday night,

In a telegram to league president Lee MacPhail Jr., Tanner questioned the sale of Laboud, an unsigned player who was sold by to the Rangers before the June 15 trading deadline.

Williams hurt, fails to qualify

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Sprinter Steve Williams succumbed to a hamstring injury and failed to qualify for the U.S. Olympic 100meter dash Saturday as the 1976 Olympic Track and Field trials opened at the University of Oregon.

The tall, lean Williams, co-holder of the world record for 100 meters, barely qualified in the first race of the day when his right thigh began to hurt. His thigh was wrap-ped heavily for the second of four races 100-meter runners must run.

After 40 meters, however, Williams pulled up, immediately took off his shoes. America's finest sprinter retained hopes of making the team in the 200 or perhaps on a relay team.

The injury was apparently unrelated to the one he suffered a week ago at UCLA, which forced him out of the national AAU championshins

Williams said the injury hurt from his buttocks down to the back of his knee and "it didn't get any worse, it all just spasmed up again. I'll be back for the 200." Meet officials said there is no precedent for adding Williams to the Olympic team —"It's all based on this competition," said meet director Bob Newland.

Williams said, "There's no way any of those dudes can beat me in the 100, I know that," but he conceded he would settle for a berth in another event.

Todd Scully earned his first

Olympic berth by capturing a confusion-shortened 20-kilometer walk. The 27-year-old former school teacher from Big Island, Va. and three-time Olympic veteran Ron Laird both will compete in Mon-treal, but third place was left open and will be decided in a walkoff one week from today. Larry Walker of Los Angeles finished third, but a protest over the length of the race prompted officials to order a walk-

Scully was timed in 1:25:28.6 for the approximately 19 kilometers and at that pace his time would have been about the six fastest ever by an American in the 20 kilometers.

The only other final event on Saturday's program, the women's long jump, was won by 18-year-old Kathy McMillan of Raeford, N.C., with Sherron Walker of Seattle and Martha Watson of Lakewood plac-ing second and third and earning Olympic spots.
Miss McMillan had two wind-aided jumps of 22 feet, 3 inches, the same mark as her American record. Miss Watson earned her fourth Olympic berth, but veteran Willye White of Chicago failed to make the team for the first time since she won a silver medal in the Melbourne, Australia, Olympics in

Mahaffey falters but holds onto lead

DULUTH, Ga. (AP) - When the national television coverage ended for the day, John Mahaffey was five under par, had a six-shot lead and appeared ready to make a rout the United States Open Championship.

When play ended some 21/2 hours later, just before total darkness Saturday night, Mahaffey had a two-stroke lead, was three-under-par and struggling to hang on against the challenge of rookie pro Jerry Pate. The television coverage fell victim to a violent thunderstorm-high winds, lightning, heavy rains—that almost claimed the round, too. Play was suspended for 11/2 hours and, at one time, officials were on the verge of canceling.

The baby-faced Mahaffey, paired with Al Geiberger in the last twosome, and the other leaders were still in the clubhouse awaiting their starting times when the storm hit. They finally got away about 4:30 p.m., almost two hours late.

Because of the delay, they'd just made the turn to the back nine when the network's time was up and it cut away.

Mahaffey, wielding his mother's putter, had one-putted six times on the front side and had expanded his one-stroke lead to six shots. But the delay began to tell on the young man who was almost destroyed by his playoff loss in this national championship a year ago.
"I lost my concentration," he said.

"We were out here much too long, I got too keyed up, before we finally got started playing." He made double bogey on the 11th hole and lost four shots. He bogeyed the 16th and 17th, both times missing the green in the gloomy twilight he said made it diffically to judge distances. He had to work hard to compile a 69 and he posted his 207 total, three under par on the soaked and soggy Atlanta Athletic course in complete dark-

Rookie pro Jerry Pate, who engineered a four stroke swing on the leader with an eagle three, moved into second place with a second consecutive 69 that put him at 209, the only other score under par after three rounds.

Responding to fireworks and chants of "May-hee-CO! ... May-hee-CO," he appeared to be as much as Arguello could handle. Alexis, a year older and ring-wiser at 24, opened the second round with a heavy flurry, hoping to seize the initiative.

It didn't work, so Arguello knew he would have to win this one the hard way—in wild-swinging, tae-to-toe exchanges.

First baseman Mike Carpenter collected four singles, stole two bases and batted in a run while third baseman Kevin Miller drove in a pair of runs as the Long Beach Cardinals ran their unbeaten record to 5-0 by defeating Douglas Jets, 4-1, Saturday night in Connie Mack League play at Blair Field.

had sold Catfish Hunter and Sparky Lyle for $1 million each. Suppose the Yankees had sold Chris Chambliss and Thurman Munson. There would be agonized screams demanding that the commissioner do something. mebody, do something

If the Red Sox were to sell Fred Lynn and Carlton Fisk and Carl Yastrzemski, oh the roar along the Charles River! The celebration Bicentennial would become a demonstration.

The views of Charley Finley, of the Yankee and Boston fan, of the players, of Marvin Miller, are highly subjective views. They speak in terms only for what benefits them. Identically, Billy Martin, Yankee manager, who popped off about his loss of Vida Blue, is not the most objective man in the world to seek out for comment this issue. The real Billy Martin would say, "I don't need Vida Blue, I can win this pennant with my brainpower."

The objective view is this: It is obviously wrong to strip a franchise. It is obviously wrong to win a pennant with a checkbook.

If Finley, and the Yankees and the Red Sox think more of baseball than of themselves, they will not go to court. They will use this time, instead, toward the reconstruction of a reserve system. Only then will the commissioner's decision of Friday have true meaning. He among them has no axe to grind.

Charley Finley has called Bowie Kuhn insulting names in public and should be fined. Billy Martin has been excessibly critical of the commissioner, and should be fined. Catfish Hunter has been insulting to the commissioner and should be fined.

Bowie Kuhn has acted morally, in the best interests of fans everywhere, in the best interests of baseball. He has acted with strength. He has become truly a commissioner, not a yes man comfortably collecting his huge salary, taking the easy way out. I applaud him for it, and so should all fans, all owners, all objective newspaper-

These were the first Angel homers at the Big A since May 15 — 12 games ago — and the first time they've drilled three in one game at home since July 28, 1974.

The three blasts, all off loser Rick Wise, gave them 22 for the year, just one shy of major league leader Dave Kingman. For Jones, the 26-year-old outfielder acquired from the Texas organiza-tion last month, the home runs were his first in the

'A big thrill," he said, not unexpectedly. "I just hope I can come around and do it more often," he added, obviously in reference to his .170 batting average at game time.

"I wasn't looking for a home run," Jones said of his first homer which tied the game at 2-2 in the fifth inning. "In fact, I didn't think it was going out. But I had the feeling the second one was gone.

Bruce Bochte was on base each time Jones connected and enjoyed a 3-for-3 evening.

"I guess we ruined the headlines for tomorrow," Bochte ribbed members of the media. "I know you guys were all ready to say 'Angel wives win, hus-bands lose.'"

The wives beat KMPC personalities in a pre-game show and the hubbies picked up the cue.

Ryan's 15 strikeouts enabled him to take over the major league lead from teammate Frank Tanana. Ryan now owns 128, five more than Tanana. "I was just hoping for six or seven good innings when I came to the park" when I came to the park, Ryan said. "That was about as far as I felt I could go."

Ryan said that on one occasion, when he chased down Fred Lynn's infield tapper in the eighth inning, he felt very faint.

Immediately after the game Ryan accepted a flu shot from team physician Dr. Jules Rasinski, was told to take a couple of asprin and drink a lot of

Against the Bosox, Ryan dispensed asprins, baseball lexicon for sheer speed.

"My velocity was as good tonight as it has been all year," he said.

Rvan's strong effort came three days after a brilliant two-hit shutout against Milwaukee and his record today is 6-7, not something to boast about but a vast improvement on previous outings.

While the Olympians' performances were expected, St. Pauls' triumph over a defending champion Zlac Rowing Club team of Mission Bay was somewhat of a surprise. . . to some.

"Based on practice times I thought on Wednesday that we were capable of this," St. Pauls coach David Harmon disclossed after watching his youngsters cover 1,000 meters in a quick 3:27.9. The Zlac boat was second in 3:33.5.

The triumph was a culmination of three outstanding years for the all-senior St. Paul's team, which as a prep school, had girls from all over the country in its boat.

They rowed together for the last time Saturday and made it a fitting swan song, adding the national title to the three consecutive New England champion ships they own. In those three years the St. Pauls girls were beaten only once, by a women's team from Dartmouth University. The team, which lived at Long Beach State and trained solely for this race the past week, consisted of coxswain Ann Jenkins, Jerry Stone, Pam Berry,

Penelope Place, Jen Chardon, Carla Drewson, Cindy Wondolowski, Marny Kittredge and Tilda Essig. Jenkins is from Oregon, Stone, Place and Won-

The Long Beach Rowing Association also did well Saturday, winning the lightweight quad with a team of Morepo, Jill McIntire, Winnie Rich, Kim Bloomfield and Nancy Gauzewite, and the open pairs, with Olympians Schneider and Hansen holding off the College Boat Club team of Barbara Hills and Lisa Rhodie.

Saturday's other small boat winners were Donna Russell and Coleen Fuerst of the College Boat Club in the lightweight pairs; Barbara Beaudette of Zlac RC in the lightweight wherry and Catalina Topaga of Competition has also kept Karen Moe Thornton swimming at age 23. She'll be the "old lady" of the U.S. women's team in Montreal next month, looking for another gold medal and a chance to better her Olympic 200-butterfly record (2:75.57).

The UCLA graduate student was well under it in lowering the American standard to 2:14.23. An April bride, she said marriage and swimming are working well together.

"I like being married, loving someone and having someone love me. It puts things in perspective. He's always there to comfort me in defeat, congratulate me in victory or boost my confidence."

surprises on this first of eight days of the trials with such top names qualifying as sprinters Harvey Glance, Steve Riddick, Houston McTear and Reggie Jones, intermediate hurdlers Jim Bolding, Ralph Mann and Ed Moses, and 800-meter specialists Rick Wohlhuter.

Wohlhuter had the finest performance of the day with a fast 1:46.02 to advance to the semifinals on Monday. It was the second fast heat time ever recorded. The fastest was 1:45.9 by Mike Boit of Kenya in the 1972 Olympic Games semifinals Miss McMillan said later she had a slightly pulled hamstring muscle and vowed to win the gold medal if it heals by the time the women's long jump final is held July 23

Saturday's first session was mostly qualifying, and the final event, the 10,000-meter run, produced four fast times for a qualifying race.

Lo, the hammer thrower -lonely, but dangerous

"Everyone who's in sports has an ego. They like the crowd and to be appreciated for what they do. That's one thing you don't have in the hammer." — Larry

Like Bigfoot, they are seldom seen, regarded either as a curiosity or a nuisance and invariably leave their tracks behind.

See the small, cereal-bowl sized craters pocking the college's intramural field? Ah, the hammer throwers have been here.

Twirling a 16-pound lead ball on a four-foot wire, they are at once maligned, misunderstood and ignored, practitioners of a primitive art, the scourge of groundskeepers, a soccer player's sprained ankle and the loneliest men in track and field.

"It's always a hassle," says Larry Hart, whom almost nobody knows as one of America's leading hammer throwers. "People don't want it in the meets because they're afraid somebody is going to get hurt; or it's going to wreck the field. You're really sort of

LONG BEACH can boast of many famous athletes but Hart, a former Army captain out of West Point, is not yet among them, although he will go to the U.S. Olympic Trials at Eugene, Ore., Monday with expectations of representing his country at Montreal.

Although he has not yet achieved the Olympic qualifying standard of 225 feet, 4½ inches—only one American, Bill Diehl, has—Hart beat Diehl by more than five feet with his lifetime-best throw of 225-10 to win the National AAU title at UCLA last weekend.

"I can usually add five, six, seven feet in a meet because I get psyched up and maybe rest more before," Hart says. "I use the pressure of the competition to Improve my performance. I like the pressure."

In the same meet, world record holder Mac Wilkins uncorked the best discus series ever, but he enjoyed the advantage of performing directly in front of the specta-tors. Hart and the other hammermen were almost out of sight over on the intramural field.

"Mac was using the crowd." Hart says. "It's neat to be centerstage in anything. Everyone who's in sports has an ego. They like the crowd and to be appreciated for what they do. That's something you don't have in the

"But I enjoy throwing, being outside, and the people that are there—the other athletes, some fans, there were 50 or so at UCLA—find it fascinating. I think it's really a faccinating event."

FOR A MOMENT, Larry is thinking like a promot-

"The reason hockey is so popular is because of the violence," he says. "Maybe they could use that idea in the hammer. I wouldn't ever want to hurt anybody, but that possibility always exists.

Because of that possibility, as well as the inevitable divots in the landscape, hammer throwers have trouble finding places not only to compete but to practice. That's why Hart, 28, lives in Long Beach with his wife Marilyn and 7-month-old son, Casey. He works for the Port of Long Beach as a civil engineer assistant in cost

While stationed at Fort MacArthur with the Army track learn, he discovered that most of the Southland's hammer throwers, as few as they may be, work out on

"I wanted to continue throwing." Larry says, "and Long Beach is the only place I've found where it's not a

BUT EVEN when they find a place to practice,

there is nobody to coach them.

"I don't feel anyone in this country really knows the proper way to throw the hammer," Hart says, "because it's so technical. Simple, but technical."

Apparently, the Russians and Germans are far ahead in developing the event.

"I think they must be," Larry says, "because a lot of them are throwing in the 250 range. But our shotputters are better, our discus throwers are better, so how do you explain that their hammer throwers are much better?"

Lawrence Thomas Hart does not delude himself into believing he has a chance for an Olympic medal. The Russians have put the hammer right up there with the Hart once competed against West Germany's Walter Schmidt, who has been credited unofficially with a heave of 260 feet.

"I didn't think his technique was much different than mine—but he threw 249 and I threw 218."

HART HAD a lot of time to think about it when he was in Vietnam in 1969-70, serving part of his mandatory five years active duty after graduation from West Point. He was one of a group of four advisors to a South Vietnamese infantry battalion, whose mission was more pacification than combat.

"My battalion wasn't too interested in getting in-ed," Larry says. "They thought as long as the volved,"

RICH ROBERTS

Americans were there, let the Americans do the fighting. I could see their position. They'd been fighting the war for 10 years, while the American's tour was one year. I wasn't in favor of the war, anyway."

Generally, Larry found it no more dangerous than

standing around hammer throwers.

There were a lot of booby traps, but we walked in the middle of the column with the Vietnamese officers, so it was usually the guys in the front that got it.
"One time it was kind of a bad scene. There were ome rounds coming in and I jumped in a foxhole that had filled up with water. That was a miserable night, but that's the only time we had contact with the enemy.

HART, 6-2 and 220, was a state shotput champion in Hinsdale, Ill., but was recruited to West Point as a football player by Paul Dietzel, then the coach.
"When I got there, Dietzel insisted that the football players go out for spring football, and I wanted to keep competing in track, so .

Even then, he was discouraged from attempting the "Back East it's in all the college meets." Larry says, "but when I wanted to do it as a freshman, my coach said, 'Just stick with the shot and discus.' "So I practiced on my own-in secret, almost. At the end of practice when the coach was off, I'd go over and take a few throws." Hart failed to qualify for the '72 Olympic team because "I got a lot of advice that didn't work."

This year he has progressed enough to rate as one of the top two or three favorites.

"I decided to stick with what I thought was the right thing," he says. "I'm sure it's not the right thing. I'm sure I could throw a lot farther if I knew what the proper technique was.

"Unless I can find out somehow what the Europeans are doing, I don't see how I can improve a whole lot more . . . and I don't want to keep throwing if I can't continue to improve."

Longshot Lutz feels he has a chance in the 200

Mark Lutz, the young man who defeated the Russian Olympic sprint champion two years ago, leaves Long Beach today for the U.S. Olympic track trials in Eugene, Ore., with the feeling that he has two strikes against him with two out in the bottom of the ninth.

He is strictly a darkhorse in a highly competitive 200 meter field. On the other hand, his bride of five months - Francie Larrieu, America's foremost distaff distance runner — is considered a cinch in the 1,500 meters and is given a shot at the gold medal next month in Montreal.

The combination of those two factors would plunge most persons into a fit of depression, but the 24-year-old Pacific Coast Club of Longg Beach com-petitor has mapped counteracting strategy.

"I REALIZE that I'm a longshot when I look at the other contenders, but I definitely feel that I have whose 200-meter trials are scheduled Monday and

"Here's why. I've raced against all the other top sprinters except Steve Williams and Harvey Glance, and I've been competitive. I have as much chance as anyone

"What will work to my advantage is that most of the others will be in the 100 meter trials Saturday and Sunday, and they will have four hard races. If they double for the 200 meters, they will be a little weakened. Also, some of those who qualify for the team in the 100 may not try for the 200.

Both these considerations enhance my chances. "Everybody considers me the weaker of the Larrieu-Lutz entry, but that doesn't bother me because Francie is so great. What I want is for us to be the second husband and wife team (the Connollys were first) to be on the U.S. Olympic team.

"A lot of things could come out of that. Commercials, endorsements, things like that. You don't get any other compensation out of track, so you have to look ahead to other things."

THE YEAR 1974 was a very good one for Mark. His University of Kansas440-yard relay team won the NCAA title and he beat Olympic champion Valeriy Borzov in a U.S.-Russia meet in North Carolina.

"I realize Borzov wasn't in prime shape then, but he was—and still is—the Olympic champion. When you beat the best man, you've got to feel good," remarked

Lutz.

There was one very bad moment, though, when Mark and a couple teammates were tossed off the Kansas team temporarily for smoking funny cigarettes.

"Kansas might be the only campus in the country where so much would have been made of smoking marijuana," snorted Tom Jennings, the PCC coach who recruited the Minnesota native out of Kansas when Mark finished there in '74.

I hope nobody in Kansas is alarmed that Mark shares his Long Beach apartment with a woman. It's all legal, you know.

THE MARRIAGE of Lutz and Jennings started on a rocky note.

"It took Mark a little while to get adjusted to California and the year-round training, and he had a poor season in '75," said Tom, whose PCC team is an elite group of 20 stars, 12 of whom are projected as Olympians (as Francie) and eight others, such as Mark, who have a shot.

But currently he is in very good condition; in fact.

the best shape he has ever been in. Mark had equal admiration for Jennings.
"Tom has taken good care of me and I've been in a lot of competitions that I otherwise wouldn't have been in," explained Lutz. "He took me right out of college and put me in meets.

'He'd be the first to admit that he's not really a coach, but as a manager and businessman, he's the greatest.

LOOKING BACK, Mark believes his career would have skyrocketed faster if he had the opportunity to live in California, instead of Minnesota and Kansas.

"I had two good years at Kansas, but in the back of my mind I think I would have performed better here,' he said. "I raced a lot indoors at Kansas and I've come to believe it's better never to run indoors.

T've become totally 'Californianized' now. It was — Staff photo by TOM SHAW in the 50s and raining one day here, and I thought it was terrible. I was in Rochester (Minn.) for two weeks around Christmas, and hardly went outside. I can't stand the cold weather anymore. No way I'd go back to Minnesota or Kansas; the weather there is too erratic."

FRANCIE AND MARK...2nd honeymoon in Montreal?

HIS TRAINING this year with UCLA coach Jim Bush snapped him out of his lethargy, Lutz claims.
"Jim Bush is by far the best 440 coach in the country and that's what I've been working on. I've run Bush's 440 program all year. Lately I've been dropping down and doing speed work, and the combination of both should have me in top shape for the trials in Oregon.

"I had a very bad season last year for a variety of reasons. It was my first year out of college and I was trying to coach myself. Then, I was far too many meets and got discouraged at my sinking performances. I laid off for two months after the summer meets in Europe, and things got better.

"I cut down on my number of competitions—from 40 in '75 to eight this year. I've been in only one indoor meet-Bush doesn't believe in sprinters running on those indoor ovals.'

JENNINGS AND Lutz are in slight disagreement about the marriage factor as motivation for the Larrieu-Lutz combine.

Their marriage has motivated Mark and Francie even more to make the Olympic team," claimed Tom, 'Marriage has helped me. I'm a person who has to be in a routine," acknowledged Mark. "I'm not living in a suitcase as I did before. I'm more secure now.

"As for actual motivation since being married, there has been a little bit more, but not too much. I'd known Francie for a long time, so it wasn't like suddenly being together with a stranger. I never get any pressure from her, either. She doesn't say, 'You have to make the Olympic team,' or things like that.

"What is a deep motivation for me is that I'm at a peak period right now — 23, 24, 25 years old is when most sprinters are at their best. After that, you start burning out. I may go on for another two years, but the 1980 Olympics are definitely out for me."

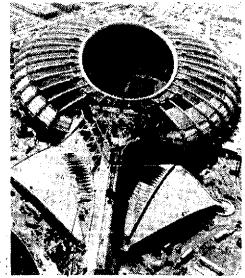

LUTZ IS constantly being reminded that he's the "white hope" of sprinters, but he underplays this think-

"I try not to make that a big deal, although I realize that a lot of people are talking that way. What really matters to me only is how well I run.

"I must be mentally ready for the trials because I'm an underdog. Two weeks ago in Wichita I felt that I was really ready, but the last two weeks I've been wondering.

"I've got to put those negative feelings out of my mind. If I don't make the Olympic team, it won't be the end of my life. I've got to look at it realistically. There are some pretty good men running against me. It would be something, though, if Francie and 1 could make the Olympic team. Mr. and Mrs. Larrieu-Lutz would never forget it.

Taking shape

Olympic Park at Montreal, site of the track and field events for the 19th Olympic Games, was little more than a shell four months ago, but "could host the Games today, if necessary," says Lionel Reeves, a major engineer on the project.

'We'll get 'er done' Olympic refrain:

By GORDON VERRELL Staff Writer

MONTREAL—Four years ago, when Montreal successfully bid for the 1976 Summer Olympics, the city fathers promised everything would be ready, that there was nothing to worry about.

Since then progressive Mayor Jean Drapeau, the No. 1 supporter behind the Olympic bandwagon, has had plenty to worry about—mainly who's going to pick up the tab on the expected deficit of $1.1 billion. But, as the mayor promised, Olympic Park—the 70,000-seat Olympic Stadium, the 9,200-seat Velodrome and the Olympic Village that will house 8,000 athletes—will be ready to go Saturday, July 17, for the opening ceremonies.

Oh, there will be some rough edges. Nothing the magnitude of the Olympic Games escapes all the

The major problem, aside from the construction, is obvious: security. The Organizing Committee has gone to drastic extremes to avoid a repeat of the Munich tragedy.

So drastic, in fact, that Canada will provide more armed forces personnel than it did for the Korean War. There will be more than 5,600 combat troops with another 3,350 in support.

In all, the security forces will out-number the athletes. 16,000 to 12,000. Security at the Games' site, even today, is tight.

A visitor doesn't just drive up to the stadium. park his car and look over the construction. He must be cleared by the publicity people, is handed a hard hat and provided with a guide. But it is a marvelous setting, the only thing that still appears tacking is landscaping-and that's going in now—and the cleaning up.

"Everyone who has seen it has come away said our French-speaking guide, obviously proud of this magnificent project.

Our guide wasn't the only one proud of the accompishment. The carpenters, painters, electricians . . . everyone involved in the construction . . . appeared pleased to be a part of something so vast as the Olympic Games.

One reason, of course, is the fact that some of 3,500 workers, figuring overtime and all, are averaging $1,200-$1,500 per week, some of them for as long

In just a few weeks the site has improved from what one member of the media described as "an obstacle course" to something close to reality

"I can promise you that it will be finished," Lionel Reeves, the assistant to the general engineer for construction, announced for probably the umpteenth time. "In some areas there will be bare concrete, but these will be in areas not needed for the Games. In the essential areas we are actually ahead of schedule.

"I can show you pictures taken in the fall of 1974" where there was nothing here but 36 holes in the . ground. Then we had a four-month strike, which means we really didn't get started on the actual construction until May of 1975. Considering what we've accomplished since then, the rest should be

Reeves said he wasn't certain of the final cost. figures, but he did say, "I'd guess it would come to around $800 million. The $1.1 billion that has mentioned would be for everything. But what choice do we have. We have to be done on time.

One thing that definitely won't be completed is the retractable roof on the stadium. But the baseball Expos and the football Alouettes, who will be the major tenants in the stadium following the Games (the Expos not until the 1977 season), insist that the roof will be completed at a later date.

"Right now." says Reeves, "our primary concern is the Games."

At that moment a truck driver climbed out of the cab of his truck, greeted Reeves and his guests-smiling, of course—and shouted, "Tell 'em there's nothing to worry about. Mr. Reeves. We'll get 'er

A walk to Cey followed by singles by Buckner and By ker filled the bases. Sounhouse then walked Chuz to force in a run.

That was the whole show offensively.

It was enough for seven inhings as John, who went the distance against the Expos last Sunday in Dedger Stadium, allowed only three singles and appeared headed for his first statuot in two years.

That hope vanished in the eighth when Jim Cox dimped a single into center, deep enough to score prich runner Jim Lyttle, who was running for Tim Foli.

The Expos then won it ing the ninth against "A guy can't pitch any better than that," pitching coach Red Adams said of John.

Nohn agreed. For everything—my control, movement of the ball, keeping the ball down all day—it was the best I've pitched," said Mr.

Comeback. "Really, it's a shame not winning a game like that. It's especially tough since the ball Cox hit to tie the game was a perfect pilch. He hit it off the end of his bat. If he doesn't hit it, it goes in the dirt."

On the dismal offensive backing he received, John shrugged his shoulders and said: "You can't pitch according to the other gdy. It's like playing golf. You play the course, not the other guys. I just have to go out and pitch against the Montreal Expos, or whoever it might be, and not worry if the other guy is throwing nothing but zeroes."

Zero pretty well sums up the Dodger attack of

on the current trip the Dodgers are 2-3, losing by scores of 2-1, 1-0 and 2-1. Steve Yeager got one of the Dodgers' hits, a single, but also grounded into a double play with the bases loaded (after Cruz walked) and flied out in the ninth with a runner on second. Yeager, now hitting .226 after a high of .290 just three weeks ago, has only one hit in his last 20 at bats and two in his last 27.

Baker, expected to pro-duce runs, hasn't. He has just three RBIs in the month of June, seven since May 12 and none in the last five games.

'So it's been the pitching, off-form a month ago but sharp now, that's kept the Dodgers in the hunt.

Nine horses have been entered in today's $250,000 Hollywood Gold Cup, but because of a strange quirk there will be only five wagering interests.

Ancient Title is the overnight favorite at 7-5, but the "five-horse "Charlie Whittingham" entry has been established as second choice at 8-5.

The "Whittingham" entry consists of Dahlia, Riot In Paris, Mateor, Top Command and Our Talisman. Whittingham actually trains the first four, but because one of Top Command's owners (Wayne Murty) also part owner of Our Talisman (trained by Bobby Frankel), racing rules stipulate that all five must run as one entry, although she never has won a race on the dirt. . and today's 1%-mile classic will be on the dirt. In her most recent outing, Dahlia defeated the nation's finest turf runners in the $200,000 Invitational.

Another millionaire, Foolish Pleasure ($1,052,853) finished third in his Western debut two weeks ago, but many think he was using the chase merely as a tuneup for today's event.

Avatar might be the overlay of the afternoon. He showed a return to form last week, defeating allowance foes handily, and appears right on training schedule for

The race may hinge around Our Talisman, who was sold to new ownership Tuesday and now is in Frankel's capable hands. Our Talisman clocked the fastest mile and 1/16 of the meeting in his last start and figures to lead the pack today for as far as he can run.

Riot In Paris and Pay Tribute also would seem to merit some support, although the latter may be hand-icapped by the distance. Top Command and Mateor, the latter a surprise entrant, appear outclassed.

Since there will be only five wagering interests, the track has received permission from the California Race Board to hold exacta wagering on the Gold Cup.

Hollywood Park's top crowd of the season was the 56.806 that witnessed the Turf Invitational on Memorial Day, but officials expect that mark to tumble today. Apparently a lot of the $2 bettors want to take advantage of the five-horse entry to make "cinch" show

In addition to seeing a brilliant field of handicap stars in the Gold Cup—the entrants boast cumulative earnings of $4.7 million and have accounted for 52 stakes victories—fans today will be trying to win $31,000 Sunday Sweep prize money.

That amount will definitely be given away, to the person or persons selecting the most consecutive winners, beginning with the first race.

In the $54,800 Wilshire Handicap Saturday at Hollypark, Miss Toshiba took the lead in the stretch and held on to take a three-quarter length victory over Charger's Star.

Miss Toshiba, the 2-1 favorite, was ridden by Fernando Toro and covered the 11/8-mile turf course in

1:491/6. She returned $6.20, $4.40 and $3. Charger's Star rewarded backers with payoffs of $10.40 and $4.80 and Swingtime paid $2.60 to show

Miss Toshiba, who raced all last year in Europe, showed no speed at the start but moved up in between horses in the far turn to challenge along the inside.

Jockey Darrell McHargue rode Colt Savage and Venture's Gain to victories in both ends of the daily double for a $45,60 payoff.

DONNELL CULPEPPER

Albacore season prospect bright

Prospects for albacore fishing off Southern and Central California are far brighter this year than in 1975. The National Marine Fisheries Service predicts that approximately 50 per cent of the total catch along the Pacific Coast this year will be taken in waters south of San Francisco.

Last year, only 30 per cent of the catch, both for commercials and sportfishermen, was taken south of San Francisco. Seventy per cent of the catch was made from waters in the Pacific Northwest.

Also, the NMFS and a cooperating group, American Fishermen Research Foundation, say that the catch off Southern California will be earlier this year. Fishing off Central Califonria may come a bit later, and fishermen in the Pacific Northwest, mostly commercials, will have an even later season.

This good news comes from the NMFS at La Jolla. and the predictions already are borne out by recent catches as close as 70 miles southwest of San Diego. The NMFS and the AFRF have had prospecting vessels far out in the Pacific and south to Guadalupe Island since early May. While the results of such scouting are invaluable for commercial fishery, they also are made for the benefit of the sportfishermen.

The first catches actually were made by prospecting jigboats May 24 330 miles west-southwest of San Diego. However, two small jigboats not under contract to the NMFS had caught albacore as early as mid-February south of Guadalupe Island.

MOST OF THE CATCHES by those prospecting boats ranged in weight from 7 to 16 pounds, and numer-ous fish were tagged. The yellow plastic tags are worth $2 each if returned to the NMFS (address is on the tag) or the AFRF, 5055 N. Harbor Dr., San Diego. Write where, when and how the fish was caught and give the length (tip of lower jaw to fork of tail) when you send the tag. The AFRF plans to award cash prizes for the numbers drawn in an annual lottery.

Daily broadcasts of albacore fishing information prepared by the NMFS will be transmitted over marine radio bands starting July 12 and extending to Oct. 31, or until the season ends. One band, WWD (La Jolia) will be utilized in the south. It will be on SSB carrier frequencies 4409.4, 8789.6 and 12424 kHz at 0615 and 1745 Pacific daylight time on weekdays and 0815 on Saturdays.

The albacore catch may be rather uncertain for the remainder of this month. Yet, there was encouraging news from the San Diego sportfishing docks Thursday. Two boats were sent out to the southwest and 22 anglers caught 79 albacore in an area about 70 miles from Point

SKIPPERS OF THE TWO BOATS reported that they had seen fish on the way home. There were schools of roaming albacore as near as 60 and 65 miles from Point Loma. As, always, the albacore reports came from various sources. One private boat was reported to have caught two or three fish on the 60-Mile Bank. That would place the fish closer to Long Beach.

Eddie McEwen, skipper of the Pacific Queen out of Fisherman's Landing, San Diego, and known to hun-dreds of salt-water fishermen in Long Beach, called Friday night to report that he was starting runs to the banks where the albacore are reported to be schooling.

We are entering that period when the moon is dark and many anglers go on the theory that such a time is when they should fish for anything.

McEwen reported that bait conditions were not, good at San Diego and as a result, the yellowtail count was a such a such as the fact that their are many around was down despite the fact that there are many around the Coronado Islands. Squid has been in short supply and most of the successful yellowtail anglers have been

Eddie also said that the albacore were on two courses from Point Loma — 160 and 185 degrees.

A RECENT ADDITION to my library is The Rapala Fishing Guide, available now at $2.75 from the Normark Corporation, 1710 E. 78th St., Minneapolis, Minn. 55423. In this paperbound volume, the professionals tell how to catch fish, with Rapala lures naturally, and I was tempted to toss it to one side until I thumbed through it and found a chapter about fishing in Baja and California waters by Jed Welsh.

Yessir, my longtime friend Jed has taken time out from his fishing to become an author, and he has done a fine job. In a precede to the chapter, the book's editor poses this question: "To whom would one turn as the best source of 'one-stop' fishing information about the West Coast-from San Francisco to the Baja Peninsula by way of inland trout streams and lunker largemouth im-poundments?" And the answer: "Indubitably, Jed Welsh!"

USC expanding program for women

By ELAINE RISINGER Staff Writer

In probably no area of women's sports has there been greater growth in recent years than in scholar-ship opportunities.

Talented young athletes, who would have been by-passed before the advent of Title IX, are now get-ting a cut of the grants-in-aid pie that previously benefited only men.

Consider USC, Granted,
their scholarship program for women doesn't compare with the men's, but it's on the board and it's growing. Barbara Hedges, director of women's athletics, puts it simply, We're continuing to develop more opportunities for women.

In financial terms this means the addition of 10 full scholarships this fall bringing the total to 35. "These are mostly tuition scholarships with subsistence payments for a few," Barbara said.
Since students from Los Angeles and Orange Counties dominate school enrollment, most of these are going to area women.

A New York astrologer predicted that Chris Evert 'shock'' tennis fans by withdrawing from com-petition at Wimbledon this month and that Martina Navratilova will win the tournament.

Richard Hannemann, who charted the lives of six prominent women tennis players, called this a "crisis year" for Evert.

Sagittarian with

Bobby Van's game for anything as TV performer

ŤŸ-Radio Editor

V is for versatile and V is for Van, and in Bobby Van you've got one of the most versatile performers in show busi-

Singer ... dancer ... comedian ... actor ... musician ... emcee — Bobby's all of 'em.

He has starred in movies, on the Broadway stage, on the nightclub circuit and on television.

As they say in the sports world, he does it all.

Imagine my surprise, then, when he told me, in reply to a question, that there are times when he wishes he had gone into another line of work because of the insecurities in show business.

Why, if you or I had one-tenth of his talents we'd probably feel we had the world by the tail!

He did concede, however, that he has more going for him than someone who is strictly an actor.

Said Bobby: "I've never known an actor who didn't feel insecure. Even when they're working, they're worried that the beautiful feel in the said of the where their next job is coming from - or if they'll ever get another job.

"And even if you've got a big name, you never get over the insecurities you felt when you were trying to get started in the business."

BUT DON'T get Bobby wrong - he loves showbiz.

"I've always looked upon my career as a lifelong vacation," he said: "I'm getting paid for doing something I truly love, and I want to share that feeling with every member of the audience."

At present, he is sharing that feeling with the studie audience and television with the studio audience and television viewers across the country as host of NBC's new daytime series, "The Fun Factory," which airs weekdays at 11 a.m. on Channel 4.

The series reached the air - finally - last Monday. It originally was scheduled to start on April 12 (several shows had already been taped), but a technicians' strike against NBC, now settled, caused a two-month delay.

Van told me a bit about the show the other day at lunch in the Polo Lounge of the Beverly Hills Hotel, which isn't far from where he lives with his wife, singerdancer-actress-comedienne Elaine Joyce.

"You can't call it just a game show." An appearance at New York's Strand he said. "Well; it is a game show but it "Theater on the same bill with Tommy also is much more than that. It's something different. It's a combination variety show, game show, audience participation show. We offer singing, dancing and comedy sketches — we have a regular group of improvisational players — as well as audience competition for prizes.

"Everyone in the audience is a potential contestant, and the participants aren't selected in advance. I choose the contestants as I go out in the audience, and the questions are tied in with the songs and comedy bits we do.

We have a lot of fun, and I just wish everyone could be a winner — after all, I'm not paying for the prizes."

"THE FUN FACTORY" is the second TV game show Van has hosted. Last fall, he was the emcee on ABC's "Showoffs."

It didn't last beyond midseason, but it helped land Bobby his current job. "An NBC executive saw me on 'Showoffs.' he said. "The network was looking for someone who was very loose, a bit of a comedian, who could also sing and dance. I guess I fit the bill."

The slender 6-footer, who grew up in New York's Bronx, started learning the many facets of show business as a youngster. Both parents were vaudeville performers — his father, Henry King, was a dancer and his mother, Mina-Ann, was a singer-comedienne.

Bobby attended the New York School for the Performing Arts, and his first ambition was to be a musician. He studied trumpet, cello and piano as a youngster and, at night, studied composing and arranging at the New York College of Music. By age 14, he had a four-piece band and received $19 a week in the summer playing at the Lakeview Hotel in New York's Catskill Mountains.

As a young teen ager, he also started performing as a comedian and, later, as a singer and dancer in clubs and theaa singer and dancer in clues and thea-ters. He used a number of different last names, he pointed out, "because if you flopped at one place, you couldn't get another booking with the same name." Once, in Providence, R.I., he used the name "Bobby Van" after spotting a pic-ture of actor Van Johnson. He clicked with the audience, and has been using the with the audience, and has been using the name ever since.

BOBBY VAN . . . fun and games in the morning

Dorsey's band led to regular TV appearances on "Your Show of Shows" and a movie contract with MGM.

THE STILL YOUTHFUL looking performer appeared in films with stars like Mario Lanza, Jane Powell, Esther Wil-liams, Debbie Reynolds, Kathryn Gray-son and Ann Miller in the early 1950s, in son and Ann Miller in the early 1950s, in the era of the big MGM musicals. His movies included "Because You're Mine," "Small Town Girl," "Kiss Me Kate," "Skirts Aboy" and "The Affairs of Dobie Gillis," in which he played the title role. He's featured in a solo dance number from "Small Town Girl" in "That's Entertainment, Part II," which is now playing in theaters across the country.

Horizon," but most of his work over the years has been in television, in nighiclubs

and on the stage. A highlight was his 2 ½-year run on Broadway in "No, No Nanette," for which he received a Tony nomination in 1973 in the role of Billy Early. His latest Broadway performance came in "Dr. Jazz." He recently had to turn down a call to replace Edward Villella in the title role of the "Pal Joey" revival in New York because of his "Fun Factory" com-

Since 1968, Van has been married to the multitalented Elaine Joyce, who played Marsha on NBC's "City of Angels" this season and is a panelist on CBS' summer season revival of "I've Got a Secret."

Bobby and Elaine are expecting their first child soon, and what do you want to bet the kid won't want to go into showbiz one of these days?

Mom, and Dad, probably, wouldn't have it any other way.

ABC-TV's willingness to pay Barbara Walters $1 million a year to report the news merely goes to show once again that television, like other entertainment media, plays by the rules of supply and demand.

Demand personalities who can draw audiences seems almost always to be greater than supply. And the rewards are handsome, very handsome. A sampling of approximate salaries paid to TV's biggest stars, based on published re-

Lindsay Wagner ("The Bionic Woman"), Lee Majors ("The Six Million Dollar Man") and Valerie Harper ("Rhoda") get about $17,500 per show.

And the three networks1 evening news anchormen - Walter Cronkite, John Chancellor and Harry Reasoner - are said to earn about $400,000 a year.

WHAT DO THEY do that is worth so much money? That really isn't the point, Walter Cronkite argued recently. Addressing himself to whether Barbara Walters merits $1 million a year, he said:

"Compared to what? Compared to a school teacher? Certainly not. Compared to any rock 'n' roll singer? I'd say certainly yes. It is a marketplace situation. If she can get a million dollars from

That was the reasoning Miss Walters used in justifying her contract. But why do ABC, NBC and CBS consider these people worth so much?

THAT WIDELY held viewpoint, which also crops up in the news operation, must be considered in conjunction with the fact that network television is played for profits. Huge profits.

The networks make money by selling time to advertisers. The time is not sold at fixed rates; rather it is sold on the basis of a program's ratings - how many homes it is reaching. A hit show, whether it's a news or entertainment program, brings in more money and thus the network has an economic stake in it.

"Once an actor has become the center of a television series, he is in effect nonreplaceable, indispensable," said a producer who deals with several high-salaried stars. "That is generally true, although there are some exceptions. But when a show is called "Kojak" and it's getting big ratings and they're written all over a bald head, you don't casually say, 'He's getting to be a pain in the neck with the money, let's get Harry

THERE IS considerable debate over the propriety of paying anyone so much money - just as there is in motion pictures (Steve McQueen, Robert Redford. Dustin Hoffman, Paul Newman and Barbra Streisand all command $1 million per film), rock music (Neil Diamond is being paid $500,000 for three concerts in Las Vegas) and professional athletics.

But there are no indications the trend toward bigger salaries is going to tickets, or, in the case of television, tuning in and jacking up the ratings.

"That's the basis of our whole way of living in this country," Samuels said. We went for the moon and we hit it."

But on the other hand, writer-producer Levinson, while not disparaging any particular performer, speaks for a lot of people when he complains:

"When an actor or a baseball player makes more than a teacher or the president of the United States, it's obvious a greater premium is placed on entertainment than almost anything else.

"It's a little paradoxical that we send our children to a teacher who makes 10 or 15 grand a year and then won't let them watch a violent TV show on which the star is making $5,000 or $10,000 a week.

Lynde still hoping for situation comedy Would You Believe? STRATOLOUNGER RECLINER! By JIM O'BRIEN Ridder News Service PHILADELPHIA

How does it feel to be called the funniest man in America?

"Terrible!" said Paul Lynde, during a recent telephone interview.

"Imagine what it's like stepping on stage after an introduction like that," Lynde said in reference to the "funniest man" billing. "It puts a lot of pressure on a performer."

The comedy star of "Hollywood Squares" recently taped his 2.750th show in that popular game series. Lynde acknowledges it has been "fantas-tic" for his career.

However, he's not enjoying the show as much as in the past.

'It's changed, you know. It's less of a game show. The questions used to be more informative and now they're innocuous," Lynde observed.

I suggested that the producers were probably aiming for more laughs and less information, and he agreed.

DESPITE the fame it has brought him, Lynde sounded like a man somewhat tired of television at least for a while.

"After I finish the summer tour and do another special for ABC I want to take a long rest.'

Lynde's reference to the special led me to ask him what happened to plans for a weekly variety series on ABC.

"I wouldn't do one. I only know of one person who is happy in that line of work and that's Carol Burnett.

"CAROL'S show could go on forever because she has that great production I could put together an organization like that I'd weekly grind.'

Despite his disappoint-

New neighbors for Mr. Rogers

By D. BYRON YAKE Associated Press

PITTSBURGH - The residents of Mister Rogers' Neighborhood will be getting older, much older, if a proposed new public television series gets off the ground.

With his long-running children's program, "Mister Rogers' Neighbor-hood," now in reruns, Fred M. Rogers will shed his title "Mister" as host of the new program, "Old Friends, New Friends," which will be aimed at retired persons.

Yet the producer of the proposed series sees a direct relationship between it and Rogers' old show, which was immensely popular with children.

"THERE SEEMS to be some similarity between the young and elderly," says Clark Santee, who is some similarity between the young and elderly," says Clark Santee, who is a producer in Rogers' production company, Family Communications,

"Young people and old people often face similar problems, such as reassurance that they have pur-pose, yet Fred can practice much more freedom with an audience that is mature.'

Santee said the Borough of Ligonier in Pennsylva-nia's Westmoreland County is planned to be home to the Public Broadcasting Service (PBS) series. Some segments of a pilot have already been videotaped there, and on Nantucket Island, Mass., in Pittsburgh, California and Florida.

The only thing holding up the project is funding. and Santee doesn't believe that's going to be a major problem.

"We're getting more and more confident that we will be proceeding in the fall," he said in a telephone interview.

However, Rogers, though not available for direct comment, said through a spokesman that funding is a delicate matter and still the major obstacle in getting the series on the air. "It's far from being settled," he Ligonier provides us with comfortable, familiar setting. It wouldn't be identified, but Ligoner is where most of it would be shot," Santee said.

MEANWHILE, Mister Rogers' Neighborhood' continues to be seen on public television. Before new production of that program ended in 1975, Rogers had compiled a library of 465 tapes, enough for almost two years of viewing without reruns.

BECOMING A CHRISTIAN

For the next few weeks we are going to discuss what it means to scripturally become a Christian; what it means to speak of the church of Christ, and why we have so many religious denominations.

When we talk about being a Christian, we must understand that one can only become a Christian by daing what God says da, and that from the Scriptures. What my mother or daddy tells me to do in becoming a Christian is right only when it corresponds with what God's Word teaches. What my favorite preacher may tell me to do in becoming a Christian is right ortly when it is in harmony with what God teaches in the Bible.

I will have to look in the New Testament if I am to find out how to become a Christian, for there were no Christians in the Old Testament. The word 'Christian" means one who is a believer and follower of Christ. It means one who is willing to "do the will of the Father in heaven" (Matt. 7:21). Many preachers talk about "getting saved, getting the Holy Spirit, joining the church of your choice, etc." Where are these statements found in the Bible? Remember we are talking about becoming a Christian; and thus we are talking about doing what the Bible teaches what the New Testament teaches. But where are these expressions found in the New Testament? If you know, write and tell me, for I have not been able to find them.

If preachers are telling us things that are not found in the Bible, then how can we become Christians by doing that which is not found in the Bible? We connat! There are some things that must be done in becoming a Christian. I must find out what to do to be saved. For those who were saved and following Christ were "called Christians first at Antioch" (Acts 11:26). If I am to be called a Christian I must do what the Lord and the apostles (who were taaching what the Holy Spirit directed them to teach) commanded. (Read Mark 16:15-16; Acts 2:36-38), Notice that I have not told you what to do to be saved. I am asking you to read the Bible and find out what Christ and the apostles told people to do to be saved. When you are saved, you will then be a Christian. Those who have not done what Christ and the apostles commanded are not saved, and therefore not Christians.

Big-Name Americans Who Work for Foreign Countries

by Robert Walters

IALTER SCOTT'S

Want the facts? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Want informed opinion? Write Walter Scott, Parade, 733 3rd Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017, Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Recently I heard Bill Moyers interview Jimmy Carter on TV. Carter said that when he was 29 and a lieutenant,in the Navy, he had a choice to makedid he want to become Chief of Naval Operations or return to Plains, Ga., and lead a more diversified life? I am shocked by Carter's conceit or confidence. Who ever offered him the job of Chief of Naval Operations at age 29?—T. R., Macon, Ga.

A. Carter is a man of enormous self-confidence. No one ever offered him the job of Chief of Naval Operations. He simply assumed that he could work his way into that position.

Q. What is meant by the expression "Jimmy Carter is a fundamentalist"?-Dorothy Payne, Albany, N.Y. A. It has reference to Carter's profound, evangelical practice of and belief in his Baptist faith.

AVA GARDNER

O. Ava Gardner keeps saying over and over again, "I hate the press, I hate the press." Where would she be without it? - Andre Gould, Los Angeles.

A. Likely in her hometown, Smithfield, N.C.

Q. I understand that the McDonnell Douglas people, who manufacture the DC-10, are trying to halt the publication of a book which describes the crash of a Turkish Airlines DC-10 near Paris a few years ago. I believe 346 people were killed in that crash. Is that rumor true?---S. S., St. Louis.

A. It is not true. "The DC-10 Affair," a book written by a trio of investigative reporters from The Sunday Times of London, will be published by Granada in London before this year is out, will probably soon after appear in the U.S.

Q. Richard Nixon has a kid brother, Ed. The Nixon Foundation, headed by Leonard Firestone, used to look after Ed when Nixon was President. What's Ed doing now?--Lynn Rossiter, New York City.

A. Edward C. Nixon, 46, is a real estate broker, resides in Lynnwood, Wash., a suburb of Seattle.

WIFE BARBARA AND DR. CHRISTIAAN BARNARD

Q. Is it a fact that Dr. Christiaan Barnard and his wife are leaving South Africa because in that country blacks are forced to work in the gold mines for 75 cents a day? What's the story?—W. N., Watonga, Okla.

A. Dr. and Mrs. Barnard are not leaving South Africa. In 1973 the minimum starting wage for new underground gold miners around Johannesburg was 72 cents a day. It is currently $2.45 a day. Mine workers, however, are also given meals, medical care, housing, and transportation free of charge. Most South African blacks will not work in the mines. The mining companies therefore recruit most of their workers from other African countries.

Q. Is there any chance that Sen. Edward Kennedy will be defeated this year when he again runs for the U.S. Senate? Also, has Kennedy given up for all time a chance at the Presidency?—Frances Cameron, Danvers. Mass.

A. There is always a chance that any politician seeking reelection will lose. In Kennedy's case there's not much. On the whole he's been a good Senator, will undoubtedly run for the Presidency one day when Chappaquiddick fades from the public ken.

Q. It is part of history that former Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara was responsible for the Edsel, one of the now-famous flops of the Ford Motor Company. Is that true?--- D. D., Ann Arbor,

A. McNamara was in no way responsible for the Edsel, in fact advised against it.

O. How old is Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, and where is she?-Li Chun, New York City.

A. After five months of medical treatment for an undisclosed disease, Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, 78. left New York City this past April for her home in Taipei,

Q. The legendary Hollywood producer David Selznick had a son named Jeffrey. Why doesn't anyone ever hear or read anything about young Selznick? What, if anything, does he do?-F. R., Santa Monica,

A. Jeffrey Selznick, son of David Selznick and grandson of the late MGM mogul Louis B. Mayer, was involved until recently in a dress manufacturing business in Jamaica. He lived in Montego Bay with his wife, Ann, daughter of the late Sir Gerald Wight. The marriage has apparently been unsuccessful, a divorce looms, and Jeffrey Selznick has left Jamaica.

NINA VAN PALLANDT PERFORMING

Q. Do you know what has happened to Nina van Pallandt, the singer who had an affair with Clifford Irving, author of the phony Howard Hughes autobiography?—Dora Pauley, Tulsa, Okla.

A. Nina played the nightclub circuit for awhile, then married Robert Kirby, a South African entertainer, who announced they would live in Cape Town.

O. Please identify this couplet: "Love in a hut, with water and a crust Is-love, forgive us-cinders, ashes, dust." - Pamela Stevens, St. Louis, Mo.

A. It's from "Lamia," a poem by John Keats.

Q. I heard it said of Barbara Walters that she is the only major TV newswoman who has her own press agent. Is that a fact?-Jennie Wallace, Omaha, Neb. A. It is a fact. O WALTER SCOTT 1976

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking is Dangerous to Your Health.

A fable for now. "At last, seeing some pebbles lie near the place, he cast them one by one into the pitcher; and thus, by degrees, raised the water up to the very brim, and satisfied his thirst." Thus did Aesop describe the crow's ingenuity in getting water out of a high-necked pitcher. However, that approach 3 isn't strictly for the birds; oil people do about the same thing, but instead of pebbles they inject water, steam, chemicals, carbon dioxide, or gas into sluggish cilfields to recover otherwise unrecoverable oil. If such techniques could coax existing fields to yield an extra 10% of their remaining oil, the result would equal about 33 billion barrels-roughly the amount of America's current proved reserves. That would be worth crowing about.

Quiz. There's disagreement over exactly what would happen if the 18 largest oil companies were broken up, as proposed in pending "divestiture" legislation. What do you think would happen?

- Gasoline and heating oil prices would be likely to go up, not down. (T) (F)
- Smaller companies would have trouble raising capital to develop domestic energy sources. (T) (F)
- Smaller companies would be in a weaker bargaining position to shop for foreign oil we have to import. (T) (F)
- The U.S. would be more vulnerable to a foreign oil embargo or price increases. (T) (F)
- The effect on the total economy could be severe, leading to a new recession and more unemployment. (T) (F)
- Congress would then try to break up large companies in other industries.

We're convinced the answers are all "true" and we'll be happy to provide further information if you write us. Not everyone may agree; but since it's impossible to predict the future with certainty, the real question for the nation is whether divestiture is a risk worth running.

"GOD WORKS IN MYSTERIOUS WINS, MY ONLY THOUGHT WIEN I JOINED THIS CAR POOL, MISS WILLIAMS, WAS TO SMIE ENERGY."

Progress on Pollution. Smelt fishing has been red-hot off Point Pelee and in Pigeon Bay. Anglers are hooking silvery salmon, trout, and other species. Where? Why, in Lake Erie, which prominent environmentalists pronounced ecologically "dead" a few years ago. Commercial and sport catches there are running into the millions of pounds each year. Thanks to cooperation from industry and to some 375 federally aided sewage-treatment plants in the last eight years, all the Great Lakes are getting cleaner. Which is good news if you believe, as we do, that a protected environment and industry can coexist.

Keeping Up...With Youth

by Pamela Swift

Explanation for Student Apathy

"Why do students not participate in the civic system? Why, after fighting for voting rights, do students not participate in the electoral process? There is an obvious answer: students do not know how to use the tools of a democratic society because they have never been allowed to do so in relation to themselves. Students live in an artificial world where they are forever held as adolescents. They are told in the classroom that they must participate in the civic system, but they are discouraged by endless roadblocks from initiating activities within their own university environment. When students try to organize themselves for civic purposes or for programs to advance their educational experiences, their efforts are often arbitrarily stymied by governing boards, university officials and politicians whose interests do not mirror those of the students."

-Consumer advocate Ralph Nader before the subcommittee on higher education, May 7, 1976.

CIA Popularity

A few years ago, when young Americans were dying in Vietnam, CIA recruiters were banned from many major university campuses. Today they are more than welcome, will probably hire this year some 700 clerical employees and 400 professionals.

The new student interest in joining the Central Intelligence Agency is undoubtedly the result of the narrowing job market. Students now want job and career security. They also regard intelligence work as adventurous.

Such films as "Three Days of the Condor" and "All the President's Men," both starring Robert Redford, have glamorized intelligence with a romance which doesn't necessarily apply to it but seems intriguing to the young.

Fewer Linguists

Only 10% of the universities and colleges in this country now require one foreign language for admission.

Time was when a student had to show knowledge of two foreign languages before he or she was admitted to many accredited U.S. universities.

Since 1963 the number of undergraduate students studying foreign languages has declined steadily. Less than 20% of contemporary high school graduates know a foreign tongue.

Why the change?

One quick answer is that educators are more concerned with teaching students how to structure and write a correct sentence in English than they are in French or Spanish.

KEITH RICHARD AND ANITA PALLENBERG

Marriage of Convenience

After seven years of togetherness and three children, Keith Richard, 32, of the Rolling Stones, and Anita Pallenberg, also 32 and mother of his offspring, have decided to marry, or may already have done so.

According to Richard, the maior reason for the marriage is convenience. Anita travels on an Italian passport, Keith travels on a British passport; the children eventually will need passports of their own.

"After awhile," Richard says, "the rules seem to catch up with you, so I guess we'll get married. It's no big thing at this point-just another piece of paper. We'll probably do it sometime this summer.

The Richards and their children currently occupy a villa in Geneva-all the Stones are tax exiles—but also own a house in Sussex, England, into which they may move after their marriage.

Originally Anita Pallenberg was the girlfriend of Brian Jones, the Rolling Stone who took too many drugs, went swimming in his pool and drowned in 1969.

Big-Name Americans Who Work for Foreign Countries

by Robert Walters

uring the past two years a highly confidential document has been circulating throughout the Middle East. It outlines plans for the Arab world to spend as much as $15 million annually on a far-reaching propaganda program in the United States.

That secret proposal, whose contents have never before been publicly disclosed, calls for a massive effort to swing American public opinion about the seemingly endless Middle East conflict away from the Israelis and towards the Arabs.

Specifically designated as targets of that propaganda campaign are the nation's highest elected and appointed political leaders, the country's news intedia, "naturally sympathetic citizen groups," special interest organizations with political influence and, "to a lesser extent, the general public."

A PARADE investigation shows that since that blueprint was completed, the Arab nations have mobilized a vast network of influential lawyers, Washington lobbyists, public relations experts, political consultants and a host of other highly paid specialists to implement the plan.

The Foreign Agents Registration Act requires that all individuals and organizations engaged in disseminating propaganda or related activities on behalf of another country must file public reports with the Justice Department's Criminal Division.

'Program for Arab World'

Those reports show that in recent years the oil-rich Arab world has been spending millions of dollars annually to finance operations similar to those outlined in the secret 1974 plan, which is called "Public Affairs Program for the Arab World."

Among those currently receiving generous fees to represent various Arab interests are:

• The law firm headed by Clark M.

Clifford, a former Defense Secretary and one of Washington's most powerful attorneys. It receives a $150,000 yearly retainer from Algeria.

● Richard G. Kleindienst, Attorney General under President Richard M. Nixon. He gets $120,000 a year from Algeria.

• Former Sen. J. William Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat and longtime chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. His Washington law firm, Hogan & Hartson, is paid $25,000 annually by the United Arab Emirates.

 Frederick G. Dutton, the principal political adviser to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy during the 1968 Presidential campaign. The Saudi Arabian government pays him $100,000 a year.

The polling firm headed by Patrick J. Caddell, who conducted public opinion surveys for Sen. George S. McGovern in the 1972 Presidential campaign and is doing the same work for Presidential candidate Jimmy Carter. Saudi Arabia recently signed an $80,000 contract with Caddell's company.

A three-month-long PARADE survey showed that during the past several years the Arabs have spent far more money than any other interest group to support the activities of foreign agents in this country.

Next to the Arabs in spending and organizational effort are the British and French promoters of the Concorde, the supersonic commercial jet transport that last month began regular service between the United States and Europe.

To gain landing rights for the controversial plane, the European interests also purchased the services of influential American political figures. For instance, the law firms of both former Sen. Charles E. Goodell, a New York Republican who is one of President Ford's closest political advisers, and William P. Rogers, a former Secretary of State, have been working for the French. Their activities will be described in a forthcoming PARADE article.

Information center

The most visible element of the Arab propaganda effort now underway is the Arab Information Center, with offices in New York, Washington, Chicago, Dallas and San Francisco. It represents the League of Arab States, a confederation of 20 nations.

That organization publishes and distributes in this country a biweekly newsletter, "Arab Report," whose often strident language includes allegations that some Israelis are "religious and political fanatics" motivated by "paranoid insensitivity and primitive passions" and that "Zionism, as such, has become a more dangerous movement than apartheid."

Last year, the Arab Information Center spent almost $750,000 to underwrite its propaganda program in this country. More than $60,000 was used to finance an advertising campaign, while a larger amount went for an extensive round of lecture tours throughout the nation.

The Justice Department early this year initiated prosecution against the Arab Information Center and its director, Amin Hilmy II, charging that they had violated the Foreign Agents Registration Act by failing to properly identify themselves in anti-Zionist advertising late last year in newspapers published in New York, Dallas, Los Angeles, Chicago and Boston.

The Justice Department also has charged that the organization refused to allow two government attorneys to examine its records, an alleged violation of the section of the federal law which requires that foreign agents' records must be opened for official inspection upon demand.

In addition to their unified effort, Arab nations have individually signed scores of experts and specialists to aid in gaining acceptance for their political views, economic development programs and commercial enterprises.

A big spender

One of the biggest spenders in that category is Sonatrach, Inc., Algeria's government-owned oil and gas monopoly that employs both Clifford and Kleindienst. Sonatrach's Washington office was headed until recently by Cherif Guellal, a former Algerian ambassador and popular figure in the capital's diplomatic social circuit.

Sonatrach reported spending more than $1.5 million in this country last year. One of the minor items in its expense account was limousine rentals to transport the organization's officers and guests at a cost of more than $19,800. Instead of renting work space, the firm purchased its own office building in downtown Washington with a $119,900 down payment, spent more than $27,900 in improvements and is laying out another $4100 monthly in mortgage payments.

When Sonatrach wanted to announce the cancellation of a contract with an American firm last year, it hired a Washington public relations organization to distribute a news release, arange a press conference and edit background papers. The firm received $1250 for three days' work.

$750,000 in 5 years

During the past five years, Clifford's law firm has received more than $750,000 in fees and expense reimbursement from Sonatrach. Although Clifford is technically only an attorney, his reputation is built upon the influence and prestige he has acquired as a leading adviser to several Presidents.

Kleindienst, who has earned more than $200,000 since he went to work for the Algerians in late 1973, has arranged and participated in meetings with his clients and dozens of Washington's leading government officials.

Henry Kearns, former president of the Export-Import Bank. He returned to his own firm, which last year received $350,000 im fees from the Algerians.

Included in that list are President Ford, when he was a member of Congress; Secretary of State Henry Kissinger; Rogers C. B. Morton, Ford's campaign manager; Treasury Secretary William E. Simon; Deputy Secretary of Defense William P. Clements Jr., and scores of Senators and Representatives.

Sonatrach also has been paying handsome fees to another former government official—Henry Kearns, the onetime president and chairman of the Export-Import Bank, a federal agency that has financed more than $70 billion worth of United States exports to more than 180 nations, including Algeria.

When Kearns was in office, Sonatrach regularly sought his assistance in connection with requests for Export-Import Bank financing. In October, 1973, he left the government to return to the presidency of Kearns International, a San Francisco-based economic and investment consulting firm.

Federal law prohibits former government officials from acting as agents for private interests for one year after they have left the public payroll—so Sonatrach waited exactly one year, then hired Kearns' company as its agent. Last year, Kearns International received $350,000 in fees and $46,900 in expense reimbursement from Sonatrach.

Other Arab nations are not quite as lavish in their spending, but they can hardly be classified as being cheap. For instance, when Egyptian President Anwar Sadat visited the United States last autumn, Egypt's Washington embassy contracted with the public relations firm of Doremus & Co. to supervise press coverage of the tour.

The money deal

The public relations consultants estimated that preparation and distribution of "an official information kit" as well as news releases, speeches, photographs and other publicity material would cost no less than $15,000, with an additional $5000 for "press logistic support."

The embassy accepted that offer, al-

Jordan covering $180 million fertilizer plant" and "Jordan to build 500-room deluxe hotel."

Attorney Frederick Dutton works for both the Saudi Arabian government and its state-owned oil and gas monopoly, Petromin. He estimates that his $100,000 annual fee will be spent this way: $20,000 for six or seven trips a year to Saudi Arabia, $20,000 for "office though later reports filed with the lustice Department indicated that the Egyptians got a "bargain" rate of $15,800 during the 10-day visit.

Jordan, a year-round client of Doremus & Co., paid the firm $65,200 during the past year in return for publicity services and press releases announcing events such as "Agreement signed in ### maining $60,000 for "personal services." Calls on legislators overhead and expenses" and the re-

In a public report more candid than most, Dutton noted that he has "accompanied the ambassador" and other Saudi officials "for calls on various members of Congress," although he says he "did not make presentations other than minimal amenities."

His expense account is indicative of the style of living enjoyed by the few Americans selected to represent the wealthy Arabs. During the last half of 1975, Dutton spent $1800 to entertain Saudi guests in his home, another $1800 for rental cars, $7400 to pay for air fare on four trips to Saudi Arabia, $6100 for hotel services during those trips and $2100 for "out-of-pocket" expenses.

Perhaps most publicized for her work during the past year was Marion B. Javits, the wife of Sen. Jacob K. Javits, a New York Republican and member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. She registered in early September of last year as a representative of Iran National Airlines, noting that she expected to be paid $67,500 for a year's work.

Controversy

Mrs. Javits worked for Iran as a "consultant" to the New York public relations firm of Ruder & Finn, Inc., which had a $500,000 contract with the airline—but a controversy soon erupted over suggestions that the substantial addition to the Javits family income might influence the Senator's position on this country's foreign policy toward the Middle East.

Mrs. Javits resigned in late January, and two months later Ruder & Finn terminated its contract with Iran—although the firm claimed that during six months of service it had successfully performed 20 different public relations missions for the airline, Iran's royal family and political leaders.

Not widely known are the generous terms of the final financial settlement: Ruder & Finn received slightly more than $270,000, while Mrs. Javits got $10,000 as a "consulting fee" and another $36,497 for "liaison and counseling services, out-of-pocket expenses, trayel, entertainment, etc."

In other words, Mrs. Javits picked up a total of $46,497 for less than five months' work—approximately the same amount as her husband earns during a year in the Senate.

Iran National Airlines also had a contract with another New York public relations firm, Carl Byoir & Associates, Inc., which receives $50,000 a year but listed no work performed on behalf of the airline when it reported to the Justice Department last autumn.

The reporting procedures of other American agents representing Arab clients also raise questions about compliance with the disclosure law. Consider the case of Adnan M. Khashoggi, a Saudi Arabian millionaire businessman accused of serving as a middleman in the payment of bribes by American corporations attempting to sell weapons to his country.

Law firm hired

Last summer, the Washington law firm of Chapman, Gadsby, Hannah and Duff was recruited by Khashoggi's principal corporation, Triad Enterprises, to monitor Congressional hearings that affected him. The lawyers registered as foreign agents because "the essential ownership of the company is Khashoggi and his brothers," explained Noman S. Paul, a partner in the firm. "They're foreigners and we wanted to be in compliance with the law."

But Clark Clifford's law firm did work for Khashoggi at about the same time—and it did not register as his American agent. In more recent months, the influential Washington law firm of Arnold and Porter has been representing Khashoggi in negotiations with the Justice Department and did not register.

There is an exemption to the registration requirement for attorneys engaged in traditional legal work—as opposed to the quasi-lobbying activities in which many Washington lawyers engage—but the law is murky in that and several other areas, often making it difficult to determine whether the representative of a foreign power must register.

Another firm which has not registered as a foreign agent representing Arab interests is Martin Ryan Haley & Associates, the New York public relations and political consulting organization which prepared the secret 1974 document on Arab propaganda plans.

'Didn't get a nickel'

Haley said he did not register with the government because he only developed the propaganda program but did not implement it. In addition, he said he "didn't get a nickel" for his work. But the law does not exempt those who offer their services without cost and it does cover those who engage in "informing" or "advising" for-bribery cases and has hired a Washington law firm to monitor Congressional hearings affecting him.

eign clients about public relations.

Haley refused to disclose the identity of his client, saying only that he did the work "for an individual in the Middle East who, in turn, discussed it with several governments."

Haley said his proposal was a "confidential document" whose distribution was carefully controlled. All copies were numbered and assigned to specific recipients, he said.

One reason for that secrecy apparently involves the potentially explosive section dealing with American politics. In discussing the 1974 elections, Haley identified "five friendly Senators who are ready for reelection and should be helped," as well as "six adversaries who are vulnerable."

The Senators "friendly" to the Arabs included two who were defeated—Sens. Fulbright and Marlow W. Cook, a Kentucky Republican. Three others won reelection and are still in Congress—Sens. James B. Allen, an Alabama Democrat; Barry M. Goldwater, an Arizona Republican, and Russell B. Long, a Louisiana Democrat.

In addition, Sen. Mike Gravel, an Alaska Democrat, was described as a man "who could probably be persuaded to be favorable, or at least evenhanded."

The six Arab "adversaries" also included two men who were defeated—Sens. Howard M. Metzenbaum, an Ohio Democrat, and Edward J. Gurney, a Florida Republican. Four others won new terms—Sens. Birch Bayh, an Indiana Democrat; Robert Dole, a Kansas Republican; George S. McGovern, a South Dakota Democrat, and Milton R. Young, a North Dakota Republican.

Haley's plan called for Arab intervention by performing numerous services for favored candidates, including fundraising, opinion polling, production of radio and television commercials, and providing a variety of other crucial campaign services.

The confidential document said American citizens of Arab extraction would have to carry the burden in the political field because "United States law is very clear about prohibiting other nations from playing a part in U.S. election campaigns."

But the long memo also discussed a typical Senatorial race in which "our own professional campaign consultant moves into Ohio" and "our field services unit sends organizers to Ohio to unify the Arab-American organizations" in an effort to defeat Metzenbaum, one of the few Jewish Senators.

Fulbright campaign

In Fulbright's case, the secret report said "the entire Arab-American community should be mobilized to help him." Financial reports later filed by Fulbright showed that he received contributions from groups such as the Cleveland Council on Arab-American Relations, the American Arabic Association and the American Arabic Council.

The document called for the establishment of an elaborate political intelligence system, including an organization of professional lobbyists in Washington to engage in "persuasion of specific members" of Congress, compiling "intelligence about members' attitudes" and working for the passage or defeat of specific bills.

Also proposed was the purchase of full-page advertisements in daily newspapers serving the nation's 30 principal metropolitan areas, utilization of the 300 newspapers and magazines published by Christian churches in this country, and distribution of free films and tapes about the Arab world to 700 television and up to 4000 radio stations across the nation.

Still other elements of the plan included production of "two or three high-quality films" to be shown on educational television stations and at meetings of sympathetic organizations, mailings to "thought leaders" in all walks of life, efforts to revise the image of Arabs in school textbooks and a program to improve relationships with labor, business, agricultural and religious groups.

Staff of 100

The document "strongly recommended" a three- or five-year program, stretching into 1977 or 1979, at a yeariy- cost of $15 million. Coordinating that effort would be a staff of 100 persons, about a third of them professionals.

Many of those proposals are being implemented. A large lobbying staff is already in place in Washington, political assistance has been provided to favored Congressmen, and advertising space has been purchased in newspapers.

"The Arab world has great potential power rooted not only in oil resources and financial reserves but also in untapped friendships and supporters," the confidential document noted, "A long-term consistent and coherent plan' is needed—a central system for identifying and mobilizing friends is needed." That is precisely what the Arab world is seeking to do today in the U.S.

Graduation Day for a Brave Girl

by Sid Ross & Herbert Kupferberg

ne week from today, 18-year-old Beth Terranova will graduate from Harrison High School, fourth in her class of 275. Pretty, popular and well-adjusted, she's going on to college in September at William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va.

So far, there's nothing much unusual about Beth Terranova's life story—except that she is totally blind. What's more, she has not been getting her education at a special school, or even in a special class for blind students, but by taking regular courses, working side by side with sighted students.

That's how it has always been with Beth, who has been blind since birth. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Terranova, have felt that Beth had a greater chance of developing normally at a regular school rather than at an institution for the blind, in a special class for the handicapped, or at home.

PARADE originally told Beth's story in 1968, when she was 10 years old and in the fourth grade. Now we've gone back to visit her at the end of a high school career that has brought her academic honors and the respect and admiration of her teachers, supervisors and fellow students.

Beth, who still wears her hair in a ponytail, selected for her personal slogan to be printed in her graduation yearbook: "Keep On Keeping On."

"What I mean," she explains, "is that to me life is progress—always looking forward, never looking back, never feeling sorry for yourself. I'm a happy person; I wouldn't change places with anyone."

'See you later'

Beth's use of the word "looking" is typical of her. She doesn't employ the vocabulary one might expect of a blind person. "See you later" is one of her common expressions. In class, when she wants to indicate that she understands a teacher's explanation, she'll say: "I see."

Only a few things distinguish her from the other students. Changing rooms at the end of each 42-minute period, she walks with an outstretched hand touching the wall to guide her through the corridors. In class, she uses a tape recorder to take down what the teacher says—the only pupil who's permitted to bring one to school.

How your Horoscope can bring you wealth, love, success and happiness.

by Norman P. Kennedy

Did you know your horoscope could mean the difference between happiness or sorrow; between success or failure?

Picture a long room with doors at each end. In this room there are money, attractive persons of the opposite sex, books that tell you the secret of happiness and many other valuable articles. But, also in this room are bottomless pits, traps, hostile persons and dangerous beasts chained in various places around the room. You must walk through this room, but you may take out of it anything you can.

Now if you had a choice, would you choose to 1) go through the room blindfolded or 2) go through the room with your eyes open and with written instructions on which places and people to visit or avoid.

Of course, all of us would pick the second choice in a case such as this. Isn't it ridiculous, then, that we would choose to go through life, the same situation, blindfolded! Even when there is a means to go through life with a map and our eyes wide open! The means provided is Astrology. The map is our astrological horoscope.

How does it work? Nature's cosmos imprints each of us at the time of birth — when the umbilical cord is cut. We then become ourselves. Until the cord is cut, we are part of our mother. Why or how we presently do not know. The movement of the large solar bodies then times potentials for events in our lives. Astrology does not cause events but is timing of events. But, it's not fortune telling. It's a prediction of potentials which free will can override.

What does a natal horoscope analysis by a qualified astrologer contain? A natal horoscope analysis contains the best psychological analysis of yourself that you can get today. Because, in a controlled experiment in 1960, astrologers beat psychologists in predicting case histories.

In addition, a natal horoscope analysis includes discussions on the following: financial outlook; taxes and inheritances; early home environment; relationships with family, relatives and parents; lovelife and marriage;

children; career and occupation; hopes; wishes and goals; and subconscious attitudes. In a major analysis, a one year forecast is also included.

Many people think that astrology only appeals to "way out" unscientific people. Nothing could be farther from the truth. In fact, studies show that astrology appeals most to intelligent and logical people. Famous scientists Galileo, Carl Jung, Johannes Kepler, Roger Bacon, Tycho Bache and Albert Einstein all believed in astrology.

Your horoscope can help you be in the right place at the right time.

Your horoscope can help you avoid disasters while guiding you to your beneficial opportunities.

Did you know that astrology helped the allies win World War II? The allies employed astrologers. The axis powers started out employing astrologers. But, this was ceased early when the famous astrologer, Karl Ernst Krafft, predicted the exact time and place of an attempt on Hitler's life in 1939. Hitler thought the astrologers were conspiring against him, so they were imprisoned.

Hitler turned back to astrology - too late. He read his horoscope in the last moments of the war as Berlin burned around him.

On the other hand, astrologers aided the allies in forecasting the Axis' moves. The most famous astrologer, Louis de Wohl, employed by British government, predicted the exact events leading up to the downfall of Mussolini. He gained the faith of the American military by predicting Pearl Harbor a year before it happened.

More on avoiding disaster, came these stories from a recent article in the Miami Herald newspaper. The article tells the story of a Miami computer programmer, who heeded the advice of her horoscope which warned her of a wrong medical diagnosis. She avoided an unnecessary operation that would have left her a cripple.

Your horoscope can bring you wealth. Famous business tycoon, J. P. Morgan, used astrology to acquire his fortune. Morgan did not make a financial move without checking his natal horoscope forecast.

From an article in the Miami Herald came this story:

"Stockbrokers on Wall Street are as likely to call an astrologer in this decade as Hollywood film stars would call a psychiatrist in the last. A 75 year old retired financial expert who lives in Clearwater, has made $150,000 from the stock market in 13 years by using astrology as an-is-vestment guide."

Your horoscope can show you the way to success and happiness in your career. In spite of her country girl look of 1945, Marilyn Monroe's horoscope promised that she would emerge as an immortal movie sex symbol. However, Uranus in her 7th house indicated that some changes were necessary. Marilyn went from dirty blonde to silver blonde. This, plus a sophisticated upsweep headed her right towards stardom!

Now and through the ages a good natal horoscope analysis has meant success for many people. In other cases many men have missed their opportunity; some with tragic consequences, such as Adolf Hitler.

Will you miss your success opportunities? Will you stumble into pitfalls you could have avoided?

Today, right this moment, you can have your natal horoscope cast and analyzed. You can get it for only the cost to make your duplicate copy. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process — FREE. The article below will tell you how. The means are available, but the choice is yours.

PRATE CONTINUED

Her fellow students help her by keeping carbon copies of their classroom notes. These are then reproduced in Braille for Beth by Mrs. Judy Goldsmith, a teacher of the visually handicapped who visits the school regularly.

Says one of Beth's note-taking classmates, Rosemarie Coviello: "Beth has a wonderful personality. It makes no difference that she's blind. Yes, I help her as much as I can, but she's also helped me. I can't slough off or be lazy with her around. I pay more attention in class because I take notes for her. She's made me a better student."

Acting Principal Kenneth Meyer adds: "Beth Terranova has been good for Harrison High School. She's been an inspiration to me and to every one of her teachers."

Timid at first

It has not been all roses for Beth. When she entered first grade at the Harrison Avenue School she was terrified and timid. But with the patient help of Mrs. Beatrice Jacobson, teacher-consultant for the visually handicapped, and Mrs. Anne Goerner, her first-grade teacher, Beth gradually blossomed. By the fourth grade she was fully adjusted and, equally important, accepted by both schoolmates and teachers. By the time she started high school, she was very nearly just another student—although an unusually bright one.

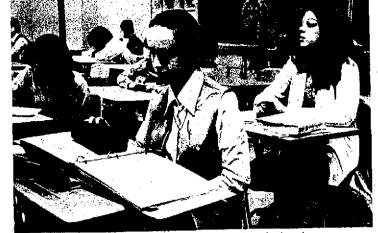

But being blind means that Beth has to work harder and longer than other students. When she gets home to the modest, two-story frame Terranova house, she puts in another four to six hours in what she calls "my second school day."

She transcribes class notes from the tape recorder into Braille with a machine called a Brailler. She either types out her own homework or dictates it to her mother, who writes it out in long-hand. Beth has her own Braille library, including several popular magazines and books by Mark Twain, Jack London and others. She also has a 35-volume Braille edition of Webster's Student Dictionary, which she frequently consults. She takes piano and ballet lessons.

Beth, who was born blind as a result of a condition called retrolental fibroplasia, says that one of her favorite recreations is taking auto rides with her parents, who describe the scenery.

Visualizes scenery

"I can picture what they describe," says Beth. "If it's a tree I can visualize its rough bark. I can even 'see' colors—for example, I visualize red as flaming, bright, brilliant, bold. I can picture birds in detail—their spindly legs; sharp, clawed feet; strong bodies; feathers and beaks, and how they spread their wings and fly. I can fill out all sorts of details. People are sometimes quite surprised at how accurately I describe."

Beth utilizes such aids as a tape recorder in class, but she has done the same work and taken the same tests as the other pupils in school.

Here Beth practices piano at home. Her wide range of outside activities also includes ballet lessons. Next step: out-of-town college.

Beth feels she's "a mature person" who has overcome her timidity at being with other people and gained confidence in her own abilities. She ascribes much of this to having been educated in normal surroundings.

"Had I gone to a blind school or into a special class or environment," she says, "I'd have been segregated or overprotected. It would have been impossible to face life in the sighted world."

Beth's parents naturally are pleased that their decision not to give Beth a "special" education has worked out. Her father, a retired pharmacist who now works part-time, and her mother both observed that even as a baby she was bright, alert and quick to learn.

"We decided from the beginning that we were going to treat Beth as normally as possible," says Mrs. Terranova. "As soon as she was old enough to walk, we began to take her around the neighborhood and tell her what things were—to teach her to 'see' with her mind." The parents convinced then Superintendent of Schools Louis M. Klein that Beth could make the grade in a regular school environment.

Now, 12 years later, Beth Terranova can say: "If I were given the opportunity today of being able to see, I might not take it. I'm used to blindness; I've come to terms with it."

Law or journalism?

Beth isn't sure what she'd like to do eventually, but she says that marriage and a family are "very far from my mind right now." Law has been suggested to her as a possible profession, but sometimes she thinks she'd like to go into radio broadcasting either as an announcer or a news writer.

Right now, she's like millions of other Americans—a bright high school student preparing to go away to college next fall. It's a big move and a big change—new studies, new people, new environment. "I'm not scared," Beth Terranova says—and she convinces you that she really isn't.

Is there an answe to the smoking question?

Should people smoke? They've been battling that one since the smoking controversy started. Smokers have an answer Non-smokers have another answer. And the critics of smoking think they have all the answers.

But arguing whether people should or shouldn't smoke isn't going to change anything. The reality is that people do smoke. And they will continue to smoke.

No matter what anyone says.

So perhaps a more realistic question would be: what should a smoker smoke? If some smokers don't want to give up smoking yet find themselves concerned about 'tar' and nicotine, then the critics could well recommend that they switch to a low 'tar' and nicotine cigarette. Like Vantage.

And if some of these smokers prefer a menthol cigarette, then the critics could suggest that they switch to a low 'tar' and nicotine menthol. Like Vantage Menthol.

Vantage Menthol offers smokers all the cool, refreshing flavor they could ever ask for. And at the same time gives them the substantial cut in 'tar' and nicotine they may be looking for.

Now Vantage Menthol isn't the lowest 'tar' and nicotine menthol around. But anything lower probably compromises the flavor

So if you smoke a menthol cigarette, we're not going to argue whether you should or you shouldn't.

The fact is you do.

And if you want to do something about 'tar' and nicotine, Vantage Menthol could be one answer for you to consider.

he American patriots of the Revolution marched under many different flags. In the truest sense, these were banners of free-dom-proclaiming the beliefs and goals of a people dedicated to the cause of American

In enduring tribute to those patriots, The Franklin Mint has created a comprehensive and completely authoritative collection of superbly crafted ingots portraying The American Flags of the Revolution. Now, on the occasion of our nation's 200th anniversary of independence, this historic collection will be minted in a distinctive Mini-Ingol edition. This will be the final edition-and the only Mini-Ingot edition-of this fascinat-

In keeping with the importance of its sub-ject matter, this Mini-Ingot collection will be minted in solid sterling silver and in solid gold. Indeed, this will be the first collection of solid gold Mini-Ingots ever issued by The Franklin Mint-and for this reason alone should be of special interest to collectors.

A comprehensive collection

The complete collection will consist of 64 finely detailed miniature ingots depicting each and every one of the flags known to have been carried by Americans during the Revolution. Flags that were clear and early signals of defiance. Banners that inspired our citizen-soldiers through bitter years of struggle. And, finally, triumphant flags that were raised by Americans throughout the land to herald hard-won independence.

Among them will be the Fort Johnson Flag the first flag of protest known to be designed by American colonists—dating from 1765.... The Bedford Flag, the oldest flag in existence in the United States, which flew at the Battle of Concord on the first day of the War of Independence.... The famed Rattlesnake Flag, which clearly warns of America's intention to decide its own fate with the historic words "Don't Tread on Me"....

And the Bennington Flag, one of the first versions of the "Stars and Stripes." Here, too, are the intriguing battle flags and regimental banners created by the American patriots—including George Washing-ton's own thirteen-star headquarters flag, which flew during the terrible winter of 1777 at Valley Forge.

To assure historical accuracy, the designs of all these flags have been painstakingly authenticated for the collection by Dr. Whitney Smith, Director of The Flag Heritage Foundation and the nation's leading authority on flag history. Each Mini-Ingot faithfully conforms to the design and proportions of the flag verified by Dr. Smith

Extremely fine detail in miniature

Each miniature ingot will be a superb example of the minter's art. The master craftsmen of The Franklin Mint-renowned for their artistry in silver and gold-have captured the precise design of each flag with astonishing accuracy, in extremely fine detail. Each Mini-Ingot will be a work of beauty as well as historical significance.

Deluxe display case provided

To house and display the complete collection of 64 miniature ingots, a customdesigned collector's case will be provided to each subscriber. This handsome hardwood case will be fitted with a transparent topthat the gleaming ingots can be seen and admired even when the lid is closed.

As part of the collection, each subscriber will also receive a special magnifier, to allow individual study of each Mini-Ingot in all its fine detail, plus specially prepared reference literature describing the flag depicted and its role in the history of our nation

A strictly limited edition

The American Flags of the Revolution Mini-Ingot Collection will be issued in a single, strictly limited edition, to be minted solely for advance subscribers. There is a firm limit of one set per subscriber, minted in either sterling silver or pure 24 karat gold. And the total number of sets to be minted will be permanently limited to the exact number of subscriptions postmarked by July 4, 1976.

After all subscribers have received the complete collection, the dies used to create these Mini-Ingots will be destroyed and this collection of historic flag ingots will never be issued again.

Convenient acquisition plan

The solid sterling silver Mini-Ingots will be issued at the rate of four each month. The guaranteed issue price is just $2.50 per silver Mini-Ingot.

The solid gold Mini-Ingots will be issued at the rate of two each month. The guaranteed issue price is just $29.50 per gold Mini-Ingot. The complete collection will contain more than 2000 grains of pure 24 karat gold.

Subscription rolls close on July 4th

This is a collection that will be prized and cherished for its beauty, its rarity, and its intrinsic value. For its authenticity. For its educational value. duction in Rome. Title: "A Matter of Time." Cast: Liza Minnelli, Ingrid Bergman, Charles Boyer.

The motion picture, based on the novel "Film . of Memory" by former French Minister of Culture Maurice Druon, deals with a simple Italian village girl (Liza Minnelli) who works as a chambermaid in a third-class Rome hotel.

There she meets an old. impoverished countess (Ingrid Bergman) whose companionship was once sought after by the crowned heads of Europe. The countess is visited from time to time by a former husband (Charles Boyer).

The old lady reminisces about her colorful past to the young chambermaid, who fantasizes that she herself has lived the exciting chapters of the countess' life. Gradually she undergoes a metamorphosis that transforms her into a smart, sophisticated young woman who is offered a film contract. "Liza," says her father, "is absolutely magnificent in this picture. And as for Ingrid Bergman -- Ingrid first read the book when it was published in Paris in 1954. She knew the author and made him promise that if the book was ever made into a film, he would recommend her for the part of the contessa.

"As a matter of fact, the contessa was our major problem. In the book she remains the main character, and the maid is completely subsidiary. But since today's movie audiences consist primarily of young people," explains Minnelli, "I had Liza reliving the old lady's past so that she becomes the star of the piece.

"As for Boyer," Minnelli continues, "Charles has played opposite Ingrid twice before, in 'Gaslight' and 'Arch of Triumph.' They are veteran troupers and, as always, superb."

Whether "A Matter of

Time" turns out to be superb is of course the key question. We should know by October.

Liza Minnelli says of her father, "All I can tell you is that he's a great, big, authentic talent. This was our first picture together, and I was so happy working with him that I gave him a brand-new swimming pool as a gift. If the picture turns out lousy. I'll dig it up and take it back."

AT LONG LAST After 30 years of . stationing troops in West Germany, the U.S. Army has finally begun to teach its soldiers German. It is the pet project of Gen. George S. Blanchard, once an out-standing West Point fullback.

Beginning July 2, all new batallion, brigade and division commanders will take 120 hours of German before they assume their positions in Germany.

"A knowledge of German," Blanchard explains, "is essential in attaining better private and professional relations between Germans and Americans. It is also extremely useful for the combined operations of American and German units... Moreover, I've never seen an unhappy GI in Germany who had found and made a good German friend. What better way to make a friend than to speak the same language?"

Blanchard believes that because of changing times, the devaluation of the dollar, and other influ-ences, too many GI's in Germany have been isolating themselves by remaining on U.S. bases. He wants them to get out and mingle with the German population. He realizes. too, that in the past 30 years the German people have changed markedly and now expect more of the Americans living among them...at least a minimal knowledge of the host language.

BLACK CAPITAL Washington, D.C., with its 71% black population, has now become the city with the highest concentration of black residents outside of continental Africa.

If you're in Paris and you have a sex problem, dial 545-5646.

That's the sex-problem line which opened last month.

Multilingual advisors who reply to that number are doctors, social workers, psychiatrists and other experts qualified to answer quickly the sex problems of the callers.

The Dial-a-Sexpert service is the brainchild of Health Minister Simone Veil.

When it began, most of the callers were men worried about their loss of potency. Women callers asked questions concerning the safety of the pill and the technique of achieving an orgasm.

According to a spokesman in Mme. Veil's office: "There is a great deal more suffering and anguish over sex problems than most people realize. It affects all classes deeply, and many people are too shy to consult their physicians or to discuss the matter with friends.

"That's why our experts provide a needed service. Of course, we get a lot of hoexsters like the young men who ask for seduction tips or the woman who says she, found out after her ninth child that her hushand is homosexual and what should she do? But mostly the questions are legitimate.

The Dial-a-Sexpert line g is open five days a week from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., is 2 closed on weekends. So if you're in Paris and you have a sex problem, it will have to wait until 18 Monday.

the belief is widespread that should any candidate except Ronald Reagan be elected U.S. President. the United States will drop its recognition of Taiwan next year and establish full-fledged diplomatic relations with Peking.

That would mean the end of the 1954 treaty in which the U.S. is pledged to defend Taiwan.

Premier Chian Chiang-kuo, elder son of the late President Chiang Kai-shek, says Taiwan is America's most trustworthy and loyal ally, and he predicts any recognition of Peking would adversely affect "all of Asia and the entire world."

In other Taiwanese quarters, however, the impression exists that the U.S. is moving inexorably to a full recognition of the People's Republic of China, and that such recognition will be followed by the U.S. establishment of a liaison office on Taiwan similar to the one we now have in Peking.

ACATHA CHRISTIE

Dame I Agatha Christie, queen of the mystery writers, who died at 88 earlier this year. left an estate valued at less than $200,000. How come...especially since one of her plays, "The Mousetrap," has been running in London for 23 years and has earned $6 million?

The answer is that during the course of her long lifetime, Agatha Christie gave away most of her earnings to her relatives, thus avoiding Britain's mountainous estate tax.

For example, she gave the copyright of "The Mousetrap," her largest money-earner, to her grandson, Michael Pritchard. Rights to her other novels and plays went into trusts for other relatives.

Of the less than $200,-000 which she left, most of it goes to her husband, Sir Max Mallowan, and daughter, Mrs. Rosalind Hicks.

To reduce

What causes insomnia, the chronic in-. ability to aleep?

For several years now, researchers under Dr. William C. Dement at Stanford University's Medical Center have been trying to find out.

After testing 1500 patients they concluded that most sleep disturbances are caused by fears and emotional anxieties, which in many cases are made worse by using sleeping pills.

It's not that the sleeping pills don't work. They do, but the body eventually adapts to the pills, and the basic emotional disturbance which caused the insomnia in the first place reappears. The patient then increases the pill dosage, becoming increasingly dependent upon them.

To alleviate sleeping pill dependence, researchers have been concentrating on a natural substance which may do away with sleeping pills.

Two Swiss physiologists, Dr. Marcel Monnier and Dr. Guido Schoenenberger. claim to have discovered such a substance in the human body. They discovered it while experimenting on dogs.

Dr. Monnier found that when he stimulated by electric shock the thalamic area of the brain--the thalamus is the chief center for transmission of sensory impulses to the cerebral cortex--it sent a sleep-inducing substance into the bloodstream. Dr. Monnier calls it the "Delta Factor." He and Dr. Schoenenberger along with their assistants isolated the "Delta Factor" and reproduced it from natural proteins.

Before testing the "Delta Factor" on people, the Swiss researchers want other medical centers to repeat their experiments. If the experiments result in the production of the same "Delta Factor," then they feel reasonably safe the substance can be reproduced synthetically. If that comes to pass, the sleeping pill industry is scheduled for a major revolution. OLLOVO SHEARER 1976

The Truth About a Misunderstood Bill

by Martha McPhee

How Candice Walker got Slender and stayed Slender.

Candice Walker's thick, auburn hair falls softly to her shoulders. Her eyes are sky blue. She has the cheekbones of a model. She has the figure of a model—almost. Yet Candice once weighed 220 pounds and rarely went outside her house.

Today, Candice, who's 5'7" tall, weighs 137 pounds. Her waist measures 26," not 39"; her hips are 37," not 48." Instead of a matronly 40" bustline, she's a trim 34B.

Candice did it with Slender* diet food and sensible portions of solid foods. It took 14 months. But Candice is a realist. She'd spent half her life putting it on.

'I tried lots of diets before Slender but I couldn't stay on them. I tried pills but they made me climb the walls. I screamed at everybody

I was so nervous.

"You see my downfall was that I loved things like ice cream and milk shakes...so when I finally found Slender it was like a thick, creamy shake to me. I prefer Sleuder powder because you can shake it up. I put in the milk and a couple of ice cubes and shake it until it becomes thick and foamy. Then I sip it with a straw. I varied my Slender diet with solid foods. Sometimes I'd have nothing but Slender for 3 or 4 days. Then I'd start off with a light breakfast. Slender for lunch, and a salad and lean meat for dinner. After a week or so, I'd go back to Slender again for 3 or 4 meals a day. Yet I never think of Slender as a diet; it's more of a newfound way of eating—for my newfound life. My friends see me in the store and say-'Gee, you've REALLY lost the weight, and they look in my shopping cart and say, 'I see you buy Slender' I say, 'Yes, it's my favorite pal. I have it in the kitchen at all times. I put it in my purse, I take it to work with me!

"Today I wear a size 11 or even a 9 in some clothes," says Candice, and I used to take a size 34%. I look great in my clothes and I know it. When I'm walking down the street, men look at me. I'll admit it—it makes me feel great! I feel like a woman again!

"I'm not rich. I'm not famous. But I want to make some kind of mark in this world that says I've been here. I could be an entertainer, a country rock singer, even a face model. If I can lose 83 pounds I can do anything!"

Candice knows the hardest part is keeping it off. "Oh sure, every now and then I consume large quantities of sweets for 2 or 3 days. Then I get out my Slender and say, ok, pal, let's get together and take off those two or three pounds. That's the trick ... never gain more than 5 pounds back or you're done. And I've only varied from 135 to 137 in three years. So I'm proud of myself for keeping it off.

"Slender's worked for me, and -

I say anybody can do it."

Candice Walker is a real Slender success story. And it all started the day she decided to pick up Slender at her market—and stayed with it. You can do the same. Just get Slender, and get started.

Sen. Walter Mondale cosponsored a bill to fund several child-care services; opponents deluged Congress with mail.

n anonymous one-page leaflet that attacks a child-care bill has touched off a nationwide mail campaign that in a single day brought 8000 letters to one Congressional committee.

"It's been an avalanche," says a committee staff member working on the Mondale-Brademas Child and Family Services Bill. "With the exception of gun control, nothing. in my experience compares to this."

The leaflet has been passed out at churches, schools, factories and supermarkets, but its origins remain a mystery. A reporter for the Houston Chronicle traced one version to a retired Bible camp director in Hutchinson, Kan., who had made a thousand copies of a leaflet his relatives brought home from a Missouri revival meet-

Straightforward purpose

The leaflet's intent is clear-to defeat the Child and Family Services Bill introduced by more than 120 members of the House and Senate in February, 1975. And in this election year, the letters have exerted so much pressure on members of Congress that the bill's chief sponsors-Sen. Walter Mondale (D., Minn.) and Rep. John Brademas (D., Ind.)-admit its chances for either a House or Senate vote are slim.

Rep. John Brademas, bill cosponsor, labeled opponents' methods as "smear" and as "scurrilous" and "misleading."

Two things strike most Congressmen and staff members about the mail: it. reveals a deep public concern for the American family; most letters are based on misinformation and distorted interpretations of the bill.

The leaflet plays on some of America's deepest fears, describing the bill as a Communist plot to take from parents the rights and responsibilities of raising children and turn them over to government-appointed specialists.

"The American family is one of the last strongholds this society has," one South Carolina voter warned his Congressman. "The proposed legislation is another step in destroying this cornerstone of democracy."

"Will we never learn?" asked another writer, "This legislation is almost a twin brother to what ultimately destroyed Germany."

As the family goes ...

One Oregonian prophesied that "when the family falls, the nation won't be far behind."

Not all the opposition to the bill has been prompted by the anonymous leaflet. But the anger, the fear, is directly stimulated by the leaflet's opening question-"Raising Children: Government's or Parent's Right?"-and its charges that the bill "smacks of Communism."

According to the leaflet, the bill contains a "Charter of Children's Rights" under which parents would no longer be able to punish their children or pass onto them religious or political beliefs. Under the bill, the leaflet charges, children could also sue their parents for deficiencies in the home.

The leaflet erroneously names the Congressional Record as the source for several citations in which supporters of the bill are quoted as saying, "We recognize that not parental, but communal forms of upbringing have superiority over all other forms," and as questioning whether we can "trust the family to prepare young children in this country for this new kind of world that is emerging."

Soviet methods

"This is what has been done and is being done in the Soviet Union," the leaflet concludes. "We elected this Congress, but do we know what it is doing to our freedoms and our rights?"

In truth, the Child and Family Services Bill contains no "Charter of Children's Rights," no hint of taking childrearing away from parents.

As Senator Mondale describes it, the bill "seeks to preserve the family by strengthening it." As now written, it would provide money for such services as prenatal care, medical treatment to detect and remedy handicaps in young children, nutritional programs, and daycare programs for working mothers.

Participation in all programs offered by the bill would be voluntary and would involve only children whose parents had requested such services. Much of the control over the programs would remain with parents. The bill. contains nothing that would change the moral or legal relationship of a parent to his child.

The bill's backers

Already, a wide range of such civic and religious organizations as the Parent-Teachers Association (PTA). the AFL-CIO and the American Home Economics Association have announced support for child and family services.

The bill is addressed, in part, to the 6.5 million preschool and 21 million school-age children with working mothers. In describing the need for child and family services, the bill's supporters cite figures that show infant mortality in the United States to be higher than in 16 other nations, that 40 percent of young children are not immunized against childhood diseases and that 29 percent of urban children do not see a doctor in any given year.

According to Judith S. Helms, director of the National Council of Organizations for Children and Youth, families are facing "a time of economic instability" in which "they are finding it difficult to pay for basic necessities, much less the 'luxury' of things like preventive health care.

"If the family says help me, then we need to be there," Senator Mondale says. "It is the strong family with its values of love, affection and discipline that gives the child the best chance of making the most out of life."

Reputable opposition

Like any other legislation, the bill has its faults. Many of the letter writers offer the same arguments against the bill that the National Coalition for Children presented last summer-that it represents government interference in the lives of private citizens.

Congress itself questions the bill's $1.7 billion price tag over three years, how its child and family services would fit in with existing programs and how those services would be administered.

But the flood of mail now coming into Congress differs from previous criticism in one important respect—it is based on information so inaccurate that Representative Brademas charged last December that his bill had been attacked by "the tactics of smear and deception, the tactics of Watergate . . . and some of the most scurrilous and misleading propaganda that I have ever seen."

The irony is that the Child and Family Services Bill aims at strengthening the American family, not destroying it.

my favorite jokes

by ken friedman

EDITOR'S NOTE: "One reason I like to talk about my relatives;" says comedy writer Ken Friedman, "is because they don't like to talk about me. As you already know, my relative the Marquis de Friedman brought cruelty to new heights when he invented the bad joke."

Friedman, who gives talks for college audiences, has written two comedy LP's, "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About the Godfather" and "The Missing Tapes." He's written for comedians Marty Brill, Pat Henry and Johnny Carson, and he recently completed writing his first film, "Don't Trust Life." He says: "It's about a group of people who meet on the unemployment line, decide to go into show business, and have absolutely no talentbut that's not necessarily a drawback." Here are some of Ken Friedman's

I have what is called a split-level apartment. My rent is at one level and my income is at another.

I went to a low-budget high school. Our school colors were orange and orange.

I'm writing a cornedy about prehistoric music. It's about Stonehenge, the first rock group.

 My father was out of work for years and now I'm out of work. People are actually accusing my father of nepotism.

I moved into my new apartment out of patriotism. The paint job is 200 years

The apartment features the bathtuboven combination. It's great, but if you bend over to pick up the soap, be careful of the pilot light.

My parents were in the nightclub business. I was bottle-fed as a baby and I had to pay a two-drink minimum.

There's a new Monopoly set on the market, and it's really great. Now, instead of building hotels, if you have good personal references, you can put up a McDonald's.

I was playing Monopoly with some friends. They began to get so rich that when they went to jail, they didn't roll the dice to get out, they hired F. Lee Bailey.

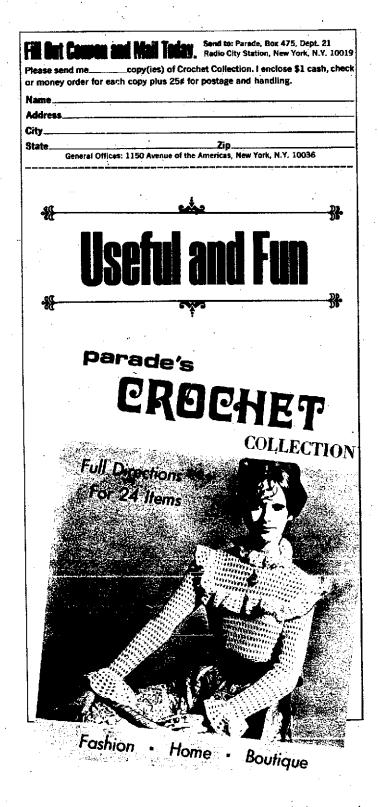

Budget cuts in cities are becoming severe. In fact, zoos are now charging the animals rent. Each animal has to sign a three-year lease for a cage, but there's a hidden clause-"no pets allowed."

Two clairvoyants were arguing about who was better at predicting the future. One sald, "I've predicted earthquakes, hurricanes, and tidal waves. What did you ever do?" "Well," said the other, "when McGovern ran against Nixon, I voted for Ford."

I have a very reliable broker who promised to make me lots of money. It was due to his sharp counseling last summer that I invested my life savings in cholesterol.

I didn't get off to a good start in life. When I was born the doctor didn't spank me, he got me to cry by calling me dirty names.

I went to a friend's funeral. I don't think the widow was too bereaved. She insisted on having her phone number etched into the tombstone.

Hays 'hid' junket costs, then took to skies

LONDON—In 1973, Rep. Wayne Hays, D-Ohio, used his power in Congress to clamp a lid of secrecy over how much congressmen spend on over-seas junkets. Then he took to the air.

In the next three years,
Hays used full VIP privileges,

visiting London nine times, Belgium three times, and single trips to Germany, Italy, Denmark and Egypt - all at taxpayers' expense.

In 36 months, Hays personally signed for and spent at least $6,000 in foreign currency kept on hand at American embassies abroad for VIP use, and he led congressional delegations that spent more than $200,000 while traveling.

Now Hays' immersion in Washington's sex scandal has prompted investigation into these overseas junkets, and federal investigators say they are seeking to learn whether hays misused any of the travel funds to buy art, jewelry and antiques abroad.

The new probing could drag morass afflicting Hays. On one junket, Majority Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, while traveling with Hays, used the Air Force to hays, used the Air Force to ship several pieces of furniture to his daughter on the Isle of Wight, off Britain's coast. A delegation of 29 senators and congressmen capped off the same junket by using the government aircraft to bring back 90 to 100 cases of whiskey they bought in London.

One Justice Department source said that the Hays investigation began with an effort to determine if the congressman improperly used so-called "counterpart" funds to buy costly items abroad. Counterpart money is foreign currency kept. by American embassies local economy.

The Justice Department source said a second area being checked is whether other funds - those appropriated by Congress for Hays' official travel also were misused. However, Hays mostly used foreign counterpart money, records show.

Viking near [ end of trip, orbits Mars

By RICHARD SALTUS

PASADENA (AP) - With a long blast from its rocket motor, the Viking spacecraft slowed and steered into orbit around Mars Saturday, bringing its robot explor-er within striking distance of the red planet.

The orbit insertion maneuver marked the end of a 440-million-mile cruise from Earth and the landing of preparation for a July landing of Viking's automated laboratory to search for life.

Project manager Jim Martin said, "After eight years (since the project began), we're finally in orbit. Everything worked just perfect."

Another official said, "Every-thing has gone as if it had followed a textbook."

Viking's arrival in Mars' orbit came after a computer aboard the grammed commands. The orders had been updated by a transmission from Earth late Friday night.

Early Saturday afternoon the compact spacecraft, appearing windmill-like with its four crossed solar panels, went into a series of

U.S. begins sea rescue in Beirut

WASHINGTON (AP) - A landing craft from a U.S. Navy ship reached the beach at Beirut early today to pick up Americans trying to flee the Lebanese civil war, Pentagon officials said.

The craft reached the beach at 12:30 a.m. PDT (9:30 a.m. Beirut time) for the start of an operation which Pentagon spokesmen esti-mated would take 40 minutes to an hour. It was to ferry up to 500 people to the Navy LSD ship, Spiegel Grove, anchored several miles

Pentagon officials said there were 150 marines on the Spiegel Grove, but that none was to go ashore on the landing craft, which normally has a crew of 12 to 14

Ford spent the night in the Oval Office to monitor the progress of the evacuation. It also was moni-

Millions witness wedding of playboy king to commoner

STOCKHOLM (AP) After a sceret jet-set courtship of four years, King Carl XVI Gustaf of Sweden married his commoner sweetheart Saturday in a regal ceremony attended by kings, presi-dents and princes and witnessed by millions of television viewers across Europe.

Sweden's 24th queen is Silvia Renate Sommerlath, a 32-year-old German who took out Swedish citizenship only a day before the wedding. To the delight of her new subjects, she delivered her vows in near-flawless Swedish after a grash course in the language.

After the 40-minute ceremony at Stockholm's medieval Storkyrkan, or Great Church, the couple mounted a horse-drawn open landau for a procession through the streets of Stockholm, under a heart straced in the clear clue sky by Swedish air force jets.

The route was lined by

The new queen was chief hostess at the 1972 Olympics when the ro-mance began. As the king put it, they "first clicked at the Munich summer Olympics and kept clicking ever since."

The playboy monarch courted Silvia at resorts in Switzerland, France and Italy where they skied, rode speedboats and drove sports cars with Europe's rich and famous. By marrying King Carl, Silvia — the daughter of a West German businessman and a Spanish noblewoman traded a studio apartment in Munich for six palaces.

Bank takeover probe

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional subcommittee plans to ask federal agents to investigate remyung Moon secretly gained control of a newly chartered national bank in Washington, House investigators said.

Among the bank's directors is investigative columnist Jack Anderson.

The investigators said a letter requesting the probe by the Internal Revenue Service and the Office of the Comptroller of the Currency is being drafted for Rep. Donald Fraser. Fraser, D-Minn., is chair-man of a House foreign affairs subcommittee.

The letter reportedly will ask for a joint investigation to determine wheth-er money from foreign sources was used to estab-lish the six-month-old Diplomat National Bank, whether any such funds came into the United States illegally and whother any stock in the bank is secretly held on behalf of Moon or anyone else.

The bank is capitalized at $2.4 million, of which Moon and his followers have invested $1.07 million, investigators said.

Although that technically is not a majority, there is little question that those shares, voted as a block, would be sufficient to seize control of the bank's operations at a stockhold-ers' meeting.

L.B. rally calls for public review of police actions

By BRAD ALTMAN Staff Writer

Citing alleged instances of senseless killings and citizen har-assment by Long Beach policemen, a speaker at a MacArthur Park rally Saturday demanded that city officials set up a public review board to monitor police actions.

Bob Duren, co-chairman of the Coalition Against Police Abuse (CAPA), spoke to about 75 persons ofter a 40-minute march billed as a community rally against police

Earlier, supporters assembled at Martin Luther King Park, where they formed a halfblock-long line. The demonstrators marched along city streets to MacArthur Park, chanting and holding hand-lettered signs with such slogans as "Stop Racism," "End Police Terrorism" and "Honk If You Believe in Jus-

Duren told the rally crowd that one month ago a petition with 400 signatures gathered by CAPA was presented to the City Council. The petition asked the council to set up a community agency to investigate alleged cases of police wrongdoing.

Their request was referred by the city manager to the civil serv-ice committee, he said.

"The committee hasn't met," said Duren. "Meanwhile, we're documenting cases of beatings and killings that show a pattern of force by policemen. Victims of police crimes are poor, usually black or brown and not members of an organized group."

CAPA was formed in March to serve as an umbrella organization throughout the county to coordinate smaller groups trying to document police abuse, Duren said.

"A lot of people in Long Beach are still asleep," said Duren, 33, director of the Intercommunal Youth Institute, a community conter in Long Beach. "We want to wake up those people who are afraid to walk in the streets at night because they know the police will stop them." will stop them."

Top priority for CAPA members are public probes of the deaths of four Long Beach residents, all killed by policemen. They are:

-Cartier Quemoy Reedus, 21,

—Anthony B. Wilkins, shot by police while chaperoning a group of

The CAPA members also want a thorough investigation of incidents surrounding the death of Betty Ann Scott, 30, killed by a California Highway Patrolman last Sept. 20 near Pleasanton. In a prerecorded message, the mother of Reedus told the audience Saturday that her son's death "is a classic example of why Long Beach needs an independent investigative agency to monitor our police."

She said police described the incident "as a shootout, but there was no time for a shootout...a police helicopter put a spotlight on him standing there. They surrounded the park, sneaked through it like thieves in the night, and shot finy son down. The only movement was my son's body as it was pumped with bullets."

Patty to dominate Harrises trial

More than two years after the Symbionese Liberation Army was shattered by death, two of its last survivors go on trial Monday in Los Angeles without their codefendant, Patricia Hearst.

"It benefits us in a direct way," Weinglass said during his extended battle to delay the case. "Under the charges of this case only Patricia Hearst is the one who fired a weapon, only Patricia Hearst is the one who put people in dan-ger and only Patricia Hearst is the one whose story under oath has not been believed.
"We think in comparison to that set of circum-stances the Harrises will only benefit and come off

But Weinglass lost an ith hour try for another delay Friday, and, barring further roadblocks, jury selection was expected to begin as scheduled. Superior Court Judge

Mark Brandler ruled that Miss Hearst's unavailability for trial made it imperative to proceed with the Harris case separately. He said Miss Hearst can be tried later, and set a tentative date of July 26. But the heiress' lawyers predicted she may never go to trial in Los Angeles. They claim they can prove such massive prejudice against her that it would be impossible to find an impartial jury. The district attorney's office, however, has wiced its however, has voiced its intention to prosecute.

The evidence against all three is likely to be aired at the Harris trial.

Harris, 31, and his wife,
29, will confront again inthe courtroom witnesses to the events of May 16 and 17, 1974 — a series of epi-sodes that precipitated the fiery deaths of six SLA comrades.

The events of the two days are basically uncontested. The main issues to be decided by jurors are, whether crimes were committed, and, if so, who is responsible?

That shooting incident began with a shopping trip. The Harrises entered Mel's Sporting Goods Store in Inglewood at 4:10 p.m. on May 16. Waiting in a van parked across the street was their fellow fugitive and onetime SLA kidnap victim, Miss Hearst She had earlier declared her conversion to

The Harrises paid $31.50 for heavy outdoor clothing and were about to leave when a young clerk noticied Harris stuffing some-thing up his sleeve.

A scuffle ensued after the shoplifting incident, and the clerk, Anthony Shepherd, clamped a handcuff on Harris. Mrs. Harris pummelled the clerk. As the three grap-pled into the street, bullets began flying across the four-lane highway. Miss Hearst, wielding a subma-chine gun, was firing from

"I picked up this gun and started firing," she recalled at her trial. "I was trying to fire like up at the top of the building." She emptied one clip of ammunition, then picked up another semi-automatic weapon and fired three more shots, she recalled. Shepherd told at the Hearst trial how he followed the three for some blocks, then was scared olf by someone pointing a gun in his direction.

Other witnesses have told of the ensuing flight of the fugitives — their aland the kidnapings of two of the drivers, the frantic travels through Los An-geles seeking to contact friends and finally their disappearance as word came on May 17 that the SLA had been cornered in Watts.

A parking ticket found in the abandoned Harris van led police to the house where six SLA members were holed up. All six died that day in a blazing shootout shootout.

The Harris defense team - which includes William Harris serving as his own lawyer - is ex-pected to contend that the couple is guilty of minor offenses such as shoplifting, but not of the major felonies with which they are charged. Weinglass has said that the two men who rode with the Harrises - teenager Tom Matthews and middle-aged Frank Sutter - did not consider them-selves kidnap victims. Matthews has described his involvement as an exciting escapade and said the Harrises and Miss Hearst treated him kindly.

Judge rules for wives denied jobless benefits

Women who leave their jobs to care for their chil-dren, or follow their hus-bands to another city, are being wronglully denied unemployment benefits, a state appeals court has ruled.

Officials said more than 15,000 California women a year, in recent years, have lost benefits under a 1953 law struck down Thursday by the 3rd Dis-trict Court of Appeal. A four-year-old case before the court involved Betty Boren, mother of four, who had been earn-ing $110 every two weeks at a drive-in restaurant to supplement her husband's $100-a-month income as a ranch worker.

WHEN HER employer changed her hours, Mrs. Boren couldn't find a baby sitter to take care of her children during her new work period, so she quit.

The State Unemployment Insurance Appeals Board ruled that she wasn't entitled to benefits because she left the job for domestic reasons and her income wasn't the family's primary source of support.

Superior Court Judge B. Abbolt Goldberg rejected her lawsuit, but his ruling was reversed by the appeals court. It said Mrs. Boren, now 40, had been denied equal protection of the law. the law.

One fire controlled, Nipomo blaze spreads

Fire fighters Saturday brought under control a brush fire that swept through 70 acres and threatened several homes 13 miles southeast of Lakeport, a State Forestry Division official said.

The fire started at a dump on Jago Bay Road in mid-morning. Some 178 fire fighters brought the blaze under control early Saturday night. Six air tankers, a helicopter; two bulldozers and 11 fire engines were used to fight

Meanwhile more than 100 fire fighters battled a brush fire fanned by gusty winds near Nipomo and officials, said the fire threatened to spread rapidly in this remote and isolated area of San Luis

A California Division of Forestry spokesman said 13 ground units and 10 aircraft were fighting the blaze, which began at 1

acres had been destroyed, officials said, and a few mobile homes and cabins in isolated areas were in some danger. No injuries

The spokesman said the fire already has jumped containment lines once and added there is no estimate of when it will be brought under control.

Although Reagan slightly narrowed Ford's 90-delegate lead in the race for the Republican nomi-nation, Reagan lost in Iowa the momentum he gained the previous week with an upset 18-to-1 win over Ford in Missouri.

Reagan said lowa, where Ford won 19 delegates to 17 for Reagan, really wasn't a loss.

Fewer minorities in Democratic delegate groups

By MIKE SHANAHAN

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic National Chairman Robert S. Strauss reported preliminary figures Saturday showing a drop in minority representation among delegates to the party's 1976 convention compared with

The figures were released as the party's Rules Committee opened two days of hearings in prepa-days of hearings in preparation for the national convention, which opens July 12 in New York.

Nearly 150 committee members are to consider proposed reforms on minority representation, the method of choosing vice presidential candidates and whether to hold dates and whether to hold a mini-convention before the 1980 meeting of the majority party.

IN 1972, the convention that nominated Sen. George McGovern of South Dakota operated under rules requiring quotas for black delegates, women, young people and Spanish-speaking persons.

The rules created deep divisions within the party and were later abandoned, although Democratic officials remained pledged to increased minority representation in the nominating process.

Now parly reformers are seeking to restore a formal mechanism to formal mechanism to force increased minority representation, first in resolutions before the Rules Committee, then on the convention floor in Madison Square Garden.

With the nomination of Jimmy Carter as the presidential nominee a virtual certainty, the issue is likely to provide the only spirited fight of the convention.

STRAUSS SAID that among 25 state delegations surveyed so far there are 34 per cent women, 10 per cent blacks, 3 per cent Latins and nearly 15 per cent young people.

That compares with 38 per cent women in 1972, 15 per cent blacks, 4 per cent Latins and 21 per cent

Strauss said that although the percentages are down the figures "represent significant and real breakthroughs by traditionally underrepre-sented constituencies within our party." He explain-

Haldeman tells errors

KANSAS CITY (AP) — The greatest mistake that former President Nixon's administration made in dealing with Watergate "was in not getting ahead of the game at the outset, finding out who were culpable and bringing them to justice," H.R. Haldeman says in a copyrighted. series distributed by Universal Press Syndi-

The series, "Inside the Nixon White House," is by Haldeman as told to Joseph Scott. Haldeman, asked to confirm his authorship, noted the copyright and said "it's my series." The five-part series started Sunday.

"The President and I, together with John Ehrlichman, never quite made enough tough moves. We were all afraid to find out. Afraid that what we suspected might be the case would, in fact, turn out to be the case — that it went very high up, to Jeb Magruder and even to John Mitchell, as the April 14, 1973, tape indicates Ehrlichman told the President," Haldeman wrote.

Ehrlichman did directly confront Mitchell that day on the subject. And Mitchell denied categorically any involvement in authorizing the break-in at Watergate. But the overwhelming logic of the situation made me wonder pretty strongly about how the break-in could have occurred without at least a wink on Mitchell's part. It is significant, however, that despite all the investigations and revelations, Mitchell has never been indicted in connection with the break-in."

. The article distributed by the Kansas City-based press syndicate concluded with Haldeman's observations of what might have hap-pened if Nixon had not been swamped with Watergate at the start of his second term:

South Vietnam would not have fallen. The final outcome in Vietnam would have taken a far different turn...had Nixon not been weakened and instead had been able to deal with it

NEW YORK - The future of busing as an instrument of school desegregation has come under political challenge at a time when experts agree that there still is a glaring tack of information against which to assess the educational impact of busing.

More than 20 years after the U.S. Supreme Court cutlawed "separate but equal" schools, setting the stage for massive desegregation, social scientists and educa-tors are unable to arrive at a consensus on the effects of busing on the children involved.

Nonetheless, there is growing pressure from politicians, including President Ford, to limit busing.

Critics say it is the long-distance relation of pupils, not desegregation, that they oppose. But it seems clear by now that, in most locales, housing patterns have made it difficult to pursue integration without wide scale

Many pupils have traditionally ridden buses to school because of the distances they must travel. Today more than 40 per cent of the country's 48 million elementary and secondary school youngsters are trans-ported to school, according to the United States Depart-ment of Transportation.

It was not until busing was used for desegregation that pupil transportation became an issue and politicians began expressing their concern about its effects.

What has complicated the controversy is the limited and conflicting information on the results. Definitive findings on what happens to pupil achievement when black and white youngsters come together are scanly. The whole gamut of educational effectiveness during desegregation remains an essentially unresolved area. It is not even certain what the variables are that affect education under usual circumstances, let alone under desegregation.

"Although desegregation is not to date a demonstrated success, it is not yet a demonstrated failure," Dr. Nancy H. St. John of the University of Massachusetts at Boston wrote last year in her book "Desegregation Outcomes for Children."

"In spite of the large number of studies, various limitations in design weaken the best of them," Dr. St.

John wrote after examining 120 studies of desegregation. "Thus, in a sense, the evidence is not all in."

Researchers do not know conclusively what the difference in the impact of desegregation is between large districts and small districts, between voluntary conditions and mandatory conditions, in classrooms that have yarying percentages of integration and under teachers with disparate backgrounds and experience.

Two California psychologists, Dr. Norman Miller and Dr. Harold B. Gerard, in a book to be published this year, say one reason busing can fail to raise achieve-ment levels of pupils is the racial bigotry of some

Demos reject demand for Howe to quit race

SALT LAKE CITY (AP) Delegates to Utah's state Democratic convention Saturday rejected a resolution urging Rep. Allan T. Howe, who faces a misdemeanor sex charge, to withdraw as a candidate for re-election.

The freshman congressman has been under pressure from some corners including leading Utah Democrats, to drop his re-election bid as a result of his arrest by a vice squad in Salt Lake City's red-light district. But he annbunced Friday that he will stay in the race.

THE VOTE to reject the resolution was 698 to 440, with 69 delegates abstainplea from Howe himself:

"I beg of your for your restraint."

Howe's campaign manager, Eric V. Nelson, 26, approached reporters at the convention to notify them that he (Nelson) had resigned. When asked why, Nelson said, "I'd rather not-say."

Howe said Nelson's resignation was discussed during a two-hour meeting Friday. The campaign has been in disarray, he said, and will be reorganized. He said he thought Nelson's resignation "has son's resignation "has something to do with fi-nances," but did not elabo-

Support for Howe was strongest among delegates from his own 2nd District, which includes Salt Lake

But, in the debate preceding the vote, dete-gate Bill Luttrelt of Salt Lake City said Howe should put the good of the party before personal ambition.

Delegate Betty Erickson of Salt Lake City asked the convention: "Are we going to let dirty tricks take hold in Utah?"

Delegates arguing against adoption said it would prejudge the congressman before his trial on a charge that he solicited sex from two police decoys last Saturday. He has pleaded innocent.

"If we repudiate a de-clared candidate, we are repudiating the party's principles," one delegate said in debate Friday

IMPEACHMENT TRIAL OF JOHNSON

Leaders in Crisis Johnson tries to heal Union

Wwhat if Lincoln had lived?" He didn't. So we are left with a much misunderstood man of considerable courage and character who became locked in a death struggle with less honorable men. The legacy of this still abides.

The illiferate tailor schooled by his wife who rose to the presidency is almost legend. But that is

By the time the Civil War broke out, Johnson, a congressman, a governor of Tennessee and by then a U.S. senator, was far more politically experienced han Lincoln, who had served but one term in the House. Whereas Lincoln spoke with terrible agony of the conflict that tore at his soul and the Union's, Johnson, not above confronting threatening opponents with a pistol, was outspoken.

"WHEN THIS Union is interred," he roared on the floor of the Senate as war descended, "I want no more honorable winding sheet than that brave old flag, and no more glorious grave than to be interred in the tomb of the Union!"

A slaveholder, he said nonetheless: "If you persist in forcing the issue of slavery against the government, I say, in the face of heaven, give me my government and let the Negro go! If the (negro) can rise by his own energies, in the name of God, let him rise!"

As military governor of Tennessee, perhaps the most fought-over state in the war with more than 100 pitched battles, Johnson cried vengeance against the renders of the Union. "Treason must be made odious and traitors impoverished," he said and threatened to burn the homes of secessionists during the siege of Nashwille.

He was put on Lincoln's ticket as a Southerner to calance it. At their inauguration Lincoln spoke of "charity to all" while Johnson, ailing and hung over, downed two thumblers of whisky to brace himself and was accused falsely as a drunkard after an incoherent speech. Only because he disliked drama did he not accept a friend's offer of tickels to Ford's Thealer and witness the act that made him president ACCEPTING the almost insuperable burden of including the house divided, the zealot took on, too, list sobering responsibilities. He came to see, as fincoln had and the radicals in Congress did not, that vengeance was not victory. A veteran stump speaker of the East Tennessee hills, he could not resist a torchit debate with a celebrating crowd fortside the White House on Washington's birthday in 11866. Reminded of his wartime pledge of retribution, he scoffed: "Hang 8 million people? It is now peace.

Let us have peace!"

Johnson held that Congress had no right to pass Johnson held that Congress had no right to pass any bill regarding the Confederate states while they were not represented in Congress. They had never legally left the Union, so were entitled to vote. The radicals, led by Thaddeus Stevens and Benjamin Wade, campaigned angrily against the president and won a veto-proof Congress that fall. Now they would confirm enfranchisement of the freed slaves at bayomet point. Johnson did not object to the black vote, although he noted few Northern states allowed it. But he wanted home rule returned to the secessionist states under the Constitution as quickly as practicable, although he agreed with Lincoln that at first "it would be done badly."

** JOHNSON commenced a war of vetoes with the Republican-dominated Congress, suffering charges that he was a drunkard, embezzler and even murderer. The culmination was the Military Reconstitution of the confidence of the confide struction Bill, which created military districts throughout the South whose governors were not bound "by any opinion of any civil officer of the Ubited States" — starting with the president. Johnson stubbornly clung to his argument that the bill son stubbornly clung to his argument that the bull was unconstitutional.

To further hamstring the president. Congress placed the Tenure of Office Act, by which the chief executive could not remove any appointee who had been approved by the Senate without the Senate's Cancurrence.

Johnson bitterly charged that this was rewriting the Constitution by statute. Even Sen. John Sherman, no friend of Johnson's and brother of the Union general, asked how a president could be compelled to the property of the Union general and the president could be compelled. lo keep a man in his administration who was odious

THE BATTLE came to focus on Edwin Stanton, secretary of war and a secret ally of the radicals. Nonetheless a loyalty bred in wartime restrained Johnson from firing Stanton. Hoping to get the constitutional issues into the courts, Johnson endured bitter insults, defamation, even perjured charges that he had plotted Lincoln's death. Stevens searched in vain for anything that could be a pretext, valid or not, for impeachment. It came when a prosecutor claimed that Johnson had signed convicted Lincoln plotter. Many Surratt's death warrant THE BATTLE came to focus on Edwin Stanton, prosecutor claimed that Johnson had signed convicted Lincoln plotter Mary Surrait's death warrant without disclosing a clemency petition had been attached. Stung by obviously doctored evidence which led to Stanton Johnson fired the secretary Johnson well realized the consequences, but deterning the law of the land and his own conscience left him no choice.

He avaided consiction of course by one vote:

So He avoided conviction, of course, by one vote spid lived to return to the Senate. But the radicals had their way in the South and the United States was flever to know if conciliation rather than bayonets would have bequeathed a different heritage. .

In fact, many officials believe an attempt to force a vote this year would lead to a rejection of the four-year pact and a worsening of Turkish-American relations.

Ford asks OK of Turkey pact

The agreement was sent to Capitol Hill after a White House policy meeting on Tuesday determined that there was no alternative, given several warnings from Turkey that it was growing impatient.

The embargo was instituted because of Turkish use of American arms in its occupation of northern Cyprus. Last fall the administration was able to obtain a partial lifting of the embargo.

The Turks have threatened to close the bases permanently if Congress refuses to approve the four-year accord that assures them of $) billion in grants and loans.

Silver lining

We have a large amount of silver coins. Can you tell us how much the coins that aren't collector's items are worth, just for their silver con-tent? G.S., Long Beach.

The precious-metal content of the now-discontinued U.S. silver coins makes them worth more than three times their face value at this time. The actual worth varies virtually daily with fluctuations in the price of silver. The day we checked with Bob Foster, owner of Liberty Coin Co., 1053 South St., silver dimes, quarters and half-dollars were worth 3.2 times their face value, and silver dollars, which have a slightly higher proportion of silver were bringing 3.5 times their original value. Any of these coins of special interest to collectors would, of course, be worth more. To check on the numismatic value of individ-ual coins, look them up in "A Guidebook of U.S. Coins." The USS Benevolence collided with the SS Mary Luckenbach, a military freighter, four miles off San Francisco's Golden Gate at 5:55 p.m. Aug. 25, 1950. It recognized the "legitimacy" of the blacks' struggle for the elimination of racial discrimination and called upon the South African government to take urgent steps to cuid apartheid.

South African Ambassador
Roelf F. Botha quickly disassociated his government from the resolution and said South Africa will not be "held hostage to the council or accept externally imposed restrictions on its freedom of domestic administration." He characterized the council

South African Development Minister M.C. Botha and black leaders from Soweto, where the rioting first broke out Wednesday, met Saturday in Pretoria, the capi-tal. They issued a joint statement saying the riots were caused by "misunderstanding and confusion."

Botha said the continued use of the Afrikaans language in Soweto schools was not compulsory and was subject to negotiation with black leaders. Another was scheduled this week.

The rioting broke out in protest against the use of Afrikaans, the anguage of the ruling white minority, in black schools. Many blacks see the language as the symbol of white oppression. Black students want to be faught in English, which they see as more widespread and practical.

The three days of violence left Soweto and other black townships in the Johannesburg area devastated. The suburbs are used as segregated dormitory towns for blacks who work in white industrial and

During most of his foreign travel in the past three years. Hays himself was in charge of the various traveling congres-sional delegation's budgets. Efforts by the Chicago Tribune to document large-scale buying failed to produce specific instances. One London eweler, Leonard Kurrels, said Hays frequently stopped at his shop near the American Embassy and bought sterling silver.

Despite rumors circulating at the embassy that Hays spent large amounts at Kurrel's shop, the jeweler said Hays made only six stops in three years and spent at the most about $200 each time.

Sketchy government records available show few de-tails of congressional travel expenses, an area in which Hays made information difficult to obtain. After succeeding in 1973 with an effort to stop the annual publication of travel reports, Hays told a reporter, "We decided we weren't going to spend $8,000 or $9,000 to let you guys do your stories on congressional travel."

Some details are available, however. Data obtained from the clerk of the House's office shows that on a single outing in November 1974, a Hays-led delegation of 12 senators and 17 congressmen to a 10-day London conference cost $86,000.

Hays personally spent $1,425 in counterpart funds on this trip, a U.S. delegation visit to the North Atlantic Assembly, to the North Atlantic Assembly, a NATO parliamentary group of which he was president.

A total of $51,000 under Hays' budgetary control was spent by House members of the delegation. The senators spent another $35,000.

Carol Clawson, Hays' press and said that only a limited aide, said that only a limited breakdown of how the $51,000 was spent is available. The breakdown shows that the congressmen spent $18,225 on diem" expenses. But it lumps $33,500 under the heading of "office rental, telephone, trans-portation and official representation."

Clawson said that no further information is available.

By comparison, however, essentially the same House delegation: in 1972 spent only $26,122 over a 15-day visit. The records for that conference show that only $13,000 went for "office rental, etc.," compared with the $33,500 Hays reported 1974. One reason the records of for 1974.

congressional travel expenses are skimpy and hard to obtain is Hays' legislative maneuver-

Until 1973, Congress printed detailed accounts of its overseas travel once a year in the Congressional Record. That year Hays quietly attached a rider to a State Department au-thorization bill, which eliminated this requirement: (The House voted Friday to reinstate the requirement and sent the measure to the Senate.)

Thus, in 1974, with the expense accounts no longer subject to public scrutiny, the delegation to the NAA meeting doubled its spending over 1972,

SEN. MIKE MANSFIELD Plane-Load of Furniture

the last outing listed in the Conressional Record.

The plan backfired, however, when in 1975 Congress required that reports of all travel made in 1974 be filed with the Clerk of the House.

These reports to the clerk show that Hays and his House colleagues spent $51,000 in London in November 1974. The Sen-ate's report lists expenses of $35,000.

Now records of overseas congressional travel are turned over to the House Administration Committee — Hays resigned the administration chairmanship this week under pressure. The 1975 files there show that spending for last year's NAA outing had dropped to $43,744.

The various records on file throughout Capitol offices and at the American Embassy in London show that between 1978 and 1975 Hays made nine sepa-rate trips to London with other stops in Belgium, Germany, Italy, Denmark and Egypt. During the last nine years be traveled abroad more than 20

Despite his undeniable clout, dislike for Hays abounds among the diplomatic community. Some of that dislike has been responsible for supplying investigators with informa-

ing investigators, with morma-tion about Hays' movements.

One particular source of rancor among people charged with serving VIPs abroad are the events surrounding the November 1974 junket to Eng-

On that November trip, Mansfield loaded several pieces of furniture aboard the plane en route to London. There was no customs inspection for the Air Force airplane, and London Embassy personnel loaded the goods for shipment to Mans-field's daughter, Ann, who was setting up housekeeping on the Isle of Wight.

MANSFIELD told the Tribune that he remembered taking only three pieces of furniture aboard the Air Force plane. The Democratic leader also acknowledged that he never de-clared the furniture either in the United States or before Britishs officials.

According to Customs Service spokesmen, Mansfield should have declared the items in the United States as exports, and a British Embassy official and a British Embassy official in Washington said that Mausfield probably would have paid a tax on the furniture to the English government if he had declared it.

"I didn't pay any duty," said Mansfield. "Nobody asked me and I didn't think to volumer It was a military plan."

teer. It was a military plane."

On the return trip, according to several sources in the diplomatic community, members of the touring delegations shipped between 90 and 100 cases of whiskey, valued over at more than $5,000, back to the United States.

Customs officials said that the information about which items the NAA delegation declared upon arrival to the United States would not be made available to the press.

Women in House joking

And her congressional neighbor, Rep. Gladys Spellman, D.Md., jokes that the men in her office have said they are going to file a class-action suit because they fear their chances for career advancement are reduced because of their sex.

Despite all the joking, Reps. Holt and Spellman and the 17 other female members of the House feel júst as chagrined, angry and sad as do their male colleagues about the broadening Capitol Hill sex scandal touched off three weeks ago when 33-year-old Elizabeth Ray publicly charged that Rep. Clowning around backstage at last week's New York premiere of their film "Harry and Walter Go to New York" are actors James Caan, left, and Elliott

Earl Wilson Actress busiest at intermission

NEW YORK — One of the costs of stardom in the world of Show Business that I have not pointed out before is that a girl whose name is in lights may not have time to go to the bathroom.

Which would you rather ave? Name in lights, or the bathroom?

YOU are at your typewriter writing a column, you have to go to the men's room, and you can go!' grumbled reddish-haired Penny Fuller, star of "Rex" as both Anne Boand Queen Elizabeth, and she was very petulant about it a few afternoons

But in those heavy costumes I'm a prisoner, and besides I haven't TIME to go!" Penny glared as she said it. A girl just hangs in there and she lasts out the scenes. "I don't even have time to giggle. But comes the intermission . . . "

the intermission ..."
It's tense backstage, of course. King Henry VIII, Nicol Williamson, comes out properly buttoned, he hopes. But in the interim in the Richard Rodgers-Richard Adler show, the assistant stage manager patiently walts. Then Queen Elizabeth suddenly emerges looking much re-

OK, you can start the overture. Good Queen Bess has been to the john."

RICHARD BURTON has many tales of Shakespearean actors who eouldn't and wouldn't wait. But Penny Fuller doesn't even wish to discuss such trivia. The point is, if there's a blowup between a leading man and a chorus dancer, as there recently was in her show, 'it's due to the enormous strain we're all under -and not really having any time off." A girl wakes up on Sunday afternoon realizing half of her time off has already been spent in bed.

Penny, from North Carolina, both Lumberton and Southern Pines, with a real acting gift, meticulous in the use of words, declares that her grand-mother, Ruth Thompson, on her 89th birthday was too busy playing the piano to take her phone call from New York.

"I'm sure she was playing either. Me and My Alice Were Playing the Palace, or ragtime. Eighty-nine!"

Six years ago- yes, it's six years — Penny Fuller was the child wonder doing Eve Harrington in "Applause, Applause" with Lauren Bacall and Anne Baxter — the bitch who became secretary, understudy and then stole the leading role.

She knew there were girls like Eve Harrington, who would step over any-body to make it. She thought she was cynical.

"THEN I WENT to a Drama League lunch, and Ian Richardson did 'The Seven Ages of Man,' recit-ing it so beautifully about 'All the world' a stage,' that I cried."

'The Wiz' is a whiz

More than 10 million people have read L. Frank Baum's "The Wizard of Oz." I wish all could see "The Wiz," now playing at the Ahmanson through Sept. 11. This black version of the story won seven Tony awards, including one for the best musical of 1975. The only wonder to me is that it didn't win them all. Any fantasy-lover from 6 to 90, with or without a knowledge of the musical theater, should enjoy this production.

And what a fantasy it is! William Brown updates Baum's classic into an easy, loose, modern-day black idiom. Charlie Smalls adds music and lyrics that will set you to rocking, and, that rarest of things in a musical nowadays, you will leave the theater humming, whistling or dancing to some of the songs.

The contribution that fascinates me most, though, is that of Geoffrey Holder, who was the firstever winner of two Tonys in the same year (cos-tumes and direction.) The colors are stunning. I thought nothing could top the greens and blues of the "Emerald City" scene that closes the first act. That was before I saw the oranges and reds of the closing scene of the last act. These are not the quiet, muted colors of Kansas, and it sometimes makes one wonder why Dorothy would ever want to leave Oz to go back to only have been done by a dancer (which Holder is).

hectic Bicentennial tour of 13 concerts in 11 European cities in 17 days. Everywhere else, the Philharmonic had played to crowds jammed into huge halls.

"It's depressing," Bernstein said during intermission in the little trailer parked behind the tent that served as his dressing room. A nondescript bou-quet of field flowers plunkin an orange plastic bucket was the only amenity. "This as the finale to such a tour, pfah.".

The trouble was that the concert, staged as part of the largely honky-tonk summer festival complete with shooting galleries and merry-go-rounds in the Tuileries, was priced at the top level for a gala at the opera.

Nonetheless, the tent An official said there were 3,500 people present. Most of them rushed down from the bleachers to the expensive folding-chair seats in the center of the floor when the lights went down.

"In an atmosphere like this, there should be popular prices," Bernstein said unhappily. "This is for the people. I don't understand it."

ROYAL LIPIZZAN STALLION IN "WORLD OF HORSES"

'World of Horses' show to play L.B. Arena in July

and 13 at 8 p.m.
The family attraction is a blend of the elegant and aristocratic Lipizzan horses together with other popular breeds such as Andalusians, Morgans and Saddlebreds, in a theatri-cally produced equine ex-travaganza. The program features virtually every facet of the equestrian art and demonstrates the amazing "airs above the ground" in which the flying hooves of the huge Lipizzan stallions fly out from great heights during their majestic leaps. Waltzes, show tunes and brassy arena music fill the air as the horses exhibit glistening hides, jewel-studdled bridles and flank adornments, great waving manes and tails in the spotlighted demonstrations of the most intricate dressage and haute ecole maneuvers, with ballet-like leaps and balancing steps. The enormous pol-ish of the horses and their riders' performances draws repeated applause.

special added attraction to this year's show is Europe's popular and exciting Spanish Riding Show, one of the world's most beautiful presenta-tions of Spanish borsemen

1960s nostalgia film readied

The next movie trend may be nostalgia for the 1960s.

Now that the 1950s has now that the 1950s has been thoroughly exam-ined, Warner Brothers an-nounces a new film, "Big Wednesday," about a group of surfers growing up in Malibu during the 1960s.

John Milius, director of "Dillinger" and "The Wind and the Lion," will direct the new film. He and Danny Aaberg wrote the script.

"Big Wednesday" is being produced by Alex Rose and Tamara Asseyev, both formerly associated with producerdirector Roger Corman.

Time travel by plane and train

ABOARD PARIS-LYON EXPRESS - Going from one era of transportation to another is a compatible experience in France. The transition from the ultra-modern Charles de Gaulle Airport to this posh Trans Europe Express train at the Gare de Lyon station in Paris is like a trip from the distant future to the near future

The time-travel effect begins as you step off the Air France jumbo jet from Los Angeles into a Disney world of efortless movement through a maze of transparent tunnels. Conveyor belts whisk you from the plane to the central terminal and match you with your luggage in a matter of moments.

In the center of the stadium-like structure, incoming and outgoing throngs pass in their separate channels. The transit tubes criss-cross from level to level like a glass subway system to tomorrow. Charles de Gaulle Airport was designed as the supersonic terminal of the future, and it looks the part.

There is some of the transparency and a lot of the efficiency of the new airport in Le Lyonnals, one of the crack express trains of the French National Railroad. Wide windows reach from

ALTHOUGH the TEE train assigned to this relatively short run is not one of the latest super-speed turbo models, it is well in advance of American standards. It covers a route of approximatly two-thirds the distance between Los Angeles and San Francisco in less than four bours, including a brief midway stop at Dilon.

Second class cars are the centralaisle type with upholstereed bench scats on either side. First class retains the side-corridor arrangement dear to the hearts of movie mystery fans, with six facing seats and armrest dividers in each compartment. The train is enirely air-conditioned, with doors which open automatially on approach between the cars and pushbutton Venetian blinds on the picture windows in the two dining

WHO IS this man we celebrate today, the American fa-ther? Well, if you are the new ther? Well, if you are the new owner of a pair of slippers, a necktie or a pipe from Thrifty Drug that draws, chances are you're the man of the hour. If you've had a handclasp from a gawky, all-legs 19-year-old boy, or a peck on the check from a 16-year-old who looks like her mother at the same age, it's your day. Father.

the normal at the same age, it's your day, Father.

1 If a lady you've known all your married life skips a discussion of the bills at the breakfast table to tell you how wonderful you are, then, mister, you are the reason for Father's Day.

In other words, you are a pretty special guy—at least for A hours.

Fathers don't dwell on themsolves. They're too busy making a living, too tired from waiting up nights for the kids to come home, too pooped from cutting the grass and mending the broken gate, too bushed from the session with the bank officer over the lean that will get Junior over the loan that will get Junior to college and give him a "bet-ter life than the one I've had."

graduation is the suit the father didn't buy for himself, though he sorely needed new clothes. Tather looks at the 20-year-old dinette set, chipped and unsturdy on its feet. It should have been replaced long ago, but daughter Mary's teeth needed straightening, and little Bobby's tonsils and Brad's broken arm got in the way. Indeed, Father's bidget has stretched as far as his imagination once did.

BUT NOW all the young dreams and plans are locked away with the mortgage papers, the life insurance policies, the 20-year pin for the rotten job for which he had to settle. The trips which he had to settle. The trips to Paris, Rome and Athens turned out to be fancies. Reality is the file cabinet full of furniture and appliance purchase receipts marked "paid in full."

But it doesn't matter. Father is rich. He has the gold of a child's laughter, the rubies of a son's Phi Beta Kappa key, the emeralds of his wile's green son's rin beta Kappa key, the emeralds of his wile's green

years ago turned to silver.

The combined fortunes of Howard Hughes and J. Paul
Getty couldn't buy what's in Father's heart this day Billions ther's heart this day. Billions couldn't make the down payment on his memories.

LOOKING back, he recalls the day he came home from work at 8 p.m., picked up the toddler playing on a floor without a rug and amid the wastes of a room allowed benefit of wastes of the contract of the contr a room almost berett of furnishings. He kissed the boy on the cheek, hugged him close and said:

... Son, some day all of this will be yours."

But Father was diligent in giving the boy more, for all of practically nothing is nothing when you don't count in love.

if a father has invested enough love in a child and a marriage, he can probably live on the interest the rest of his off the life state rest of the field an opportunity to examine the accounts. I hope your books balance out; mine have this day.

NOW, LET'S talk about A. C. Johnson of Lakewood, a chief commissaryman in the Navy betore he retired with 30 years of service.

- Johnson is proud of his Navy ashmarks but even prouder of the chevrons he earned as a father. That pride-glistened through the tears in his eyes when he brought me his Fa-ther's Day present, a letter from his daughter, Judy Karen Johnson, a Navy yeoman second class stationed at North Island

Air Station, San Diego.
She wrote of trips as a Navy *She wrote of trips as a Navy child, of riding a water buffalo and surf fishing on Guam, of a father who "told tales and wove webs that captured my mind. I was-able to learn about nature by-seeing and living with it, instead of borrowing this knowledge from books..." edge from books ...

SHE continued:

I guess being young I never r guess being young thever saw his hair was gray. I never saw him as an older man, because dads never grow old. He is now the patriarch of my life. It is a mystique that covers me with love. Without ever saying his teachings, he has given me what I am And I am ever so glad I had him there to clear the path and then let me find my own

L.B. urged to develop formal energy plan

Long Beach has taken some steps that have cut energy use, but the city has no specific program covering the entire scope of energy conservation, according to a report filed with the City Council.

Thus, the report said, the city's Energy Conservation Committee should develop a formal conservation plan that would set forth specific goals and timetables for "more significant and lasting" energy savings.

The report, prepared by the city's budget and research division and signed by its director, James E. Phelps, also recommended that the multi-department study team established by the Energy Conservation Committee be expanded to include representatives of the department of Public Service. Cos.

and Transportation Management.

Phelps pointed out that the city's 1976-77 budget, adopted by the City Council Thursday, includes an additional position of mechanical engineer associate to conduct cal engineer associate to conduct 'an intensive study of energy requirements for the entire Civic Center complex and other city facilities, beginning in July."

[Phelos said that while

/ Phelps said that, while immediate savings must be made in selected critical areas, it is equally important to analyze the entire scope of the city's energy consumption and needs so that the program finally adopted will "most effectively fulfill our energy conservation goals."

Long Beach established the Energy Conservation Committee in 1973, with Harry Fulton, special assistant to the city manager, as chairman. It was created in re-sponse to the nationwide fuel shortage at that time.

The committee ordered curtailment of decorative lighting, purchase of compact vehicles by purchase of compact venicles by the city and reduction in the use of lighting, heating and air-condition-ing by the city.

With the alleviation of the critical fuel shortage of 1973-74,

Phelps said in his report, some of the committee's measures — such as lighting on fountains and the oil islands and city-supported Christ-mas displays — have been re-

Mike quit his job for the birds

Now he has chicks by the thousands

By DICK EMERY Staff Writer

One day, Long Beach petrole-um engineer Mike Verner came home from his plastics plant and told his wife and their two sons he was closing it and the family should try something new.

"That was four years ago. The oil shortage looked sticky and my two partners wanted out," said Verner. "My wife, Maritza, and the boys — Eddie, he's 10 now, and Steven, he's 9 — and I talked it over, and for fun we bought seven quail from a ranch near Santa

"We started with seven quail and six months later we had 7,000. I. told Mike, 'The hobby's over! Now it's got to be business!''

They decided to invest in rare birds, mainly of endangered species, in hopes the birds would produce valuable chicks. As a starter they bought a pair of exotic pheasants.

From that start, the Verner bird enterprise grew rapidly. Cages on their half-acre at 2918 Hullett St., near South Street and Para-mount Boulevard in North Long Beach, became spacious, screened pens over a meandering cement creekbed in which water flows.

$66.5 million for 1976-77

.A. harbor budget approved

By JACK O. BALDWIN Maritime Editor

Los Angeles Harbor Department budget of $66.5 million for fiscal 1976-77 has been approved by the Board of Harbor Commission-

The sum includes an operating budget of $18.2 million, an increase of 1.44 per cent over last year. Included is a capital construc-tion program of $33.3 million, $24 million more than the current fiscal year. The construction program is to be partially financed through the sale of $22 million in revenue bonds. Major projects include the construction of a $5.3-million har-bor department headquarters within the Beacon Street Redevelopment Area.

The department intends to spend $1.1 million to demolish transit sheds at Berths 231 and 232. An additional $9 million will be spent to fill in the slip between the two barths.

Among other expenditures are:

-Contributions to the employe retirement fund, $1.6 million. -Provisions for bond redemp-tion and interest, $6.7 million. -Equipment including a new pilot boat and construction of a pile driver barge, $633,913.

—Materials, supplies and services, $7 million.

—Salaries (Including health and medical benefits), $10.5 million.

Next year's projected revenues are $29.7 million, an increase estimated at about $1.5 million over this year. The majority of the increase is expected to come trom dockage, wharfage and preferential berth assignment charges.

Port officials expect other revenues such as rentals, oil royalties and miscellaneous income, to increase slightly above 1976-76 levels.

The Mansell years

A chorus of political dissent and complaint has finally overcome the satisfaction of years of devoted service and has brought the resignation of City Manager John Mansell.

Mansell, himself, put the situation in perspective Thursday when he told the City Council: "I am resigning and retiring for one simple reason-I think the city is vitally in need of unity at this time if it is to move forward."

Noting that he had become a "focal point of criticism" in the city, Mansell said he was proud of his long record in government and hoped that he would not be judged because of one or two incidents.

We agree with that. Mansell does have a long and proud record here. And, if like other humans he has made mistakes, they should not be allowed to detract from his many positive accomplishments.

Looking back over his 30 years with the city—the last 15 of which were as city manager—it is easy to list many fine things he has helped happen in Long Beach.

TOONE OF THE first successful fights Mansell got involved with dealt with stopping subsidence. Then came oil field redevelop-ment with safety and beauty, and battles to keep the state from taking control of our tidelands oil funds and the city of Los Angeles from taking over our port.

There were many broad projects which have benefited the community. Some were Mansell's proposals; some were made by others. In all he was a valuable and constructive leader.

Consider the development of our superb park system, Poly High redevelopment, completion of a shoreline plan and the West Beach redevelopment which cleaned out the old "jungle" and replaced it with such things as the Union Bank and Wells Fargo Bank buildings, the State University and Colleges Headquarters and the soon-to-be-developed Norris Industries headquarters build-

We're in the process of getting a major seaside park on the beach in front of the Pike, the new Pacific Terrace complex is nearing completion, and we'll soon have a new city hall and main library.

The community has long had a major beautification program pushed by Mansell, who also insti-tuted a series of "people" programs, such as neighborhood centers, senior citizen activities, recreation programs and buses for the handicapped.

We've had excellent harbor development, a number of fine new bridges, major street lighting programs, development of a new and effective bus system.

There's lots more, but you get the idea. Mansell was a vigorous and effective leader, and the community benefited.

We're sorry to see him leave his post under the prevailing circumstances.

We agree with him that our community now needs unity. And we agree that the current investigations by both federal and state grand juries should be pursued with all deliberate speed.

WE HAVE NO idea what the results of these probes will even-tually be. We do know they have been going on for more than a year and a half; that they've raised a lot of questions. They also have cast a cloud over the community, and we feel it is the duty of the district attorneys involved to lift that cloud as quickly as possible, or as Mansell said: "Lay it on the line and not keep dragging it out.'

We hope Mansell's health improves, that he has a fine life in retirement.

Those who have complained loudest about John Mansell now have a special burden placed upon them to help put Long Beach back on a productive path. That's the least they can do considering what Mansell gave to this community through the years.

Silly season' opening early

WASHINGTON-The official "sllly seawashing ton-ine official suly season" in this country runs roughly through the hot "dog days" from the Fourth of July to Labor Day. It is a time invented by and for reporters when minor characters fill in dull days in the news, and this year it is starting early.

For example: When the fighting Democrats unite, and the uniting Republicans fight; when Charlie O. Finley of the Oakland Athletics sells all his baseball stars to the opposition New York Yankees and Boston Red Sox; when Wayne Hays, the portly bully of Capitol Hill turns Washington, of all places, into the sex symbol of the Republic, then you know the season is on.

It is the distinctive mark of the "silly season" that nothing goes according to season" that nothing goes according to plan. Presidents lose their power and are challenged by actors. Minor former governors out of Georgia capture the Democrat-ic party. Typists who cannot type and telephonists who cannot answer the phone dominate the Congress of the United

Even in the world of sports, all is confusion. Catfish Hunter, an aging pitcher, sells for almost as much as the Louisiana Purchase. The Yankees and the Red Sox buy Vida Blue, Joe Rudi, and Rollie Fingers for a cool million apiece—about as much as Washington paid the Russians for Alaska. And the heavyweight champion of the world, Muhammad Ali, having run out of boxers, begins fighting wrestlers and gets paid millions for the exhibition.

In the face of this collective goofiness, it is no wonder that nobody around this it is no wonder that nonous around make town is willing to bet on what will happen next, particularly in the presidential election. Even when people say it will be Carter versus Ford or Reagan, they hedge their bets. Maybe, they say, other unexpected events at home or abroad may alter the picture before the election in November 1988. ber, or even the conventions in July or August.

THE DELEGATE hunt between President Ford and Ronald Reagan illustrates the unpredictability of the Republican struggle. It is a very complicated business, almost an underground war, and for the moment out of their control.

It is not just a case of Ford and Rea-gan appealing to uncommitted delegates, or flying to lowa for support. It is also a raiding operation, in which both sides try to subvert the committed delegates in the other camp

For example, many delegates who are committed to the President really favor Reagan, and many committed under party election rules to Reagan prefer Ford. This has apparently convinced some of Reagan's managers that they might deadlock the Republican convention for a couple of ballots if they could persuade some of Ford's committed delegates and their alternates to get lost on the first two roll

Unless you assume that the Ford man-agers cannot hear and cannot count, it is a agers cannot near and reamot count, it is a ridiculous strategem, for the absentees would certainly be challenged and the game exposed. But it illustrates the crazy mood of the moment—the assumption that because so many wild things have happened in the past, anything might happen in the future.

This is what keeps Rockefeller and Connally hoping that maybe in the end, something they cannot even imagine might happen that would bring them back into the race. Even Jerry Brown of California is still dreaming in his mystical way that Jimmy Carter will falter, or disappear, and leave the field open to his "new generation of leadership."

You might imagine that the govern-ment in Washington is paralyzed by all this summer madness, but not at all. Despite all the smarties and pushers, it camps happily enough amid the disorder. The hated bureaucracy, which Carter, Rèagan, and occasionally Ford vow to tame or dismantle, keeps the machine rolling.

It may meander through ill-marshalled

It may meaner through us marshaligh facts, and never quite bring us to the living edge of our problems, but somehow it makes up for the diverted and inattentive minds of its masters in the Congress and Memorial and the Capitol Building is gay as a county fair.

Even the British Embassy, which absentmindedly lost this colony, has returfed the space around Winston Churchill's statuc and powdered its nose for the coming yisit of the Queen. In fact, the old city, which somehow always manages to look new, never looked more lovely or serenc.

It may seem even sillier this season than usual, but it's still worth capturing, which is what Ford, Reagan, and Wee Jimmy apparently have in mind.

NORMALLY. An incumbent president can shrug off challenges from within his party because of the enormous logistical and public attention-catching advantage the job gives a candidate seeking re-elec-tion. But Ronald Reagan has been building his presidential campaign organization since 1968, and has been able too devote his full time to it since January of 1975, when he left the California governorship.

And so even though he insisted on maintaining the fiction of noncandidacy for so long that many of his closest associates withdrew in dismay, since he came out of the closet and became an up-front, full-time candidate, he has neutralized Presi-

Jimmy Carter's term as governor of

Richard Nixon had an even greater luxury. After getting clobbered by Pat Brown in the 1962 California gubernatorial campaign, he was able to lay low for awhile, watch from the sidelines while Barry Goldwater and Nelson Rockefeller ripped the Republican Party apart in 1964, and then spend four years mounting the campaign which was climaxed with his monitarion and election in 1988. nomination and election in 1968.

But it may not be a concidence, and in terms of what it might mean in future searches for presidents, the relationship should be examined.

Running for president is an over-whelming undertaking. It requires awesome amounts of money, and equally awesome amounts of time, and a surplus of one cannot compensate for a deficiency in the other.

A candidate can get help raising money, and can get help doing many of the other things candidates must do, but there's nevertheless no avoiding the commitment in time, personal time, which must be made.

The candidate personally must travel, visit far places, talk to people, and per-suade, cafole and entreat people to contribof course, money, to his campaign. The biggest selling job he must do is to convince others he is a "viable" candidate, with a chance to win, so the contribution is more like an investment.

The candidate who has no other obliga-tions but to campaign, whose financial circumstances are such that a year or more without salary checks is not going to make the credit manager at Sears anxious, obviously has an advantage over the can-didate who has to devote some part of most days doing the things governors, senators and representatives do.

There are other advantages. A gover-nor or a congressman must constantly take positions on controversial subjects, by signing or vetoing bills, supporting or not supporting bills, or by casting votes.

THE CANDIDATE who is not a public THE CANDIDATE who is not a public official can pick and choose the subjects on which to take positions, and usually can find ways to avoid taking positions on matters where someone is going to get mad no matter what:

Additionally, the candidate who is already in public office is certain of receiving criticism for the time he devotes to competent and matter hew head the or

The subject is provocative. Is it logical or fair that a person holding public office starts off with substantial disadvantages in the quadrennial presidential footrace?

Editorial on target

Thank you for your timely editorial concerning the gross receipts business li-cense tax. It is obviously only the tip of the iceberg when a rate of .45 per $1,000 is suggested.

Consider the results in Los Angeles since this tax was initiated. From its origi-nally modest rate the tax has increased almost yearly to an impossible point—namely a rate of $5 per $1,000 for one of our branches. The safe assumption would be that this also would happen in time in Long Beach.

Our corporate office was located in Long Beach for the first time during the past year. Since the income from a number of operations accrues to the corporate office, it is safe to assume that our firm would, in effect, be taxed twice (both at the local level and again in Long Beach).

Be assured that we shall cancel expansion plans and, instead, plan to relocate outside the Long Beach city limits, if this unfair tax is approved. It should also be unnecessary to point out that there is no relationship between the gross receipts of a business and NET income. Operations with significant gross revenue can be suf-fering substantial losses, particularly during a start up or initial growth period.

U.S. forsakes Israel

As the rioting in the Arab-inhabited areas of Israel becomes more and more violent, our bureaucracy, from President Ford on down, keeps admonishing Israel not to colonize those areas, and even to return them to the Arabs, from whom the Israelis seized them in the bloody 1967 war.

Israel is surrounded by bloodthirsty, barbaric Arab countries that want to do to Israel what they have already have done to Lehanon. All day, every day of the year, in their schools and over Radio Cairo, they pour out a campaign of vilification and naired against Jews and Israel even worse than that of Hitler. And they will not end their state of war against Israel, Egypt's President Sadat says, for another genera-

Do we resolutely admonish those Arab countries to stop their barbarism against Israel? That would be a foreign policy of lairness and humanity toward all counfries, as we are required to do by the charter of the United Nations, of which we are a founding member.

To do that would be to incur the enmity of those Arab cuntries. They are powerful and might again cut off our oil. It would lake courage to speak out against the Arabs. But it takes no courage at all to pressure tiny, weak Israel.

Is this the way to celebrate the 200th anniversary of our stuggle for freedom and human rights?

No enticement meant

This is in reply to Richard F. Burke's letter (June 14) denouncing "prideless women" who dare appear in public with bare legs and just "asking for trouble."

Don't flatter yourself, Burke. We are not out to "entice" you. If there are men with their minds on that track, they are the ages, "arking for trouble."

the ones "asking for trouble."

ne ones "asking for trouble."

Believe it or not, some of us women wear shorts to keep the leg of our pants from getting caught in a bicycle chain. And why should women have to sweat through the summer heat in long pants and stockings because there might be a rapist around?

Informed women do not face this problem lightly. We will continue to earry our whistles and be prepared to protect ourselves in other ways.

But the answer, if it can be that simple, lies in the courts. There must be strict penalties for all sex offenders. KATHLEEN KAFKA

This is in reply to a letter by Martha Morooka, who, as many other people, feels there is no incentive for voting. Please consider this, Martha Morooka:

Suppose everyone felt as you do, and nolody voted. There would be no elected officials to run this our great state and country. With no elected officials, violence and crime would run rampant, and every-one would have to move out of what used to be a great land, a land that took 200 years to build and which still stands united.

Would Ms. Morooka like to move to Russia? I certainly would not. That's why I roted June 8. I am proud of the United States of America.

English spoken here

I think the time has come for the citizens of this great country to stand up

Our leaders are spending millions of tax dollars to promote programs to end segrogation (busing, forcing business to serve all people), yet they segregate us in performing one of our most sacred privi-leges and constitutional rights in the voting

I believe proficiency in the English language was formerly a requirement for gaining citizenship papers. Now the trend is loward American citizens learning the languages of foreigners who adopt this country, or else be segregated.

Can you imagine what added expense and confusion will result when our ballots and all other necessary communications of government are printed in Spanish, Italian, German, etc.?

Come on, America, let's/get on the beam and remind our elected leaders that the country has a sound and straight track to run on, a track that has made it the greatest nation of all. We'don't and won't condone any switches or sidetracks that would detour America from her destination-freedom and justice for all. All persons who wish to become members of this great country shall adopt America's standards, not theirs.

L.B, ball parks 'out'

Three cheers for all the concerned taxpayers who have taken time to write in praise of and agreement with Hank Holingsworth's column on the condition of Long Beach ball parks.

I have visited numerous parks in several cities, and I feel shame for Long Beach. Neighboring cities have beautiful and well cared for park facilities, but not this city. The city says it doesn't have the funds. Well, I have a solution. Why not let the taxpayers vote on the pay increases of each city official? We would base such thriftiness during the preceding year.

Just think of the thousands of dollars we'd save and be able to divert to upgrade our ball parks. I note that the tennis courts and golf courses aren't in the same poor condition.

Perhaps some of the city officials who handle recreation funds would like to issue a rebuttal to the articles written in favor of better ball parks. I am sure the "letters" column would be willing to offer equal SHIRBY WILLHITE

Jordan gets 'rah' deal

We, the alumni and teacher aides of Jordan High School, are happy to see that others have finally noticed the discrimination against Jordan athletics in the past

The recent coverage of the CIF 4-A baseball championship playoffs is only one example of the prejudice the Independent, Press-Telegram sports section has shown against Jordan.

To better emphasize our point, we remind you of the Jordan Lakewood football game last fall. Jordan won the game, 17-7, recording its first victory over the Lancers in 12 years. But on the following morning, who gets a picture on the front page of the I.P.T sports action? A Lakewood player who is attempting to catch a pass.

There are many other examples we could cite if we had the time.

We hope, as we have in the past, that the 1,P-T will recognize Jordan as the winner it is.

For the Nixon White House, it ended on Dec. 29, 1971, shortly after the memoran-

Two copies of the memorandum were taken to the House, one for Albert, the other for the House International Relations Committee, which had not asked for it but where it was assumed there would be widespread distribution. A committee staffer, shocked by the anonymous document, gave it only to Rep. Benjamin

Similarly shocked, Rosenthal asked David Abshire congressional assistant secretary of state, why the State Depastment would lend itself to anonymous charges against Demetracopoulos that were probably libelous, and circulate thme on Capitol Hill. Abshire, caught unawares, discussed the matter with William B. Macomber, deputy undersecretary of state, and they immediately ordered the two copies of the memorandum retrieved.

A cold drizzle on the GOP

WASHINGTON...The Republican Parts has been getting doomsday warnings off and on for nearly 50 years, ever since it lost its majority in the House in the elections of 1930. One more warning may seem as groundless as those that have been voiced before, but I venture the warning anyhow: Pull it together, you guys, or the old ship sinks.

Perhaps, "warning" is the wrong word, for it carries a connotation of misfortune, even of disaster. Certainly in the view of many persons, the end of the Republicant Parks would navel a new catestage. The Party would rank as no catastrophe. The party has no particular claim on immortality. If it goes, it goes.

ALL THE SAME, our basic political organization, both in the states and in the federal government, rests upon a structure of two major parties. The Republican Party has served in this capacity since it rose in 1854, like the legendary phoenix, from the ashes of the Whigs. It has survived the lean years of the Thirties; at one point, the GOP had only 39 members in the House and only 16 in the Senate. It survived the Goldwater debacle of 1964 and elected its own president just four years vived the Gordwater debacte of 1864 and elected its own president just four years later. It is a very durable outfit.

Yet a gloomy feeling cannot be dispelled that the Republican Party, as a political vehicle, this time is driving itself to the scrap yard. As a conservative, I admit the gloom; the GOP has been the principal selfitable mechanism for conservative. political mechanism for conservative thought, and one perceives no other mech-anism that might immediately take its

Our national parties, strictly speaking, are sometime things. They blossom every four years like some exotic plant, and then revert to state parties instead. In either flowering, the GOP has the puny look of a wilting philodendron.

The Republicans, now hold only 13 of the 50 governorships. Six of these 13 seats are up for grabs this year; by January the Republican governors won't be able to get up three tables of bridge. The party holds only 38 seats in the Senate. Eleven of those 38 will be contested in November, and eight of the races will be exceedingly close. In only two states do the Republicans hold a majority in both houses of the legislatures; even those slim pickings may not last for long. Verily is, it written that from his that hath not shall be taken away even that which he hath.

The national party, so called, is even punier than the various state parties. The pollsters can find only 18 per cent of the electorate who identify themselves as electorate who identify themselves as Republicans. Among voters 18 to 25, the proportion is even smaller. To describe such a party as a "major" party is to give the adjective a generous stretch. In years past, when the doomsday warnings were sounded, the two-party system itself was in healthier shape. The system maintained its vitality in municipal, county and state elections. Now the system, as such, is in deep trouble. The system, as such, is in deep trouble. The parties no longer bring scuttles of coal or Thanksgiving turkeys to the faithful; public welfare does that. The parties no longer give or withhold public jobs; the civil serve ice does that. The parties no longer stage rallies; television has taken their place. Only the fund-raising task remains, and that is not long for this world.

Given these circumstances, the bitter presidential contest between Ronald Reagan and Gerald Ford seems all the more unfortunate. And it is a bitter contest. The candidates are like two doomed swimmers, bringing each other down. My pro-Reagan friends are furious at Ford; my pro-ford friends regard Reagan as a monster. A New York Times-CBS poll indicates that in Ohio, California and New Jersey, more than one-third of the regular Republicans will be sore losers: They will defect to Control their featured endidate in deviced. Carter if their favored candidate is denied the party nomination.

IN A MCGOVERN situation, such wholesale defections would not matter. No The Democrats now give at least the appearance of unity. Jimmy Carter has demonstrated enormous talent as a campaign organizer. Against a divided Republican Party, he will be a formidable candidate—and he might well carry a host of state legislators, county commissioners, representatives and senators on his denim coattails.

For regular Republicans and for independent conservatives also, loss of the White House would be a grievous blow. The prospect embraces loss of the veto power that now provides the only brake against the Democrats' liberal express. This is doubtless a sunny vision for the peanut farmer and his friends, but it is a cold drizzle drazzle on the right.

But by 1925 they were back in business. They combined their show with another small one to the Royal American Shows, building it up over the years into the largest show in the carnival business. While similar shows were killed by the big depression of the 1930s, their company, with its low overhead, flourished.

That was the beginning of a long involvement with the Long Beach Pike. At that time, Velare says, it was "just a ragbag with a sky wheel and another little hokum ride."

A nursery proposed for courthouse

To the list of amenities Orange County provides for its citizens, a nursery soon may be added.

This one is proposed for the County Courthouse for parents who must take their children to the courts, county offices or other facilities.

Among its users will be the children of mothers going to the district attorney's office to seek sup-port payments from errant fathers

It is hoped the nursery will spare children the ex-perience of hearing parental recriminations and arguments that eften echo through the office. Supervisor Robert W. Battin proposed the nur-sery. It will be budgeted for $33,000, and Battin said he hopes it can be staffed primarily with elderly per-sons, who he said would enjoy the experience of working with children.

Mattel stock on Missile ships to be built at San Pedro

MEW/YORK — The shares of Mattel, Inc., the beleaguered toy manufacturer and owner of the Ringling Bros. Barnum & Bailey Circus, made a sharp conseback Thursday, when they traded on the New York Stock Exchange for the first time the first time since Sept. 6, 1974.

The shares, which last traded on the Big Board at 2, closed Thursday at 7%. The shares added 14 Friday to close at 8. The remarkable gain was one of the few pieces of good news the toy company's shareholders have had in Mattel had requested the trading halt after questions had been raised i Wall Street over the authenticity of the sparkling earnings reports Mattel had been posting quarter after quarter.

MATTEL shares had soared in the speculative market of the 1960s, reaching a peak of 52% in early 1971. Thereafter Mattel's shares were on a roller coaster, sliding to the teens in late 1971, rising to the high 30s in early 1972, then falling to 2 at the time of the trading halt.

On Nov. 3, 1975, a special report was filed by Mattel's special counsel and special auditor — both appointed by the Securities and Exchange Com-mission as part of the settlement of a commission suit charging that Mattel had issued false and mis-leading statements overstating its earnings for fiscal 1972-3. The report concluded that for-mer top Mattel officials issued false and misleading financial reports and news releases for that period and the two prior years to "maintain the appearance of continued corporate growth" despite financial setbacks.

THE COMPANY has geemed it impractical to restate the previously is-sued financial statements, and thus the statements for fiscal 1972-3 and prior periods are regarded as ainfeliable, according to The Standard & Poor Cor-boration's Standard 3V.Y.S.E. Stock Reports.

text of the special report and continuing losses on operations that the shares resumed trading on Thursday. Just a day before the resumption, Mattel released its first-quarter results at the annual meeting, which was marked by acrimonious debate.

Arthur S. Spear, a member of the new man-agement team selected after Mattel's troubles be-came apparent, said the company had a loss of $2.1 million in the first fiscal quarter ended May 1, compared with a loss of $4.8 million a year earlier.

BROKERS and analysts reached Friday said the sharp upward move in Mattel's shares reflected more than one factor. For one thing, the suspension came during the depths of a five-year bear market in which the shares of hun-dreds of companies were seriously undervalued. More important, however, was the fact that Mattel's circumstances are improving — at least as some analysts see it.

An analyst for the Value Line Investment Survey said the first-quarter report was "actually better than the numbers suggest." The pretax loss was only $652,000, he said. The rest of the $2.1-million loss tel had increased its sales for the quarter to $73.4 million from $56.2 million in the similar quarter a year earlier was indicative of much-improved conditions.

a lot more than what peo-ple had expected," he that there was a substantial short position in Mattel when trading was sus-pended. He found an old report indicating that the sellers may have been "locked in" — unable to cover — short positions of over 50,000 Mattel shares during the suspension.

If the short-sellers bought shares in Thurs-day's market to cover their positions, a strong element of support would have been added to Mattel

william D. Schwartz, Mattel analyst for the brokerage firm of Pre-scott, Ball & Turben, said he believed the stock was strong Thursday largely because Mattel is about to see some black ink.

"The earnings will be quite good this fiscal year and may even exceed $1 a share," he said.

Todd Shipyards Corp. has won a contract to build six guided-missile frigates for the Navy, three of them at the company's yard in San

A company spokesman said the contract is in ex-cess of $150 million and would enable the company to maintain its present work force at about 3,000. Production of the frigates is scheduled to start in early January.

The company also is expecting an increase in volume of foreign-flag ship repair work, because of rising costs of vessel repairing overseas.

J.T. Gilbride, chairman and chief executive officer, told a recent meeting of stockholders he expected the repair work, including that of U.S. flag ships, to be "substantial" as the year progressed.

The cost of repairs done in foreign yards is about the same now as in American shipyards, according to Gilbride. Until recently, repair costs in U.S. shipyards have been considerably higher than in foreign countries.

Ray Girvigian, a con-sulting architect on the project who has studied the Capitol's history, gave this version of its existence:

In 1866, five years after Capitol construction began, cracks were found in the basement wall. An investigation showed the foendation was sinking in the soil because of uneven loads.

The reason, Girvigian said, was that the western walls at the front of the building "were being carried up faster than the rest of the building to make a good show and the appearance of faster progress for the main view of the construction work."

Project officials say they expect to remove the tunnel and find other ways to reinforce the founda-

make way for a facility for handling containerized cargo — a project yet to be realized.

The building in San Pedro is to be transferred to the Los Angeles Board of Public Works for develenment as a maritime museum. Currently the building, shaped like an upside-down U, houses the port's security forces and whar-fingers, a small cafe and H-10 Water Taxi operations. The Cultural Heritage Board has not announced when the building is to open as a museum.

Priced from $73,250, the homes in Pheasant Run offer the same popular floor plans of Warmington's Lake Forest development, "Whispering Trees" which saw over 50 families camp out-doors for two nights to reserve lots recently.

Robert P. (Bob)
Warmington, president of the Irvine based building firm, antici-pates a similar buyer response at Pheasant Run.

"THE EVENT at Whispering Trees four weeks ago received quite a bit of publicity from the network TV newscasts," he said, 'so we know there are a lot of families anxious to see what all the excitement was about. And of course," he added, "Fountain Valley is much more centrally located."

The excitement was generated by the spa-cious three, four and five bedroom homes that feature the Robert P. Warmington trade-mark of traditional mark of fraditional styling and appearance. Four models are available; three are two story while one is a single story. The units range in size from 1,774 to 2,818 square feet and in price up to $94,550. Buyers can also select from 13 separate and distinct elevations:

Nonagenarian launches novel career

Stall Writer

When friends and relatives gather today in honor of Margaret Braswell's birthday there will be more to celebrate than her success in making it through another year.

The real excitement, in fact, is likely to focus on the publication of Mrs. Braswell's first novel—an event that comes as the author is about to turn 91.

"I'm thrilled to death. Except for some poetry I've never had anything published before.
"When I finished I just sent it to the publisher, to Vantage Publishing, and said here's a novel I've written now what am I going to do with it?
"They printed it prelty much as I wrote it. I was rather flattered."

Mrs. Braswell, who has spent most of her adult life in Long Beach, chose for the setting of her book her home state of Minnesota "when it was no-man's "Blazing a Trail," is a young Irishman who comes to the New World "in search of peace and contentment.

"Naturally, be runs into trouble right off," Mrs. Braswell chuckled, "but in the end everything turns

Mrs. Braswell grew up in Redford County, where most of the action in the book takes place. Many of the characters, particularly those in the chapters dealing with Minnesota's early politics, were people she heard her parents talk about when she was a young girl. "I've always have a soft spot in my heart for that part of the country," Mrs. Braswell said. "That's why I decided to write about it."

The book, written in long hand "because I write faster than I type," took more that two years to complete. A niece proved to be an able critic and helped the budding author over the reugh spots.

"There's one section I wrote and rewrote I don't know bow many times. My niece kept saying 'Margaret, this isn't clear.' She was right. So I just kept at it 'til it finally satisfied her."

MRS. BRASWELL'S beginner's luck as a novelist is just one of a long line of endeavors that has broken right for the spunky nonagenarian. Twice widowed, she has enjoyed careers as a country school marm (in Redford County when she was 16), a big city teacher (at Fremont and Longfellow schools in Long Beach) and real estate sales person.

"I had a ball," she said, her eyes lighting up as she talked about her on again, off again career in real estate. "My niece, who had a real estate office, told me I ought to get my license. I said I didn't know anything about real estate and she said sure you do, you've owned property almost all your life. So I did what she said, I went down and took the test and pretty soon I was selling real estate."

That was during World War II, during summer vacation from her regular job as an elementary school teacher. But despite the fact "that I could make a lot more money selling real estate than I could teaching," she went back to the classroom in the fall. "Teachers were scare then," she explained, "and I liked too be a liked to 'and I liked teaching.

She kept her hand in real estate, however, until well after her retirement from teaching. She only quit when she did "because everytime I'd get things set up and running smoothly, somebody would wave a travel folder in my face and off I'd go. Finally I decided I've been working all my life, now's the time "Of course I drive," Mrs. Braswell said matterof-factly. "Why wouldn't I? OK, OK, I know how old I am chronologically. I'm 90. But I don't feel my age, I don't look my age and I don't act my age. I feel 30 years younger."

A vount relative describes her "as having more.

A young relative describes her "as having more energy now than I've had in my entire life" and expressed amazement and how she "just gets in her car and zips out to Paim Springs?" What's more, she loves to entertain friends in her bay front home, enjoys dancing and maintains an active interest in Toastmistresses and the Alamitos Bay Garden Club.

FOREMOST among Mrs. Braswell's future plans 4is "getting ahold of Michael Landon" (star of televi- 40 sion series "Little House on the Prairie") and giving him material for at least one segment of the pro-

There's little doubt that Mrs. Braswell won't at least try to contact Landon. On more than one occasion she's set out to do things people told her she couldn't do—and then she's done them.

"Like when we were living out near Bakersfield...there was no challenge for me, nothing for me ago to do. So I up and decided I'd go back to school and get a California teaching credential." (Mrs. Braswell and explained earlier that she started teaching in Minnesota "in a salt of independence... I wanted to prove to my father I could take care of myself." At the time she had only a ninth grade education.)

"The college was 23 miles away but every day, or no matter what the weather was like, I'd get in our Model T. Ford and make the trip. People thought I was crazy. But I kept at it and at the end of that year I had my teaching credential."

MRS. BRASWELL SPEAKS enthusiastically of Palm Springs and Long Beach. "Never was there such a good relationship between a mother and child." She also raves about a "whole carpet" of young relatives who "spoil the dickens" out of her.

Many of those relatives will be on hand today to help Mrs. Braswell and her twin sister, Elizabeth Honan of Ventura, celebrate their birthdays, Mmes. Braswell and Honan are the last of 13 children — "I'm the 13th" — born in the Minnesota farm house which her father homesteaded in 1876. According to Mrs. Braswell, there will be five generations of Casserlys—the birthday honorees' maiden name—among the 60 people expected at the gathering.

"My life has been so full," Mrs. Braswell said.

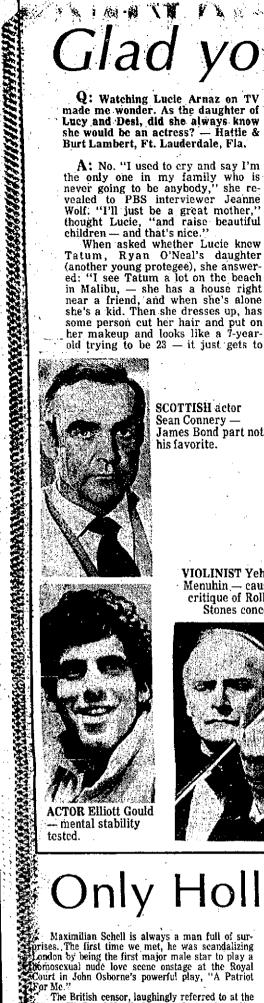

"Lots of friends, lots of wonderful relatives."

Lucie also said that, while she is separated from Phil, her husband, they're not legally divorced. "We just didn't see any real reason for going through with it until one of us wants to get married again. For a long time we hoped we'd get back together — maybe there'd be a way." Lucie also denied that her fling with Jim Bailey, the clever female inpersonator, was a publicity stunt. "He was just a good friend and fun to be with."

Q: I heard that Elliott Gould had to undergo a mental test before he was signed for "The Long Goodbye." If so, why? — Ms. Priscilla Denton, Pittsburgh.

A: Because, by walking out on the shooting of his previous film, he proved that all that glittered was not Gould. The picture — which was cancelled because of his behavior — proved costly to Elliott. He was ordered by a court to pay the production expenses that went down the drain. The wary producers of "The Long Goodbye" had a psychiatrist give him a mental test which he passed before the contract was signed. 'The psychiatrist asked me all kinds of questions," he candidly confessed, "even jabbed a flock of needles into my head to prove I was sane."

It isn't a concert of music," he caustically commented to a London reporter, "It's a spectacle and it's the specta-cle nowadays which fills the need in people for emotion...Only the most committed Rolling Stone loyalist could have regarded this group's return to London as anything but a disappointment."

Menuhin's comments about Mick Jagger were equally blunt. "Jagger tonelessly bawled rather than sang. He looked like Little Lord Fauntleroy and was just about as sexy."

A: Yes. Explains still spry ex-007: "Bond has made life impossible for me. I wish they'd kill him. I have always hated him!" His hate was so great, Scan put himself under the care of a psychiatrist. When a Norwe-gian reporter asked why, Connery snapped: "To defend myself against people like you!"

Only Hollywood doesn't know war is over

The British censor, laughingly referred to at the lime as His Royal Noodleship, was threatening police action. Schell sipped tea in a floor-length bathrobe in his rented flat in Chelsea and grinned widely: "Hell, it's a good part. I'd play a Negro nun it the part was

A few years later, in Cannes, he held a press fronference in a vacant lot. You never know where or how he'll turn up next, but when he does, it's always interesting.

This time he turned up a few weeks ago in New York to talk about the third film he's done as a director. It's a new suspense thriller called "The End of the Game" by the gory Swiss writer Friedrich Duerrenmatt. With all of Manhattan to choose from,

Duerrenmatt. With all of Manhattan to choose from, the invited me to Rumpelmeyer's, a tea shop and ice gream parlor frequented by children and matrons tigging shopping bags from Bloomingdale's.

F. It was Saturday afternoon, but even in the chaos the place went berserk when he walked in, tall and listinguished as a Bavarian baron. Pink-haired ladies blushed shyly and sent their grandchildren over to get his autograph on, their Saturday matince play-bills, then waved from adjoining tables in a feverish reports of giggles.

Unlike the open-faced American heartthrobs, Max is a star they approach but don't touch.

"It's the Nazi roles," he said casually, wiping off it is smudge of butterscotch sauce left by a former customer. "After I did "Topkapi" I got hundreds of feers to play jewel thieves. After 'Judgment at juremberg," The Young Lions' and 'The Condemned of Altona, 'I got only offers to play Nazis. I'm the fazi you love to hate." He sighed. "It's been my greatest cross to bear as an actor."

A bubbling, wisecracking waitress named Ingrid took his order for poached eggs, gave him the family ossip, then disappeared into the cacophony of whisting tea kettles and chicken pot pies.

"I've been coming to Rumpelmeyer's for 10 years," he smiled, noticing my incredulous look. That waitress always catches me up on all of her hildren. Does that surprise you? I love America. I'm lie one who sold Antonioni the idea of using Death alley in 'Zabriskie Point.'

Whenever I'm not working, my favorite thing in life is to rent a car and just drive across America. I've slept in a tent in Yosemite National Park. I've valked 16 miles to the bottom of the Grand Canyon in femis clothes. I stayed in an old inn in Sutter's Mill and panned for gold.

"Why pavorite possession is an old 1908 newspaper, which I found in Bodie, Calif., near the Navada border. I took it home to my apartment in Munich. "Ve spent a lot of time in America and I know it

His first film as a director was Turgenev's First Love," his second was "The Pedestrian," a shattering study of Nazi guilt exposed in contemporary Germany. Both were critical successes that flopped at the box office.

"That doesn't deter me. Ingmar Bergman's first films, people like them more after seeing them a second time. They seem to grow on people."

The new one is a complex psychological chess game between two masterminds, filmed in an assortment of exotic European locations. It begins in Istanbul, 1946, when Robert Shaw bets a buddy. Martin Ritt, he (Shaw) can commit a purposeless crime without flinching, then proceeds to throw a pregnant girl off a bridge to her death. Thirty years later, in a peaceful, pastoral region of Switzerland, the two meet again. the two meet again.

Ritt is a dying police commissioner and Shaw has become an international menace who sells weapons, arms, ammunition and criminal warfare to Arab countries under the guise of an industrialist who is protected by the Swiss government.

It's more complicated than a Swiss clock, with more curves and plot twists than a scenic railway, but it won the Best Film prize at the San Sebastian Film Festival over "Jaws," "The Godfather Part II" and "The Story of Adele H," a fact little publicized but offered proudly by Max Schell like a beaming new papa of quintuplets.

"I wanted to make a thriller, but also to show what happens in a beautiful postcard landscape like Switzerland, where cruel things like corruption and murder can happen beneath the undercurrents. It's a mixture of Hitchcock and Chekhov."

MAX EVEN DOES a Hitchcock bit in the film. If you look close, you'll notice in the party in Robert Shaw's villa a concert pianist entertaining the guests. His back is to the camera, but it's none other than

Retirement not final

EDITOR'S NOTE: Even though Frank Sinatra is 60, has retired once and is a grandfather, he hasn't slowed down. Earl Wilson offers insight into "Ol' Grandad's" adjustment to the 70s and his current projects in the final article of the seven part except from "Sinatra: An Linguidae Biography." from "Sinatra: An Unauthorized Biography."

By EARL WILSON

Approaching the 1970s, Sinatra wasn't feeling. I. He was showing symptoms of Republicanism.

His right hand was in pain, but he was afraid of an operation. His movies inspired critics to ask why he made such junk. He was worth $50 million; it seemed to everybody that it was just a case of "take the money and run."

When he was on TV, the reviewers grieved that his once fine voice was gone. He detested being bald. The hair transplants that he got to replace the toupees were painful and embarrassing.

"Sinatra's going to give God a hard time for letting him be bald and make him wear all those toupees and hair transplants," Marlon Brando said. One night when his ego was down, he said, "I think I'm gonna retire."

The deaths of two close friends, Jack Entratter and producer Leland Hayward, influenced Sinatra to call it a career in March, 1971.

Sinatra retired for about five minutes. The sotto voce rumors that he was buddying up to Gov. Ronald Reagan to get back at the Democrats were confirmed when he issued a chickment charles he was buddying. when he issued a statement showing he was plunging into Republican politics.

Sinatra was with a winner again. That was nice. He hadn't had one for a while. Critics were beginning to say Sinatra was the "kiss of death" in politics.

THE RUMORS that Sinatra was coming out of retirement - that there would be a Second Coming of Sinatra - were heard two years later, coincidental with rumors that Spiro Agnew was going into forced

That seemingly undying friendship of Sinatra and Agnew is a remarkable story of Frank's loyalty to a friend in trouble. Frank often speaks of some-body as being "a stand-up guy" and to him that's a high compliment. Sinatra was a stand-up guy for

During Frank's retirement, every day was a holiday at the Palm Springs compound, and Ted Agnew always seemed to be helicoptering in. Proud of his piano playing, Agnew had memorized scores of lyrics of popular songs, and would break into song without much coaxing.

Cherry bombs would begin exploding. One visitor asked, "How do you guys ever know when it's New Year's Eve? It seems like New Year's Eve here every night!"

'Oh, on New Year's Eve Frank puts on a funny hat," one hanger-on said.

After his comeback, there were rivers of booze to be drunk and a lot of loving to do, so Sinatra did not completely bog down in melancholia, even though things were worsening. His singing was widely criticized.

His passion for rather violent pranks was well known in Palm Springs and Las Vegas. He liked to tass ice cubes in the face of a pal. Some say this was sadism; it's just one of the games at Jilly's. He allowed his sense of humor to go its own way.

Sinatra admired the late actor Laurence Harvey.

snatra admired the late actor Laurence Harvey.

A magazine writer doing an article on Harvey had assured him he could see it before publication.

"I'll shake him up," Sinatra promised. He conspired with the writer to give Harvey a different version with startling "revelations" about "his father being a Communist" and other damaging statements. The author claimed he could not make any changes. (la) vey was on the verge of seeing lawyers before he suddenly got suspicious that Sinatra had framed this

Through the Cerfs and Harry Kurnitz, Sinatra grew more interested in art. He was, after all, a painter himself of clown subjects.

NOW AS HE approaches 1976, 37 years after he got a job with Harry James and 40 years since Rustic Cabin, Frankie Boy has become Grandpa Sinatra. The years have made him mellow, and he is a sweeter old granddad than he had been, but he still has that burning fire to achieve. He has made a big mark on the world, but he wants to leave a bigger one.

He had once talked at cocktail parties of broads; now he burbles with excitement about his little granddaughter Angela Jennifer Lambert. "She's so bright!" he marveled at one party.

"She calls me paw paw!" He loves that part of his new image that shows him to be a doting grandfather.

Despite his mellowing, there are still two Sina-

While roaming around the stage at a concert, Sinatra can talk of his granddaughter and the mira-cle of birth until you feel your lips quiver, but out in the alley some security guards hired to preserve Sinatra's privacy might be bullying photographers.

NEVERTHELESS Sinatra has become friendlier with photographers. "Frank's all right now," they say, "as long as you ask permission. He says, "Since you have the courtesy to ask, okay."

Sinatra's trick of enjoying life is to be blithe about every crisis. At an outdoor concert in Baltimore, there was a moment when the orchestra pit hefore him was empty. Smiling down at it be said. before him was empty. Smiling down at it, he said, "Fill it up with water and I'll walk across it."

Bob Hope is probably show business's greatest plaque-collector. Sinatra could never amass as many as Hope; he never was anxious to get them. But now that he is Grandpa Sinatra, people have begun think ing of giving him honors.

Some years before, the Hoboken City Council considered naming a street for Sinatra, but didn't.

One reason was it wasn't much of a street.
One councilman said, "I wouldn't consider it an honor to have that street named after me!" A head-line writer asked in print, "If we can't have a Sinatra Street, why not a Frankie Lane?"

Sinafra now wonders what he can do now to top Frank Sinafra. What can he do for an encore, for a fitting finish to his career? A finish that he hopes will be several years distant.

SINATRA WANTED to create goodwill, and he achieved major gains in sympathy and public esteem

"We have a wonderful public relations firm. Solthers and Roskin, and they're going to give

With another laugh, Sinatra said, "I may come up with a few more — and they'll love it."

Still keeping it light, Sinatra said to Lewis, "I have a gift for you." "I have a marvelous granddaughter," he said. "I would like to give you a gift in her name of a check for $25,000."

Besides giving the $25,000, Sinatra paid 30 musicians for the three sessions from his own pocket. It was an expensive telethon for him. And two months later, at a State of Israel Bonds dinner in Las Vegas, Sinatra stunned the crowd by pledging the purchase of $250,000 worth of bonds in memory of Mrs. Goldberg "who was my parents' neighbor in Hoboken."

A quarter of a million dollars? But it was okay.

He was in one of his elated periods. Please, God, don't let us be near when his mood changes, when plates and tables fly through the air, when strong men cower and cringe, and when everybody takes to the cyclone cellars.

We like to have him around when he's warm, charitable and charming, which, it's only fair to say,

Miniature piano collection reminder of world travels...

By JEAN SANDERS Staff Writer

It's a woman's privilege to change her mind, so the saying goes. Once, Florence Ament Watkins said El Paso was "the only place on earth I would live." But the 40 years she and her family summered in Long Beach made a lasting impression; and now she is ensconced — permanently, she thinks — In an airy penthouse of the International Tower.

A step out onto her balcony reveals a gull's eye view of the Queen Mary, It's a meaningful scene for Mrs. Watkins, for the ship was among several great ocean liners on which she has cruised around the Next year will mark her ninth world trip, and there is no doubt in her mind what she will be doing in ports of call. She'll be shopping for miniature pianos.

"I decided not to fool with a camera anymore," says the transplanted Texan. "I said to myself, 'I think I will collect pianos.' I got the idea from Mana Zucca, a Florida pianist and close friend of mine,

"I have about 100 now, each representing a place where I have been. I can look at these and remember Rio, Malta, Japan, Scandinavia — so many places."

When she first began her collection 20 years ago, she kept the miniatures on the lid of her own grand piano. It wasn't long before space ran out.

Now her musical reminder of journeys past are housed behind glass on shelves of a white breakfront at the entrance of her penthouse.

WHILE THE PIANOS are too small to have playable keys, many contain music boxes with Swiss movements that merrily tinkle out songs not necessarily indigenous of the country where they were purchased. A silver inlay plano she found in Delhi, for instance, Jingles forth with "Anniversary Waltz" and "Tales from the Vienna Woods."

Most valuable in her collection is an ebony case with hand painted flowers about ten inches high.

A special favorite, because it was her first, is an olive wood plane from Gibralter. In a tiny shop on Malta she found a miniature 200 years old, carved bleeppress. The one she discovered in a Rio antique shop is 84 years old.

On one of her cruises she special-ordered a piano of ivory in Hong Kong. She finally received it nine herself a musician and patron of the arts. A social, civic and cultural leader in El Paso, she founded the Honolulu, El Paso and Austin, Texas, chapters of National Society of Arts and Letters. Her many accomplishments are listed in several "Woo's Who" volumes. She taught at Chicago Music College and Coll after her marriage to the late R. Samuel Watkins occasionally gave voice recitals.

The inveterate traveler, observant, curious and adventurous, has ridden camels and elephants, shopped for food from boats in Thailand canals, climbed towers and temples for views of cities but always in her thoughts is the question, "Where will I find my next miniature?"

Sorry site for valued sofa

Q. My lusbaud is prevailing open me to discard our medallion-back sofa, claiming it takes up needed garage space."—Mrs. W. T., Burlington, N.C.

A. Those who view Victorian furniture with admiration—and this list is growing daily—would willingly pay up to $475 for a medallion-back sofa in fine condition. When hubby learns this, he'll move the sofa from the garage pronto, right into the living room. The medallion back or mirrow-back sofa was a familiar sight in American parlors during the Rococo Revival period of the mid-19th century.

Absolutely no one could resist this piece with its serpentine front and top rail which curved downward in an unbroken line to enclose the arms. Of course, the upholstered medallion-back provided this sofa with its distinguishing feature.

Q. "All I can say is people sure search for some oddlites, don't they!" — Pete, Gainesville, Fla.

A. Almost any object with a bit of age is certain to attract a buyer nowadays. Here is a partial list of items recommended for the "please don't discard" category: old bathroom fixtures, old class rings, Connle Francis paperdolls, fishing reels, figural pencil sharpeners, figural tape measures, fiy traps, "Gone With the Wind" material, mouse traps, nazi uniforms, poller badges, vintage radios, old refrigergators, streetcar tokens. Tucker automobile items, old "tennis racquets and washing machines. Hope this listing enables you to convert some "trash into cash."

DIABETES CHIEF at Long Beach Veteran's Administration Hospital, Dr. Leona V. Miller, advocates more attention to chronic illnesses by health system. She also sees a role for lay instructors to help eliminate fragmented care for diabetics.

Upjohn Award for VA medic

by BEN ZINSER Medical-Science Editor

Education in diabetes. Done properly along with the right kind of medical care, such education holds the potential of $4 billion in savings, says Dr. Leona V. Miller, chief of the dlabetes section at Long Beach Veterans Administration Vestital tion Hospital. Not to mention all the lives that could be saved. One study, she says, has already shown that proper control of the diabetic condition results in a fourfold reduction in the death rate.

Although she's a physician concerned with the care of the diabetic patient, her blg interest has been education in matters concerning diabetes and its complications. And this effort in education has won for her the second annual Upjohn Award of the American Diabetes Association.

The award was presented to her Saturday at the ADA's annual meeting in San Francisco.

It is a prestigious award. The first winner was Dr. Alexander Marble, a re-nowned authority on diabetes affiliated with Boston's Joslin Clinic.

EACH YEAR, Dr. Miller has been giving 50 to 100 lectures to doctors and nurses across the country. She was named to the National Commission on Diabetes, which submitted a report to Congress.

"The diabetic patient has difficulty get-ting continuity of care," she says. In most clinics now, the care is fragmented, she continues.

Her lectures emphasize the proper care of the diabetic and the importance of establishing programs for educating the patient about his disease.

DIABETES, she points out, is more than just an insulin problem. It affects all the organ systems of the body.

Few realize, for example, that diabetes the second most common cause of renal (kidney) failure.

the diabetic population.

She also devised a hot-line telephone program which practically eliminated emergency room admissions of diabetic persons. A 24-hour walk-in clinic was established.

Dr. Miller says she decided long ago that diabetes is "the most exciting field in medicine in that it affects people of all ages and the entire body system in a wide

"There's ho reason lay people can't give classes," she says.

MEDICINE AND YOU

Lung disease responds to transfer factor

The next five years may reveal whether transfer factor, a controversial protective substance, is an effective treatment for valley fever, a fungus-caused

Prospects are hopeful, according to Dr. J. Richard Graybill, an investigator at Audie Murphy Veter-ans Administration Hospital in San Antonio, Tex.

He recently described results of administration of transfer factor to patients with severe valley fever

Medical science has known for a long time that transfer factor, a substance derived from white blood

ben zinser

cells, plays a role in establishing immunity to bacteria, fungi and other body invaders. This immunity can be transferred to another person by a single injection of transfer factor from a sensitized donor.

Valley fever is a candidate for transfer factor treatment because of the body's often poor immune response to the fungus.

In one study, 49 patients were evaluated, and 12 underwent dramatic improvement and 18 improved gradually. But 19 failed to improve.

Beneficial in burns

An ointment form of the drug cerium nitrate has been shown to have a significant inhibiting effect on germs in major burn wounds, a doctor reports.

A concentration of the compound mixed into a silver sulfadiazine cream was particularly effective against hard-to-treat germs known as Pseudomonas

Dr. William Monafo of St. John's Mercy Medical Center, St. Louis, Mo., says that results to date with cerium in 45 patients can "only be described as spectacular."

Dangerous bacteria were suppressed in these seriously ill burn patients.

Reduces breast cancer

A daily dose of the hormone estriol, given to women 18 to 20, should significantly reduce the incidence of breast cancer, a researcher says.

Dr. Henry Lemon of the University of Nebraska
School of Medicine thinks there should be a largescale trial of the agent to see if it can prevent breast

The doctor says observation of 2,000 laboratory rats for their lifetimes shows that estriol has the capability of preventing up to 90 per cent of breast

He says studies have also been conducted among postmenopausal women with breast cancer, and estriol has been found to be "an effective and quite feminizing hormone."

At a seminar sponsored by the American Cancer Society he said estriol is "quite specific for breast." It does not appear to inhibit the development of other types of cancer. A report appears in the Medical Post, a newspaper for doctors.

Last fall, I wrote of a visit with a group of former mental patients who were helping each other get it together, meeting weekly under the auspices of the Mental Health Association.

On that occasion, the group, known as "Breakthrough," was sharing ideas about overcoming the stigma of their condition and getting a job after a bout of mental illness.

Life is not easy for persons whose emotional problems get in the way of everyday life adjustment. A wide range of mental health professionals and clinics provide services to these troubled people. And there are also some significant self-help organizations in this field. Two of the better known such organizations trace their origins to Alcoholies Anonymous — Recover, Inc., and Emotional Health Anonymous.

In 1937, just two years after the founding of AA, Recover, Inc., was originated by the late Dr. Abraham

Low, a Chicago psychiatrist and neu-rologist. In the 39 years since, Recovery has spread throughout the United States, Canada and Puerto Rico, with more than 1,000 active groups and roughly 15,000 members. Its headquarters remain in Chicago (116 South Michigan Avenue, Chicago, Ill. 60603).

THE RECOVERY Method, as it is called, is based on the original principles outlined by Dr. Low in his book, "Mental Health Through Will Training," which is used as a text for panel discussion.

A retired free-lance writer in Cleve A retired tree-lance writer in Geve-land shared with me a schedule of 29 Recovery groups meeting weekly in that metropolitan area, and he observed that the "organization is a bayen of refuge and relief for hundreds of Clevelanders afflicted with the problems of nervous symptoms, including former mental patients and also those who are afflicted with the stress of daily living in one context or another." As succinctly stated by a woman who is a Recovery group leader in western Kansas, "Members are trained to accept responsibility for their own mental health and foster self-leadership."

A key to the self help is non-professional leadership. Indeed, while mental health professionals are welcome to attend Recovery meetings and participate as members, they are quite specifically denied leadership roles.

EMOTIONAL Health Anonymous is a California-based organization of recent vintage. Its program for the men-tally ill is quite literally parallel to the program of Alcoholics Anonymous, with Twelve Steps, Twelve Traditions and "Just for Today." It is headquartered in the Los Angeles area (EHA, 2420 San Gabriel Blvd., Rosemead, Ca. 91770).

It identifies itself as a fellowship program "to help you recover from emotional or mental illness." The infor-mational brochure about the program acknowledges its debt to AA for permission to adapt the AA recovery program to fit the emotionally ill instead of the EHA defines emotionally ill persons Eria defines emotionally in persons as "individuals whose emotions interfere with their daily living in any way whatsoever, or to any degree, as recognized by themselves." And the first Step is "We admitted we were powerless over our emotions — that our lives had become unmanageable."

A member of an EHA group in Long Beach, Ca., wrote enthusiastically that "I am a new creation since I worked these 12 steps for my emotional problems." And as with Recovery, Inc., there is a commitment to "remain forever nonprofessional."

As a mental health professional, I heartily salute the efforts of these organizations. Dr. Low started Recovery because he was keenly aware that there were many more people in need of help than professionals to provide that help. These organizations have been and will certainly continue supplementing and complementing services available from mental health professionals.

Dear Mother Earth:

DEAR MOTHER EARTH: Recently, I bought an Asparagus Fern and after I brought it home it started dying on me. Being new with plants, I decided to repot it. When I took out the plant it had a large root system and not knowing any better and figuring I had nothing to lose, I cut the roots way back by cutting straight across and repotted it in fresh soil in a new pot.

That fern is now my pride and joy with long, green growth. I have had her over two years and she just keeps getting greener and lusher and healthler. I also keep my house at 68 degrees which is as good for my family as it is

DEAR L.G.: It rertainty should! You did exactly the right thing, which proves something we have advocated for a long time: Common sense can be a large factor in growing house plants successfully. As for the lower temperature being good for your human family as well as your plant one, that's good common sense, too. Thanks for your letter. It's truly the kind we like most to get. Happy

And who could forget the cool driving skill of Beth Grit, who drove eight Girl Scouts through traffic at 5 p.m. with a wad of chewing gum in her ear and an open umbrelta in her kidney?

Organized by the Museum of Contemporary Crafts, New York, the exhibition emphasizes innovative techniques and new directions in quilting. Quilts include a 45-inch pop art "Fried Egg. Baby Quilt" by Los Angeles-based artist Ros Cross and a nine-foot-long multi-Ros Cross and a nine-foot-long multi-colored fantasy titled "Giant Flower Landscape" by Lenore Davis of Buffalo, N.Y. Among more unusual and amusing entries are Elizabeth Gurrier's "King, Queen and Castle, 1975" of unbleached muslin, mohair and polyester batting; Gwen-lin Goo's reversible quilted mattress with four-inch high lip motifs on navy blue giana, titled "Landscape in Blue", 1973; and Cynthia Pannucci's humorous corduroy and cotton quilt silk-screened with repeated images of hands and feet.

Asked what he wants to be when he grows up, Sean blurted out a typical boy comment, "I'm going to be a profes-sional surfer."

He takes bike trips and field trips with his students and wants to share activities with a son. "I figure I'll get more feedback from a son than I do from my students sometimes."

He anticipates some change in life-style. "I probably won't be able to af-ford as much travel. I've visited Europe several times and been to Hawaii. I'll probably also have to buy a car. Right now I do all my commuting on a motorcycle or a bicycle.

He said his friends were surprised and some expressed concern about his decision to adopt. "Some people thought it would inhibit my lifestyle, but I think it will enhance it. I'm an avid skier and enjoy kid-oriented activities and watch-

He's never married and his family, including an older sister, lives in Wis-consin and Michigan.

THE DEPARTMENT of Adoptions has many boys aged 9 and older — some of minority backgrounds — awaiting adoption by single men.

"Single fathers want the companionship of a son and the satisfaction of helping a boy to mature and feel good about himself," noted Mrs. Ellis. "There's a lot of love and attention in these families."

An attempt is made to match the father and son according to interests, abilities and personalities — and that takes time, she pointed out.

Adoption requirements are flexible. There is a trial period before the final adoption decree is signed by the court. During this time, usually six months, the adoption worker keeps a close eye on the adjustment process for both fa-ther and son, according to Mrs. Ellis.

Further information on the single parent adoption program or about the youngsters pictured above may be obtained from Gladys Leach at the Long Beach office of the County Adoptions Department.

THE FORMULA Protect pets from eczema

Eczema is a skin problem that occurs in both humans and animals. It can effect large areas or be limited to a localized section. It evidences itself by a dry flaking of the skin, with itching and pain. So don't sume that when Fido or Tabby scratch, it must be a flea or tick.

If this were to happen to you or me we'd head for the dermatologist, but our animals can't do that. So, because our animals are dependent on us, it's our obligation to watch for signs of eccema and do what we can to make them comfortable. If your animal has symptoms that may indicate the possibility of this condition, here's a formula that could alleviate.

them. But if the symptoms persist, you'll want to consult your veterinarian, of course.

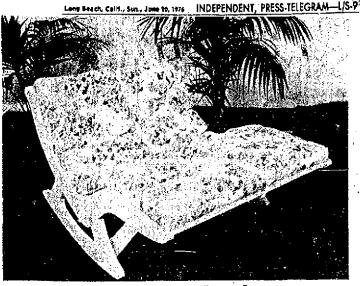

You'll need three tablespoons of TINCTURE OF IODINE, and three-fourths cup GLYCERIN. Mix these two ingredients together and apply to affected areas with cotton. Note: Iodine is toxic, so handle with core.

Besides the satisfaction you get by making your own products for personal or home care, most formulas are real money-savers that enable you to beat the prices of store-bought items.

(Like any chemical product you use at home, you should store this one safely, label it — listing ingredients and noting any cautions - and keep it out of reach of children.)

Right now; let's throw the spotlight on polyester. tr's a man-made fiber. But like any other fiber, man-made or natural, it can be formed into 100 or more different kinds of yarn. Filaments may be finer than human hair and used in gossamer silk-like knits and wovens. Numerous coarse filaments can be twisted together to make a thick, heavy yarn for a chunky

ALL FABRIC of 100 per cent polyester shares reriain characteristics. Polyester is second to nylon in strength; nylon being the strongest fiber of all. It has a softer feel than nylon, but not nearly as soft as cotton, wool or silk. Polyester fabric is moistureresistant, making it easy to wash and quick to dry, though oily stains are hard to eradicate.

As it lacks the knack of breathability, it can be hot in summer and clanimy in winter. That's where knits come in. Little open spaces in knits allow air to compensating somewhat for that nonbreathability

But, polyester's personality is only part of the

knit story. The way a knit is made dictates how it can be used, and the way it wears, what kind of care it

Here are clues to knit types. There are two basic ways that fabric can be knilted. It can be machine knil in the crosswise direction, familiar to handknitters, with a plain knit stitch or a puri stitch. This is called weft knitting because of the crosswise direccaused well knitting because of the crosswise direction. Or, knits can be made in the lengthwise direction, called warp knitting.

Main weft knits are plain jersey and rib knit.

Plain jersey can be identified by lengthwise rows of stitches on the face and crosswise rows on the back. of labric. These single knits give a soft appearance to sport, day and evening wear in tank tops, skimmer dresses, men's shirts.

RIB KNIT is distinguished by alternating rows of knit and puri on front and back. It has more crosswise stretch than jersey. Double knit is rib knit woven back to back and interlocking. It usually looks the same back and front, though the face side may have a decorative variation.

Skinny rib knits are used for the leanest T-shirt dresses and tops. Double knits, because of their stability and lesser stretch, are for tailored types such as pants, jackets, coats and undrapy dresses.

Warp knits, those made in the lengthwise direction, can only be devised on machines. An entire bank of needles whir and knit with fantastic speed. Tricot jersey is a famous warp knit. It has fine vertical wales face-side and a horizontal herringbone pattern on back. Tricat is run-proof, nonraveling, strong drapable. It has more stretch crosswise than lengthwise; not as much as a rib knit; not as clingy as plain jersey.

Raschel is the other main kind of warp knit. It's lacy, but the open mesh is locked in place with an extra yarn. It has a unique appearance, limited

All of these knits can be made with any man-made fiber or natural fiber or blends. Judge accord-ing to knit type plus your preference in fiber.

JEANE YOUNG Fine prime rib on Mondays, Tuesdays

FIRST, A LITTLE BIT of bad news: Tee Cee's restaurant is closed today (and every Sunday), so calm down your teste buds and tell them to be

AND NOW THE GOOD NEWS: Tee Cee's, on Willow Street just west of Atlantic Avenue, is open the rest of the week for luncheon, dinner and cock-tails. Furthermore, it has dinner specials every night. Those specials are so remarkably delectable — and so reasonably priced — that the customers look wonderingly at one another and ask: "How can they

In most quality restaurants, inflation has pushed In most quality restaurants, milation has pushed the price of prime rib, steak and lobster to dizzying heights. Tee Cee's, however, is a quality restaurant which has quality entrees every night for less than $5. Several are considerably less than $5. Those entrees are the result of careful planning by owner-host Tommy (Tee Cee) Young and his ace No. 1 chei, Bobby Pagay, who are now in their fourth year of teamwest.

Tee Cee's is a neatly designed combination dining room and cocktail lounge with a piano-bar featuring the original entertainment of Ernie Woodruff, who has a large following of fans. The dinner special Monday and Tuesday nights is tender, juley, savory prime rib'au jus, $3.95. Like all the dinners, it comes with a fine chilled salad, fresh baked potato, hot garlic toast and dessert of Tommy's custom-made Teaberry ice cream.

The special on Wednesday and Thursday nights is the lobster dinner, $3.95. That's the best Australian lobster tail, definitely a top value. The special ever Saturday night is the 16-ounce porterbouse steak dinner, $3.95. On special every night is another top-notch steak, the delmonico, $4.50, so good it would cost considerably more for a comparable dinner elsewhere. There's also an "early-bird" special every night from 5.30 to 7.30. It's chef Pagav's celebrated right from 5:30 to 7:30. It's chef Pagay's celebrated Polynesian pupu dinner, $3.95, including teriyaki steak tidbits, shrimp cocktail, fried shrimp, barbecue rib, egg roll, salad, ice cream and other items.

Tee Cee's co-owner and chief hostess is Tommy's wife, Jeane, a charmer from the South. She's from Granada County, Miss. She and Tommy were wed 31 years ago in Leesville, La. Jeane enjoys greeting the guests, making sure they're treated like friends.

The luncheons are unusually popular, because chef Pagay has the knack of creating different specials each day which are interesting and imaginative. Most are $2.25, ranging from yeal or chicken creations to beef chow mein and tempting seafoods. The Tuesday luncheon special is always prime rib au jus. $3. The Thursday special is always teriyaki steak, $3, with scrumptious Polynesian flavor.

The Azteca is thin slices of flank steak with an exotic, pungent sauce. The Nescobar is a selection of shrimp, scallops and fish with fresh green peppers, pineapple and mushroom caps, served on a bed of rice with curry sauce. The beef Picado, $5.50, is also served on rice with a delicious wine sauce. All the dinners include chilled green salad, potatoes, vegetable of the day and hot bread.

DEAR ABB 1: Our daughter is 14, and she loves animals. She is not just your ordinary animal lover, Abby, she is fanatic about it.

She thinks it is wrong to kill an insect, a mouse or any kind of bug or rodent. When she sees one of us kill a fly or a cockroach, she carries on like a crazy person.

If we try to set traps to catch mice, she goes into hysterics. How can I convince her that Illes and mice carry germs, and it is better to get rid of them?

Please help me. Sometimes I wonder if this child is normal. — WORRIED

DEAR WORRIED: Your daughter's concern for the "sanctity of life" is admirable. But you can explain to her that unless humans exterminate creatures that carry disease and destruction, there will be no life for HUMANS!

Kuhn applauded for a 'courageous decision'

NEW YORK — Let us suppose Tony the Bookie had bought Vida Blue to fix a game. Let us suppose that the commissioner of baseball got wind of it. He would immediately act to prevent the fix.

Quite similarly, the Yankees bought Vida Blue to fix a pennant. The commissioner stepped in and said nothing doing. He stopped the fix. He also stopped the Red Sox from their attempt to buy the pennant. He has served notice on rich clubs for the future, that they will not be permitted to buy a pennant. they will not be permitted to buy a pennant.

That is the morality of the case. But what of the

It has been said of and by Charley Finley that he

Not quite. When you join a men's club, or a country club, you agree to abide by its rules. The Men you go to court, you attack the structure of your league, your organized sport. Pro basketball did it. The ABA and NBA owners began suing each other inter-league and intra-league. Basketball has suffered. The ABA has gone bankrupt and has folded. Owners lost millions. Dozens of basketball players have lost jobs, and the deprivation is not yet done. When the NBA divvys up the players from the folded ABA teams, men now in the NBA will be released to make room. Ballplayers should remember this when make room. Ballplayers should remember this when they rejoice in the difficulties of club owners.

Bowie Kuhn no longer has control over the players, He has lost that in the courts and in the hearing rooms of arbitrators. Bowie Kuhn has control now only over the owners. Exercising that control, he stepped in to stop the rape of the Oakland franchise by its owner, Charley Finley. Charley O. had tried to sell Vida Blue to the Yankees for $1.5 million; Joe Rudi and Rollie Fingers to the Red Sox for another two million.

Had Finley not been greedy, had he sold say just one player for one million, he undoubtedly would have got away with it. But stripping the franchise in the midst of pennant races forced the commissioner into action. Soon enough will the Oakland franchise be picked clean, as though by a piranha, when six or seven key players walk away at year's end.

Naber gets 1st world record

John Naber is having a difficult time convincing people that he is competing against himself and not the universe.

"My goal is, and has been, to have my best time in every race I swim," Naber reiterated for the umpteenth time Saturday night.

The "Issue," however, became academic after Naber shattered the world record while winning the 200-meter backstroke during the fourth evening of the U.S. Olympic Swimming Trials at Belmont Plaza Olympic Pool.

Naber hit the high note of a record-breaking session before a capacity-plus crowd in excess of 2,900 when he won the backstroke in 2:00.64, bettering the old stand-ard of 2:01.87 set by Roland Mat-thes, one of those dreaded East Germans, in 1973.

Everyone joined the record party Saturday, including the irre-pressible Shirtey Babashoff, who didn't even compete in the nighttime competition.

Babashoff, of Mission Viejo, set her third American record of the Trials during the afternoon when she qualified for Monday night's 800 freestyle final by swimming the qualifying heat in 8:46.00. That bettered Shannon Smith's 8:46.39 set during the AAU Championships in Long Beach in April.

Spectators who paid $1.50 to watch qualifying got their money's worth. Bill Forrester, of Birmingham, Ala., became the first American and only the second person to ever break two minutes in the 200meter butterfly when he qualified in 1:59.70, second only to the 1:59.63 recorded by Roger Pytell of East Germany earlier this month. Forrester will be credited with breaking Mark Spitz' American mark of 2:00.70.

Forrester finished second to Mike Bruner of the De Anza Swim Club in the final Saturday night,

Bruner winning in 2:00.03, with Forrester following at 2:00.08. Steve Gregg of Wilmington, Del., earned a place on the Olympic team along with Bruner and For-rester by finishing third in 2:00.13. Karen Moe Thornton, a gold medal winner in the 1972 Olympics. got a record, too, winning the 200 butterfly in 2:14.23 and Maryanne Graham of Mission Viejo joined the sweep by winning the 200 back-stroke in 2:17.39, nipping 1972 double-gold medal winner Melisa Belate by 1.32 seconds.

The triumph was a culmination of three outstanding years for the all-senior St. Paul's team, which as a prep school, had girls from all over the country in its boat.

They rowed together for the last time Saturday and made it a fitting swan song, adding the national title to the three consecutive New England championships they own. In those three years the St. Pauls girls were beaten only once, by a women's team from Dartmouth University.

The team, which lived at Long Beach State and trained solely for this race the past week, consisted of coxswain Ann Jenkins, Jerry Stone, Pam Berry, Penelope Place, Jen Chardon, Carla Drewson, Cindy Wondolowski, Marny Kittredge and Tilda Essig. Jenkins is from Oregon, Stone, Place and Won-dolowski from Massachusetts, Berry from Indiana. Chardon from New Hampshire; Drewson from Connecticut, Essig from Pennsylvania and Kittredge from Michigan.

Then his De Anza Swim Club coach, Bill Rose, made him read the paper.

"A little girl from the club interviewed me for a class project and had got-ten an 'A' on the paper,' he recounted. "In it I talk-ed a lot about hard work. having the will to win and having the will to win and things like that. "Reading it brought me back to reality I think I gave up in the 400-free. I should have been a lot stronger mentally." The Stanford electrical engineering major with the shaved head ("It's a great conversation piece") took his words to heart and chased Bill Forrester to an 1:59.70 American record. Both were under Mark Spitz' existing world record of 2:00.70, but East German Roger Pytell has recorded a 1:59.63.

Mike, only a few freck-les behind in 1:59.73, still wasn't satisfied. Out came the interview.

"I brought it back tonight and read it again just before the finals. I saw things like 'if you think you're beat you are' and I knew I had to prove that yesterday was nothing at all."

The margin of victory in the finale was even great-er-.05-but the roles were reversed, Bruner (2:00.03) nipping Forrester (2:00.08). "It was just a good touch, that's all," he said minimizing his effort. "I knew where he was but it was getting pretty scary." The two have raced often at this distance, Mike winning the Nationals at the Belmont Plaza olympic Pool earlier this year while Bill took the World Trials and set a World Games record in Call, Colombia last sea-

The UCLA graduate student was well under it in lowering the American standard to 2:14.23. An April bride, she said marriage and swimming are working well together.

LARRY HART . . . American hammer throw hope, as far as hope goes.

Lo, the hammer thrower -lonely, but dangerous

"Everyone who's in sports has an ego. They like the crowd and to be appreciated for what they do. That's one thing you don't have in the hammer." — Larry

Like Bigfoot, they are seldom seen, regarded either as a curiosity or a nuisance and invariably leave their tracks behind. See the small, cereal-bowl sized craters pocking the college's intramural field? Ah, the hammer throwers have been here.

Twirling a 16-pound lead ball on a four-foot wire, they are at once maligned, misunderstood and ignored, they are at once maligned, misunderstood and ignored, practitioners of a primitive art, the scourge of ground-skeepers, a soccer player's sprained ankle and the loneliest men in track and field.

"It's always a hassle," says Larry Hart, whom atmost nobody knows as one of America's leading hammer throwers. "People don't want it in the meets because they're afraid somebody is going to get hurt, or jt's going to wreck the field. You're really sort of unwanted."

LONG BEACH can boast of many famous athletes

LONG BEACH can boast of many famous athletes but Hart, a former Army captain out of West Point, is not yet among them, although he will go to the U.S. Olympic Trials at Eugene, Ore., Monday with expectations of representing his country at Montreal.

Although he has not yet achieved the Olympic qualifying standard of 225 feet, 4½ inches—only one American, Bill Diehl, has—Hart beat Diehl by more than five feet with his lifetime best throw of 225-10 to win the National AAU title at UCLA last weekend.

"I can usually add five, six, seven feet in a meet

"I can usually add five, six, seven feel in a meet because I get psyched up and maybe rest more before," llart says. "I use the pressure of the competition to improve my performance. I like the pressure." In the same meet, world record holder Mac Wilkins uncorked the best discus series ever, but he enjoyed the advantage of performing directly in front of the spectators. Hart and the other hammermen were almost out of sight over on the intramural field.

"Mac was using the crowd," Hart says. "It's neat to be centerstage in anything. Everyone who's in sports has an ego. They like the crowd and to be appreciated for what they do. That's something you don't have in the

FOR A MOMENT, Larry is thinking like a promot-

"The reason hockey is so popular is because of the violence," he says. "Maybe they could use that idea in the hammer. I wouldn't ever want to hurt anybody, but they ward billion always exists."

that possibility always exists."

Because of that possibility, as well as the inevitable divols in the landscape, hammer throwers have trouble tinding places not only to compete but to practice. That's why Hart, 28, lives in Long Beach with his wife Marilyn and 7-month-old son, Casey. He works for the Port of Long Beach as a civil engineer assistant in cost while stationed at Fort MacArthur with the Army track team, he discovered that most of the Southland's hammer throwers, as few as they may be, work out on the back lot at Long Beach State.

"I wanted to continue throwing," Larry says, "and Long Beach is the only place I've found where it's not a

BUT EVEN when they find a place to practice.

there is nobody to coach them. 'I don't feel anyone in this country really knows the proper way to throw the hammer," Hart says, "because it's so technical. Simple, but technical." Apparently, the Russians and Germans are far ahead in developing the event. "I think they must be," Larry says, "because a lot of them are throwing in the 250 range. But our shotputters are better, our discus throwers are better, so how do you explain that their hammer throwers are much better?"

Lawrence Thomas Hart does not delude himself into believing he has a chance for an Olympic medal. The Russians have put the hammer right up there with the sickle, and the West Germans are equally awesome. Hart once competed against West Germany's Walter Schmidt, who has been credited unofficially with a heave of 260 feet.

"I didn't think his technique was much different than mine—but he threw 249 and I threw 218."

HART HAD a lot of time to think about it when he was in Vietnam in 1969-70, serving part of his mandatory five years active duly after graduation from West Point. He was one of a group of four advisors to a South Vietnamese infantry battalion, whose mission was more pacification than combat.

"My battalion wasn't too interested in getting involved," Larry says. "They thought as long as the year. I wasn't in favor of the war, anyway."

Generally, Larry found it no more dangerous than standing around hammer throwers.

"There were a lot of booby traps, but we waiked in the middle of the column with the Vietnamese officers, so it was usually the guys in the front that got it.

"One time it was kind of a bad scene. There were some rounds coming in and I jumped in a foxhole that had filled up with water. That was a miserable night, but that's the only time we had contact with the enemy.

HART, 6-2 and 220, was a state shotput champion in Hinsdale, Ill., but was recruited to West Point as a football player by Paul Dietzel, then the coach.

"When I got there, Dietzel insisted that the football players go out for spring football, and I wanted to keep competing in track see competing in track, so .

Even then, he was discouraged from attempting the hammer throw.

"Back East it's in all the college meets," Larry "but when I wanted to do it as a freshman, my coach said, 'Just stick with the shot and discus.'

"So I practiced on my own—in secret, almost. At the end of practice when the coach was off, I'd go over and take a few throws."

Hart failed to qualify for the '72 Olympic team because "I got a lot of advice that didn't work."

This year he has progressed enough to rate as one of the top two or three favorites.

"I decided to stick with what I thought was the right thing," he says. "I'm sure it's not the right thing. I'm sure I could throw a lot farther if I knew what the proper technique was.
"Unless I can find out somehow what the Euro-

Longshot Lutz feels he has a chance in the 200

Mark Lutz, the young man who defeated the Russian Olympic sprint champion two years ago, leaves Long Beach today for the U.S. Olympic track trials in Eugene, Ore., with the feeling that he has two strikes against him with two out in the bottom of the ninth.

He is strictly a dark-horse in a highly competitive 200 meter field. On the other hand, his bride of five months - Francie Larries. America's foremost distass distance runner — is considered a cinch in the 1,500 meters and is given a shot at the gold medal next month in Montreal.

The combination of those two factors would olunge most persons into a fit of depression, but the 24-year-old Pacific Coast Club of Longg Beach competitor has mapped counteracting strategy.

"I REALIZE that I'm a longshot when I look at the other contenders, but I definitely feel that I have a chance," said Mark, whose 200-meter trials are scheduled Monday and

"Here's why. I've raced against all the other top sprinters except Steve Williams and Harvey Glance, and ve been competitive. I have as much chance as anyone

"What will work to my advantage is that most of the others will be in the 100 meter trials Saturday and Sunday, and they will have four hard races. If they double for the 200 meters, they will be a little weakened. Also, some of those who qualify for the team in the 100 may not try for the 200 may not try for the 200.

Both these considerations enhance my chances.

"Everybody considers me the weaker of the Larricu-Lutz entry, but that doesn't bother me because Francie is so great. What I want is for us to be the second husband and wife team (the Connollys were first) to be on the U.S. Olympic team.

"A lot of things could come out of that. Commercials, endorsements, things like that. You don't get any other compensation out of track, so you have to look ahead to other things."

THE YEAR 1974 was a very good one for Mark. His University of Kansas440-yard relay team won the NCAA title and he beat Olympic champion Valeriy Borzov in a -Russia meet in North Carolina.

"I realize Borzov wasn't in prime shape then, but he was—and still is—the Olympic champion. When you beat the best man, you've got to feel good," remarked

There was one very bad moment, though, when Mark and a couple teammates were tossed off the Kansas team temporarily for smoking funny cigarettes. "Kansas might be the only campus in the country where so much would have been made of smoking marijuana," snorted Tom Jennings, the PCC coach who recruited the Minnesota native out of Kansas when Mark finished there in '74,

"I hope nobedy in Kansas is alarmed that Mark shares his Long Beach apartment with a woman. It's all legal, you know.

THE MARRIAGE of Lutz and Jennings started on a rocky note.

"It took Mark a little while to get adjusted to California and the year-round training, and he had a poor season in '75," said Tom, whose PCC team is an elite group of 20 stars, 12 of whom are projected as Olympians (as Francie) and eight others, such as Mark, who have a shot.

"But currently he is in very good condition; in fact, the best shape he has ever been in. Mark had equal admiration for Jennings.

"Tom has taken good care of me and I've been in a lot of competitions that I otherwise wouldn't have been in," explained Lutz. "He took me right out of college and put me in meets.

"He'd be the first to admit that he's not really a coach, but as a manager and businessman, he's the

LOOKING BACK, Mark believes his career would have skyrocketed faster if he had the opportunity to live in California, instead of Minnesota and Kansas.

"I had two good years at Kansas, but in the back of my mind I think I would have performed better here," he said. "I raced a lot indoors at Kansas and I've come lot indoors. to believe it's better never to run indoors.

in the 50s and raining one day here, and I thought it was terrible. I was in Rochester (Minn.) for two weeks around Christmas, and hardly went outside. I can't stand the cold weather anymore. No way I'd go back to Minnesota or Kansas; the weather there is too erratic.'

FRANCIE AND MARK...2nd honeymoon in Montreal?

IHS TRAINING this year with UCLA coach Jim Bush snapped him out of his lethargy, Lutz claims.

"Jim Bush is by far the best 440 coach in the country and that's what I've been working on. I've run Bush's 440 program all year. Lately I've been dropping dawn and dairs are mad wear and the combination of february and dairs are well the combination of february and the combination of the comb down and doing speed work, and the combination of both should have me in top shape for the trials in Oregon.

"I had a very bad season last year for a variety of reasons. It was my first year out of college and I was trying to coach myself. Then, I was far too many meets and got discouraged at my sinking performances. I laid off for two months after the summer meets in Europe, and things got better.

"I cut down on my number of competitions—from 40 in '75 to eight this year. I've been in only one indoor meet-Rush doesn't believe in sprinters running on those indoor ovals.'

JENNINGS AND Lutz are in slight disagreement about the marriage factor as motivation for the Larrieuintz combine.

"Their marriage has motivated Mark and Francice even more to make the Olympic team," claimed Tom, "Marriage has helped me. I'm a person who has to be in a routine," acknowledged Mark. "I'm not living in a suitcase as I did before. I'm more secure now.

"As for actual motivation since being married,

"As for actual motivation since being married, there has been a little bit more, but not too much. I'd' known Francie for a long time, so it wasn't like suddenly being together with a stranger. I never get any pressure from her, either. She doesn't say, 'You have to make the Olympic team,' or things like that.

"What is a deep motivation for me is that I'm at a peak period right now — 23, 24, 25 years old is when most sprinters are at their best. After that, you start burning out. I may go on for another two years, but the burning out. I may go on for another two years, but the 1980 Olympics are definitely out for me."

LUTZ IS constantly being reminded that he's the "white hope" of sprinters, but he underplays this thinking.

"I try not to make that a big deal, although I realize that a lot of people are talking that way. What really matters to me only is how well I run.
"I must be mentally ready for the trials because I'm an underdog. Two weeks ago in Wichita I telt that I was really ready, but the last two weeks I've been

"I've got to put those negative feelings out of my mind. If I don't make the Olympic team, it won't be the end of my life. I've got to look at it realistically. There are some pretty good men running against me.
"It would be something, though, if Francie and I lieve it's better never to run indoors. could make the Olympic team. Mr. and Mrs. Larrieu"I've become totally 'Californianized' now. It was Lutz would never forget it."

Taking shape

Olympic Park at Montreal, site of the track and field events for the 19th Olympic Games, was little more than a shell four months ago, but "could host the Games today, if necessary," says Lionel Reeves, a major engineer on the project.

Olympic refrain: 'We'll get 'er done'

By GORDON VERRELL Staff Writer

MONTREAL—Four years ago, when Montreal successfully bid for the 1976 Summer Olympics, the city fathers promised everything would be ready, that there was nothing to worry about.

Since then progressive Mayor Jean Drapeau, the No. 1 supporter behind the Olympic bandwagon, has been planty to worry about mainly into seeing to had plenty to worry about-mainly who's going to pick up the tab on the expected deficit of $1.1 billion. But, as the mayor promised, Olympic Park—the 70,000-seat Olympic Stadium, the 9,200-seat Velodrome and the Olympic Village that will house 8,000 athletes—will be ready to go Saturday, July 17, for the opening ceremonies.

Oh, there will be some rough edges. Nothing the magnitude of the Olympic Games escapes all the problems.

The major problem, aside from the construction, is obvious: security. The Organizing Committee has ne to drastic extremes to avoid a repeat of the Munich tragedy.

So drastic, in fact, that Canada will provide more armed forces personnel than it did for the Korean War. There will be more than 5,600 combat troops with another 3,350 in support.

In all, the security forces will out number the athletes, 16,000 to 12,000.

Security at the Games' site, even today, is light.

A visitor doesn't just drive up to the stadium. park his car and look over the construction. He must be cleared by the publicity people, is handed a hard hat and provided with a guide.

But it is a marvelous setting, the only thing that still appears lacking is landscaping—and that's going in now—and the cleaning up.

"Everyone who has seen it has come away impressed," said our French-speaking guide, obviously proud of this magnificent project.

Our guide wasn't the only one proud of the accompishment. The carpenters, painters, electricians... everyone involved in the construction... appeared pleased to be a part of something so vast as the Olympia General the Olympic Games.

One reason, of course, is the fact that some of 3,500 workers, figuring overtime and all, are averaging $1,200-$1,500 per week, some of them for as long as two years.

In just a few weeks the site has improved from what one member of the media described as "an obstacle course" to something close to reality.

"I can promise you that it will be finished," Lionel Reeves, the assistant to the general engineer for construction, amounced for probably the umpteenth time. "In some areas there will be bare concrete, but these will be in areas not needed for the Games. In the essential areas we are actually ahead

"I can show you pictures taken in the fall of 1974." where there was nothing here but 38 holes in the ground. Then we had a four-month strike, which: means we really didn't get started on the actual construction until May of 1975. Considering what we've accomplished since then the rost chould be." we've accomplished since then, the rest should be ...

One of the newspapers here goes one step fur-61 ther. "A miracle," wrote one columnist.

Reeves said he wasn't certain of the final costanfigures, but he did say, "I'd guess it would come too; around $800 million. The $1.1 billion that has mention: G. ed would be for everything. But what choice do week have. We have to be done on time.'

One thing that definitely won't be completed is the retractable roof on the stadium. But the baseball a Expos and the football Alouettes, who will be the major tenants in the stadium following the Games (the Expos not until the 1977 season), insist that the roof will be completed at a later date.

"Right now," says Reeves, "our primary concern is the Games."

At that moment a truck driver climbed out of the cab of his truck, greeted Reeves and his guests—smiling, of course—and shouted, "Tell 'em there's nothing to worry about, Mr. Reeves. We'll get 'er', one out. But Stanhouse retifed the next three bat-ters—Bill Buckner, Dusty Baker and Henry Cruz—on popups.

The Dodgers got their only run by bunching a couple of walks and two singles, hardly the type of attack to put fear in the Expos, much less Cincinwalk to Cey followed by singles by Buckner and Baker filled the bases. Stanhouse then walked Cruz to force in a run. That was the whole sligow offensively.

It was enough for seven innings as John, who went the distance against the Expos last Sunday in Dodger Stadium, allowed only three singles and appeared headed for his first whitent in the results.

shutout in two years.
That hope vanished in the eighth when Jim Cox dumped a single into center, deep enough to score ter, deep enough to score pinch runner Jim Lyttle, o was running for Tim

he Expos then won it in the ninth against T'A guy can't pitch any bester than that," pitching coach Red Adams said of John agreed. For everything—my control, movement of the ball, keeping the ball down all day—it was the best I've pitched," said Mr. Comeback.

"Really, it's a shame not winning a game like that. It's especially tough since the ball Cox hit to tie the game was a perfect pitch. He hit it off the end of his bat. If he doesn't hit it, it goes in the dirt." On the dismal offensive backing he received, John shrugged his shoulders and said: "You can't pitch according to the other giy. It's like playing golf. You play the course, not the other guys. I just have the out and pitch against the Montreal Expos, or whoever it might be, and not worry if the other guy is, throwing nothing but zeroes."

On the current trip the Dodgers are 2-3, losing by scores of 2-1, 1-0 and 2-1.

Steve Yeager got one of the Dodgers' hits, a single, but also grounded into a double play with the bases loaded (after Cruz walked) and flied out in the ninth with a runner on second. Yeager, now hitting .226 after a high of .290 just three weeks ago, has only one hit in his last 20 at bats and two in his last 27

Baker, expected to produce runs, hasn't. He has just three RBIs in the month of June, seven since May 12 and none in the last five games.

So it's been the pitching, off-form a month ago but sharp now, that's kept the Dodgers in the hunt.

PODGERS Foster paces 4-3 Cincinnati victory

PHILADELPHIA (AP)

"I just hit it out of his each," said George Foster of his slicing fly ball to right field for a seventhinning triple that turned out to be the key hit for the Cincinnati Reds in their 4-3 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies

Saturday.
That's not the way

Phillies manager Danny Ozark saw the play.

"The ball should have been caught, no question about it." said Ozark. "A right-hander usually slices when he hits the ball that Foster scored the winning run when the next batter, Tony Perez, hit a sacrifice fly. Reliever Rawly Eastwick protected the lead for two innings to earn his eighth save.

Eastwick retired six batters after replacing winning pitcher Gary Nolan, 7-3, in the eighth.

Jay Johnstone, the Phillies' right fielder, al-most caught up with Foster's drive but said he had trouble seeing the ball.

Foster said the pitch from reliever Ron Reed, 5-2, was a fast ball.

"He (Reed) got it where he wanted," Foster said.
"I thought Johnstone might get to it. But I saw it bounce. Now I'm thinking triple so a fly ball can get us the run,"

Foster churned into third well ahead of John-stone's throw after the outfielder finally recover-ed the ball ed the ball.

Foster is on a tear with an eight-game hitting streak during which he has 14 hits in 32 at-bats for a 438 average. He has had three home runs and six RBI during the surge.

The 28-year old Nolan. The 28-year old Nolan, who came back last season to win 15 games after being sidelined for two years with an ailing shoulder, said he wasn't upset at not getting his fourth straight complete game, something he has nover something he has never done before.

250,000 Hollywood Gold Cup today

By HANK HOLLINGWORTH

Nine horses have been entered in today's $250,000 Hollywood Gold Cup, but because of a strange quirk there will be only five wagering interests.

Ancient Title is the overnight favorite at 7-5, but the "Tive-horse "Charlie Whittingham" entry has been established as second choice at 8-5.

The "Whittingham" entry consists of Dahlia, Riot In Paris, Mateor, Top Command and Our Talisman. Whittingham actually trains the first four, but because from of Top Command's owners (Wayne Murty) also is part owner of Our Talisman (trained by Bobby Frankel), racing rules stipulate that all five must run as one

Foolish Pleasure, the 1975 Kentucky Derby winner, is the third choice at 5-2, with 1975 Belmont Stakes champion Avatar at 8-1 and Pay Tribute the longshot at Ancient Title is the most popular thoroughbred to race in the West since Native Diver (three-time Gold Cup winner in the mid-'60s), and the defending champion would enter the millionaire's club with a repeat Gold Cup score. His bankroll to date is $954,791, with today's winner pocketing $150,000.

The Keith Stucki-trained gelding will have leading Hollypark rider Sandy Hawley aboard and is high-weighted at 127. He comes up to the Gold Cup in beautiful shape, having won the recent Californian by rallying from last place.

Dahlia, the world's richest active thoroughbred ($1,512,943), appears the most potent member of the entry, although she never has won a race on the dirt. and today's 14-mile classic will be on the dirt. In her most recent outing Dahlia defeated the nation's linest turf runners in the $200,000 Invitational... Another millionaire, Foolish Pleasure ($1,052,853) finished third in his Western debut two weeks ago, but many think he was using the chase merely as a luneup for today's event.

Avatar might be the overlay of the afternoon. He showed a return to form last week, defeating allowance foes handily, and appears right on training schedule for today's romp.

The race may hinge around Our Talisman, who was sold to new ownership Tuesday and now is in Frankel's capable hands. Our Talisman clocked the fastest mile and 1/16 of the meeting in his last start and figures to lead the pack today for as far as he can run.

Riot In Paris and Pay Tribute also would seem to merit some support, although the latter may be hand-icapped by the distance. Top Command and Mateor, the latter a surprise entrant, appear outclassed.

Since there will be only five wagering interests, the track has received permission from the California Race

Board to hold exacta wagering on the Gold Cup.

Hollywood Park's top crowd of the season was the 56,806 that witnessed the Turf Invitational on Memorial Day, but officials expect that mark to tumble today.

Apparently a lot of the $2 bettors want to take advantage of the five-horse entry to make "cinch" show

GATES TO HOLLYPARK will open at 10:30 this morning, one hour earlier than usual, and there will be free parking at the Forum and at the Century drive in theater lots.

In addition to seeing a brilliant field of handicap stars in the Gold Cup—the entrants boast cumulative earnings of $4.7 million and have accounted for 52 stakes. victories-fans today will be trying to win $31,000 Sunday Sweep prize money.

That amount will definitely be given away, to the person or persons selecting the most consecutive winners, beginning with the first race.

In the $54,800 Wilshire Handicap Saturday at Hollypark, Miss Toshiba took the lead in the stretch and held on to take a three-quarter length victory over Charger's Star.

Miss Toshiba, the 2-1 favorite, was ridden by Fernando Toro and covered the 11/4-mile turf course in 1:49/s. She returned $8.20, $4.40 and $3.

Charger's Star rewarded backers with payoffs of $10.40 and $4.80 and Swinglime paid $2.60 to show.

Miss Toshiba, who raced all last year in Europe, showed no speed at the start but moved up in between horses in the far turn to challenge along the inside.

Albacore season prospect bright

Prospects for albacore lishing off Southern and Central California are far brighter this year than in 1975. The National Marine Fisheries Service predicts that approximately 50 per cent of the total catch along the Pacific Coast this year will be taken in waters south of San Francisco, Commercials and sportlishermen, was taken south of San Francisco. Seventy per cent of the catch was made from waters in the Pacific Northwest.

Also, the NMFS and a cooperating group, American Fishermen Research Foundation, say that the catch off Southern California will be earlier this year. Fishing off Central California may come a bit later, and fishermen in the Pacific Northwest, mostly commercials, will have an even later season.

This good news comes from the NMFS at La Jolla, and the predictions already are borne out by recent catches as close as 70 miles southwest of San Diego. The NMFS and the AFRF have had prospecting vessels far out in the Pacific and south to Guadalupe Island since early May. While the results of such scouting are invaluable for commercial fishery, they also are made for the benefit of the sportfishermen.

The first catches actually were made by prospecting jigboats May 24 330 miles west southwest of San Diego. However, two small jigboats not under contract to the NMFS had caught abacore as early as mid-February south of Guadalupe Island.

MOST OF THE CATCHES by those prospecting boats ranged in weight from 7 to 16 pounds, and numerous fish were tagged. The yellow plastic tags are worth $2 each if returned to the NMFS (address is on the tag) 52 each if returned to the NMFS (adoress is on the tag) or the AFRF, 5055 N. Harbor Dr., San Diego. Write where, when and how the fish was caught and give the length (tip of lower jaw to fork of tail) when you send the tag. The AFRF plans to award cash prizes for the numbers drawn in an annual lottery.

Daily broadcasts of albacore fishing information prepared by the NMFS will be transmitted over marine radio hands starting July 12 and extending to Cf. 31 or radio bands starting July 12 and extending to Oct. 31, or until the season ends. One band, WWD (La Jolla) will be utilized in the south. It will be on SSB carrier frequen-cies 4409.4, 8789.6 and 12424 kHz at 0615 and 1745 Pacific daylight time on weekdays and 0815 on Saturdays.

The albacore catch may be rather uncertain for the remainder of this month. Yet, there was encouraging news from the San Diego sportfishing docks Thursday. Two boats were sent out to the southwest and 22 anglers caught 79 albacore in an area about 70 miles from Point

SKIPPERS OF THE TWO BOATS reported that they had seen fish on the way home. There were schools of roaming albacore as near as 60 and 65 miles from Point Loma. As always, the albacore reports came from various sources. One private boat was reported to have caught two or three fish on the 50-Mile Bank. That would place the fish closer to Long Beach.

place the fish closer to Long Beach.

Eddie McEwen, skipper of the Pacific Queen out of Fisherman's Landing. San Diego, and known to hundreds of salt-water fishermen in Long Beach, called Friday night to report that he was starting runs to the banks where the albacore are reported to be schooling. If so, he is fishing there today.

We are entering that period when the moon is dark and many anglers go on the theory that such a time is when they should fish for anything.

McEwen reported that bail conditions were not good at San Diego and as a result, the vellowtail count good at San Diego and as a result, the yellowtail count was down despite the fact that there are many around the Coronado Islands. Squid has been in short supply and most of the successful yellowfail anglers have been resorting to jigs.

Eddie also said that the albacore were on two courses from Point Loma — 160 and 185 degrees.

A RECENT ADDITION to my library is The Rapala Fishing Guide, available now at $2.75 from the Normark Corporation, 1710 E. 78th St., Minneapolis, Minn. 55423. Talented young athletes, who would have been by-passed before the advent of Title IX, are now get-ting a cut of the grants-inaid pie that previously benefited only men. Consider USC. Granted, their scholarship program for women doesn't compare with the men's, but it's on the board and it's growing. Barbara Hedges, director of women's athletics puts it simply, "We're continuing to develop more opportuni-ties for women."

In financial terms this means the addition of 10 full scholarships this fall bringing the total to 35. "These are mostly fuition scholarships with subsistence payments for a few,"
Barbara said.
Since students from Los Angeles and Orange Coun-ties dominate school enrollment, most of these are going to area women.

Anaheim, a recent graduate of Western High School, was one of the big ones that got away from both USC and UCLA. Dayna, the 1975 U.S. National Junior Girls Cham-pion, will be playing for the University of Tulsa next year.

To which Barbara commented with true Trojan spirit, "I can't understand why anyone would want to go to school at the Univer-sity of Tulsa."

by Robert Walters

WALTER SCOTT'S Personality Parade

Want the facts? Want to learn the truth about prominent personalities? Want informed opinion? Write Walter Scott, Parade, 733 3rd Ave., New York, N.Y. 10017. Your full name will be used unless otherwise requested. Volume of mail received makes personal replies impossible.

Q. Recently I heard Bill Moyers interview Jimmy Carter on TV. Carter said that when he was 29 and a lieutenant in the Navy, he had a choice to makedid he want to become Chief of Naval Operations or return to Plains, Ga., and lead a more diversified life? I am shocked by Carter's conceit or confidence. Who ever offered him the job of Chief of Naval Operations at age 29?-T, R., Macon, Ga.

A. Carter is a man of enormous self-confidence. No one ever offered him the job of Chief of Naval Operations. He simply assumed that he could work his way into that position.

*Q. What is meant by the expression "Jimmy Carter is a fundamentalist"?---Dorothy Payne, Albany, N.Y. A. It has reference to Carter's profound, evangelical practice of and belief in his Baptist faith.

AVA GARDNER

Q. Ava Gardner keeps saying over and over again, "I hate the press, I hate the press." Where would she be without it? - Andre Could, Los Angeles.

A. Likely in her hometown, Smithfield, N.C.

O. I understand that the McDonnell Douglas peaple, who manufacture the DC-10, are trying to halt the publication of a book which describes the crash of a Turkish Airlines DC-10 near Paris a few years ago. i believe 346 people were killed in that crash. Is that rumor true?---S. S., St. Louis.

A, It is not true. "The DC-10 Affair," a book written by a trio of investigative reporters from The Sunday Times of London, will be published by Granada in Landon before this year is out, will probably soon after appear in the U.S.

Q. Richard Nixon has a kid brother, Ed. The Nixon Foundation, headed by Leonard Firestone, used to look after Ed when Nixon was President, What's Ed doing now?-Lynn Rossiter, New York City.

A. Edward C. Nixon, 46, is a real estate broker, resides in Lynnwood, Wash., a suburb of Seattle.

WITE BARBARA AND DR. CHRISTIAAN BARNARD

Q. Is it a fact that Dr. Christiaan Barnard and his wife are leaving South Africa because in that country blacks are forced to work in the gold mines for 75 cents a day? What's the story?-W. N., Watonga, Okla.

A. Dr. and Mrs. Barnard are not leaving South Africa. In 1973 the minimum starting wage for new underground gold miners around Johannesburg was 72 cents a day. It is currently $2.45 a day. Mine workers, however, are also given meats, medical care, housing, and transportation free of charge. Most South African blacks will not work in the mines. The mining companies therefore recruit most of their workers from other African countries.

O. Is there any chance that Sen, Edward Kennedy will be defeated this year when he again runs for the U.Ş. Senate? Also, has Kennedy given up for all time a chance at the Presidency?—Frances Cameron, Danvers. Mass.

A. There is always a chance that any politician seeking reelection will lose. In Kennedy's case there's not much. On the whole he's been a good Senator, will undoubtedly run for the Presidency one day when Chappaquiddick fades from the public ken,

Q. It is part of history that former Secretary of Defense Robert McNamara was responsible for the Edsel, one of the now-famous flops of the ford Motor Company. Is that true?-D. D., Ann Arbor, Mich

A. McNamara was in no way responsible for the Edsel, in fact advised against it.

Q. How old is Mme. Chiang Kai-shek, and where is: she?-Li Chun, New York City.

Warning: The Surgeon General Has Determined That Cigarette Smoking is Dangerous to Your Health.

A fable for now. "At last, seeing some pebbles lie near the place, he cast them one by one into the pitcher; and thus, by degrees, raised the water up to the very brim, and satisfied his thirst." Thus did Aesop describe the crow's ingenuity in getting water out of a high-necked pitcher. However, that approach isn't strictly for the birds; oil people do about the same thing, but instead of peobles they inject water, steam, chemicals, carbon dioxide, or gas into stuggish oilfields to recover otherwise unrecoverable oil. If such techniques could coax existing fields to yield an extra 10% of their remaining oil, the result would equal about 33 billion barrels—roughly the amount of America's current proved reserves. That would be worth crowing about.

Quiz, There's disagreement over exactly what would happen if the 18 largest oil companies were broken up, as proposed in pending "divestiture" legislation. What do you think would happen?

- a. Gasoline and heating oil prices would be likely to go up, not down. (T) (F)
- Smaller companies would have trouble raising capital to develop domestic energy sources. (T) (F)
- Smaller companies would be in a weaker bargaining position to shop for foreign oil we have to import. (T) (F)
- d. The U.S. would be more vulnerable to a foreign oil embargo or price increases. (T) (F)
- The effect on the total economy could be severe, leading to a new recession and more unemployment. (T) (F)
- Congress would then try to break up large companies in other industries.

We're convinced the answers are all "true" and we'll be happy to provide further information if you write us. Not everyone may agree; but since it's impossible to predict the future with certainty, the real question for the nation is whether divestiture is a risk worth running.

"GOD WORKS IN MYSTERIOUS WAYS, MY ONLY THOUGHT WHEN I JONED THIS CAR POOL, MISS WILLIAMS, WAS TO SAVE ENERGY."

Progress on Pollution. Smelt fishing has been red-hot off Point Pelee and in Pigeon Bay. Anglers are hooking silvery salmon, trout, and other species. Where? Why, in Lake Erie, which prominent environmentalists pronounced ecologically "dead" a few years ago. Commercial and sport catches there are running into the millions of pounds each year. Thanks to cooperation from industry and to some 375 federally aided sewage-freatment plants in the last eight years, all the Great Lakes are getting cleaner. Which is good news if you believe, as we do, that a protected environment and industry can coexist.

Keeping Up...With Youth

Explanation for Student Apathy

"Why do students not participate in the civic system? Why, after fighting for voting rights, do students not participate in the electoral process? There is an obvious answer: students do not know how to use the tools of a democratic society because they have never been allowed to do so in relation to themselves. Students live in an artificial world where they are forever held as adolescents. They are told in the classroom that they must participate in the civic system, but they are discouraged by endless roadblocks from initiating activities within their own university environment, When students try to organize themselves for civic purposes or for programs to advance their educational experiences, their efforts are often arbitrarily stymied by governing boards, university officials and politicians whose interests do not mirror those of the students."

—Consumer advocate Ralph Nader before the subcommittee on higher education, May 7, 1976.

CIA Popularity

A few years ago, when young Americans were dying in Vietnam, CIA recruiters were banned from many major university campuses. Today they are more than welcome, will probably hire this year some 700 clerical employees and 400 professionals.

The new student interest in joining the Central Intelligence Agency is undoubtedly the result of the narrowing job market. Students now want job and career security. They also regard intelligence work as adventurous.

Such films as "Three Days of the Condor" and "All the President's Men," both starring Robert Redford, have glamorized intelligence with a romance which doesn't necessarily apply to it but seems intriguing to the young.

Fewer Linguists

Only 10% of the universities and colleges in this country now require one foreign language for admission.

Time was when a student had to show knowledge of two foreign languages before he or she was admitted to many accredited U.S. universities.

Since 1963 the number of undergraduate students studying foreign languages has declined steadily. Less than 20% of contemporary high school graduates know a foreign tongue.

Why the change?

One quick answer is that educators are more concerned with teaching students how to structure and write a correct sentence in English than they are in French or Spanish.

KEITH RICHARD AND ANITA PALLENBERG.

Marriage of Convenience

After seven years of togetherness and three children, Kelth Richard, 32, of the Rolling Stones, and Anita Pallenberg, also 32 and mother of his offspring, have decided to marry, or may already have done so.

According to Richard, the major reason for the marriage is convenience. Anita travels on an Italian passport, Keith travels on a British passport; the children eventually will need passports of their own.

"After awhile," Richard says, "the rules seem to catch up with you, so I guess we'll get married. It's no big thing at this point—just another piece of paper. We'll probably do it sometime this summer."

The Richards and their children currently occupy a villa in Geneva—all the Stones are tax exiles—but also own a house in Sussex, England, into which they may move after their marriage.

Originally Anita Pallenberg was the girlfriend of Brian Jones, the Rolling Stone who took too many drogs, went swimming in his pool and drowned in 1969.

Ex-Defense Secretary Clark Clifford, Algerians paid his law firm $750,000 during five years.

Richard Kleindienst, Nixon's Attorney General. He also works for Algeria, has earned $200,000.

Ex-Sen. J. William Fulbright. His law firm works for Arabs, who tried to reelect him but failed.

Big-Name Americans Who Work for Foreign Countries

by Robert Walters

uring the past two years a highly confidential document has been circulating throughout the Middle East. It outlines plans for the Arab world to spend as much as $15 million annually on a far-reaching propaganda program in the United States.

That secret proposal, whose contents have never before been publicly disclosed, calls for a massive effort to swing American public opinion about the seemingly endless Middle East conflict away from the Israelis and towards the Arabs.

Specifically designated as targets of that propaganda campaign are the nation's highest elected and appointed political leaders, the country's news media, "naturally sympathetic citizen g groups," special interest organizations with political influence and, "to a lesser extent, the general public."

A PARADE investigation shows that since that blueprint was completed, the

Arab nations have mobilized a vast network of influential lawyers, Washington lobbyists, public relations experts, political consultants and a host of other highly paid specialists to implement the plan.

The Foreign Agents Registration Act requires that all individuals and organizations engaged in disseminating propaganda or related activities on behalf of another country must file public reports with the Justice Department's Criminal Division.

, 'Program for Arab World'

Those reports show that in recent years the oil-rich Arab world has been spending millions of dollars annually to finance operations similar to those outlined in the secret 1974 plan, which is called "Public Affairs Program for the Arab World."

Among those currently receiving generous fees to represent various Arab interests are:

The law firm headed by Clark M.

Clifford, a former Defense Secretary and one of Washington's most powerful attorneys, It receives a $150,000 yearly retainer from Algeria.

 Richard G. Kleindienst, Attorney General under President Richard M. Nixon. He gets $120,000 a year from Algeria.

· Former Sen. J. William Fulbright, an Arkansas Democrat and longtime chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee. His Washington law firm, Hogan & Hartson, is paid $25,000 annually by the United Arab Emirates.

 Frederick G. Dutton, the principal political adviser to the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy during the 1968 Presidential campaign. The Saudi Arabian government pays him $100,000 a year.

 The polling firm headed by Patrick Caddell, who conducted public opinion surveys for Sen. George S. McGovern in the 1972 Presidential campaign and is doing the same work for Presidential candidate Jimmy Carter. Saudi Arabia recently signed an $80,000 contract with Caddell's company.

A three-month-long PARADE survey showed that during the past several years the Arabs have spent far more money than any other interest group to support the activities of foreign agents in this country.

Next to the Arabs in spending and organizational effort are the British and French promoters of the Concorde, the supersonic commercial jet transport that last month began regular service between the United States and Europe.

To gain landing rights for the controversial plane, the European interests also purchased the services of influential American political figures. For instance, the law firms of both former Sen. Charles E. Goodell, a New York Rcpublican who is one of President Ford's closest political advisers, and William P. Rogers, a former Secretary of State, have been working for the French. Their activities will be described in a forthcoming PARADE article.

Information center

The most visible element of the Arab propaganda effort now underway is the Arab Information Center, with offices in New York, Washington, Chicago, Dallas and San Francisco, It represents the League of Arab States, a confederation of 20 nations.

That organization publishes and distributes in this country a biweekly newsletter, "Arab Report," whose often strident language includes allegations that some Israelis are "religious and political fanatics" motivated by "paranoid insensitivity and primitive passions" and that "Zionism, as such, has become a more dangerous movement than apartheid."

Last year, the Arab Information Center spent almost $750,000 to underwrite its propaganda program in this country. More than $60,000 was used to finance an advertising campaign, while a larger amount went for an extensive round of lecture tours throughout the nation.

The Justice Department early this year initiated prosecution against the Arab Information Center and its director, Amin Hilmy II, charging that theyhad violated the Foreign Agents Registration Act by failing to properly identify themselves in anti-Zionist advertising late last year in newspapers published in New York, Dailas, Los Angeles, Chicago and Boston.

The Justice Department also has charged that the organization refused to allow two government attorneys to examine its records, an alleged violation of the section of the federal law which requires that foreign agents' records must be opened for official inspection upon demand.

In addition to their unified effort, Arab nations have individually signed scores of experis and specialists to aid in gaining acceptance for their political views, economic development programs and commercial enterprises.

A big spender

One of the biggest spenders in that category is Sonatrach, Inc., Algeria's government-owned oil and gas monopoly that employs both Clifford and Kleindienst. Sonatrach's Washington office was headed until recently by Cherif Guellal, a former Algerian ambassador and popular figure in the capital's diplomatic social circuit.

Sonatrach reported spending more than $1.5 million in this country last year. One of the minor items in its expense account was limousine rentals to transport the organization's officers and guests at a cost of more than $19,800. Instead of renting work space, the firm purchased its own office building in downtown Washington with a $119,900 down payment, spent more than $27,900 in improvements and is laying out another $4100 monthly in mortgage payments.

When Sonatrach wanted to announce the cancellation of a contract with an American firm last year, it hired a Washington public relations organization to distribute a news release, arrange a press conference and edit background papers. The firm received $1250 for three days' work.

$750,000 in 5 years

During the past five years, Clifford's law firm has received more than $750,000 in fees and expense reimbursement from Sonatrach. Although Clifford is technically only an attorney, his reputation is built upon the influence and prestige he has acquired as a leading adviser to several Presidents.

Kleindienst, who has earned more than $200,000 since he went to work for the Algerians in late 1973, has arranged and participated in meetings with his clients and dozens of Washington's leading government officials.

Henry Kearns, former president of the Export-Import Bank. He returned to his own firm, which last year received $350,000 in fees from the Algerians.

Included in that list are President Ford, when he was a member of Congress; Secretary of State Henry Kissinger; Rogers C. B. Morton, Ford's campaign manager; Treasury Secretary William E. Simon; Deputy Secretary of Defense William P. Clements Ir., and scores of Senators and Representatives.

Sonatrach also has been paying handsome fees to another former government official-Henry Keams, the onetime president and chairman of the Export-Import Bank, a federal agency that has financed more than $70 billion worth of United States exports to more than 180 nations, including Algeria.

When Kearns was in office, Sonatrach regularly sought his assistance in connection with requests for Export-Import Bank financing. In October, 1973, he left the government to return to the presidency, of Keams International, a San Francisco-based economic and investment consulting firm.

Federal law prohibits former government officials from acting as agents for have left the public payroll-so Sonatrach waited exactly one year, then hired Keams' company as its agent. Last year, Kearns International received $350,000 in fees and $46,900 in expense reimbursement from Sonatrach.

The money deal

The public relations consultants estimated that preparation and distribution of "an official information kit" as well as news releases, speeches, photographs and other publicity material would cost no less than $15,000, with an additional $5000 for "press logistic support."

The embassy accepted that offer, al-

Mrs. Javits worked for Iran as a "consultant" to the New York public relations firm of Ruder & Finn, Inc., which had a $500,000 contract with the airline-but a controversy soon erupted over suggestions that the substantial addition to the Javits family income might influence the Senator's position on this country's foreign policy toward the Middle East.

Mrs. Javits resigned in late January, and two months later Ruder & Finn terminated its contract with Iran-although the firm claimed that during six months of service it had successfully performed 20 different public relations missions for the airline, Iran's royal family and political leaders.

Not widely known are the generous terms of the final financial settlement: Ruder & Finn received slightly more than $270,000, while Mrs. Javits got $10,000 as a "consulting fee" and another $36,497 for "liaison and counseling services, out-of-pocket expenses, travel, entertainment, etc."

In other words, Mrs. Javits picked up a total of $46,497 for less than five months' work—approximately the same amount as her husband earns during a year in the Senate.

Iran National Airlines also had a contract with another New York public relations firm, Carl Byofr & Associates, Inc., which receives $50,000 a year but listed no work performed on behalf of the airline when it reported to the Justice Department last autumn.

The reporting procedures of other American agents representing Arab clients also raise questions about compliance with the disclosure law. Consider the case of Adnan M. Khashoggi, a Saudi Arabian millionaire businessman accused of serving as a middleman in the payment of bribes by American corporations attempting to sell weapons to his country.

Law firm hired

Last summer, the Washington law firm of Chapman, Gadsby, Hannah and Duff was recruited by Khashoggi's principal corporation, Triad Enterprises, to monitor Congressional hearings that affected him. The lawyers registered as foreign agents because "the essential ownership of the company is Khashoggi and his brothers," explained Norman S. Paul, a partner in the firm. "They're foreigners and we wanted to be in compliance with the law."

But Clark Clifford's law firm did work for Khashoggi at about the same time—and it did not register as his American agent. In more recent months, the influential Washington law firm of Arnold and Porter has been representing Khashoggi in negotiations with the Justice Department and did not register.

There is an exemption to the registration requirer ent for attorneys engaged in traditional legal work—as opposed to the quasi-lobbying activities in which many Washington lawyers engage—but the law is murky in that and several other areas, often making it difficult to determine whether the representative of a foreign power must register.

Another firm which has not registered as a foreign agent representing Arab interests is Martin Ryan Haley & Associates, the New York public relations and political consulting organization which prepared the secret 1974 document on Arab propaganda plans.

'Didn't get a nickel'

Haley said he did not register with the government because he only developed the propaganda program but did not implement it. In addition, he said he "didn't get a nickel" for his work. But the law does not exempt those who offer their services without cost and it does cover those who engage in "informing" or "advising" foreign-clients about public relations.

Haley refused to disclose the identity of his client, saying only that he did the work "for an individual in the Middle East who, in turn, discussed it with several governments."

Haley said his proposal was a "confidential document" whose distribution was carefully controlled. All copies were numbered and assigned to specific recipients, he said.

One reason for that secrecy apparently involves the potentially explosive section dealing with American politics. In discussing the 1974 elections, Haley identified "five friendly Senators who are ready for reelection and should be helped," as well as "six adversaries who are vulnerable."

The Senators "friendly" to the Arabs included two who were defeated—Sens. Fulbright and Marlow W. Cook, a Kentucky Republican. Three others won reelection and are still in Congress—Sens. James B. Allen, an Alabama Democrat; Barry M. Goldwater, an Arizona Republican, and Russell B. Long, a Louislana Democrat.

In addition, Sen. Mike Gravel, an Alaska Democrat, was described as a man "who could probably be persuaded to be favorable, or at least evenhanded."

The six Arab "adversaries" also included two men who were defeated—Sens. Howard M. Metzenbaum, an Ohio Democrat, and Edward J. Gumey, a Florida Republican. Four others won new terms—Sens. Birch Bayh, an Indiana Democrat; Robert Dole, a Kansas Republican; George S. McGovern, a South Dakota Democrat, and Milton R. Young, a North Dakota Republican.

Haley's plan called for Arab intervention by performing numerous services for favored candidates, including fundraising, opinion polling, production of radio and television commercials, and providing a variety of other crucial campaign services.

The confidential document said American citizens of Arab extraction would have to carry the burden in the political field because "United States law is very clear about prohibiting other nations from playing a part in U.S. election campaigns."

But the long memo also discussed a typical Senatorial race in which "our own professional campaign consultant moves into Ohio" and "our field services unit sends organizers to Ohio to unify the Arab-American organizations" in an effort to defeat Metzenbaum, one of the few Jewish Senators.

Fulbright campaign

In Fulbright's case, the secret report said "the entire Arab-American community should be mobilized to help him." Financial reports later filed by Fulbright showed that he received contributions from groups such as the Cleveland Council on Arab-American Relations, the American Arabic Association and the American Arabic Council.

The document called for the establishment of an elaborate political intelligence system, including an organization of professional lobbyists in Washington to engage in "persuasion of specific members" of Congress, compiling "intelligence about members' attitudes" and working for the passage or defeat of specific bills.

Also proposed was the purchase of full-page advertisements in daily newspapers serving the nation's 30 principal metropolitan areas, utilization of the 300 newspapers and magazines published by Christian churches in this country, and distribution of free films and tapes about the Arab world to 700 television and up to 4000 radio stations across the nation.

Still other elements of the plan included production of "two or three high-quality films" to be shown on educational television stations and at meetings of sympathetic organizations, mailings to "thought leaders" in all walks of life, efforts to revise the image of Arabs in school textbooks and a program to improve relationships with labor, business, agricultural and religious groups.

Staff of 100

The document "strongly recommended" a three- or five-year program, stretching into 1977 or 1979, at a yearly cost of $15 million. Coordinating that effort would be a staff of 100 persons, about a third of them professionals.

Many of those proposals are being implemented. A large tobbying staff is already in place in Washington, political assistance has been provided to favored Congressmen, and advertising space has been purchased in newspapers.

"The Arab world has great potential power rooted not only in oil resources and financial reserves but also in untapped friendships and supporters," the confidential document noted. "A long-term consistent and coherent plan is needed—a central system for identifying and mobilizing friends is needed." That is precisely what the Arab world is seeking to do today in the U.S.

High school honor graduate Beth Terranova, blind since her birth 18 years ago, is flanked by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Terranova.

Graduation Day for a Brave Girl

by Sid Ross & Herbert Kupferberg

HARRISON, N.Y.

ne week from today, 18-year-old Beth Terranova will graduate from Harrison High School, fourth in her class of 275. Pretty, popular and well-adjusted, she's going on to college in September at William and Mary in Williamsburg, Va.

So far, there's nothing much unusual about Beth Terranova's life story—except that she is totally blind. What's more, she has not been getting her education at a special school, or even in a special class for blind students, but by taking regular courses, working side by side with sighted students.

That's how it has always been with Beth, who has been blind since birth. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dominick Terranova, have felt that Beth had a greater chance of developing normally at a regular school rather than at an institution for the blind, in a special class for the handicapped, or at home.

PARADE originally told Beth's story in 1968, when she was 10 years old and in the fourth grade. Now we've gone back to visit her at the end of a high school career that has brought her academic honors and the respect and admiration of her teachers, supervisors and fellow students.

Beth, who still wears her hair in a ponytail, selected for her personal slogan to be printed in her graduation yearbook: "Keep On Keeping On."

"What I mean," she explains, "is that to me life is progress—always looking forward, never looking back, never feeling sorry for yourself. I'm a happy person; I wouldn't change places with anyone."

'See you later'

Beth's use of the word "looking" is typical of her. She doesn't employ the vocabulary one might expect of a blind person. "See you later" is one of her common expressions. In class, when she wants to indicate that she understands a teacher's explanation, she'll say: "I

Only a few things distinguish her from the other students. Changing rooms at the end of each 42-minute period, she walks with an outstretched hand touching the wall to guide her through the corridors. In class, she uses a tape recorder to take down what the teacher says—the only pupil who's permitted to bring one to school.

How your Horoscope can bring you wealth, love, success and happiness.

by Norman P. Kennedy

Did you know your horoscope could mean the difference between happiness or sorrow; between success or failure?

Ficture a long room with doors at each end. In this room there are meney, attractive persons of the opposite sex, books that tell you the secret of happiness and many other valuable articles. But, also in this room are bottomless pits, traps, hostile persons and dangerous beasts chained in various places around the room. You must walk through this room, but you may take out of it anything you can.

Now if you had a choice, would you choose to 1) go through the room blindfolded or 2) go through the room with your eyes open and with written instructions on which places and people to visit or avoid.

Of course, all of us would pick the second choice in a case such as this. Isn't it ridiculous, then, that we would choose to go through life, the same situation, blindfolded! Even when there is a means to go through life with a map and our eyes wide open! The means provided is Astrology. The map is our astrological horoscope.

How does it work? Nature's cosmos imprints each of us at the time of birth — when the umbilical cord is cut. We then become ourselves. Until the cord is cut, we are part of our mother. Why or how we presently do not know. The movement of the large solar bodies then times potentials for events in our lives. Astrology does not cause events but is timing of events. But, it's not fortune telling. It's a prediction of potentials which free will can override.

What does a natal horoscope analysis by a qualified astrologer contain? A natal horoscope analysis contains the best psychological analysis of yourself that you can get today. Because, in a controlled experiment in 1960, astrologers beat psychologists in predicting case histories.

In addition, a natal horoscope analysis includes discussions on the following: financial outlook; taxes and inheritances; early home environment; relationships with family, relatives and parents; lovelife and marriage;

children; career and occupation; hopes; wishes and goals; and subconscious attitudes. In a major analysis, a one year forecast is also included.

Many people think that astrology only appeals to "way out" unscientific people. Nothing could be farther from the truth. In fact, studies show that astrology appeals most to intelligent and logical people. Famous scientists Galileo, Carl Jung, Johannes Kepler, Roger Bacon, Tycho Bache and Albert Einstein all believed in astrology.

Your horoscope can help you be in the right place at the right time.

Your horoscope can help you avoid disasters while gulding you to your beneficial opportunities.

Did you know that astrology helped the allies win World War II? The allies employed astrologers. The axis powers started out employing astrologers. But, this was ceased early when the famous astrologer, Karl Ernst Krafft, predicted the exact time and place of an attempt on Hitler's life in 1939. Hitler thought the astrologers were conspiring against him, so they were imprisoned.

Hitler turned back to astrology — too late. He read his horoscope in the last moments of the war as Berlin burned around him.

On the other hand, astrologers aided the allies in forecasting the Axis' moves. The most famous astrologer, Louis de Wohl, employed by British government, predicted the exact events leading up to the downfall of Mussolini. He gained the faith of the American military by predicting Pearl Harbor a year before it happened.

More on avoiding disaster, came these stories from a recent article in the Miami Herald newspaper. The article tells the story of a Miami computer programmer, who heeded the advice of her horoscope which warned her of a wrong medical diagnosis. She avoided an unnecessary operation that would have left her a cripple.

Your horoscope can bring you wealth. Famous business tycoon, J. P. Morgan, used astrology to acquire his fortune. Morgan did not make a financial move without checking his natal horoscope forecast.

From an article in the Miami Herald came this story:

"Stockbrokers on Wall Street are as likely tocall an astrologer in this decade as Hollywood filmstars would call a psychiatrist in the last. A 75 year old retired financial expert who lives in Clearwater, has made $150,000 from the stock market in 13 years by using astrology as an investment guide.."

Your horoscope can show you the way to success and happiness in your career. In spite of her country girl look of 1945, Marilyn Monroe's horoscope promised that she would emerge as an immortal movie sex symbol. However, Uranus in her 7th house indicated that some changes were necessary. Marilyn went from dirty blonde to silver blonde. This, plus a sophisticated upsweep headed her right towards stardom!

Now and through the ages a good natal horoscope analysis has meant success for many people. In other cases many men have missed their opportunity; some with tragic consequences, such as Adolf Hitler.

Will you miss your success opportunities? Will you stumble into pitfalls you could have avoided?

Today, right this moment, you can have your natal horoscope cast and analyzed. You can get it for only the cost to make your duplicate copy. You get the expensive casting and analyzing process — FREE. The article below will tell you how. The means are available, but the choice is yours.

BRAVE CHE CONTINUED

Her fellow students help her by keeping carbon copies of their classroom notes. These are then reproduced in Braille for Beth by Mrs. Judy Goldsmith, a teacher of the visually handicapped who visits the school regularly.

Says one of Beth's note-taking classmates, Rosemarie Coviello: "Beth has a wonderful personality. It makes no difference that she's blind. Yes, I help her as much as I can, but she's also helped me. I can't slough off or be lazy with her around. I pay more attention in class because I take notes for her. She's made me a better student."

Acting Principal Kenneth Meyer adds: "Beth Terranova has been good for Harrison High School. She's been an inspiration to me and to every one of her teachers."

Timid at first

It has not been all roses for Beth. When she entered first grade at the Harrison Avenue School she was terrified, and timid. But with the patient help of Mrs. Beatrice Jacobson, teacher-consultant for the visually handicapped, and Mrs. Anne Goerner, her first-grade teacher, Beth gradually blossomed. By the fourth grade she was fully adjusted and, equally important, accepted by both schoolmates and teachers. By the time she started high school, she was very nearly just another student—although an unusually bright one.

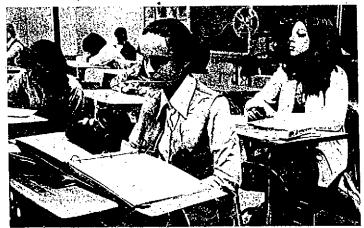

But being blind means that Beth has to work harder and longer than other students. When she gets home to the modest, two-story frame Terranova house, she puts in another four to six hours in what she calls "my second school day."

She transcribes class notes from the tape recorder into Braille with a machine called a Brailler. She either types out her own homework or dictates it to her mother, who writes it out in longhand. Beth has her own Braille library, including several popular magazines and books by Mark Twain, Jack London and others. She also has a 35-volume Braille edition of Webster's Student Dictionary, which she frequently consults. She takes piano and ballet lessons.

Beth, who was born blind as a result of a condition called retrolental fibroplasia, says that one of her favorite recreations is taking auto rides with her parents, who describe the scenery.

Visualizes scenery

"I can picture what they describe," says Beth. "If it's a tree I can visualize its rough bark. I can even 'see' colors—for example, I visualize red as flaming, bright, brilliant, bold. I can picture birds in detail—their spindly legs; sharp, clawed feet; strong bodies; feathers and beaks, and how they spread their wings and fly. I can fill out all sorts of details. People are sometimes quite surprised at how accurately I describe."

Beth utilizes such aids as a tape recorder in class, but she has done the same work and taken the same tests as the other pupils in school.

Here fleth practices piano at home. Her wide range of outside activities also includes ballet lessons. Next step: out-of-town college.

Beth feels she's "a mature person" who has overcome her timidity at being with other people and gained confidence in her own abilities. She ascribes much of this to having been educated in normal surroundings.

"Had I gone to a blind school or into a special class or environment," she says, "I'd have been segregated or overprotected. It would have been impossible to face life in the sighted world."

Beth's parents naturally are pleased that their decision not to give Beth a "special" education has worked out. Her father, a retired pharmacist who now works part-time, and her mother both observed that even as a baby she was bright, alert and quick to learn.

"We decided from the beginning that we were going to treat Beth as normally as possible," says Mrs. Terranova, "As soon as she was old enough to walk, we began to take her around the neighborhood and tell her what things were—to teach her to 'see' with her mind." The parents convinced then Superintendent of Schools Louis M. Klein that Beth could make the grade in a regular school environment.

Now, 12 years later, Beth Terranova can say: "If I were given the opportunity today of being able to see, I might not take it. I'm used to blindness; I've come to terms with it."

Law or journalism?...

Beth isn't sore what she'd like to do eventually, but she says that marriage and a family are "very far from my mind right now." Law has been suggested to her as a possible profession, but sometimes she thinks she'd like to go into radio broadcasting either as an announcer or a news writer.

Right now, she's like millions of other Americans—a bright high school student preparing to go away to college next fall. It's a big move and a big change—new studies, new people, new environment. "I'm not scared," Beth Terranova says—and she convinces you that she really isn't.

Is there an answer to the smoking question?

Should people smoke? They've been battling that one since the smoking controversy started. Smokers have an answer Non-smokers have another answer. And the critics of smoking think they have all the answers.

But arguing whether people should or shouldn't smoke isn't going to change anything. The reality is that people do smoke. And they will continue to smoke.

No matter what anyone says.

So perhaps a more realistic question would be: what should a smoker smoke?

If some smokers don't want to give up smoking yet find themselves concerned about 'tar' and nicotine, then the critics could well recommend that they switch to a low 'tar' and nicotine cigarette. Like Vantage.

And if some of these smokers prefer a menthol cigarette, then the critics could suggest that they switch to a low 'tar' and nicotine menthol. Like Vantage Menthol.

Vantage Menthol offers smokers all the cool, refreshing flavor they could ever ask for. And at the same time gives them the substantial cut in 'tar' and nicotine they may be looking for.

Now Vantage Menthol isn't the lowest 'tar' and nicotine menthol around. But anything lower probably compromises the flavor.

So if you smoke a menthol cigarette, we're not going to argue whether you should or you shouldn't.

The fact is you do.

And if you want to do something about 'tar' and nicotine, Vantage Menthol could be one answer for you to consider.

Announcing.

All the American flags known to have flown during our struggle for independence—minted in solid sterling silver and in pure 24 karat gold.

Available by advance subscription only. Limit: One set per subscriber. Subscription rolls close: July 4, 1976.

The American patriots of the Revolution marched under many different flags. In the truest sense, these were banners of freedom-proclaiming the beliefs and goals of a people dedicated to the cause of American independence.

In enduring tribute to those patriots, The Franklin Mint has created a comprehensive and completely authoritative collection of superbly crafted ingots portraying The American Flags of the Revolution. Now, on the occasion of our nation's 200th anniversary of independence, this historic collection will be minted in a distinctive Minl-Ingot edition. This will be the final edition—and the only Mini-Ingot edition—of this fascinating collection.

In keeping with the importance of its subject matter, this Mini-Ingot collection will be minted in solid sterling silver and in solid gold. Indeed, this will be the first collection of solid gold Mini-Ingots ever issued by The Franklin Mint-and for this reason alone should be of special interest to collectors.

A comprehensive collection

The complete collection will consist of 64 finely detailed miniature ingots depicting each and every one of the flags known to have been carried by Americans during the Revolution. Flags that were clear and early signals of defiance. Banners that inspired our citizen-soldiers through bitter years of struggle. And, finally, triumphant flags that were raised by Americans throughout the land to herald hard-won independence.

Among them will be the Fort Johnson Flag —the first flag of protest known to be designed by American colonists—dating from 1765....

The Bedford Flag, the oldest flag in existence in the United States, which flew at the Battle of Concord on the first day of the War of Independence....

The famed Rattlesnake Flag, which clearly warns of America's intention to decide its own fate with the historic words "Don't Tread on Me"...

And the Bennington Flag, one of the first versions of the "Stars and Stripes."

Here, too, are the intriguing battle flags and regimental banners created by the American patriots—including George Washington's own thirteen-star headquarters flag, which flew during the terrible winter of 1777 at Valley Forge.

To assure historical accuracy, the designs of all these flags have been painstakingly authenticated for the collection by Dr. Whitney 5mith, Director of The Flag Heritage Foundation and the nation's leading authority on flag history. Each Mini-Ingot faithfully con-

literature describing the flag depicted and its role in the history of our nation.

BECAUSE OF VOLUME OF MAIL RECEIVED, PARADE REGRETS IT CANNOT ANSWER QUERIES ABOUT THIS COLUMN.

For 10 d years director Vincente Minnelli has wanted to make a film with his talented daughter, Liza. A few months ago he quietly finished a $5 million production in Rome. Title: "A Matter of Time." Cast: Liza Minnelli, Ingrid Bergman, Charles Boyer.

The motion picture, based on the novel "Film of Memory" by former French Minister of Culture Maurice Druon, deals with a simple Italian village girl (Liza Minnelli) who works as a chambermaid in a third-class Rome batel.

Thore she meets an old. impoverished countess (Ingrid Bergman) whose companionship was once sought after by the crowned heads of Europe. The countess is visited from time to time by a former husband (Charles Boyer).

The old lady reminisces about her colorful past to the young chambermaid. who fantasizes that she herself has lived the exciting chapters of the countess' life. Gradually she undergoes a metamorphosis that transforms her into a smart, sophisticated young woman who is offered a film contract.

"Liza," says her father, "is absolutely magnificent in this picture. And as for Ingrid Bergman -- Ingrid first read the book when it was published in Paris in 1954. She knew the author and made him promise that if the book was ever made into a film, he would recommend her for the part of the contessa.

"As a matter of fact, the contessa was our major problem. In the book she remains the main character, and the maid is completely subsidiary. But . since today's movie audiences consist primarily of young people," explains Minnelli, "I had Liza reliving the old lady's past so that she becomes the star of the piece.

"As for Boyer," Minnelli continues, "Charles has played opposite Ingrid twice before, in 'Gaslight' and 'Arch of Triumph.' They are veteran troupers and, as always, superb." Whether "A Matter of Time" turns out to be superb is of course the key question. We should know by October.

Liza Minnelli says of her father, "All I can tell you is that ho's a great, big, authentic talent. This was our first picture together, and I was so happy working with him that I gave him a brand-new swimming pool as a gift. If the picture turns out lousy, I'll dig it up and take it back."

CHARLES BOYER AND INGRID BERGMAN

AT LONG LAST After 30 years of stationing troops in West Germany, the U.S. Army has finally begun to teach its soldiers German. It is the pet project of Gen. George S. Blanchard, once an outstanding West Point fullback.

Beginning July 2, all new batallion, brigade and division commanders will take 120 hours of German before they assume their positions in Germany.

"A knowledge of German." Blanchard explains, "is essential in attaining better private and professional relations between Germans and Americans. It is also extremely useful for the combined operations of American and German units ... Moreover. I've never seen an unhappy GI in Germany who had found and made a good German friend. What better way to make a friend than to speak the same language?"

Blanchard believes that because of changing times. the devaluation of the dollar, and other influences, too many GI's in Germany have been isolating themselves by remaining on U.S. bases. He wants them to get out and mingle with the German population. He realizes. too, that in the past 30 years the German people have changed markedly and now expect more of the Americans living among guage.

If you're in Paris and you and you have a sex problem, dial 545-5646. That's the sex-problem line which opened last month. Multilingual advisers who reply to that number are doctors, social workers, psychiatrists and other experts qualified to answer quickly the sex problems of the callers.

The Dial-a-Sexpert service is the brainchild of Health Minister Simone Veil.

When it began, most of the callers were men worried about their loss of potency. Women callers asked questions concerning the safety of the pill and the technique of achieving an orgasm.

According to a spokesman in Mme. Veil's office: "There is a great deal more suffering and anguish over sex problems than most people realize. It affects all classes deeply, and many people are too shy to consult their physicians or to discuss the matter with friends.

"That's why our experts provide a needed service. Of course, we get a lot of hoaxsters like the young men who ask for seduction tips or the woman who says she found out after her ninth child that her husband is homosexual and what should she do? But mostly the questions are legitimate."

The Dial-a-Sexpert line is open five days a week from 9 a.m. to 6 p.m., is closed on weekends. So if you're in Paris and you have a sex problem, it Z will have to wait until 18 Monday.

In Taipei,

capital of Nationalist China, the belief is widespread that should any candidate except Ronald Reagan be elected U.S. President, the United States will drop its recognition of Taiwan next year and establish full-fledged_diplomatic relations with Peking.

That would mean the end of the 1954 treaty in which the U.S. is pledged to defend Taiwan.

Premier Chian Chiang-kuo, elder son of the late President Chiang Kai-shek, says Taiwan is America's most trustworthy and loyal ally, and he predicts any recognition of Peking would adversely affect "all of Asia and the entire world."

In other Taiwanese quarters, however, the impression exists that the U.S. is moving inexorably to a full recognition of the People's Republic of China, and that such recognition will be followed by the U.S. establishment of a liaison office on Taiwan similar to the one we now have in Peking.

AGATHA CHRISTIE

WISE ED DANE Agatha Christie; queen of the mystery writers, who died at 88 earlier this year, left an estate valued at less than $200,000.

How come ... especially since one of her plays, "The Mousetrap," has been running in London for 23 years and has earned $6 million?

The answer is that during the course of her long lifetime, Agatha Christie gave away most of her earnings to her relatives, thus avoiding Britain's mountainous estate tax.

For example, she gave the copyright of "The Mousetrap," her largest money-earner, to her grandson, Michael Pritchard. Rights to her other novels and plays went into trusts for other relatives.

Of the less than $200,-000 which she left, most of it goes to her husband, Sir Max Mallowan, and daughter, Mrs. Rosalind Hicks.

To reduce

What causes insomnia, the. chronic inability to sleep?

For several years now, researchers under Dr. William C. Dement at Stanford University's Medical Center have been trying to find out.

After testing 1500 patients they concluded that most sleep disturbances are caused by fears and emotional anxieties, which in many cases are made worse by using sleeping pille.

It's not that the sleeping pills don't work. They do, but the body eventually adapts to the pills, and the basic emotional disturbance which caused the insomnia in the first place reappears. The patient them increases the pill dosage, becoming increasingly dependent upon them.

To alleviate sleeping pill dependence, researchers have been concentrating on a natural substance which may do away with sleoping pills.

Two Swiss physiologists, Dr. Marcel Monnier and Dr. Guido Schoenenberger. claim to have discovered such a substance in the human body. They discovered it while experimenting on dogs. Dr. Monnier found that when he stimulated by electric shock the thalamic area of the brain -- the thalamus is the chief center for transmission of sensory impulses to the cerebral cortex -- it sent a Sleep-inducing substance into the bloodstream. Dr. Monnier calls it the "Delta Factor." He and Dr. Schoenenberger along with their assistants isolated the "Delta Factor" and reproduced it from natural proteins.

Before testing the "Delta Factor" on people. the Swiss researchers want other medical centers to repeat their experiments. If the experiments result in the production of the same "Delta Factor," then they feel reasonably safe the substance can be reproduced synthetically.

If that comes to pass, the eleoping pill industry is acheduled for a major revolution. D'HOYD SHEARER 1976

The Truth About a Misunderstood Bill

by Martha McPhee

How Candice Walker got Slender and stayed Slender.

Candice Walker's thick, auburn hair falls softly to her shoulders. Her eyes are sky blue. She has the cheekbones of a model. She has the figure of a model—almost. Yet Candice once weighed 220 pounds and rarely went outside her house.

Today, Candice, who's 5'7" tall, weighs 137 pounds. Her waist measures 26," not 39"; her hips are not 48." Instead of a matronly bustline, she's a trim 34B. Candice didit with Siender* diet food and sensible portions of solid foods. It took 14 months. But Candice is a realist. She'd spent half her life putting it on.

"I tried lots of diets before
Slender but I couldn't stay on them. I tried pills but they made me climb the walls. I screamed at everybody I was so nervous.

You see my downfall was that I loved things like ice cream and milk shakes...so when I finally found Slender it was like a thick, creamy shake to me. I prefer Slender powder because you can shake it up. I put in the milk and a couple of ice cubes and shake it until it becomes thick and foamy. Then I sip it with a straw. I varied my Slender diet with solid foods. Sometimes I'd have nothing but Slender for 3 or 4 days. Then I'd start off with a light breakfast, Slender for lunch, and a salad and lean meat for dinner. After a week or so, I'd go back to Slender again for 3 or 4 meals a day. Yet I never think of Siender as a diet; it's more of a newfound way of eating—for my newfound life.

My friends see me in the store and say—'Gee, you've REALLY lost the weight, and they look in my shopping cart and say, I see you buy Slender. I say, Yes, it's my favorite pal. I have it in the kitchen at all times. I put it in my purse,

I take it to work with me.

"Today I wear a size 11 or even a 9 in some clothes," says Candice, and I used to take a size 34%. I look great in my clothes and I know it. When I'm walking down the street, men look at me. I'll admit it-it makes me feel great! I feel like a woman again!

"I'm not rich. I'm not famous. But I want to make some kind of mark in this world that says I've been here. I could be an entertainer, a country rock singer, even a face model. If I can lose 83 pounds I can do anything!"

Candice knows the hardest part is keeping it off. "Oh sure, every now and then I consume large quantities of sweets for 2 or 3 days. Then I get out my Slender and say, ok, pal, let's get together and take off those two or three pounds. That's the trick...never gain more than 5 pounds back or you're done. And I've only varied from 135 to 137 in three years. So I'm proud of myself for keeping it off.

"Slender's worked for me, and

I say anybody can do it."

Candice Walker is a real Slender success story. And it all started the day she decided to pick up Slender at her market—and stayed with it. You can do the same. Just get Slender, and get started.

Sen. Walter Mondale cosponsored a bill to fund several child-care services: opponents deluged Congress with mail.

WASHINGTON, D.C.

n anonymous one-page leaflet that attacks a child-care bill has touched off a nationwide mail campaign that in a single day brought 8000 letters to one Congressional committee.

"It's been an avalanche," says a committee staff member working on the Mondale-Brademas Child and Family Services Bill. "With the exception of gun control, nothing in my experience compares to this."

The leaflet has been passed out at churches, schools, factories and supermarkets, but its origins remain a mystery. A reporter for the Houston Chronicle traced one version to a retired Bible camp director in Hutchinson, Kan., who had made a thousand copies of a leaflet his relatives brought home from a Missouri revival meet-

Straightforward purpose

The leaflet's intent is clear-to defeat the Child and Family Services Bill introduced by more than 120 members of the House and Senate in February, 1975. And in this election year, the letters have exerted so much pressure on members of Congress that the bill's chief sponsors-Sen. Walter Mondale (D. Minn.) and Rep. John Brademas (D., Ind.)-admit its chances for either a House or Senate vote are slim.

Rep. John Brademas, bill cosponsor. labeled opponents' methods as "smear" and as "scurrilous" and "misleading."

Ask your doctor before starting any program of weight redu Carnation Company, 1976.

Siender adiat lood for weight control from Carnation

Two things strike most Congressmen and staff members about the mail: it reveals a deep public concern for the American family; most letters are based on misinformation and distorted interpretations of the bill.

The leaflet plays on some of America's deepest fears, describing the bill as a Communist plot to take from parents the rights and responsibilities of raising children and turn them over to government-appointed specialists.

"The American family is one of the last strongholds this society has," one South Carolina voter warned his Congressman. "The proposed legislation is another step in destroying this cornerstone of democracy."

"Will we never learn?" asked another writer. "This legislation is almost a twin brother to what ultimately destroyed Germany."

As the family goes...

One Oregonian prophesied that "when the family falls, the nation won't be far behind."

Not all the opposition to the bill has been prompted by the anonymous leaflet. But the anger, the fear, is directly stimulated by the leaflet's opening question—"Ralsing Children: Government's or Parent's Right?"—and its charges that the bill "smacks of Communism."

According to the leaflet, the bill contains a "Charter of Children's Rights" under which parents would no longer be able to punish their children or pass onto them religious or political beliefs. Under the bill, the leaflet charges, children could also sue their parents for deficiencies in the home.

The leaflet erroneously names the Congressional Record as the source for several citations in which supporters of the bill are quoted as saying, "We recognize that not parental, but communal forms of upbringing have superiority over all other forms," and as questioning whether we can "trust the family to prepare young children in this courtry for this new kind of world that is emerging."

Soviet methods

"This is what has been done and is being done in the Soviet Union," the leaflet concludes. "We elected this Congress, but do we know what it is doing to our freedoms and our rights?"

In truth, the Child and Family Services Bill contains no "Charter of Children's Rights," no hint of taking childrearing away from parents.

As Senator Mondale describes it, the bill "seeks to preserve the family by strengthening it." As now written, it would provide money for such services as prenatal care, medical treatment to detect and remedy handicaps in young children, nutritional programs, and daycare programs for working mothers.

Participation in all programs offered by the bill would be voluntary and would involve only children whose parents had requested such services. Much of the control over the programs would remain with parents. The bill contains nothing that would change the moral or legal relationship of a parent to his child.

The bill's backers

Already, a wide range of such civic and religious organizations as the Parent-Teachers Association (PTA), the AFL-CIO and the American Home-Economics Association have announced support for child and family services.

The bill is addressed, in part, to the 6.5 million preschool and 21 million school-age children with working mothers. In describing the need for child and family services, the bill's supporters cite figures that show infant mortality in the United States to be higher than in 16 other nations, that 40 percent of young children are not immunized against childhood diseases and that 29 percent of urban children do not see a doctor in any given year.

According to Judith S. Helms, director of the National Council of Organizations for Children and Youth, families are facing "a time of economic instability" In which "they are finding it difficult to pay for basic necessities, much less the 'luxury' of things like preventive health care."

"If the family says help me, then we need to be there," Senator Mondale says. "It is the strong family with its values of love, affection and discipline that gives the child the best chance of making the most out of life."

Reputable opposition

Like any other legislation, the bill has its faults. Many of the letter writers offer the same arguments against the bill that the National Coalition for Children presented last summer—that it represents government interference in the lives of private citizens.

Congress itself questions the bill's $1.7 billion price tag over three years, how its child and family services would fit in with existing programs and how those services would be administered.

But the flood of mail now coming into Congress differs from previous criticism in one important respect—it is based on information so inaccurate that Representative Brademas charged last December that his bill had been attacked by "the tactics of smear and deception, the tactics of Watergate ... and some of the most scurrilous and misleading propaganda that I have ever seen."

The irony is that the Child and Family Services Bill aims at strengthening the American family, not destroying it.

My favorite jokes

by ken friedman

EDITOR'S NOTE: "One reason I like to talk about my relatives," says comedy writer Ken Friedman, "Is because they don't like to talk about me. As you already know, my relative the Marquis de Friedman brought cruelty to new heights when he invented the bad joke."

Friedman, who gives talks for college audiences, has written two comedy LP's, "Everything You Always Wanted to Know About the Godlather" and "The Missing Tapes." He's written for comedians Marty Brill, Pat Henry and Johnny Carson, and he recently completed writing his first film, "Don't Trust Life." He says: "It's about a group of people who meet on the unemployment line, decide to go into show business, and have absolutely no talent—but that's not necessarily a drawback."

Here are some of Ken Friedman's jokes:

I'm getting fed up with the building where I live. Instead of a front door we have a revolving derelict.

I have what is called a split-level apartment. My rent is at one level and a my income is at another.

I went to a low-budget high school. Our school colors were orange and orange.

I'm writing a comedy about prehistoric music. It's about Stonehenge, the first rock group.

My father was out of work for years and now I'm out of work. People are actually accusing my father of nepotism,

I moved into my new apartment out of patriotism. The paint job is 200 years old.

The apartment features the bathtuboven combination. It's great, but if you bend over to pick up the soap, be careful of the pilot light.

My parents were in the nightclub business. I was bottle-fed as a baby and I had to pay a two-drink minimum.

There's a new Monopoly set on the market, and it's really great. Now, instead of building hotels, if you have good personal references, you can put' up a McDonald's.

I was playing Monopoly with some friends. They began to get so rich that when they went to jail, they didn't roll the dice to get out, they hired F. Lee Bailey.

Budget cuts in cities are becoming severe. In fact, zoos are now charging the animals rent. Each animal has to sign a three-year lease for a cage, but there's a hidden clause—"no pets allowed"

Two clairvoyants were arguing about who was better at predicting the future. One said, "I've predicted earthquakes, hurricanes, and tidal waves. What did you ever do?" "Well," said the other, "when McGovern ran against Nixon, I voted for Ford."

I have a very reliable broker who promised to make me lots of money. It was due to his sharp counseling last summer that I invested my life savings in cholesterol,

I didn't get off to a good start in life. When I was born the doctor dion't spank me, he got me to cry by calling me dirty names.

I went to a friend's funeral. I don't think the widow was too bereaved. She insisted on having her phone number etched into the tombstone.

Bobby Van's game for anything as TV performer

By BOB MARTIN TV-Radio Editor

V is for versatile and V is for Van, and in Bobby Van you've got one of the most versatile performers in show busi-

Singer ... dancer ... comedian ... actor ... musician ... emece — Bobby's

He has starred in movies, on the Broadway stage, on the nightclub circuit and on television.

As they say in the sports world, he

Imagine my surprise, then, when he told me, in reply to a question, that there are times when he wishes he had gone into another line of work because of the insecurities in show business.

Why, if you or I had one tenth of his talents we'd probably feel we had the world by the tail!

world by the tail!

He did concede, however, that he has more going for him than someone who is strictly an actor.

Said Bobby: "I've never known an actor who didn't feel insecure? Even when they're working, they're worried where their next job is coming from — or if they'll ever get another job.

"And even if you've got a big name."

"And even if you've got a big name, you never get over the insecurities you felt when you felt when you were trying to get started in the business " in the business.

BUT DON'T get Bobby wrong - he boyes showbiz.

"I've always looked upon my career as a lifelong vacation," he said. "I'm getting paid for doing something I truly love, and I want to share that feeling with every member of the audience."

At present, he is sharing that feeling with the studio audience and television viewers across the country as host of NBC's new daytime series, "The Fun Factory," which airs weekdays at 11 a.m. on Channel 4.

The series reached the air - finally last Monday. It originally was scheduled to start on April 12 (several shows had already been taped), but a techni-cians' strike against NBC, now settled, caused a two-month delay.

Van told me a bit about the show the other day at lunch in the Polo Lounge of the Beverly Hills Hotel, which isn't far from where he lives with his wife, singerdancer-actress-comedienne Elaine Joyce. "You can't call it just a game show," said. "Well, it is a game slow but it also is much more than that. It's something different. It's a combination variety show, game show, audience participation show. We offer singing, dancing and comedy sketches — we have a regular group of improvisational players — as well as audience competition for prizes.

"Everyone in the audience is a potential contestant, and the participants aren't selected in advance. I choose the contestants as I go out in the audience, and the questions are tied in with the songs and comedy bits we do.

"We have a lot of fun, and I just wish everyone could be a winner — after all, I'm not paying for the prizes."

"THE FUN FACTORY" is the second TV game show Van has hosted. Last fall, he was the emcee on ABC's "Showoffs."

It didn't last beyond midseason, but it helped land Bobby his current job. "An NBC executive saw me on 'Showoffs," he said. "The network was looking for someone who was very loose, a bit of a comedian, who could also sing and dance.
I guess I fit the bill."

The slender 6 footer, who grew up in New York's Bronx, started learning the many facets of show business as a youngster. Both parents were vaudeville performers — his father, Henry King, was a dancer and his mother, Mina-Ann, was a singer-comedienne.

Bobby attended the New York School for the Performing Arts, and his first ambition was to be a musician. He studied trumpet, ceilo and piano as a youngster and, at night, studied compos-ing and arranging at the New York Col-lege of Music. By age 14, he had a four-piece band and received $19 a week in the summer playing at the Lakeview Hotel in New York's Catskill Mountains.

As a young teen-ager, he also started performing as a comedian and, later, as a singer and dancer in clubs and theaa singer and dancer in cluds and thea-ters. He used a number of different last-names, he pointed out, "because if you flopped at one place, you couldn't get another booking with the same name." Once, in Providence, R.I., he used the name "Bobby Van" after spotting a pic-ture of actor Van Johnson. He clicked with the audience, and has been using the name over since.

BOBBY VAN . . . fun and games in the morning

Dorsey's band led to regular TV appearances on "Your Show of Shows" and a movie contract with MGM.

THE STILL YOUTHFUL looking performer appeared in films with stars like. Mario Lanza, Jane Powell, Esther Wil-liams, Debbie Reynolds, Kathryn Graynams, Deoble Reynolds, Kainryn Gray-son and Ann Miller in the early 1950s, in the era of the big MGM musicals. His movies included "Because You're Mine," "Small Town Girl," "Kiss Me Kate," "Skirts Ahoy" and "The Affairs of Dobic Gillis," in which he played the title role.

Gillis," in which he played the title role.

He's featured in a solo dance number from "Small Town Girl" in "That's Entertainment, Part II," which is now playing in theaters across the country.

"I spent three years in Hollywood, but I was washed up when I was 21 and went back to New York," he recalled. "The day of the lavish musical was over."

An appearance al New York's Strand-74 - Ven appeared in the 1973 movie "Lost Theater on the same bill with Tominy "Horizon," but most of his work over the

and on the stage.

A highlight was his 2 ½-year run on Broadway in "No, No Nanette, Sfor which he received a Tony nomination in 1973 in the role of Billy Early. His leftest Broadway performance came in Dr. Jazz." He recently had to turn don a call to replace Edward Villella in the pitte role of the "Pal Joey" revival in New York because of his "Fun Factory" commitment.

Since 1968, Van has been married to the multitalented Elaine Joyce (who played Marsha on NBC's "City of Angels" this season and is a panelist on CBS' summer season revival of "I've Got

ABC-TV's willingness to pay Barbara Walters $1 million a year to report the news merely goes to show once again that television, like other entertainment media, plays by the rules of supply and demand.

Demand personalities who can draw audiences seems almost always to be greater than supply. And the rewards are handsome, very handsome. A sampling of approximate salaries paid to TV's biggest stars, based on published re-

Tenight Show"), Rock ABC, presumably ABC Hudson ("McMillan & feels she is worth a million Wile") and Peter Falk (Columbo") earn more than $1 million a year. Carroll O'Connor ("All in the Family") and Redd Foxx ("Sanford and Son") receive about $30,000 per episode. So does Telly Savalas ("Kojak").

Lindsay Wagner ("The Bionic Woman"), Lee Majors ("The Six Million Dollar Man") and Valerie Harper ("Rhoda") get about $17,500 per show.

And the three networks' evening news anchormen – Walter Cronkite, John Chancellor and Harry Reasoner -- are said to earn about $400,000 a year.

WHAT DO THEY do that is worth so much money? That really isn't the point, Walter Cronkite argued recently. Addressing himself to whether Barbara Walters merits $1 million a year, he said:

"Compared to what? Compared to a school teacher? Certainly not. Compared to any rock 'n' roll singer? I'd say certainly yes. It is a marketplace situation. If she can get a million dollars from

. That's what we like to think of as the American

That was the reasoning Miss Walters used in justifying her contract. But why do ABC, NBC and CBS consider these people worth so much?

"Television is a personality medium," a network programmer explains. Meaning that the concept of a series is important, yes; the writing is important, the directing - but because television as a medium is a guest in your home, the people on it become the most important element."

THAT WIDELY held viewpoint, which also crops up in the news operation, must be considered in conjunction with the fact that network television is played for profits. Huge profits.

The networks make money by selling time to advertisers. The time is not sold at fixed rates; rather it is sold on the basis of a program's ratings - how many homes it is reaching. A hit show, whether it's a news or entertainment program, brings in more money and thus the network has an economic stake in it.

"Once an actor has become the center of a television series, he is in effect nonreplaceable, indispensable," said a producer who deals with several high-salaried stars. That is generally true, although there are some exceptions. But when a show is called "Kojak" and it's getting big ratings and they're written all over a bald head, you don't casually say, 'He's geiting to be a pain in the neck with the money, let's get Harry

As Richard Levinson, co-producer of "Columbo" pointed out in regard to series star Peter Falk:

"They're paying him for more than just showing up for work every day.
They're paying him to lock in the 'Mystery Movie,' of which 'Columbo' is the strongest sagment. They're paying bim to hold down Sunday night for NBC, to hold the sponsors."

THERE IS considerable debate over the propriety of paying anyone so much money - just as there is in motion pictures (Steve McQueen, Robert Redford, Dustin Hoffman, Paul Newman and Barbra Streisand all command $1 million per film), rock music (Neil Diamond is being paid $500,000 for three concerts in Las Vegas) and professional athletics.

But there are no indications the trend toward bigger salaries is going to lickets, or, in the case of television, tuning in and jacking up the ratings.

"A television star who keeps a series going week after week, year after year, is entitled to get as much money as he can, proclaims the personal manager of one such actor.

BENNY GOODMAN, clarinet virtuoso and star of the big band era, is host-narrator for "Echoes Bright and Clear: A Discovery of American Music," a one-hour tribute to 200 years of American music, airing on Ch. 28 at 10 p.m. Wednesday. The numbers are performed by the instrumental and choral groups of the Indiana University School of Music. The special, produced for the Public Broadcasting Service by WTIU in Bloomington, Ind., was made possible by a grant from J C Penney.

"All the network does is lease the time. The performer puts his face and body on the line for the rating, and if he doesn't get the rating then he's not on the air for any sal-

EXECUTIVES in other highly competitive professions make whopping salaries, so why shouldn't a performer at the top of the entertainment business, asks Ron Samuels, Lindsay Wagner's manager. He points to Screen Actors Guild figures which show that in 1974, the last year for which data are available, only 2.8 per cent of the guild's approximately only 189 of them topped $100,000.

'That's the basis of our whole way of living in this country," Samuels said. "We went for the moon and we hit it."

But on the other hand. writer-producer Levinson. while not disparaging any particular performer, speaks for a lot of people when he complains:

"When an actor or a baseball player makes more than a teacher or the president of the United States, it's obvious a greater premium is placed on entertainment than almost anything else.

"It's a little paradoxical that we send our children to a teacher who makes 10 or 15 grand a year and then won't let them watch a violent TV show on which the star is making $5,000 or $10,000 a week.

"It's a question of national priorities," Levin-son maintains. "I think it

cently taped his 2,750th show in that popular game series. Lynde acknowledges it has been "fantastic" for his career.

However, he's not enjoying the show as much as in the past.

"It's changed, youknow. It's less of a game show. The questions used to be more informative and now they're innocuous," Lynde observed.

I suggested that the producers were probably aiming for more laughs and less information, and he agreed.

DESPITE the fame it has brought him, Lynde sounded like a man somewhat tired of television -at least for a while.

"After I finish the summer tour and do another special for ABC 1 want to take a long rest."

Lynde's reference to the special led me to ask him what bappened to plans for a weekly variety series

"I wouldn't do one. 1 only know of one person who is happy in that line of work and that's Carol Burnett. -

"CAROL'S show could go on forever because she has that great production team and cast, and unless I could put together an organization like that I'd rather not go through that weekly grind."

Despite his disappointing experience with "The Paul Lynde Show," the comedian would much prefer to try another situation comedy.
"You know, I'm a good actor - I really am. In that last series I thought 1 was brilliant, but the character was all wrong too negative. All I did was scream."

LYNDE. IS bitter about a pilot he made for another series about seven years ago in which he played a bumbling London detective, Sedgwick Hawkstyle: Prince of Darkness.'

The actor said the film is taken off the shelves at 20th Century Fox from time to time and shown at Hollywood parties, where everyone asks why it never made the network schedules.

"It was made for ABC and would you believe it never got on because a network executive had a grudge against one of our producers? Liz Montgomery even made a special trip to New York to try to persuade him to put my show on, and even though she was the network's biggest star at that time he wouldn't budge.

"BILL PALEY at CBS liked it and even ordered 10 more scripts written, but then they pushed it aside because they had to put on some series that was one of their own creations, and that was that.'

PAUL LYNDE

Who is the favorite other comedian of America's funniest man?

"Jonathan Winters when he's happy.'

And what kind of character would Lynde like to play it he gets another sitcom?

"A jolly priest."

New neighbors for Mr. Rogers

By D. BYRON YAKE Associated Press

PITTSBURGH - The residents of Mister Rogers' Neighborhood will be getting older, much older, if a proposed new public television series gets off the ground.

With his long-running with his long-running children's program, "Mis-ter Rogers' Neighbor-hood," now in reruns, Fred M. Rogers will shed his title "Mister" as host of the new program, "Old Friends, New Friends," which will be aimed at retired persons.

Yet the producer of the proposed series sees a direct relationship between it and Rogers' old show, which was immensely popular with children.

THERE SEEMS to be some similarity between the young and elderly," says Clark Santee, who is a producer in Rogers' production company, Family Communications,

"Young people and old people often face similar problems, such as reassurance that they have purpose, yet Fred can practice much more freedom with an audience that is mature."

Santee said the Borough of Ligonler in Pennsylvania's Westmoreland County is planned to be home to the Public Broadnla 's casting Service (PBS) series. Some segments of a pilot have already been videotaped there, and on Nantucket Island, Mass. in Pittsburgh; California and Florida.

The only thing holding up the project is funding, and Santee doesn't believe. that's going to be a major problem.

"We're getting more and more confident that we will be proceeding in the fall," he said in a telephone interview.

However, Rogers,
though not available for direct comment, said urrect comment, said through a spokesman that funding is a delicate mat-ter and still the major obstacle in getting the series on the air. "It's far from being settled," he said.

said.
"We'd like to have a series based in a village.

Ligonier provides us with a comfortable, familiar setting. It wouldn't be identified, but Ligoner is where most of it would be shot," Santee said.

MEANWHILE, "Mister Rogers' Neighborhood" continues to be seen on public television. Before new production of that program ended in 1975, Rogers had compiled a library of 465 tapes, enough for almost two years of viewing without reruns.

BECOMING A CHRISTIAN

For the next lew weeks we are going to discuss what it means to scripturally become a Christian; what it means to speak of the church of Christ, and why we have so many religious denominations.

When we talk about being a Christian, we must understand that one can only become a Christian by doing what God says do, and that from the Scriptures. What my mather or daddy tells me to do in becoming a Christian is right only when it corresponds with what God's Word teaches. What my favorite preacher may tell me to do in becoming a Christian is right only when it is in harmony with what God teaches in the Bible.

I will have to look in the New Testament if I am to find out how to become a Christian, for there were no Christians in the Old Testament. The word "Christian" means one who is a believer and follower of Christ. It means one who is willing to "do the will of the Father in heaven" (Mott. 7:21). Mainy preachers talk about "getting saved, getting the Holy Spirit, joining the church of your choice, etc." Where are these statements found in the Bible? Remember we are talking about becoming a Christian; and thus we are talking about doing what the Bible teaches — what the New Testament teaches. But where are these expressions found in the New Testament? If you know, write and tell me, for I have not been able to find them.

If preachers are telling us things that are not found in the Bible, then how can we become Christians by doing that which is not found in the Bible? We cannot! There are some things that must be done in becoming a Christian, I must find out what to do to be saved. For those who were saved and following Christ were "called Christians first at Antioch" (Acts 11:26). If I am to be called a Christian I must do what the Lord and the apostles (who were taaching what the Holy Spirit directed them to teach) commanded. (Read Mark 16:15-16; Acts 2:36-38). Notice that I have not told you what to do to be saved. I am asking you to read the Bible and find out what Christ and the apostles told people to do to be soved. When you are saved, you will then be a Christian. Those who have not done what Christ and the apostles commanded are not saved, and therefore not Christians.
